CHICKEN THIEVES FINED BY MAGISTRATE

Three young men from the Bath district, Samuel Shelley, 20; Francis Laraby 19, and Wallace Ruttan 39, appeared before Magistrate Gorvin in Napanee Police Court last Thursday afternoon and all three pled guilty to theft of 37 chickens from George Gurren, Sandhurst. Shelley and Ruttan were fined $10 and costs and ordered to make restitution to Mr. Gurren, and Laraby was fined $4.00 and costs and to share in making restitution. Laraby's sentence was lighter than the others for his co-operation with the police, which led to the apprehension of the three.

The chickens were stolen on two separate occasions in April and were cooked and sold in Kingston.

Samuel Shelley was also given a suspended sentence of two years for assaulting his wife.

None of the three young men had any previous criminal record which was a factor in the light sentences imposed by the Magistrate.

More Response This Past Week Flood Relief Fund

Kinsmen Will Close Campaign for Funds This Saturday

There was a fairly good response during the past week to the Kinsmen appeal for subscriptions for the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund. But still the members of the Clubs feel there must be many others in this community whose sympathy for the sufferers from the flood must have been aroused sufficiently for them to make a donation toward their relief.

The above picture shows just one of the many thousands of homes in the Winnipeg area which have been almost completely ruined. The desolation which greets the householders as they are allowed to return to their homes is beyond imagining. Thousands will have to rebuild their homes and almost entirely refurnish them. Even a small contribution will be of help.

The Kinsmen plan to close their campaign for funds on Saturday of this week, June 17. Please make your contribution this week and the final list of donors will be printed in next week's papers.

FOSBRAEY'S LETTERS SENT FROM ENGLAND PRODUCED AT TRIAL

Some Read Tuesday More on Wednesday

So far, in the trial of James Fosbraey, charged with the murder of his wife, which is proceeding at the County Court House, about the only new evidence produced by the Crown, was that of Mrs. Hilditch, a neighbour, and the reading of letters sent by Fosbraey from England, to his wife.

Mrs. Hilditch's evidence revealed bickering between Fosbraey and his wife and reference to an alleged friend of Mrs. Fosbraey, "the Pole." The letters to Mrs. Fosbraey were mostly of a threatening nature.

On Tuesday afternoon, five of the letters were read by the Crown Attorney. The letters were identified by Gerald Curran, brother of June Fosbraey. Fifty-four letters were produced by the defence; twelve were read on Tuesday afternoon, the contents being much the same as the first five. The accused asked his wife for another chance. He said he couldn't live without her, and admitted that he had been a dirty, rotten heel. He said he would try to make it up to June and his daughter, Carol.

The trial of James Fosbraey, charged with the murder of his wife, June Marie Fosbraey, in South Napanee, on Monday, November 28th of last year, was finally started on Monday, June 12th, at the Napanee Court House. Mr. Justice McRuer, Chief Justice of Ontario, is presiding. The trial had been postponed on two occasions to allow Counsel for the defence, R.E. Nourse, of Picton, to secure further evidence.

Jurors chosen to act in the case are as follow: Arnold T. Empey, Ernestown; Harry Hinch, Camden; Bernard Detlor, Camden; Bert Hinchey, Sheffield; George Salsbury, Camden; Archie Switzer, Camden; Harry Sutton, Camden; Than Hewes, Sheffield; Edwin McDonald, Ernestown; Jerry Cochrane, Napanee; James Perry, Napanee; Bert Henderson, Richmond.

Mr. K. S. Ham, K.C., Crown Attorney, who is acting for the Crown reviewed the evidence which is to be presented by the Crown for the benefit of the Jurors before the witnesses were called.

Mr. Ham told of Fosbraey coming to Canada in 1942 under the Empire Air Training Plan. He met June Marie Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Curran, Napanee, and married her in Kingston in April, 1944. The same year Fosbraey returned to England and saw service in different areas during the war. He was discharged in 1946 and returned to Canada, coming to Napanee, where he and his wife lived at the home of Mrs. Fosbraey's parents. While in Napanee Fosbraey held various jobs. In the summer of 1949 serious domestic trouble arose between Mr. and Mrs. Fosbraey and there was some discussion as to a divorce. In October, 1949, Fosbraey returned to England, where he remained until November 23rd. Fosbraey and his wife interviewed the Provincial Police at which time he was advised not to use physical violence toward his wife.

Mr. Ham continued by saying that evidence would be brought out to show [illegible] of such equipment.

Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson Reviews Advances United Church

Speaks at Trinity Church on Anniversary of Church Union

Dr. A. J. Wilson, Toronto, Editor of The United Church Observer, was the guest preacher at the service in Trinity United Church, Napanee, on Sunday, June 11th, when the 25th Anniversary of Church Union was commemorated.

Dr. Wilson, former minister of Napanee, was largely responsible for the Presbyterian Churches in this district into signatories of the document which consummated the Union. Dr. Wilson has been for the past several years the Editor of The United Church Observer. He has been afforded rare opportunities for contact with all branches of the work of the United Church in various parts of the world. He is exceptionally well informed regarding the advances of the church in the 25 years of Union.

The service used on Sunday was conducted by Rev. Noble Hutton, and was the same as that followed in all the United Churches in Canada in observance of the 25th Anniversary of Union.

A review of Dr. Wilson's address follows:

A city about the size of Kingston was added to the United Church last year said Rev. A. J. Wilson in Trinity United Church on Sunday morning. He was speaking on the 25th Anniversary of The United Church in Canada. During the past five years, the speaker declared, there had been added to the membership of The United Church on profession of faith 146,000; of these fifty per cent. were adult converts. This, he continued, is almost as many as there are men, women and children in the City of Ottawa.

The speaker, who is Editor of The United Church Observer, the official organ of The United Church of Canada, declared that the church is a crusading church. Like the Presbyterian Church and the Methodist Church, he said, had, in the early, have passed on during the year, days of Canadian history, crusaded against the attempt then being made to prevent any other than the clergy of one church to perform marriages, and against the effort in the past of that denomination to have only one University in Upper Canada, and that controlled by the same church.

It was because no paper would publish anything against this famine compact that The Christian Guardian, the first religious paper in Upper Canada, was founded in 1829. It has continued ever since. It is this paper, he said, of which he has the honour to be editor.

The United Church of Canada had inherited that tradition, and continued to crusade. It crusaded against social evil, and the attempt of the privileged to exploit the underprivileged.

Dr. Church, the editor said, was a pioneering church. It had broken new ground, when it came into organic union in 1925. This union was consummated in the Mutual Street Arena, 25 years ago, was the greatest advance in Church history since the reformation in 1517.

The church, said the clergyman, was also an advancing church. There were about 600,000 members in 1925, there are approximately 800,000 now. There were 268,000 families then, now about 600,000. There are as many families in The United Church of Canada today as there were members in 1925.

The speaker touched on some of the highlights of the achievements of the past 25 years. One hundred and thirty cars of food had been sent to the West by the United Church during the depression, and over a hundred tons of clothing to Great Britain, Europe and the Orient during the war, and since it ended.

A debt on the church funds of $1,750,000, incurred during the depression, had been paid; $50,000 sent to the bombed churches in England; $200,000 to the famine sufferers in India and China; almost $5,000,000 contributed to put the pension fund on a firm foundation; more recently a gift of $10,000 was sent to the flood relief fund in Manitoba. Debts on local congregations had been practically wiped out. On property worth $84,000,000 in 1925 there were debts of $8,000,000. In 1950, on congregational property worth $114,000,000 there are debts of only $2,000,000.

There is no phase of life untouched by the United Church, said Mr. Wilson. He told of the three universities, eleven secondary schools, and eight theological schools, and of the training school for women. He described the mission work of the church in Canada, in Africa, India, China, Trinidad, Japan, and Korea.

The spiritual forces let loose at the time of Union in 1925 have accomplished results of which we may be well proud, concluded the speaker.

MARTIN REMANDED FOR SENTENCE ON THEFT CHARGE

Norman David Martin, aged 34, who was arrested by Provincial Police following the theft of $1700 from Freeman Wright, Odessa, appeared in Napanee Court on Thursday, June 8th, and pled guilty to breaking and entering the home of Freeman Wright of his father-in-law and stealing the money from a carpenter's chest in the house. He was remanded for sentence for two weeks while the police are making further investigations in the case.

A statement given by Martin to Corporal Everett Smith was read in court. Martin gave no evidence in his own defence.

In his statement, Martin said he had recently been operating a farm on shares near Gananoque. He said he was married to a daughter of Freeman Wright and has three children. He had been told by members of the Wright family that his father-in-law kept a lot of money in a chest in his home. He claimed he met a man by the name of Ernie Miller, an ex-convict, and that they had planned to go to the Wright residence and get the money on the evening of May 30th. Late in the evening the two men went to Odessa and Martin pointed out the Wright home. They parked their car near the village and walked back to Odessa. Martin said he knocked at the back door in the house without using violence and Miller was allegedly then the first to enter the house. Miller said to have suggested setting fire to a small building near the Wright Mill in the village, which would draw the two Wrights away from the home. The building was said to have been set afire and Martin went to the Wright home and entered the latter's bedroom. While they were attending the fire Martin said he pried open an ordinary chest with an axe and extracted the money.

Later the two men drove away with the money, contained in a tin box, and after opening the box, found $1900 in it. The box was hidden in the woods and Martin kept his share secretly. He said he was to have met Miller near the Haymarket in Kingston, the next day, but that Miller failed to keep the appointment.

Corporal Smith said finger prints were found on the metal cash box, which corresponded with Miller's prints.

On Wednesday evening, May 31st, Martin was arrested at a farm south of Odessa. When arrested he had $8.20 on his person. Next day $1,500 was turned over to Constable Smith by the accused, and later Kingston Police found $30 in a tin can in a house on Barrie Street, in Kingston.

Corporal Smith told the court that the police had, so far, had no success in finding Miller, Martin's alleged accomplice, even though Martin had co-operated with them.

The Crown Attorney, K.S. Ham, read a list of previous convictions which Martin admitted to being correct. His record of thefts and break-ins goes back to the time Martin was 13 years of age. Since then he had served terms in reformatories and prison of, from four months to three years.

PROLIFIC TULIPS

Mrs. Percy Thompson, Napanee, is very proud of the way in which her tulips have bloomed this season. She has had several deep yellow tulips with three blooms on one stalk and some with two blooms in a stalk.

The flowers were all large, fully developed, deep yellow tone, which were tipped with red when they matured.

But this is only the beginning. We live in a time of changing culture, which is a challenge to the church. The church will need the best men and women as leaders. He urged the congregation to see that the finest of their young people are trained for full time service in the church.

Over 100 Attend Lennox District W.I. Annual

Held at Wilton, Tuesday, June 6th

Well over one hundred ladies met at the Community Hall in Wilton, on Tuesday, June 6th, for the Annual Meeting of Lennox District Women's Institutes. After the opening exercises, conducted by Mrs. B. Davy, the District President; Mrs. Seymour of Napanee led in community singing. Mrs. Erwell Huff of Wilton extended a hearty welcome to all, which was later responded to by Mrs. Reid Roblin, of Adolphustown, who thanked the Wilton Branch for their splendid hospitality and extended greetings on the occasion of the Twenty-fifth birthday of the Church.

Mrs. Davy, in her report, reviewed the work of the year and stressed the value of the individual effort of each member in making the organization a success. She urged homemakers to keep well informed in world affairs, as their's is the task of moulding the lives of our future citizens.

Mrs. K. Powell, in her report as secretary-treasurer, showed that a prosperous year had been enjoyed, with a splendid interest shown in community projects. On her recommendation, twenty-five dollars was voted to the Manitoba Relief Fund. A gavel was then presented to the District, by Mrs. Powell, who was graciously thanked by Mrs. Davy.

Mrs. Merle Denison presented the auditor's report. In the correspondence a letter of thanks was read from the Canadian Cancer Clinic, for donations of used cotton. An invitation was received, and accepted, from the Adolphustown Branch to hold the 1951 annual meeting there, it being the occasion of the Fiftieth Birthday of that branch.

TREE PLANTER AVAILABLE FOR USE IN QUINTE DISTRICT

The Tree-Life tree planter acquired this spring by the Department of Lands and Forests for use in the Quinte District, worked very effectively, and speeded up planting operations considerably according to Zone Forester, Bill Edwards. Best results were obtained on open sandy areas where scrub growth and rock outcrop didn't cause interference.

A few people have already filed applications for next years tree planting quotas. As a reminder to the many other makers plans for next spring, applications received before August 15th will definitely receive priority, and the sooner filed the better. Early filing will also assist the Zone Forestry staff who [illegible] the applications and inspect the planting sites during the coming summer and fall.

Application forms can be easily secured at Department offices situated on Napanee, Tweed, Bancroft, Picton and Sandbanks as well as from Agricultural Representatives at Belleville, Picton, Napanee and Kingston.

LIONS WIN OPENER FROM PINES – 11-2

First Game Bay Quinte League

The Napanee Lions entry in the newly formed Bay Quinte Baseball League, won the opening game at Dorland last Wednesday, when they banded out an 11 to 2 defeat to the Pines.

The game was a closely contested affair up until the fateful sixth, when the Lions pushed seven runs across. Up until that time the count was 4 to 2.

Smart ball was evidenced by both clubs and errors were few and hits were well scattered.

The losers used three hurlers, Gallagher went three innings, Bob McLeod until the fifth and Prout, the batcher. The three struck out 7, walked 4 and allowed five hits.

The Lions hurler, Al. Elliott, went the route, striking out 4, allowed 3 safeties and walked four.

The hit of the night was a triple by Gerry Brown, in the sixth, for the Pines.

Prior to the game, president of the League, C. D. Sills, and Charles R. Hanna, President of the Lions Club, opened the game with Frank Gallagher at bat.

ATHLETICS HOLD C.O.B.L. LEAD

Playing heads-up ball behind the 5-hit pitching of Ed. Hooper, the Napanee Athletics held their one-game lead in the C.O.B.L. when they defeated the Kingston Leafs 7 to 2, before a bumper crowd at Megaffin Stadium.

Hooper struck out 5 and walked 2, while Kingston used two hurlers in an effort to stop the spree. Rank started and lasted until the eighth when he was reliever by Richards. The former gave up 10 hits for 7 runs and struck out 5. Richards was touched for a double, which sent a run across in the eighth.

Batteries — Hooper and Hayes. — Rank and Richards, and Stone.

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Twenty-five years is quite a chunk out of the life of a person. It is not much in the life of a nation or a church. The United Church of Canada on Sunday, observed her silver jubilee. In time, it is not long. But in experience and achievement, it is quite a while. The union of three great Churches in 1925, was a venture in faith. Nobody had ever tried the experiment. There were plenty of timid souls, who said: "It can't be done!"

Twenty-five years have passed. They have been trying years — a terrible depression near famine conditions in our Western Province, two world wars. These were enough to try the faith, the resources, and the spirit of churches of long tradition. The United Church has stood the time of testing. According to the Moderator, and other Officers who are in close touch with her life and spirit, The United Church has justified the faith of her founders. The days of minority are behind her; she has achieved her majority. She is now a full-grown adult among church institutions.

A note of gratitude for the past, hope and optimism for the future, marked the address of the Moderator and those who spoke for The United Church during the recent anniversaries.

The faith and courage of all churches are being tested in these days, as never before. We hope that they will be able, not only to weather the present storm of secular interests, but will be stronger by the buffeting. By closing some of the gaps, and presenting to the world a more solid phalanx than was possible when Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists went their separate ways — these Three-in-One will no doubt move forward to nobler triumphs for decency, justice and righteousness in this young country of ours.

People of good will, everywhere, will wish her all success in her future endevours.

KEEPING AT IT

The Prime Minister of Canada has been visiting in The United States. While there he has had some pretty straight things to say to our cousins across the border. He told them that we, in Canada, were about fed-up with the way the United States Congress is stalling on the St. Lawrence Waterway Plan. Naturally, Premier St. Laurent was too polite to use that sort of language. He was a bit more polished in his use of words, but there was no mistaking his meaning. Canadians are getting a bit impatient — that is the way the Prime Minister put it.

We are with the Prime Minister right to the hilt on this issue. Nor would we be far off if we ventured the estimate that at least ninety per cent of the voters in Ontario are behind the Premier on this issue.

We need the power — so does the State of New York. We need the waterways — so do the people in the vast Middle West of The United States, which would be served by a through waterway. The St. Lawrence is the greatest source of power on this continent, still nharnessed. It is about time the voters in the United States made themselves heard, and stopped being pushed around by a few great interests, who think they will lose business if the St. Lawrence Waterways is given the green light.

At the greatest speed of construction, it will take quite a long time to build. There is no time to be wasted.

COMPLETE THE JOB

Napanee now has two of the finest grade schools in the Province. Our citizens are proud of them. The School Board, which had initiative and courage to take the job of rehabilitating the schools, has won the support and the approval of the majority of our people.

The job, however, is not finished yet. The Collegiate Institute is a relic of bygone days. It has served its purpose to be sure. When it was built it was all that could be desired. That was a long time ago. Nobody at that time looking ahead, could have forecast the vast changes that have taken place, not only in curriculum content, but technique of pedagogy, and in school building.

The present building, besides being inadequate, is not large enough to take care of the growing school population. Crowding is neither mentally, nor physically healthy. Something must be done about it.

Of the need of improved facilities, the School Board is convinced. Two courses lie open to the Board and Public. Either the present building must be enlarged, or it must be demolished and a new one erected. Which of these will ultimately be followed, will depend on a number of factors. An important factor is the matter of cost. If the difference between demolishing the old school and building a new one, and enlarging the present building is not too great, then by all means let us have a new Collegiate.

Because of the money expenditure involved, the ratepayers will no doubt have to be consulted about any plan that is adopted. It is never safe to wager an election or a plebiscite. Still, we believe that this community desires the very best for her youth, and will be willing to support a financial expenditure that will make it possible to give our Collegiate students, at least, as good a school home as their younger brothers and sisters now have.

HEADS I WIN, TAILS YOU LOSE!

England is slowly but surely pulling out of her economic tailspin. Point rationing has been stopped. As a consequence many articles of food and clothing which the Britisher has not been able to purchase for a long time, are now available. Travel restrictions have been eased a bit. Gasoline rationoing has ended. Life thus becomes a bit more bright for Mr. Average Householder in the Mother Land. There is no unemployment — wages are good.

A while ago it was the fashion to blame the present Government in Britain for all the shortages and privations to which the people there were forced to submit. Now that the situation is changing for the better, all sorts of reasons are put forward for the improvement. There are those who declare that the move is political. The change is done to woo the support of the Middle Class in prospect of another impending election.

The New York Times does not think the present conditions will last. They are not sound. England is living beyond her means — spending more than she earns.

The truth of the matter, however, seems to be that Great Britain is getting on top of the situation. She is coming alive, and breaking away from the traditional conservatism in which she once prided herself. One has only to drive along the highways in Ontario these days, to be impressed by the frequency he sees an English car. They are being bought like hot cakes. The British manufacturer is not adopting a take-it-or-leave-it attitude; he is studying our markets and trying, quite successfully, to compete with the Canadian and American product.

This is true of precision instruments, clothing, ornamental wood products for churches, stained glass windows, machinery and a hundred other articles. There are more experienced commercial travellers in this country, from Great Britain, than ever before. They are selling goods to meet the Canadian taste.

We are not concerned with local politics — whether the praise should go to one party or another. The point is that the British people are working their heads off (to use a slang phrase) in order to recover their position of economic stability — and they are doing a good job of it.

A little kindly praise for our brothers overseas, for their magnificent effort to recover from the war is in order. After all, they lost pretty nearly everything they had — holding the enemy at bay until we got ready.

WHOLEHEARTED RELIGION

Lesson Text:
Malachi II. 10; III. 7-10; IV. 5-6.

Scholars are not sure who wrote this book. The title 'Malachi' is not a proper noun. It is a common noun, meaning 'my messenger.' It really makes little difference whether we know the name of the writer or not; the message is the thing that is important. Without any doubt the Book of Malachi had a message for the people of the day in which it was written. It has a message for everyday — for our day.

"Have we not all one Father?" he asks. We are all ready to admit that we have. Indeed it is one of the cardinal beliefs of our churches. Of course, we all believe that God is Father of us all. We believe that. That being so, it follows that we are all brothers. We believe that, too. We preach brotherhood, and sing hymns about it in our churches. Too often it ends these. If we are all brothers, then we should act in a brotherly way, to each other — to the Germans, the Russians, the Negro and the Jew — to name only a few of those who differ from us in colour, religion or economic principles. It is one thing to sing hymns about brotherhood; it is quite another to practice it. There are lots of prejudices in us all. Most of us have pet prejudices. These must go if the sovereignty and Fatherhood of God is to be more than a theory, and brotherhood of man something more than a very pretty idea. [illegible] something for God calls for repentance. That rather [illegible] to surprise. What [illegible] we can [illegible] we [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SMITHS FALLS TUMBLE LEAGUE-LEADING ATHLETICS

LOCALS TAKE TERRIFIC DRUBBING

The league leading Napanee A's were on the receiving end of one of the heaviest beatings issued to date in the C.O.B.L. The visiting Smiths Falls team pounded the offerings of Hooper and McTaggart for twenty runs and held the homesters to two lone counters.

No less than 22 hits were registered off the Napanee hurlers. Hooper started but lasted only for the first frame and McTaggart took over with the paths choked and none out. Three runs were scored before the side was retired.

The visitors laid the willow on again in the second and eight more runs scampered across on seven hits and three walks. The fourth and ninth frames were the only innings that the visitors failed to tally. The A's scoring was done in the first and fourth frames.

For the winners, Stalmarch at short played stellar ball. He had eleven chances, fielded them cleanly for three outs and eight assists; scored two runs and gathered two hits.

The feature bit of the night was the home run by Smith, who laced the ball over right field and it rolled under the fence for a circuit clout.

The locals were caught in two double-plays and the Falls, in our...

by "Red" Miller

Things have come to a h ad since the last issue as far as the Belleville and District League is concerned anyway. The Picton Merchants have folded up and are out of the league. The Napanee Merchants learned of this the hard way.

Last week they rush over to Picton for a league fixture and their ... no one home ... Then to cap it all ... the schedule is revised and redrawn up ... and Point Anne are ordered to play at Napanee on Friday ... a County product was all that part was fine ... the only mistake was ... Napanee failed to get any notice of the revision of the schedule, and, consequently, there was no one at the Park except the Park Committee ... to welcome the Cementmen! Result ... no game.

Someone should be held responsible for these miscues.

First, it's umpire trouble ... next no team ... I, for one, seem to be having a rough go of it this season.

The apparent difficulty arising out of the Athletics of Picton-Ex-ure equalize has ... to date ... been all ironed out. They are in the C.O.B.L. and will be by no means the e liar squad.

The injection of a new hustler has sparked the Bay Boys to greater efforts ... So the papers claim.

Smith Falls pound the A's of Napanee ... Napanee wallops Picton ... Picton slips a win over Smiths Falls ... Napanee staple Kingston down again ... Who's next?

We would like to get a copy of the standing ... up-to-date that is ... wonder who has one?

The same with Batawa promises to be a good one ... and we wonder when the Shawmen are going to Demaris of Belleville to Napanee? ... He apparently won't play for the Cobblers and they won't release him.

We also heard from the horses ... mouth ... that Batawa has offered to trade ... three of their reserves for one of the Picton squad ... they are hard up we'd say.

BIRTHDAY GATHERING TO HONOUR AGED LADY AT NEWBURGH

Mrs. D. B. Ruttan of Newburgh, was honoured recently on her eighty-sixth birthday. Friends and relatives sent gifts and cards.

On Saturday, May 13th, her daughter, Miss Beatrice Ruttan, arranged a dinner with Mrs. Ruttan's two brothers, Frank Tompkins of Newburgh and J. A. Tompkins and wife of Bath, as guests. An unusual feature of the birthday dinner was the age of the sister and two brothers, all of them in their eighties.

That evening, Mrs. Ruttan's sons, Roy and wife, of Kingston, and Clarence of Peterborough, were tea guests. Mrs. Ruttan cut the heart-shaped birthday cake inscribed with Happy Birthday Mother. Other tea guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCormack and son, of Kingston, and Mrs. Storms of Peterborough.

A very pleasant day was spent by all present, all returning home wishing Mrs. Ruttan many happy returns of the day.

McNEVIN - VINE NUPTIALS

On Saturday, June 10th, Grace United Church, Napanee, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding, when Marion Elizabeth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stephen Vine of Napanee, became bride of Mr. Douglas Alexander McNevin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Peter McNevin, of Kingston. The Reverend C. D. McLellan officiated at the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Dr. H. W. Cliff of Cook's Church, Kingston.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. B. M. Black and Judge G. F. Smith, uncle of the bride, sang 'O Perfect Love'.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin, with an inset yoke and high collar of white lace. The long lace sleeves extended in points over the hands. The full satin skirt, with lace over-skirt, fell in a short train. She wore a full-length veil of tulle illusion held in place by a bonnet headdress of satin and lace bordered with pearls. A wide edging of Chantilly lace bordered the veil which fell in inset scallops of matching lace. The bride wore an opal necklace, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade of red roses and bouvardia.

Miss Ruth Vine, matron-of-honour, Mrs. Norman Hinton, of Kingston, was gowned in orchid embossed taffeta, and bonnet headdress, and matching mitts. She carried a colonial nosegay.

The bridesmaids were Miss Audrey Vine, Napanee, Miss Velma Johnston, Kemptville and Miss Joan Santer, of Kingston. They were gowned alike in leaf green and wore matching bonnet headdresses and mitts. They carried Colonial nosegays of pastel shade flowers.

Little Miss Jane E. Scott, Kingston, niece of the groom, was flower girl, gowned in yellow nylon over yellow satin and carried a basket of spring flowers and rose petals.

The groomsman was Dr. William R. Beattie of Belleville, brother-in-law of the groom. The ushers were Dr. George D. Scott of Kingston, brother-in-law of the groom and Mr. brother-in-law of the groom and Mr. Delbert Schlicter, of Kingston.

The reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Vannest. Receiving the guests was the mother of the bride, gowned in a dress of French blue crepe, with lace yoke, sleeves and peplum and matching lace gloves. She wore a picture hat of navy straw and a corsage of white rose buds. She was assisted by the mother of the groom, gowned in a dress of silver gray Chantelle lace, with shell pink accessories. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Report of Work By County Health Unit During Month of May

Figures Show Much Activity by Officers

Most of the eating establishments in the County have now received their licenses following an inspection by the food inspector. There are still a number of temporary lunch counters and dining rooms, only open during the summer, to be inspected. The second round of toxoid inoculations at the County school took place during May. Many babies and pre-school children were inoculated at this clinic. The third round will occur in June. During May, physical examinations on children who will be starting school in September, were begun.

On May 3rd an educational conference on tuberculosis for public health personnel was held at the Kingston Sanatorium. This Unit was represented at the meeting. Informative discussions took place on rapid mass surveys and case-finding. It is expected that a mass survey will take place in our County, this autumn.

Dr. N. F. MacNeill of the post-graduate class in public health at University of Toronto, spent a week here during the month of May as part of his field work course. She expressed a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction with what he saw and learned at this Unit.

REPORT OF ACTIVITIES IN PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

One of the main objectives of a Public Health programme is to discover any physical defects in an individual at the earliest possible time in order that it may be corrected and prevent handicaps. That is the reason school health work is so important. For example, vision testing is done regularly, and should any deviations from normal be noted, these pupils are examined regularly. In such a programme it is not likely that a pupil will get to grade II with very poor vision.

There are some pupils from other counties attending Collegiate here and they have not had the advantage of such a service. In one case a pupil from out of the County was found to have serious impairment of vision. A written notification of this was sent to the parents. A further check up showed that the pupil had had an examination by an eye specialist and glasses prescribed. The pupil stated the Doctor's comment was: "you should have been here long before now." Had there been a Health Unit in operation in that county such a defect would not have been missed until the pupil reached grade II.

It has also been observed, however that written notifications of vision difficulties on the part of the pupil, has not always resulted in correction. In some cases the parents have not thought it of sufficient importance to seek medical care. Unfortunately it is the children who will pay, ultimately, for such neglect.

School Health Service

204 Pupils were examined by the Medical Officer of Health.
179 Vision tests were made.
27 Children were found with defects other than vision.

SANITARY INSPECTOR'S REPORT

At this time of year everyone thinks of cleaning and painting up for the summer. What better time than the spring of the year is there for also cleaning up that old pile of ashes, cans, etc., that may be on your property.

The privies also could do with their annual paint job and chloride of lime sprinkled in the pit two or three times a week will kill obnoxious odors. Have you had that well tested lately; drop in at the Health Unit for a water bottle or call the Sanitary Inspector to have your well tested. Lets make Lennox and Addington County not only a healthy spot to live in, but also a beautiful spot for our visitors.

Presentations

Tamworth. — The pupils of Tamworth Continuation School Literary Society met at the school and presented Miss Gertrude Marion with a Bulova wrist watch, and Mr. David Crowe with a beautiful Masonic ring. Following is the address:

Dear Miss Marion

It is with sincere regret that we have learned of your intended departure from Tamworth. Some of us have been your pupils for the three years you have been in T.C.S., and all of us have come to appreciate to the full your true qualities as teachers. You have led us patiently, instructed us carefully and set a gracious example in your fine spirit of co-operation and loyalty. It is in our hearts to wish that you would remain with us, but countless glad memories will enrich the days ahead and we can but hope that your own recollections of the days at T.C.S. will be bright as ours. For the years ahead be ones of health and happiness and be assured that wherever you may go, our fondest regards will follow.

And now, we would ask you to accept these gifts as tokens of our esteem and as souvenirs of the days spent at T. C. S.

Good luck and bon voyage,
(Signed) on behalf of T.C.S.:
Pupils of Literary Society.
Sam Turkington, president.
Edward Gaffney, secretary.

Fosbraey Trial

show that on Saturday, November 26th, Fosbraey bought a hunting knife at the Napanee Hardware Store, and that on Monday morning, November 28th, Fosbraey saw Lieut. Gardner, of the Salvation Army, in an effort to get him to effect a reconciliation with his wife. Later in the day Lieut. Gardner saw Mrs. Fosbraey, and in the early evening she came to his home. While she was there Fosbraey came to the door and asked Lieut. Gardner what success he had had. Lieut. Gardner told Fosbraey his wife was not willing to be reconciled. About 7:30 p.m. Fosbraey was seen crossing the Centre Street Bridge and, shortly after, Mrs. Fosbraey was also seen crossing the bridge. About 8:00 p.m. Mrs. Fosbraey was killed. Shortly after 8:00 p.m. Fosbraey went to the County Gaol and gave himself up to the official who was on duty, and has been in gaol since.

EVIDENCE ON MONDAY

Campbell T. Smith, Ontario Land Surveyor, of Kingston, was the first witness. He showed plans of the area around the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Curran, in South Napanee, and of the district where Mrs. Fosbraey's body was found.

James Driscoll, Ontario Provincial Police Officer, produced 15 photographs, showing blood spots in the snow where Mrs. Fosbraey's body was found; pictures of Mrs. Fosbraey's body; a depression in the snow behind a clump of bushes east of Centre Street Bridge and the sheath of a knife in the police office.

Mr. Nourse, counsel for the defendant, asked that the pictures be excluded, but Justice McRuer overruled his objection and the pictures were admitted as evidence.

LaVerne O'Connor, an employee of the Napanee Hardware, stated that he sold Fosbraey a hunting knife on Saturday evening, November 26th, and identified a knife produced in court as being similar to the knife he sold Fosbraey. He stated that the accused appeared to be normal when he was in the Napanee Hardware Store.

Hugh Jaynes, with whom Fosbraey had resided after his return from England, said that Fosbraey showed him a knife on Saturday evening, November 26th. Asked by counsel if the knife was similar to the one produced, Jaynes said he thought it was smaller.

Lieut. Gardiner, officer in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, said he had not known either Mr. or Mrs. Fosbraey previous to Monday, November 28. About 10:20 a.m. on Monday, November 28, Fosbraey came to Lieut. Gardner's home and told him he and his wife were estranged and he was seeking a reconciliation, but was restrained by the police from seeing her.

Lieut. Gardner told Fosbraey he would contact Mrs. Fosbraey, which he did, and arranged for an interview in the evening. Mrs. Fosbraey went to Gardner's home about 6:30 p.m. Fosbraey also arrived about 7:00 p.m., and was told by Lieut. Gardner that a reconciliation with his wife could, apparently, not be made. At the time Fosbraey came to the house Mrs. Fosbraey was also there, but Lieut. Gardner said that he did not see how Fosbraey could have seen her. Lieut. Gardner said he got the impression that the house was under observation by Fosbraey.

Leo Blute, Mildred Robinson, and Mrs. Percy Madden, next witnesses, testified that they saw both the accused and Mrs. Fosbraey in the vicinity of the Centre Street Bridge during the early evening of November 28th.

TUESDAY MORNING'S EVIDENCE

On Tuesday morning, Mr. L. T. Spencer, South Napanee, was the first witness on the stand. Mr. Spencer told of hearing a scream about 8:00 p.m., on November 28th and going out of his house and finding June Fosbraey lying in the snow in front of Mrs. Nathan Miller's home. He said he picked her up and carried her into Mrs. Miller's home, and that she died almost immediately. Mr. Spencer could not recall questions asked him at the preliminary trial nor the answers he gave.

Harold Poste, rural mail courier, who resides just north of Mrs. N. B. Miller's home in South Napanee, identified a letter sent to Mrs. Poste by Fosbraey, while he was in England. The letter was read in court. In the letter Fosbraey asked if June had been out with that Polish fellow. Fosbraey asked Mrs. Poste to keep an eye on June, for him. He also said he would be returning to Canada soon, possibly after Christmas. Fosbraey said in the letter that the Postes were his best friends and that they would be doing him a service by watching June.

Mr. Poste said he gave Fosbraey's letter to Corporal Smith after the murder. On November 27, Mr. Poste said Fosbraey came to his house, between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m. to borrow £2.00, which he did not give him. The next day, Mr. Poste said, he saw Fosbraey in Napanee a couple of times.

In the evening, Mr. Poste said, he got a telephone message to come to the corner as somebody had been hurt. When he got to the corner, he found Mr. Spencer there and saw June Fosbraey on the ground with blood issuing from her shoulder.

Next witnesses were Edith Sills, who was at the Poste home when Fosbraey called in the evening of November 27th; Dr. Burns, who examined June Fosbraey's body, and Dr. Ray, pathologist, Kingston, who performed the autopsy on June Fosbraey.

Two statements given to the Provincial Police by Fosbraey were read after the Jury had been excluded from the court room.

Reginald Featherstone, night turnkey at the County Gaol said that about 8:00 p.m. on Monday, November 28th, he heard some running outside the gaol. He opened the door and let a man inside. The man asked, 'Is this the Police Station?' Then the man said he had just stabbed his wife. Featherstone told him to sit down and he 'phoned the police. Then he asked the man where he had stabbed his wife and the man asked 'which side is the heart on.' When Featherstone replied 'the left side,' Fosbraey, whom Featherstone identified as the man, said, 'my God that is where I stabbed her. I think I got her three times.'

Victor Burt, an ex-member of the Provincial Police, told of finding the hunting knife in a field on the left side of Alfred Street.

Mrs. Jessie Hilditch, whose home is just beyond the Curran house, in South Napanee, was the next witness. She said that Mr. and Mrs. Fosbraey came in and seemed very quiet. Mr. Hilditch asked him if he had been quarelling with his wife and Fosbraey admitted that he had. He said he had been asking his wife about 'the Pole'. Hilditch told him that was the worst thing he could do. Later Mr. and Mrs. Fosbraey were at the Hilditch house together and Fosbraey asked Mrs. Fosbraey about 'the Pole.' Mrs. Fosbraey was angry and she and Mrs. Hilditch went out of the house into the woods nearby. Fosbraey followed them and Mrs. Hilditch said that he remarked to Mrs. Fosbraey that he would fix her face so that no one would want to look at it.

FOSBRAEY SENTENCED TO HANG

Date of Execution September 21 at Napanee

"We just shovelled the books out," Ted Burch, left, tells Harold A. Steele, vice-chairman and administrator of the Restoration Committee, of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. The debris and junk outside Mr. Burch's flooded Wildwood home is about all that was left after the Red River's waters left the comfortable bungalow. Mr. Steele was only one of the Restoration Committee members to visit flooded areas for first-hand information on ruined furniture, other household effects and clothing—items which the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been established to replace and repair. Contributions may be mailed direct to the Fund, in Winnipeg, or to any branch of a Canadian bank.

Memorial Fund To be Kept Intact Council Decides

Committee Named to Investigate Possible Sites

At the June session of the Lennox and Addington County Council held last week, the Post War Planning Committee made recommendations regarding the War Memorial, which were adopted by the Council.

The committee reported that an opinion had been expressed by the Department of Municipal Affairs that the reserve fund set aside by the County Council for a County Memorial Hall should be retained for that purpose and should not be distributed to the local municipalities.

The Clerk was instructed to advise the Adolphustown Community Club that the County Council has decided the County Memorial Fund cannot be split up and allocated to municipalities or clubs or societies. The Adolphustown Community Club had written the Council, asking that a part of the fund be allocated to the club for its use.

A sub-committee of the Council members, composed of Reeves Davis and Milligan and the Clerk, W. S. Wilson, was appointed to investigate possible sites or buildings in the Town of Napanee which might be suitable for a Community Memorial Hall.)

Another sub-committee composed of Reeves York, Perry and Courneya was appointed to investigate the possibilities of securing a suitable lunch-room conveniently located in Napanee, and to investigate the possibility of securing for a nominal price, rough sketches of buildings which would be suitable for a County Memorial Hall, and to report to Council as soon as possible.

The Clerk, W. S. Wilson, submitted a report regarding the present floor space used for government offices in Napanee and the possible floor space required, together with the total rent and maintenance charges being paid at present. The report showed 3,715 square feet being used now by government offices and the future requirements 4,075 square feet. The Napanee and District Collegiate Board made an application, which was referred to the Finance Committee, for the statutory grant of $500.00 for agricultural instruction.

The resignation of E. M. Harlton as a member of the Tamworth Continuation School Board, was accepted, and Mr. B. H. Wannamaker was appointed to the position for the balance of the term.

A letter was received from Judge G. P. Smith, expressing appreciation of improvements made in the Judge's Chambers at the Court House.

PASS MOTION

A total reduction of $90,00, making the equalized assessment $16,407,556, in place of last year's total of $16,497,556.

Reeve Johnston of Adolphustown asked for the yeas and nays on the motion to adopt the recommendation regarding the equalization of assessment. The vote was recorded as follows:

JURY DELIBERATES ONLY 45 MINUTES AFTER WEEK-LONG TRIAL

After deliberating for about three-quarters of an hour, the Jury, acting in the case of James Fosbraey, charged with the murder of his wife, June Fosbraey, on Monday, November 28th, 1949, brought in a verdict of guilty, at 4:20 p.m. on Saturday, June 17, 1950. Harry Sutton, R.R. No. 7, Napanee, Foreman of the Jury, presented the report to the Judge.

Immediately after the verdict was returned by the Jury, the Chief Justice of Ontario, J. C. McRuer, sentenced Fosbraey to be hanged on Thursday, September 21st. Fosbraey accepted the sentence without any sign of emotion and when asked by the Judge if he had anything to say, made no reply.

The case lasted for five and a half days. The murder of June Fosbraey, by stabbing, occurred on Monday, November 28th. Fosbraey gave himself up at the County Gaol a few minutes after committing the crime. The trial was first scheduled for March 27th, but was postponed twice to allow time for the defence to secure further evidence. R. E. Nourse, of Picton, was counsel for Fosbraey, and K. S. Ham, K.C., the County Crown Attorney, conducted the case for the crown.

Chief Justice McRuer refused to consider an appeal made on Friday afternoon, by Fosbraey's counsel, R. E. Nourse, to reduce the charge against Fosbraey from murder to manslaughter. Justice McRuer said there was no evidence which would warrant the reduction to manslaughter.

Mr. Nourse contended that Mrs. Fosbraey had told her husband when he stopped her on the street on the night of November 28th, that she had been unfaithful to him. But Chief Justice McRuer ruled there was no evidence to support any such statement had been made.

Dr. Tennant, superintendent of the Penetanguishene Institution for the criminally insane was on the witness stand again on Friday morning as was also Dr. R. M. Billings, psychiatrist on the staff of the Ontario Hospital at Kingston. Both doctors testified there was nothing to indicate that the accused was mentally ill.

Fosbraey's counsel, R. E. Nourse, grilled Dr. C. S. Tennant for over three hours as to the possibility from the evidence of the Commission in England and evidence given by witnesses during the trial, that the accused might be suffering from a mental disease known as Catatonic Schizophemia. Dr. Tennant declared there was no evidence that Fosbraey was suffering from any such disease. Dr. Billings also emphatically stated that in his opinion, Fosbraey was not suffering from any mental disease at the time the crime was committed and knew that what he was doing was wrong.

LETTERS READ

Fosbraey's letters, written to his wife from England, protested his great love for his wife and his desire that she give him another chance, by taking him back. But in many of them were references to Stan, (the Pole). He asked, over and over again, if she was seeing anything of Stan. In some of the letters he mentioned seeing a lawyer about getting a divorce and threatened to take his daughter, Carol, away from his wife if she was still seeing Stan. He threatened to take his own life, and later said he made the threat just to scare his wife. Throughout the letters, he repeatedly said he would come back to Canada and that he would be a different man. He said he was sure he could get a job and that he and his wife and daughter could start a new happy life together. Letters written by Fosbraey from the County gaol, which were delivered to the gaoler, Stewart Gilbert, and turned over to the Police, were read in court. In the letters he spoke over and over again, of his love for his wife, and said that he could not live without her. In one letter, he said "the papers are full of my cold-blooded murder." He also said "there's only one verdict the Jury can bring in 'death by hanging'."

Fosbraey's statement given to the police after he gave himself up at county gaol, was admitted. In the statement he said: "after meeting my wife I stabbed her, as I could not live without her; I have a very jealous heart."

Later the same evening Fosbraey went to see with the police, and pointed out the spot where the hunting knife was found in a field, about a block from where June Fosbraey was killed.

R. J. Walsh, uncle of June Fosbraey told of seeing Fosbraey, sometime in October, 1949, before Fosbraey left for England. On that day, Fosbraey told Mr. Walsh that he and June had had some trouble. He said he had beat her up. Later Mr. Walsh went over to the Fosbraey home where he saw June Fosbraey. He said her eye was blackened and also the left side of her face.

CELLMATE'S EVIDENCE

Walter Tice, who was a prisoner in the county gaol in December, 1949, and occupied a cell in the same corridor as Fosbraey, said that Fosbraey asked him what he was charged with. Tice replied: 'with non - support of my wife,' and Fosbraey said to Tice: "I'm the guy who murdered my wife." The next day Tice said Fosbraey talked quite a lot. He said he bought the weapon in a Napanee store. He said he couldn't get a reconciliation with his wife and showed Tice what happened. Fosbraey told Tice he waited along the road and when his wife came along, he spoke to her. She stopped and came over to him. Fosbraey said he asked for some money as he wanted to go

AN EXAMPLE TO OTHERS

The passing of Dr. John R. McNicol at Malton, Ontario, Airport, on Sunday evening, is of interest, not only to the people of Davenport, Toronto, which he represented in the House of Commons; not even to his beloved city, Toronto. His death is a national loss.

He was a member of The Progressive Conservative Party and served as National Chairman for a time. But he was, by no means, a narrow partisan. He was known and respected by all parties. He was a general favourite with all the members of the House.

Dr. McNicol was more than a representative of a constituency; he was, in a sense, a representative at large. No Member of Parliament ever travelled so much; no member ever travelled with such penetrating insight. He was very interested in the control of our water courses. He knew more about rivers, river control, than most men. A few years ago, the present writer was in Saskatchewan when "John R" turned up in a small town and gave an address to a public gathering, as he stepped over in his way East. His theme: Conservation of Water.

Dr. McNicol was a man of means. He spent his money wisely in many good causes. One of his more recent ventures was the reconstruction of the Old Fairfield Village and Church, near Thamesville, Ontario. He travelled far and wide to get the history of the Moravian Missionaries, who started the Church and Village. He made long and exhaustive investigations into old records and maps. This year marks the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the village. For two years, Dr. McNicol was at work on a celebration to mark this event. Plans were about completed. The celebration for which he worked and into which he put so much time and money, will be held in August. Dr. McNicol will not be present.

Dr. McNicol should be a great example for members of parliament and others aspiring to office. Canada needs more men like Dr. McNicol — men who in parliament will serve all parts of the country, and rise above the parochial and the sectional, in the pursuit of their duties.

FUTURE LEADERS

A quite common political comment is that — politics are so rough that it is hard to get decent men to run for public office. There is some truth in that. But, to shy away from public office is no way to improve it. Politics will be improved only as the men who enter politics do so from the highest motives of public service. So long as men and women are in politics for what they can get out of it, it is a pretty safe bet that our politics will be on a pretty low level.

Besides men of high moral and unselfish character, another qualification for office is information. We know how it so often happens: a man gets into a town council and a county council. After this sort of a practical apprenticeship, if he is lucky, he may be nominated for a seat in the house at Queen's Park, or at Ottawa. Whether he is particularly trained to deal with Provincial or National problems, is hardly a consideration at a party convention.

Perhaps little can be done with the old-timers, but certainly much can be done and should be done for potential leaders. Under our party system, a person has to join one party or another. A young person should join a political party. He or she should prepare themselves for taking an intelligent part in the future of the country.

In the Labor Party in Great Britain, this was seen early in the movement. Study groups were held, where young men and young women spent weeks, months, years, studying political and economic problems. This they did in their spare time, often after long hours of physical labour. The Labour Members know what it is all about.

In Canada there has been a little spirt, once in a while, on study groups. Perhaps the C.C.F. has done more of this than the two older parties.

This summer, the Ontario Conservative Progressive Party is having a week's study camp at Gravenhurst — from Sunday evening, July 30th, to Saturday, August 5th. A number of Progressive Conservative Leaders will be present, among them Hon. Leslie H. Frost and Hon. George A. Drew. The themes are interesting. Among them are "The Wage Earner," "Agriculture in Ontario Since the Turn of the Century," "The New Labour Code in Ontario," "What Price Social Security." In addition, there will be study of practical politics and a time is reserved on each day, for questions and discussions. There will be time for recreation, too: dancing, boat trips and a weiner roast.

If this is followed by Winter Study Groups, it ought to go a long way towards providing future leaders for our Province. Whether a person intends to go into politics or not, attendance at Gravenhurst will certainly give one an intelligent insight into the problem that confronts the Province.

THE VERDICT

No fault will be found with the verdict of "guilty" brought in by the Jury against Jas. Rosbrary, Chief Justice McRuer pointed out in his charge to the Jury, that no suggestion had been made that Fosbrary was not the man who killed June Fosbrary, his wife. The question was one of Fosbrary's sanity at the time of the murder. The Jury took only an hour to decide the question. Fosbrary was sane at the time of the murder and was, therefore, guilty. The Chief Justice had a terrible assignment when in the pursuit of his duty, he had no other course than to pronounce the sentence of death. If there is no change, the hanging will take place in the Cannon and Addington County Gaol on September 21st, 1950. This will be the first execution in the County Gaol, since it was built 85 years ago.

Men commit murder under many emotions — jealousy, hate, self-preservation, temporary insanity, some inner urge, and a jury takes these into account. There have been outbreaks of murder and crimes of violence in the post - war world which can only be attributable to the aftermath of a great conflict, in which men saw much of death and in which human life was held pretty cheap. It will take a long time for the world to recover from this war psychology.

The murder of a young woman with a long and useful life before her, was a terrible crime. The hanging of a young man, though just, is likewise a loss to society.

It is hard to escape the conviction that, somehow or other, society as a whole is at fault, and must bear some share of the responsibility for what is happening. There is no doubt but that the home training of young people is not all that it ought to be. For a time a certain philosophy seemed to fascinate and hold spellbound a generation of parents. They sought, to banish discipline, and went on the assumption that a child should be allowed to express his own inclinations with little or no direction; certainly with no discipline. The result was a generation of young people who had little or no self-discipline, and who gave free play to their passions and fancies.

The Church and School, too, must share some responsibility for the outburst of lawlessness that marks our day. These great institutions — the home, the church and school, have it pretty well in their hands to make or mar a generation. They have done much to offset the evil influences that tempt youth; they must do more.

We used to assume that tragedies such as this to June Fosbrey, could not happen here. Well it has happened here! That is a sobering thought, and perhaps will stir us awake to the necessity of using to the full all the agencies for good that have been developed through the years.

"WHERE THE IS SMOKE . . ."

It seems to be generally agreed by those who have facilities for finding out things political, that the Government provision for old age security, with its divergence from the policy hitherto followed. Reports persist from Ottawa, that new legislation will soon be introduced which will provide for an old age pension at the age of 65, with a means test. Those in need will get the pension at 65.

Then there will be a pension for everybody after age 70, of forty dollars a month. This is the new, and generous feature which reporters suggest will be incorporated in the new bill. If this turns out to be correct, and the provinces agree to accept their financial share, the Dominion will have the most advanced social security measure to be found anywhere.

We are of the opinion that such legislation should be passed. In the first place, it will provide some relief for our senior citizens. When a person reaches 65 years, without a means test, there will be no opportunity for one group in the community to contend that they are supporting another. All will share alike. Of course, those in the higher income brackets will have some of it taken back in income tax. That is fair enough, too.

Then there is this other factor, sometimes overlooked. The legislation will go far towards keeping money in circulation. It is well known that when trade gets bad, money tightens up, and with trade restrictions and tight money, it is hard for business to get going again. A continuous redistribution of wealth will go a long way to prevent a trade recession from developing into a depression.

If the forecasters are true, it looks as though we were in for a good piece of social legislation.

JONAH LEARNS GOD'S MISSIONARY PURPOSE

Jonah.3: 3-6; 4: 1-11.

The Book of Jonah has been the butt of jokes all through the years. When anyone wants to raise a snicker among the irreverent, they mention Jonah and the Whale. The overemphasis on this incident in the story has blinded most people to the true meaning of the book. One of the great German Biblical scholars has said that in the Book of Jonah, the Hebrew religion left its narrow nationalism forever. That is not an over-statement.

The popular feeling of the times when this book was written, was one of narrow exclusiveness. The Jews were God's chosen people. They were alone the recipients of God's goodness. In spite of that popular idea, Jonah believed that God loved people even of unclean nationality. He loved the people of Nineveh — Nineveh was a symbol in the minds of the Jews for all that was cruel and hard and unjust. It had been destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar; nevertheless, the Jews remembered it. Its cruelty and harsh dealings were burned into their memories.

Yet, here was Jonah going against popular opinion and facing all the ridicule and opposition such a stand brought forth. He really did not want to go to Nineveh at first. Then, when he did go, he was not at all content to declare that it would be destroyed. After uttering his prophecy of doom, he went out to the city and sat down to see what would happen. Well, nothing happened! Jonah was to get peeved.

In his anger Jonah prayed that he might die. A gourd grew up in the night and shaded him from the wind and sun. That pleased him a little, but when the sun withered the gourd Jonah was not a little upset, and prayed for death. Then God said to him: You are worrying a lot over the gourd, what about Nineveh, a great city with lots of people and cattle in it? Should he not care for them. The implication is that certainly he should care for them. The smallest and humblest of God's creatures come under his care. They cannot tell their right hand from the left. Those people in Nineveh, they have no religious instruction, therefore: see that they get it.

It was not an easy job that Jonah had. Just put it in terms of our own day. Russia is not very popular in Canada. Suppose some one should say that God had sent him to Russia to preach there, because God loved all the Russians, just as he loves Canadians. What a roar of resentment would go up. It would be said: he is crazy; he is a fanatic; or may be he is a fellow traveller and has to be watched. Prophets in every age have run into just that sort of a situation. But, because there have been men like Jonah, we have our world-wide view of Christianity. It is not a religion for the snobs — either intellectual or national. It is a way of redemption for all.

V. O. N. MEETING

The June meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the Armouries on Monday, June 12th. Mrs. R. E. Gould presided.

Routine business was discussed.

The Nurse, Miss Francis Joliffe, reported as follows: 46 cases were carried this past month and a total of 1,460 visits were made. It is interesting to note that 75 per cent. of these visits were to give nursing care. The remainder were health instruction visits to infants, pre-school and school children as well as expectant mothers. Fourteen visits were spent in the schools and five child health conferences were held, with a total attendance of 57.

One afternoon in May was devoted to the pre-school registration and health examination by the Medical Officer of Health. The purpose of this is to make sure that the child is in good health when he starts school, as well as to remind and advise parents of attention which their child might need at this time. We feel that proper nutrition, sufficient rest and general attention to a child's physical well-being is essential to his satisfactory progress in school.

YOUNG CHILD AT ROBLIN, SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURY

Little Jennifer O'Connor, aged 3 years, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn O'Connor, met with a serious accident at the home of her parents, In Roblin, when she fell about twelve feet to a cement floor and sustained painful injuries.

About 11:30 Sunday morning, June 18, the young child had climbed up the ladder to a loft over the garage and when her sister, Nancy went to help her down, Jennifer slipped on some rope in the loft and fell to the garage below. She was taken to Marlbank where Dr. Hunt found she had suffered a badly broken arm near the shoulder which will prevent the use of the arm for some time, also suffered a severe concussion from which she is still in a semi-conscious condition at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Kingston.

Scott, R.R. 4 Napanee, came east with her young daughter about five weeks ago, when flood conditions in Winnipeg were really serious. Mr. Manning has been spending two weeks with his wife and daughter at the home of Mrs. Scott. They return to Winnipeg this week.

Their home, they report, was fortunately not damaged by the flood waters. But they saw a great deal of the devastation caused by the overflowing of the river.

Mr. Manning was largely responsible for the special pictorial issue of The Winnipeg Tribune, 3000,000 copies of the paper were printed in 28 cents each copy, and all the proceeds were presented to the Flood Relief Fund.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor of
The Napanee Beaver.

Dear Sirs :

We notice in your editorial started "Complete the Job" you spoke of demolishing the High School, a relic, of which a large part was only built a few years ago.

We have a couple of fine Public Schools which many people feel was too dear; leaving too large a debt for a town that cannot furnish employment for the people they are now educating.

There are many people in this town having trouble enough to hold their properties without extra burdens, old people who tried to retire when the dollar was worth the present 100 cents, and the young labourers, many who can't get a steady job in Napanee above thirty dollars a week, and the number of men who drew unemployment insurance last winter, many of whom wanted to work.

We wonder if the people responsible for these thoughts of the new High School run their business one debt on top of the other — or have they got a business to run?

COLLEGIATE BOARD DISCUSSES PROBLEM ACCOMMODATION

At the regular session of the Napanee and District Collegiate Board held at Napanee last week, the need for additional accommodation for an increased number of students next term, was a main topic of discussion.

Mr. P. U. Laidley, chairman of the Board, stated that at present there is room for only 410 pupils by using every available bit of space in the Napanee Collegiate. He pointed out that at the present rate of increase the Board will soon need to have accommodation for 650 pupils.

There are two ways in which to provide the necessary additional classrooms. The present school might be remodelled and have an addition attached to it, or a complete new school might be built. Considering that Ontario Education Department grants might be adversely affected by remodelling the old school, it was thought that the best plan might be to erect a new school.

A committee composed of the chairman, P. U. Laidley, the School Principal, Chester S. Foster, the chairman of Standing Committees and the School Board Secretary, R. F. Hunter, was appointed to look into the matter before the Department in Toronto and discuss the best method to be followed.

J. D. Mayhew, chairman of the Management Committee, pointed out that all the teachers required for the fall term, have been engaged.

Mr. Proud, the Napanee Collegiate Principal, told the Board that Ray Hicks, from Grade XI, Jim Davis, Grade X, and Betty Anne Widdington, Grade XII, have been chosen from the Napanee Collegiate, to attend a two-weeks leadership training course at Lake Couchichine, sponsored by the Department of Education.

The Vice Principal of the Napanee Collegiate, A. B. Medd, told the Board that the Agricultural Science Course in Grades IX, X, XI and XII will be re-arranged and the course will, in future, be known as science and agriculture. He said that N. C. I. pupils had recently planted 800 trees at the Golf Club, 30 boys from the School are enrolled in farm clubs, organized by W. H. Hall, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture representative in the County.

The average attendance at the Newburgh High School, as reported by the Principal, N. W. Hutchison in May, was 92 per cent. At Napanee the average was 92 per cent.

OBITUARY

MRS. J. PIXLEY

Death of Josephine Pixley, wife of the late Gardiner Pixley of Sydenham, occurred Friday at Kingston General Hospital after a short illness. She was in her 84th year.

Born in Battersea, daughter of the late John Thorne and Clarinda Clark deceased moved to Sydenham at the time of her marriage. For the past 38 years she was a resident of Kings ton.

Mrs. Pixley attended the First Baptist Church and at one time was active in church and community affairs. She was a life member of Frontenac Chapter 90 of the Order of the Eastern Star and a former member of the White Shrine. She also belonged to Louise Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F. and the Mothers' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A.

Surviving are one son, Neil, of Napanee; three daughters, Mrs. John Silver (Myrtle) and Mrs. Leonard Wheeler (Edna) both of Kingston, and Mrs. George Puttenham (Edith), of Trenton. She is also survived by eleven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

An automatic executioner of flies, gnats and other small insects, eliminating the necessity for sprays, has been devised for use, especially in dairies and bakeries.

This Racket Should Be Stopped

One of the most flagrant impositions on the motoring public has recently been drawn to our attention and one that either the Provincial Government or Department of Highways should endeavor to stop immediately.

A little over a week later after having made a trip through Deseronto, we receive a summons from the local Justice of the Peace stating our license number and of course, an uncertain speed was supplied therein, also if we wished we could return the amount of the fine thus avoiding the necessity of appearing in Court.

This is one of the worst rackets we have ever been in contact with, and one which, according to information received, has caught on quite badly in a number of small villages in this Province.

There is no one who could positively swear a week after having driven through a small village what speed he was travelling or for every man or car driving through the village and they have records of the license of each district in the Province they then send the number to the Department of Highways in Toronto to find out who the owner is and his address, then forward him this nice little summons asking for a contribution to their village and to warrant his position "You don't have to pay it of course, but it costs us more to drive 75 or 100 miles to prove your innocence, so consequently we pay.

But as soon as you send the amount of the fine to them, you automatica lly plead guilty, thus adding a black mark on your driving record, and it doesn't take too many of these today to spoil your driving career.

If this holding cannot be overcome any other way, then it should be up to the Department of Highways to curtail their grants by the amount collected in this manner. Then perhaps, the local council would look into it and control these over enthusiastic fame-seekers.

Everyone knows it costs enough today to travel on our highways without contributing to the upkeep of petty constables and sheriffs in every village we drive through in this Province.

There appears to have been quite a number of motorists from this district caught by this unorthodox method and we hope that something will immediat ly be done to stop it. Incidentally, this cheap method of collecting revenue for a village does not help it in the long run.

by "Red" Miller

The Leathermen took an awful beating here the other night .... 13 to 3 against the local Athletics .... the ball did too .... No less than 16 solid safeties .... and we mean solid .... The way the Killermen pounded that horsehide you would imagine they were trying to take it out on the Shoemen for the lacing they received here at the hands of the Smiths Falls squad.

Every time a hit was registered you could hear it almost down town .... and did it sound swell .... especially to the homesters.

Several visiting fans .... early in the game .... "Wanted" McTaggart .... they could have "used" him .... nicely, we say.

There was talk .... for the past couple of seasons .... about rebuilding the outfield fence .... and bringing it in a little.

The majority of fans .... those who we talked .... said they would rather see a runner cross the plate in a hurry .... not just inside ... and quite a number have scampered across so far this season.

The reason for the sudden surge of circuit clouts .... we believe anyway .... is the better made baseball of today .... more life .... also longer-legged players with ambition.

Who won'd like a job, position, or a hobby .... being the much abused official who stands behind the catcher and takes a beating .... three ways .... players .... fans and foul tips? .... No one wants the above .... not from what we hear.

According to reports .... and they were reliable, too .... a great deal of booze and threats were levelled at the local's representative in the Athletic - Smiths Falls tussle last week at the latter place.

It's apparently nothing new in that area anyway .... three times .... we hear .... the same type of rhubarb has been evidenced at Smiths Falls .... especially when they were on the short end.

Someone should wise up one of the smart Joes at that place .... the one that was going to commit mayhem.

to Oshawa. She turned him down and they started to argue about the fellow she was going with. That was when he stabbed her. He demonstrated to Tice how he did it. He said he wiggled his knife around in his pocket. Then he raised the knife over her head and struck her. When she fell he stabbed her twice more.

"THE POLE" GIVES EVIDENCE

On Thursday morning, Stanilaw Steinback, (the Pole) who has been mentioned as June Fosbraey's friend, was put on the witness stand. Steinback said he met Fosbraey in the Fall of 1949 and one night Fosbraey asked him to his home for supper, and after supper went over town with Fosbraey. After Fosbraey went to England, Steinback said he saw Mrs. Fosbraey a few times, but never alone. It was mostly in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Hilditch, with whom he and Mrs. Fosbraey played cards. Once Steinback said he and Mrs. Fosbraey went to a show. On the Saturday before June Fosbraey died, Steinback said he and Mrs. Fosbraey went to Kingston. When they got to Kingston, Mrs. Fosbraey went to see a girl friend; the friend was not home. Then Mrs. Fosbraey and Steinback went to the British American Hotel, where they registered in their own names and were room on separate floors. Steinback said that at no time while at the hotel were he and Mrs. Fosbraey in the same room. The next day they had breakfast together. Later, Mrs. Fosbraey went to see a girl friends and in the evening, Steinback said he took June to a Polish movie. When they could not get a bus to take them to Napanee, they hired a taxi and were driven home.

Mrs. Noreen Strutt, desk clerk at the British American Hotel corroborated the evidence of Steinback that he and Mrs. Fosbraey had occupied separate rooms in the hotel and had registered in their own names.

COMMISSION REPORT

The report of a commission in England on the childhood life of Fosbraey, and of his conduct during the month he spent in England last Fall, was read in court. It contained testimony given by relatives of Fosbraey and of Dr. Sheppard, superintendent of a mental hospital in which an uncle of Fosbraey had been a patient suffering from epilepsy and insanity. The report contained no evidence of unusual action on the part of Fosbraey. Dr. Sheppard had examined three letters, selected at random, from the letters written by Fosbraey and his report was he could find nothing unusual in them. He did say that between two of them there was a marked contrast, but they did not suggest mental instability.

Mrs. Ward Benn, a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Fosbraey, said that on Monday, November 28th, Fosbraey came to her home and stayed for breakfast, dinner and supper, and had been invited to stay overnight. She said his actions appeared to be quite normal, that day.

Mr. Jack Maskell, of Toronto, who has resided in Napanee until December of last year, reported a conversation at the home of James Maskell, Napanee, which led up to Fosbraey taking a 12-gauge shotgun and holding the barrell about four inches from his temple. While the gun was in that position, Fosbraey asked if it would be possible to pull the trigger. He asked: "How would you use a rifle or shotgun to commit suicide?" The witness stated he appeared to be in a one-track mind and all he talked about was June, his wife.

PSYCHIATRIST GIVES EVIDENCE

Dr. Tennant, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Langstaff, a specialists on mental diseases, said that he had made two examinations of Fosbraey, one on March 31, 1950 and again on June 12, and that he had also observed Fosbraey throughout his trial. In his opinion, Fosbraey is not mentally ill. Referring to the letters written by Fosbraey from England, to his wife, Dr. Tennant heard read in court, the doctor said, he found find any evidence of them of mental trouble in Fosbraey. Referring to the statement made by Fosbraey on the night of the murder, Dr. Tennant stated he believed the accused did know and appreciate the gravity of the crime and was sane. He knew what he had done was wrong.

REYNOLDS - ROGERS NUPTIALS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Grace United Church, Napanee, on June 7th, at 3:00 o'clock, when Ruth Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rogers became the bride of Norval Eldon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Reynolds, Tamworth. Rev. C. D. McLellan officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. B. M. Black and Mr. Mervyn C. Clark, sang "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a Swiss dot organza gown over white satin, featuring a fitted bodice with a Peter Pan collar. The full skirt, redingote style, extended into a short train. She wore a white Juliet cap covered with seed pearls, with a shoulder-length veil, and carried a white Bible, with red rosebuds and white mums.

The maid-of-honour, Miss Dorothy Rogers, sister of the bride, was gowned in ice blue flocked rayon sheer over satin, with matching Juliet cap and mitts and carried a colonial nosegay of pink roses and white mums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Vera Rogers, sister of the bride, Miss Shirley Dennis, of Prescott, and Miss Jean Harvey, of Napanee. They were gowned alike in pink flocked rayon sheer over satin with matching Juliet caps and mitts and carried colonial nosegays of pink roses and white mums.

The groomsman was Mr. Don. Rogers, brother of the bride. The ushers were Messrs. George Kirk, Hertle Rogers and Bill Kirkpatrick, all of Tamworth.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore a ruby crepe dress with black accessories and corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore navy sheer with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

ATHLETICS POUND BATA IN SLUG-FEST

The Napanee A's increased their lead in the C.O.B.L. when they defeated the Bata Shoemen 13 to 3 in one of the greatest slug-fests witnessed in the Lions Operated Gibbard Memorial Park in some time.

The locals, playing sparkling ball throughout and running bases as well, piled up sixteen safeties, three of which were triples, and a like amount of two-baggers. Ten men were left stranded in the 7½ innings' game.

Ed. Hooper, on the mound for the locals, held the shoemen to two singles and a triple, struck out one and issued six free tickets.

For Batawa, Art. Wright started and up until the fourth pitched fair ball, allowed eight hits, walked one and struck out one. Red Carson relieved him and he held the A's off the score sheet until the 13th, when four smashing hits, two doubles and two triples, forced the hurler off the rubber. Peacock, who played a spectacular game in centre field, took over and before the barrage died away seven runs had crossed the plate. Carson struck out three and walked two in his tenure of office, and Peacock stopped three at the plate and issued three free trips.

The big guns for the winners were Gerow, Jicko and Burtt with three-bagger clouts. Every man on the squad collected a hit or more and scored a run.

For Bata, Carson tripled in the fourth and tried to make the score even on a pass ball, only to have Hooper stop him at the plate. Bush and Wright collect a single apiece to round out the Bata's endeavor.

As to minutes the visitors were credited with four and the A's with two.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY TEA AT TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

On Friday afternoon, June 18th, Trinity United Church Sunday school room was the setting of a lovely tea under the auspices of Trinity Woman's Association and convened by Mrs. F. B. Knechtel. The room was artistically decorated with peonies, lupins and iris. The tea table looked attractive with its gorgeous lace cloth and tall white tapers in silver candle holders. In the centre was a two-tier anniversary cake beautifully decorated and with a small silver church adorning the top. Around the cake were arranged large pink and white peonies entwined with silver ribbon.

Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. D. B. Wilson poured tea during the first hour and were relieved by Mrs. F. Nicholson and Mrs. F. H. Henderson.

The guests were received by Mrs. R. A. Jackson, president, and Mrs. Noble Hatton. Mrs. W. S. Exley acted as hostess. During the afternoon the gathering was favoured with appropriate readings by Mrs. K. Powell. Mrs. R. M. Wightman delighted the guests with songs of to-day and Mrs. R. L. Miller with songs of yesteryear. Miss B. Baughan accompanied the soloists and rendered many beautiful selections on the organ.

As this tea was in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the United Church, most of the ladies assisting were those of long service.

M. P. Urges Ottawa Pay Rail Subsidy

Ottawa. — A proposal that the Government should grant subsidies to bring about "an equitable and stable freight rate structure throughout Canada," was made in the House of Commons by J. H. Blackmore, (SC-Lethbridge).

He maintained that if the railways had to have additional revenues then they should be given that revenue through subsidies towards which every one in Canada would contribute. There was no reason, he said, why mcre than a fair shake of railway revenues should be taken out of the four Western provinces.

Later the bride and groom left for Kalamazoo, Michigan. For travelling the bride chose a navy sheer redingote over white taffeta with navy and white accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses and white mums. On their return they will reside in Tamworth.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were silver chokers, to the organist a rhinestone brooch and to the groom a pair of gold initialed cuff-links.

The groom's gift to the bride was a rhinestone necklace and matching bracelet, to the groomsman a leather billfold, to the ushers, wine knitted ties and to the soloist, a leather billfold.

EX-KING PETER PLANS TO SETTLE IN BRITAIN

London. — Former King Peter of Yugoslavia has been reported to be planning to settle down in Britain. When he arrived from Paris recently his secretary said he will look for a home in nearby Buckinghamshire.

Peter, 26, has been wandering around since Yugoslavia was proclaimed a Communist-led republic, in 1945.

'Mavis danced last night with a young Frenchman who cannot speak English. 'How quaint!' 'Very. This morning she bought a French dictionary and tonight she is going to slap his face.'

The Regent, Mrs. Robert Smith, presided, opening the meeting with the Order Prayer and the Salute to the Flag. The minutes of the previous business meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report received. The treasurer was authorized to pay all bills as received to date.

Letters of appreciation and thanks from the recipients of food parcels were read by the Regent.

Wednesday, October 4th, 1950 was set aside as the date to again present the annual Fall Fashion Show and each member was issued tickets to be sold on a per ticket donated by McKay's Furriers, Kingston and to be given away on the show date.

DORLAND

Dorland, June 17. Rain is much needed for the crops of all kinds. Strawberries are opening but will not be abundant under the present conditions. Corn seed March 31st is coming on short. Some fall wheat is green in some. A brief electrical storm on Friday evening brought a little rain which was soon dried up by the hot sun and winds which all night and is still blowing. The temperature is cold this morning.

The services in the United Church last Sunday was in keeping with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the formal beginning of The United Church. Mr. Stewart's sermon was both instructive and challenging.

Work was rushed during the past week on the cement floor built below the old Hay Bay church for a residence for a custodian. This will be a great convenience to the many tourists who visit the historic building every summer, for someone to be on the building and explain the history.

Many of the ladies from this way are guests at the Blossom Tea given by the Conway W. A. on Friday afternoon to which the members of other organizations of the circuit as well as the ladies from Selby, Bath, St. John's, Amherst Island were invited. All enjoyed the afternoon.

McLeod, Mother's Day readings by Mrs. Frisken and Mrs. Middleton, solo by Mrs. Jas. Vankoughnet, which was much enjoyed; a very interesting paper by Mrs. D. Winter on the history and development of Canada, a humorous reading by Mrs. M. Dennison. There was an exchange of flower slips, and a contest was conducted by Mrs. Frisken.

Richmond gave a report on the rally held in Belleville. It was moved that the W. I. purchase plants for the cenotaph plot and that the same committee act as last year. It was moved that we purchase cards to be sent to sick and shut-ins with our Institute Crest on and that we have a quantity of them made. Mrs. W. G. Richmond brought the condition of the dumping yard just outside of the village to the attention of the meeting. After some discussion in regard to same, it was moved by Mrs. Richmond and Mrs. Bell that a letter be sent to the Sanitary Inspector in Napanee, asking that it be looked after.

Mrs. B. Wannamaker took charge of the program. The roll call was an exchange of flower slips, seeds and bulbs. The motto: A Brave New World Built on Broken Homes, was given by Mrs. Clifford Milligan, who cited several causes for broken homes: divorce, drunkenness, unfaithfulness and war. Many pilgrims left other countries to come to Canada to build new homes and many of them recall the hardships they withstood in order to build homes for themselves. Many know the hardships and broken homes caused by war. We, as a generation, have failed more or less in facing up to the facts. The speaker also mentioned the ravages of flood and fire and the disaster that followed in their wake, but what was a vanquished people, will rise again victorious. She quoted Father Paton who said: The Family that Prays Together, Stays Together. It's responsibility is ours to build better homes and a better country. She ended with one of Edgar A. Guest's poems, entitled 'Boys'.

The secretary reported the sum of $33.68 being raised by the Tag Day for the Blind. After the National Anthem was sung, lunch was served.

NAPANEE W. I.

The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the agricultural room on Tuesday, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. F. McCutcheon, president, presided. The sum of $5 was given to the Red Shield Appeal. Mrs. E. Vine invited the Institute to her summer camp some time during July, the date to be arranged by the executive.

Mrs. J. Haggerty presented Mrs. H. M. Wagar with a life membership pin and certificate for her faithful service and many kind acts to the Institute. She was also presented with a bouquet of flowers by Mrs. K. Powell.

Mrs. Gerald Plumley and Mrs. P. Richards were conveners of the programme. Mrs. Plumley presided. The programme consisted of a vocal solo by Mrs. James Clark. Cornet solos by Jimmy Kelly and a very interesting and instructive talk on crafts by Mrs. R. Gage of Belleville, who also had several articles on display.

Thanks were expressed by Mrs. B. M. Black to all those who assisted in the programme.

There was a mystery parcel presented by Mrs. Plumley and tickets were sold, and a nice sum of money was raised to assist the Winnipeg Relief Fund.

The roll call was My Husband's Most Annoying Habit. Instead of having a short course of our own, this year, it was decided to attend the district course, which will be held in a central location in the district.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. G. Plumley and her committee. This will be the last meeting until September.

ATTENDED CH. UNION ANNIVERSARY IN TORONTO

Ross W. Milligan was in Toronto and attended the 25th Silver Anniversary of the Union with the Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian Churches, which was held in the Maple Leaf Gardens. There was an attendance of more than 15,000 and the whole front of the stage was adorned with ferns and flowers of many kinds. The Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, D.D., B.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, gave a most inspiring sermon.

There was in attendance the Toronto Symphony Orchestra of seventy-five pieces, with Sir Ernest McMillan, conductor. Close to the choir was an illuminated cross, twelve feet high, with arms about five feet in length. Next was the large choir of more than 1,500 voices. The ladies were clothed in white and the gentlemen in dark suits, which was very effective under the brilliant lights. There were two more large fully illuminated crosses, each ten feet high and arms about four feet. Directly above the crosses were three words in very large letters, one foot high. 'One in all, we in Christ.'

WEDDING BELLS

SCOLLICK - HAWLEY

The marriage of Rose Ella Hawley, Toronto, formerly of Napanee, daughter of Mr. Charles W. Hawley and the late Mrs. Hawley, Napanee, and David Scollick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Scollick, Sr., Toronto, was solemnized on May 27, at 2 p.m. at Grace United Church, Toronto. Rev. Mr. E. W. Hart officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar background of pink snapdragons and maiden hair ferns.

The church choir sang prior to and following the ceremony. Mr. R. Woodard was organist and Mrs. H. Hutnsworth sang the 'Lord's Prayer'.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown fashioned of white satin with softly squared neckline and slim basque. The bottomed down back flared at the waist to a slight train. The skirt was very full and simply designed. Long sleeves came to points over the hands. A full length circular veil fell from a Juliet headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of butterfly roses with stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. F. M. Butler, of Edmonton, was matron-of-honor. Miss Geraldine Dyer, Toronto, and Miss Shirley Barker, Kingston, were senior and junior bridesmaids respectively. The attendants were similarly gowned in turquoise satin designed with wide shawl collars that crossed at the bodice and finished in slim back bustles. The fullness of the skirts was gathered at the back with slight trains. They carried bouquets of sweetheart roses, pink sweetpeas and yellow daisies. The matron-of-honor wore a matching turquoise halo hat and mitts. The bridesmaids were half hats of flowers to match their bouquets.

Mr. Thomas Smith, Toronto, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Bruce Vigus, Toronto, and Master George Parker, Kingston, nephew of the bride.

A reception followed in the church parlors. Mrs. F. J. Parker, sister of the bride, received the guests, in a navy sheer gown over navy and white crepe with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white roses with white sweetpeas and lily-of-the-valley. She was assisted by the mother of the groom who wore a gown of sheer grey mesh over taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of butterfly roses and pink sweetpeas.

For her wedding trip to Montreal and points east, Mrs. Scollick chose a navy blue crepe gown with navy and pink accessories and pink carnation corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Scollick will reside in Toronto.

The gifts of the bride to her matron-of-honor and senior bridesmaid were lapel pins. To the junior bridesmaid, a compact. The groom's gift to the best man and ushers were leather wallets.

PULVER - BROOKS

A lovely marriage ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Stirling, on Saturday, June 3rd, when Doris Mae, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks, became the bride of Morris Wilbur George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin G. Pulver, Bedneyville, Ont. Rev. J. P. Henderson officiated before a background of white lilacs, tulips, carnations, apple blossoms and pink and white streamers. Miss Nina Hudgins, Selby, cousin of the groom, provided the wedding music and Miss Jean Rathburn, Consecon, cousin of the bride, sang 'Because' during the singing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her bridal gown of white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline and long tight-fitting sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. The full skirt was gathered to the scalloped waistline of the long-waisted molded bodice. Her silk net, lace-trimmed finger-length veil was held by a white satin Juliet cap. She carried an open white Bible with lily-of-the-valley and cream roses.

Mr. Wilbert Green, Carrying Place, was groomsman.

At the reception at the bride's home, the bride's mother, attired in figured grey silk and corsage of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley, assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a brown figured silk and corsage of cream roses and sweet peas, received the guests.

For the wedding trip to western points, the bride chose an ensemble of robin's egg blue with black accessories. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm, R.R. Roblin.

Belleville High School Soon be Inadequate To House Pupils

Construction of a new high school in Belleville or district, or an addition to the present collegiate, will be necessary within the next few years if the present increase in the number of students continues. This fact was emphasized at a recent meeting to discuss the possible formation of a Quinte High School district to include Belleville and the four rural townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Hungerford.

BELLEVILLE EDGE MERCHANTS, 4 TO 3

Two errors in the seventh frame cost the Napanee Merchants a game with Belleville, here, Thursday night, when the locals dropped the contest 4 to 3.

It was one of the best games of the season and up until the fateful seventh, was error free. The visitors gathered 14 safeties, but were widely distributed and the hit of the night was the home-run by Bunton in the fifth, that gave the winners their first count. Up until that time Robinson kept the visitors in check. He struck out seven, walked one and the circuit clout was the only hit for extra bases.

Bunton started for the Belleville squad and was relieved by veteran Chuck Barrage in the fifth. In the fourth, the Merchants opened the score sheet with a double by Turner; a single by Fish, coupled with a walk and wild pitch, for two big counters. Again in the sixth, Denison and Fish combined for two-baggers. Fish scored.

The break in the game came when Gorer was hit by a pitched ball. Reeves nailed the sacks when a long fly was dropped in centre. Elliot pushed Reeves and Gorer over with his ground ball went through the infield for an error. Lockyer slipped a sharp single to left field, scoring Elliott.

Bunton downed four at the plate, walked four and gave up three hits. Barrage struck out two and allowed two hits. Belleville had two double plays in the early part of the game. They had five left on the sacks. Belleville had twelve men stranded. Each tem had one earned run.

A'S DEFEAT SMITHS FALLS IN C.O.B.L. TILT

Smiths Falls. — Umpire Roy Mack had the last word in Smiths Falls, Wednesday night, when with darkness falling, he called the COBL game in the top half of the eighth inning as Napanee Athletics, who were leading the Smiths Falls Royals by 7 to 6, being the benefactories. The fans, who had been objecting to decisions, and the Royals got a bit out of hand before and after the game was called.

Herb Hayes, veteran catcher, paced the A's and his double with the bases loaded was the most potent blow delivered in the first inning when the visitors scored six runs. Napanee concluded their tallying with one marker in the second frame and from there until the sudden conclusion the Royals staged an uphill battle that caused plenty of excitement.

$40 PENSIONS AFTER AGE 70, ARE ADVOCATED

Ottawa. — The Canadian Welfare Council urged last week that pensions of at least $40 a month be paid to all persons seventy years and over and to those between 65 and 70 who are 'prematurely aged.'

In a brief submitted to the parliamentary committee on old-age security, the council said it was not prepared to recommend a contributory pension plan which would provide benefits only to those who could afford to contribute.

The council, a national association of agencies, citizens groups and individuals interested in the advancement of social welfare in Canada, said it felt the federal government should pay a 'flatrate' pension to the aged.

'The pension should be at a rate which will enable the majority to live at a minimum standard of health and decency with supplementation,' said the brief.

Hydro lines have also been built on the Reserve within the past year and there are now several Mohawk homes using electrical power in the Shannonville area of the Reserve states the Indian Agent, D.R. Cassie.

EASTERN ONTARIO GRASSLAND DAY

Grassland Day for Eastern Ontario will be held this year on June 26 on the farm of Earl Shepherd on Highway 15, near Kinston. In the past few years, these events have attracted thousands to see their best farms and modern haymaking methods and machines in action.

In one short day haymaking history will be brought up to date and a glimpse given into the future since every type of haying machinery will be demonstrated. Some seventy-five different machines from at least a dozen manufacturers will be displayed and demonstrated. These will include the latest models of power and horse drawn mowers, dump and side delivery rakes, hayloaders, field balers, and forage harvesters. Other labour saving devices will be bale elevators, forage blowers, buck rakes, self-unloading and one-man sliding racks. These will all be demonstrated to show their relative advantages and disadvantages in handling hay and grass silage.

Growing interest in the use of grass silage has prompted the committee to arrange for an actual demonstration of ensiling grass. An experienced authority will be right at the silo to discuss problems and give advice on this phase of forage storage.

Combination seed and fertilizer drills will also be demonstrated in the morning to show their relative efficiency in seeding pasture mixtures. This will be accompanied by a discussion on the establishment of new seedings.

Another feature of the morning programme will be a demonstration of various weed sprayers and a discussion on chemical weed control. Demonstrations of previous sprayings of crops. One hundred and fifty dollars ($150) in prize money is being offered for this feature. Details and entry forms are available from your agricultural representative.

All of these and many other features have been arranged to make this year's Grassland Day the most successful yet. The committee has been very fortunate in securing Professor N. J. Thomas of the Ontario Agricultural College, noted authority on grassland, as guest speaker.

Mr. Shepherd, along with the officers of the County Crop Improvement Associations, particularly Frontenac who are hosts, in Eastern Ontario, have spared no effort or expense to make this field day a success.

The province of Ontario now has 290 fire lookout towers, mostly made of steel, and fifty more will be erected next year, according to Ontario's Forest Protection Chief, T.E. Mackey.

"LITTLE MAN" FIRST TO GET FLOOD REEIEF

Winnipeg — Premier Campbell said last week that The 'little man' probably will be recompensed fully for damage to his house during Manitoba's disastrous spring flood.

The Premier made the comment in distributing to newspapermen copies of a statement which disclosed that a maximum of $3,000 — although some exceptions can make it higher — has been placed on flood relief to householders for damage to dwellings.

Mr. Campbell said that the schedule of relief outlined in the statement applied only to homes and farm buildings hit by the floods. Furniture, private possessions of livestock would not be included. Small businesses and other categories of establishments will be handled later.

The Premier said the Government felt the schedule of grants would take care of a large number of claims made from its fall although it was obvious that damage would exceed the maximum in some cases. Applications and proofs thereof to the undersigned S.-Heitor for said Estate, on or before the 14th day of July, A.D., 1950, after which date the assets will be distributed by the Executors to the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to claims of which they shall then have notice, and they will not be liable to any persons of whose claims notice shall not have then been received.

Points Outlined

His statement made these points:

1 Assistance grants for flooded dwellings will be the amount of the appraised damage up to but not exceeding $3,000.
2 Rehabilitation assistance up to $1,000 for barns.
3 Rehabilitation assistance for other farm buildings to be determined through individual appraisals.
4 Where buildings are wrecked or ruined beyond repair, the appraised damage will be the estimated cost of replacement less depreciation.
5 Where a building has shifted from its foundation, as a result of the flood, cost of moving it back will be granted in addition to rehabilitation assistance.
6 Where a building has been carried away by flood water but is in sufficiently sound condition to be moved back, the cost of moving will be granted in addition to rehabilitation assistance.

The statement added that 'where unusual circumstances are found . . . and the foregoing schedule does not meet rehabilitation requirements the Board . . . may provide further assistance. In any event, the foregoing limitations will not apply in respect to old-age pensioners, recipients of mothers' allowances and 'war, veterans in receipt of disability pensions of 50 per cent. or more.'

Each owner will select suppliers of material, employ labor or engage contractors. Individuals working on their own buildings will be paid for their work.

OTTAWA MEAT PRICES JUMP

Ottawa. — Butchers reported at the week end that the people of Ottawa were rapidly becoming vegetarians, due to spiralling meat prices.

A survey revealed that almost all meats, including many tinned varities, cost more than the housewife's pocket book could stand.

Cooked ham, which sold for 80 cents a pound three weeks ago, now was $1.00 Beef had gone up three cents in a week, while pork had jumped 15 cents. Livers, hearts and tongues also had risen slightly.

Butchers said Ottawa housewives were refusing to pay the higher prices, and were buying more eggs and vegetables. The only meat showing a healthy movement were cheaper cuts, they said.

The high prices were attributed to heavy shipments of Canadian meat to the United States.

The United States will pay more for Canadian meat than Canadians can afford,' one leading butcher said.

IF YOU WERE BLIND

If you were to lose your sight, where would you go for help? There is only one answer to this question: The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is the only agency in Canada with the experience and the trained personnel to assist the visually sight. Its services have as their aim the rehabilitation of the blind and the amelioration of the condition of blindness.

Instruction from its blind home teachers assist in making the necessary adjustment to blindness, often very difficult, and in the learning of braille reading and other skills and hobbies which will assist in passing the time. At your service is the Institute's library of more than 75,000 books in embossed type for finger reading, and on talking book records for those unable to acquire this skill. For the employable blind there is occupational training and job placement so that it is possible to be self-supporting. In its rehabilitation programme, the Institute's motto is 'to help the blind to help themselves.'

For those less fortunate, the C.N.I.B. provides radio services which includes free licenses for all, sets on loan and batteries and repairs for those unable to provide these for themselves. Valuable concessions have been obtained for the blind, such as free theatre passes, free city bus passes, reduced travel rates on railway and bus lines, and discounts on raw material and equipment needed by the blind. Although the Institute is not a relief-giving organization, emergency or supplementary assistance in cash or kind can be specially provided when investigation reveals that this is required. Social and recreational activities are now provided in the larger centres. Social clubs have been oraganized, and the members engage in activities such as bowling, cards, and other games, and even may have a ten-day period at a summer camp for the blind, operated by the C.N.I.B.

In a word, everything possible is done for the blind and the visually handicapped. In addition, there is a positive prevention of blindness programme in which the Institute cooperates with the 'Public Health authorities.

33,000 Canadians Visit Britain In 1949

Britain's Board of Trade has just revealed that 1949 was a record year in the number of bonafide overseas tourists arriving in the United Kingdom. The total number of arrivals, 540,000, was nearly 10 per cent higher than in 1948 which itself had the highest record since 1920.

There is no information regarding the number of Canadians who visited Britain before the war, but in 1949 there were over 33,000 — an increase of 33 per cent. over 1948. Of these, some 25,500 travelled by sea.

The peak months for arrivals from Canada were July and August.

Safety Campaign Impounds 20 Cars

Impounding cars of drunk drivers at the time of arrest instead of after the trial under an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act passed at the recent legislative session has resulted in twenty cars being impounded and seven forfeited to the Crown. This change in the act is part of an intensive safety campaign by the Ontario Department, who disclose 100 persons have been convicted of driving while their licenses were under suspension.

Formerly, drivers escaped the impounding of their cars by selling them before they came to trial. The seven cars forfeited to the Crown were owned by drivers who bought them while the license for a previous car was under suspension.

The Department also has the power to increase the period of suspension imposed by the magistrate. A convicted driver may apply for a license after two years and may receive it at the discretion of the department.

Canada Billed For Fuel Costs

Marshfield, Wis. — Gerald Boos and Arthur Lynn, private citizens are quoted as saying they have billed Canada for half their winter fuel bill — $136.

Senator Norman Paterson (Lib-Ont.) has suggested the United States pay half the flood damage at Winnipeg because the Red River which inundated the city starts in the United States.

Boos and Lynn countered that most of Wisconsin's cold air in the winter comes from Canada.

"Turn about is fair play," they said.

Military Installations Moving Close to Alaska

Prince Rupert, B.C. — It has been reported that the Russians appear to be moving military installations closer and closer to Alaska.

Travellers who reached Prince Rupert from Northern Alaska recently said Soviet authorities have been evacuating civilians from the big Diomede Island in the Bering Sea. This is taken to be a prelude to the arming of the island. It is only a mile from little Diomede Island which is owned by the United States.

Big Diomede Island is the easternmost point to United States territory.

Recently it was reported that Eskimos from United States islands were moved and retained by Russians and closely questioned about United States installations.

The travellers, who did not make their names disclosed, but who are considered authoritative persons said Soviet armies on the big Diomede Island would be a serious menace to the United States line of defence into the Arctic and northern Alaska.

There are oil reserves in the Barrow region, where drilling is underway and in the same area the U. S. has a geographical laboratory for weather and cosmic ray research.

The United States is also known to have installations of its bases in the far north in which the travellers called an "ominous wave."

The report is that air bases at Nome and Shemya at the far end of the Aleutian Islands will be activated. Ladd Field, at Fairbanks, and Elelson Field, 26 miles from Fairbanks, and Elmendorf Field, at Anchorage, now remain as the principal long range air fields in western northern Alaska.

Ontario Council Christian Education Convention, Deseronto

The O. C. C. E. Sunday School Convention was held on June 7, 1950, in Deseronto United Church and opened with the hymn, 'O Master, let me walk with Thee,' followed with prayer by Rev. T. Townsend. The minutes were read and the treasurer's report given by Mrs. H. H. Longford, of Napanee.

Mrs. John Ford, Napanee, gave an interesting talk on C. C. I. T. work and made mention of the helpful material to be found in their magazine, 'The Torch.' She also urged personal assistance to any new group being formed or any other group desiring assistance.

Miss H-len Anthony, B.A., Child-rain Work Secretary for O.C.C.E., Toronto, was the guest speaker and the theme of her morning address was on 'The Next Step Forward.' She stated that co-operation among the various churches is much more difficult to obtain than mere denominational co-operation. She recommended that a week advise on any knotty problems from the special leaders in their office. She stated that the W. Te-ne Book, whereby all may contribute to help pay travelling expenses for delegates from other countries to the World Sunday School Convention being held in Toronto from August 30 to 16th, has passed the $21,000 mark.

Rev. R. N. Savary of Christ Church Deseronto, officiated at the worship service, basing his talk on the 19th Psalm and Matt. 14.

Miss Anthony then spoke on 'Evangelism and Christian Education,' based on Luke 4, verse 43 'The Gospel is God's story as revealed in Jesus Christ. She then told the tragic story of the young airman who died in great fear and mental suffering because he did not know God and as a result of shock, the hideous suffered by the other airman in whose arms he died, when he realized that he could not help his friend because he had not found God either.

After singing 'Bless Gardiner and Ralph Whitman led in a rousing song service, consisting of old hymns and familiar choruses. Mrs. Gardner then spoke on 'Example and Precept.' What you are speaks so loud that I can't hear a thing you say.

Miss Anthony's afternoon address was on 'Reach, Teach and Win.' She spoke of her childhood experience when she was seemingly on her death bed and she had been so conscious of the living presence of Jesus Christ. She felt that her recovery had been effected because there was work she must do for God.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION HELD AT MOSCOW

The Annual Sunday School Convention for Camden and Sheffield Townships and the Village of Newburgh was held in Moscow United Church on Thursday, June 8. The guest speaker was Miss Helen Anthony, B.A., Children's Work secretary of the Ontario Council of Christian Education, Toronto.

The morning session began with a Worship Service by Mr. Harold King, the president, following which Mr. Elden Drew, on behalf of the Sunday School, welcomed the Convention to Moscow. The secretary, Allan Lampkin, read the secretary's and treasurer's reports.

The topic of Miss Anthony's first address was 'The Next Step Forward.' In this brief address, Miss Anthony challenged the individuals of this convention area to get behind one activity, e.g. a boy's rally and, to make the next step forward a firm one.

Wray McLaughlin led the convention in a short worship service.

In her second address, 'Evangelism and Christian Education,' Miss Anthony gave a meaning for evangelism, that is not necessarily noise or excitement, but rather the bringing of good news by one who is sent. Thus we see Jesus Christ as one sent with the good news of God, to all parts of the world. Since education is a growing or leading out process, Miss Anthony said the Educating Evangelist Teacher is one who uses a step by step process, which eventually leads pupils to (1) trust God; (2) accept, personally, Jesus Christ; (3) commit themselves to Him. To be an evangelist teacher demands that we have: (1) a real Christian experience; (2) a knowledge of our job. We ought to evaluate our leading to see that evangelism and education are going hand in hand, not individually.

A tasty and plentiful meal was served by the Moscow ladies.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session began with a sing-song and Rev. G. P. McKenzie led in the afternoon worship service. The departmental superintendent's reports showed that more effort in the various schools will make our work more successful.

Aim for BIG Eggs EARLY!

Big eggs are going to mean real money this Summer and Fall — but that won't mean a thing to you if you're not getting big eggs! And the only way we know to get big eggs in time to do your pocket the most good is to grow big, strong, sturdy pullets with the body development to get up to full production of big eggs early.

We're not talking about "pushing pullets into production". The aim of the Purina growing plan is to get pullets to the right stage of development so that when they start to lay they'll be ready to lay . . . lay heavily and come up fast in egg size. That's not "pushing" them — it's developing them, with the development balanced against their sexual maturity. Then they'll use your laying ration for laying.

Which Purina growing ration to choose depends upon your grain supply. Come in and talk it over!

Annual sessions of the Grand Lodge, Rebekah Assembly, Grand Encampment and Department Council of Patriarch Militant, were held at the Independent Order of Oddfellows met.

Elected for the Napanee district as Deputy Grand Master of the I.O. O.F. was Clarence Hawley, of Napanee. He has jurisdiction over lodges at Napanee, Deseronto, Odessa, Tamworth, Yarker.

With record attendance, the convention sessions achieved another record in business accomplished. Presiding over the I.O.O.F. sessions is Reginald Tirrush of Chapleau, while Mrs. Isabel Carr of Toronto heads the Rebekah Assembly meetings.

Two exceptionally worthwhile public service projects of the Oddfellow groups, the Cancer Poliomyelitis and Tuberculosis Fund, and the hospital bed programme received special attention at the meetings. DAIRY FARMERS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

"What a this cent-a-pound butterfat for advertising purposes going to cost me." is a question heard often enough among dairymen across Canada, these days. The query is a natural one for it is in line with the active promotion campaign of the Dairy Farmers of Canada to bring the merits of dairy products to the public more forcibly through advertising. A cent-a-pound butterfat, or the milk equivalent, set aside during the month of June will establish the initial budget for this purpose.

Eric Kitchen, secretary - manager of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, has worked out a few figures designed to serve as a guide to milk and cream producers the country over. For instance, on a hundred pounds of 3.5 milk (3.5 pounds of butterfat) the deduct n at a cent a pound would be 3½ cents; on 100 pounds of 4 per cent. milk it would be four cents; on 400 pounds of 3.5 milk the deduction would be 14 cents, and so on through any calculation, simply using the butterfat test as the key.

Once the basic calculation was determined it would then be a simple matter, Mr. Kitchen points out, for the farmer to figure out about what he would be called upon to pay out of the June set-aside for advertising purposes in a individual way. For the whole month of June, a man who shipped 400 pounds a day of 3.5 milk would pay only $4.20 as his contribution toward the promotion of greater use of dairy products. The 50-pound-a-day shipper of 3.5 milk would pay $2.25 for the month, while the 300-pound-a-day shipper of 3.5 milk would contribute $3.15.

In the case of the cream producer another rule-of-thumb could be used. If a week's production ran to about 50 pounds of 30 per cent cream, the fat content would be 24 p unds. Four weeks of such production in June would total 96 pounds of fat, or approximately 80 cents for the advertising set-aside.

"Farmers themselves have considerable resp nsibility for the present butter surplus in Canada," said Gilbert M. Millan, President of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, today. "Surveys indicate that butter consumption in rural areas is below normal in a season when the supply is ample."

Mr. McMillan pointed out this was a responsibility that not only dairy farmers, but all farmers, had to face. If farmers did not have faith in their own products and loyalty to their own industry, all would eventually pay a severe penalty. Farmers would quickly undermine government confidence and support if they did not see the danger of using cheap substitutes for their own products. Nothing could be more expensive in the long run, Mr. McMillan emphasized.

Cream pr ducers would be the first to feel the pinch of a drop in butter consumption and subsequent results could be far-reaching. Any large shift away from milk production would upset the balance in whatever line of farm production the dairy farmer chose to enter. Because of the attractive prices for beef the tendency would be from milk to beef. If pursued far enough, the result would be milk shortages and surplus of beef. At the same time western grain farmers would lose their most stable market for coarse grain.

"The city housewife has a far greater stake in the dairy cow than she realizes," said Mr. McMillan. "Every cent that goes out of production means less money for the farmer to spend on the products of the city factories. It is doubtful, in the long run, if she will profit from a budgeting programme which saves a few cents today, only to help put her husband out of a job in the future."

British Planes To Try For World Records

British planes will make an attempt this summer to break world air speed records. Experimental fighter aircraft will be used and the types likely to be chosen are the Hawker P 1052 and the Vickers Supermarine P 516, both of which are still on the secret list. The present world speed record is just under 671 miles an hour. It is claimed that these two new jet aircraft can reach speeds greater than sound, (about 760 m.p.h. at sea level and 660 m.p.h. at 30,000 feet).

U. K. SENDING AID TO FLOOD AND FIRE VICTIMS

London. — Contributions are pouring in to central relief fund office which has been established to aid sufferers in the recent Manitoba floods, and the fires at Rimouski and Cabano, Que.

The Commonwealth Relations Office, which administers the fund, said the response was not just from the United Kingdom but from distant parts of the Commonwealth.

A letter was received from a resident of Southern Rhodesia, enclosing £100 for Manitoba flood relief. The donor, who preferred to remain anonymous, writes:

"Some eighty years ago my grandfather was largely instrumental in putting down Riel's so-called Red River Rebellion. For this somewhat equivocal reason, and more specifically because I have always felt Britain has never shown adequate gratitude to Canada for her amazingly generous help during the war, I enclose a small contribution."

Relief fund officials also received two donations which were gratefully acknowledged but returned. One was a parcel containing twelve bars of soap — a scarce commodity in Britain. The other was a pair of waterproof boots from an 83-year-old pensioner.

A letter accompanying the boots said: As my journey in life is about ended I am sure someone in the flood stricken area may find good use for them."

Children Contribute

Hundreds of cheques have been received from school children throughout the country and benefits have been organized by several sports groups.

Newcastle United Football Club which toured Canada last year sent a contribution toward the relief of Winnipeg just a small token of appreciation for the grand hospitality and friendly relations during our stopover, there."

The Commonwealth Relations Office said large shipments of supplies will be sent to Winnipeg as soon as the more urgent needs are known here.

Last week, two tons of relief supplies, chiefly carpenters' tools for rebuilding purposes, were shipped by air to Rimouski and Cabano. Other supplies will follow by sea.

South Sea Volcano May Be Cause Of Haze Over Pacific

Honolulu. — A Health Department official says, an analysis of the mysterious white haze that has blanketed the Hawaiian Islands and much of the Pacific indicated it was from some distant volcanic eruption.

The city health officer, Dr. Fred erick Schramm, said the substance was 22 per cent. salt, with traces of chlorine and boric acid.

He ruled out the possibility that it resulted from a sandstorm, saying the particles were "too dark" to be silicates. He also said it was not of atomic origin since it was not radioactive.

R. H. Simpson, Chief Honolulu airport weatherman, said he "considered it unlikely" the haze had any connection with the recent eruption of Mauna Loa volcano, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

He said that if any of the material contained in the haze had risen from Mauna Loa it would have spread over the Hawaiian Island first. This did not happen.

The haze, which extends from Guam to a point 1,500 miles east of Honolulu was being scattered by fresh trade winds.

Reports from Wake Island where the phenomenon first was reported, said the haze was breaking into patches. In Guam, the haze had lifted to a visibility of four miles.

NEW TYPE WIND TUNNEL BEING BUILT

The device, known as a "shock tube," will cost $25,000, compared with more than $500,000 for a comparable standard wind tunnel.

Engineers said it will permit studies of phenomena occurring at speeds almost twice that of sound.

The tube will be 35 feet long four inches wide and 15 inches high, built of ¼ inch thick aluminum.

It will be used for research in various fields.

The tube will operate on the principle of sticking a pin into a balloon. A thin sheet of plastic will be stretched across the inside of the tube six feet from the end.

Air pressure will be increased in the short part of the tube while on the other side of the plastic sheet air pressure will be lowered.

A pin will then be used to prick the plastic. The resulting shock wave will raise the length of the tube faster than the 'bang' sound can follow.

Researchers will place near the opposite end of the tube a model of an airplane wing, a rocket, or any other object to be studied.

A precisely-timed spark will flash light through windows to photograph air motion as the shock wave strikes the model. Air movements then will show upon the photograph like shadow patterns on a wall when sunlight passes over a hot radiator.

FRENCH PROVINCE NORMANDY SEND HELP TO VICTIMS

Ottawa — A contribution toward the rehabilitation of Manitoba's Red River flood victims is on its way from the French Province of Normandy, Senator Thomas Vien, L - Quebec, disclosed in the Senate, last week.

Senator Vien read a letter from the director of the French Red Cross in Normandy saying a donation of money, representing a collection that had been taken among Normandy residents, had been sent to Georges Vanier, Canadian Ambassador to France, for forwarding to Manitoba.

In his letter to Senator Vien, the Director said the sympathy of France had been aroused by the "awful catastrophe" which struck the people of Winnipeg. He expressed the "deepest sympathy" from a people who gratefully remembered what Canada had done in Normandy's time of need.

He did not mention the amount that had been collected but expressed the wish it could have been more.

Senator Vien read a letter he wrote in reply, stating on behalf of the people of Manitoba, the gratitude that would be felt by this expression of sympathy on the part of Normandy.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader, said on behalf of Manitobans, that they would be delighted at this contribution, large or small. For the flood had hit many people hard and rehabilitation funds were "sorely needed."

Canada Claims Island Off United States Coast

Augusta, Maine. — A Maine official has reported that Canada claims ownership of an island off the Maine coast where both American and Canadian lobster men fish.

Richard E. Reed, Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner, said the United States Department has not stated its views, despite repeated queries. The island is Machias Seal Island, about 15 miles off Machias, Me., Reed said.

He started an inquiry in March after Maine fishermen complained that Canadians from Grand Manan Island, a Canadian possession, were invading the Machias Seal Island lobster grounds. The Maine fishermen believed it to be American waters.

Last week, Reed said, Stewart Bates, Canadian Deputy Minister of Fisheries, wrote:

"After discussing the matter with other departments of the Government of Canada we find that our Department of Transport has been maintaining a lighthouse on the Island for over 100 years and the Canadian Government has accordingly always taken the position that Machias Seal Island is Canadian territory."

Reed said that Bates went on to concede that the Canadian view is correct we want to see some confirmation from our own State Department."

LIGHTER FOODS NEEDED FOR SUMMER

With the onset of hot weather the question of nutrition during the summer months is being brought to the attention of the staff of the County Health Unit.

Fewer calories are needed by the body in the warm weather, and the appetite is liable to decrease. In the winter more fuel-producing food is needed to maintain body temperature. During the summer raw vegetables and fruits should form a considerable portion of the diet; salads are advisable, as they do not increase much body heat yet satisfy the appetite, and provide the protective vitamins and minerals.

It is important to start the day with an adequate breakfast. Usually a good part of the day's work is done in the morning, and after an inadequate breakfast one is liable to feel weak and tired as noon approaches. The tendency then is to have too large a meal at noon which is liable to cause sleepiness during the early afternoon.

A good breakfast might consist of cold fruit or fruit juice such as grapefruit or orange juice, a whole cereal and toast and toast. Meat or cheese might be used instead of an egg. Such a breakfast makes a good start for the day and tends to cause a person to feel much better than if he had missed or had an inadequate breakfast.

Meals should be lighter in the summer than in cold weather. The appetite is a good guide. If one makes sure of getting some of the protective foods such as milk vegetables and fruits every day the rest of the diet can pretty well follow personal preferences.

Americans Advised To Stress Peace

Washington. — The word has gone out to Washington officialdom to cut down further on "cold war" speeches, American dailies and others for peace.

Officials also related this week that Western European leaders at the Washington conference will take the month adopted that the United States was standing too belligerent. They also said Russian propaganda mills were using the situation to describe the U.S. as a war-monger.

Also the phrase "cold war" is losing its official favor. Officials think too many people regard it as meaning a hot war is on the way.

Over 30 Policemen At Funeral Service Chief Police Moore

Many Out-of-Town Friends Attend

Over 30 members of police forces from Trenton to Kingston, including two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from the Kingston detachment, were in attendance at the funeral service for T. S. Moore, Chief-of-Police of Napanee, which was conducted by Rev. Noble Hatton at Trinity United Church on Friday afternoon, June 23rd.

The funeral was one of the largest held in Napanee for some time. Friends and relatives from many places in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, besides people from Napanee and district, were present. The members of the police forces acted as a guard of honour while the body of the late Chief-of-Police was being taken from the Wartman Funeral Home to the church.

The pallbearers were the five sons of Chief Moore, George and Lester, of Belleville, Edward, of Toronto, Provincial Constable Silas Moore, of Kingston; Donald, of Napanee, and son-in-law, Harold Kersh, of Napanee. The flower bearers were the members of the Napanee Town Council and town officials. During the time of the service the business places of the town were closed.

Following the service the body, accompanied by relatives and friends, and under police escort, was taken by motor to Brockville, where interment took place, following a brief service at the graveside.

Chief-of-Police Moore died early Wednesday morning, after being taken suddenly ill with an attack of coronary thrombosis about 7:00 p.m. the day before. Mr. Moore had been Chief-of-Police of Napanee for ten years. Previous to coming to Napanee he had been for two years Detective Sergeant with the R.C.M.P. at Sherbrooke, Quebec, in charge of the Quebec detachment, after coming to Sherbrooke he had been Detective Sergeant at Brockville in charge of the R.C.M.P. district from Trenton to the Quebec border.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends who were in town for the funeral, besides Chief Moore's sons and their families, were: A sister, Mrs. Mary Brookes, Montreal; two brothers, Mr. W. Moore, Thurso, Quebec, and Mr. C. A. Moore, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mitchell and Heather, Montreal; Mr. Harris Moore, Thurso, Quebec; Mrs. W. Wilson, Ottawa; Mr. B. R. A. Hancock and Mr. George Hancock, Ottawa; Mrs. Ivan Sproule, Mrs. W. W. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Goldfield Hill; Chief Constable Carey, Cobourg.

On Thursday, tributes were paid to Chief Moore at the session of the Magistrate's Court by Magistrate Garvin and County Crown Attorney K. S. Ham, K.C.

MAY ESTABLISH FREE FERRY AT DESERONTO

It looks as if Deseronto may get a free ferry that has been advocated for many years. The Hastings County Council, at its recent session, unanimously endorsed a motion by Reeve A. G. Sauer, of Deseronto, to authorize the Roads and Bridges Committee to negotiate with interested municipalities as to agreement and costs to establish the service.

The ferry service, if it is started, would replace the service now provided by a private ferry operated by A. Cronk, which charges 75 cents each trip. For many years, Deseronto people have been hoping for the establishment of a free government ferry or a bridge, to bring residents of Sophiasburgh Township, in Prince Edward County, into Deseronto, a short distance by water. At present Sophiasburgh residents are travelling to Picton, Prince Edward's county town, a distance of twenty miles to do their shopping.

Prior to presenting his motion, Reeve Sauer pointed out that Roscoe Robson, of Holloway, the East Hastings Member of Parliament for the Provincial House, had secured departmental approval of the free ferry project. "The department," he said, will assume 80 per cent of the cost and maintenance." The cost of purchase price present ferry business is estimated at $7,500.

Visitor Report On Meetings I.O.D.E. At Montreal

Mrs. Robert Smith, Regent of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter of the I.O.D.E., was hostess on Wednesday evening, June 21st to members of her chapter and of the United Empire Loyalist Chapter, when Mrs. F. E. Ludlow, Regent of the Municipal Chapter of Kingston, was present and gave an interesting and concise report of the National Chapter meetings which were held in Montreal in May. Mrs. Smith welcomed the members and guests and after the Prayer of the Order, called upon Mrs. R. Powell, for two readings.

Mrs. Ludlow was introduced by Mrs. Duane Hall, former regent of the U. E. L. Chapter. Celebrating the Golden Jubilee year of the Order, the national meetings brought reports of the vast achievements and growth of the Order, in education, welfare and ex-service, as well as the service through the three wars in which the Empire has taken her part. Among the distinguished guests at the opening ceremonies were His Excellency the Governor General of Canada and Her Viscountess Alexander of Tunis, who is the Honorary President of the Order; the Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Hon. Louis St. Laurent, and Mrs. St. Laurent; and the Right Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal.

In her report, Mrs. Ludlow spoke of the completion of the Memorial Fund of the Order, which will help to expand the work and organize new chapter across Canada. One of the newest chapters is that of St. John's, Newfoundland. The efforts to ban crime and other objectionable 'Comic' books from sale in Canada, and also the promotion and encouragement of British films, were among the I.O.D.E. works. The post-war work continues, with vast shipments of clothing, bedding and food to Great Britain and Europe. The I. O.D.E. members in Winnipeg were the first to assist in the relief work in Manitoba, during the recent flood disaster. The national president, Mrs. F. P. McCurdy, who resigned on account of ill-health, will be succeeded by Mrs. John Chipman, M.B.E., of Toronto.

Mrs. Mervyn Owen, former regent of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter, expressed the thanks and appreciation of the members to Mrs. Ludlow for her splendid report, and a bouquet of garden flowers was presented. Other guests present from Kingston Municipal Chapter were Miss Laura Ludlow, vice-president; Mrs. Dyer, standard bearer and Mrs. Roach, the secretary.

Mrs. Albert Lewis and Mrs. Jack Davis, who poured tea and coffee, were assisted in the serving of refreshments by members of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter. The table was beautifully decorated with a lace cloth, candles and flowers.

250 Attend First Annual Legion Picnic

Event Held at Amherst Island

The first annual picnic of the Napanee Branch, Canadian Legion, held on Sunday afternoon, June 25th, at Neilson's Point, Amherst Island, was attended by about 225 adults and children. The picnic party included members of the Legion, their wives and children, and members of the cast of the 1950 Legion Show and their families.

Arrangements were made to transfer the picnickers by car from Napanee to Millhaven, and by the ferry Amherst Islander to Stella, where they were met and escorted at the dock by Thos. Cochrane, Reeve of Amherst Island. During the early afternoon a one and a half hour cruise was enjoyed on the Amherst Islander. Later races were arranged for children and adults. Swimming and fireworks provided added entertainment. In the evening, through the kindness of Mr. Fred Neilson, who allowed the use of his hall free of charge, a singsong was held, and several impromptu musical numbers were given, bringing a very enjoyable afternoon and evening to a close.

Health Unit Advises Test Well Water

At this season of the year it is a good idea to have a water test done on the well water. Bottles for bacteriological tests of water may be obtained at the County Health Unit office, Napanee. For a chemical test it is necessary to send to the Provincial Public Health Laboratory in Toronto for a special container.

Wells and springs may be polluted through surface conditions. Others are fouled by underground drainage such as may be cause by a nearby privy or septic tank tile bed.

Water from wells should be clear, colorless, odorless, soft, neither strongly acid or alkaline, and the temperature should be about 50 degrees F. A new well should not be used for domestic purposes until a water test has been done.

If a water test shows that a well is unsafe the water should be boiled or chlorinated. The well should be cleaned out and a further sample sent for bacteriological analysis. Diseases such as typhoid, paratyphoid, summer diarrhoea and dysentery may be spread by contaminated water.

R.W. Kimmerly Died Tuesday In 94th Year

Another of Napanee's senior citizens passed away this week, when Robert Wesley Kimmerly, well-known business man of the town, died at his home, Dundas Street, about noon on Tuesday, June 27th, in his 94th year. Mr. Kimmerly had been active until about a week ago and had been remarkably keen of intellect until his last illness.

Mr. Kimmerly was born in Richmond Township on April 4th, 1856. For many years he lived at Flinton, where he conducted a general store and flour business. He was for 25 years, Reeve of Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham, and was Warden of the County of Lennox and Addington in 1917.

In 1920 he and his wife moved to the Deseronto Road, when he established a lumber business. In 1940 he transferred the business to Napanee and came to the town to reside. Associated with him in The R. W. Kimmerly Lumber Co., were three nephews of his wife, Bruce, Douglas and Wesley Allenbrack.

Mr. Kimmerly was the last of the senior generation of his family. He was predeceased by two brothers, Austin and Mendell and by one sister, Hilda. Mrs. Alfred Keech. His wife, the former Ellen Allenbrack, died last November. Had she lived until Christmas Day last year she and her husband would have celebrated the 74th anniversary of their marriage.

His funeral will be conducted at the late residence on Friday, June 30, 1:30 p.m., by Rev. Noble Hatton, minister of Trinity Church, and quiet interment will be at Deseronto Cemetery.

PRESENTATION REV. H.B. AND MRS. HERRINGTON AT SWITZERVILLE

The Switzerville congregation met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Benn for a social evening with their pastor and his wife, Rev. H. B. and Mrs. Herrington, before they leave for their new charge at Keene. The following address was read by Mr. Everton Peters, the superintendent of the Sunday school.

Switzerville, June 21, 1950

We have gathered here tonight to have a social visit with you. Mr. Herrington, as time draws near before you leave us for a new field of pastoral work. We have all enjoyed working together in the different activities of the church during these past eight years, and there comes a time in God's great plan for us to part and take on new duties. We are glad that you are well able, so far afield, so we hope to see you from time to time, and in that way keep alive the friendships we have made with you. Both of you have been conscientious and untiring in your work, not sparing yourselves, to build up God's work on our circuit.

Possibly at some future date, you may see your way clear to return and take our anniversary services for us. Switzerville. We wish you God speed in your work and hope that you both have good health to carry on for many years to come.

Kindly accept this little gift as a slight token of our esteem and good wishes.

(Signed) on behalf of Switzerville Church— Everton Peters, Peter Miller, Kenneth Benn, Clarence Craig, Vernon Paul and Ronald Wales.

WE ASKED FOR IT

We were bemoaning our fate because of the dull days, and the lack of the good old summer time. Then it came in with a bang. The sweltering hot days are with us, and after divesting ourselves of a lot of clothing, we are still hot.

A week or more ago we saw a sign on the window of a restaurant in Toronto; it read: "closed for the holidays, will be open again the second week in September." It would be deceiving ourselves to declare we were not a bit envious. Think of it — two whole months. Now we haven't any idea how the staff and owner of the said restaurant were putting in the time, but naturally we pictured them sitting under some leafy bower, or out in a shady stream lazily casting a fly.

We were glad for them, and just wonder how they do it. For, after all, we have obligations to ourselves, to our employers and to our families, which keep us on the job, whether hot or cold. Fortunately, in these days, when business is a bit more humane than it was a generation ago, we all get a vacation some time during the summer. That is something to look forward to, if we have not yet had it; something to remember, if we have had it. We all need the recreating influence of a change of environment, a change of activity, a time of relaxation and rest — and our glorious summer weather provides the occasion.

WOT'S THE DIFFERENCE ?

We are living in a pretty fast age. The last trip we made to Winnipeg, a few weeks ago, took just four hours and a half; only a little more time than it takes to motor from Toronto to Napanee. Hardly a day passes but some record or another is broken. A few days ago a cartoon showed the crew of an airliner walking off the landing field after parking the plane. They had been travelling at supersonic speed — faster than sound. One turned to the other and said, as the sound caught up to them: "there's our plane coming in, now." A bit exaggerated, of course, but it just underlines the extent to which the demand for speed and more speed has got us.

It is a fine corrective, therefore, to read of other places where people take things a bit more leisurely and seem to get a lot out of life, too. There, for example is a little dispatch that illustrates this. It comes from Mexico:

"Mexicans, no less than outsiders, like to joke about their resistance to machine-age hustle, especially in certain regions.

"They are telling about a contest held by a business school in Vera Cruz, on the warm Gulf Coast, to select the most rapid stenographer. The examiner announced that top speed might be expected to approximate 140 words per minute. Whereupon the lobe Veracruzano on the panel of judges expostulated: 'Why such haste? You won't find anybody in Vera Cruz who can talk that fast!'

"In another semi-tropical town, a New York editor was given a lesson in the local attitude toward time by a young newsboy. Coming up to the visiting journalist as the latter was soaking up sunshine in front of his hotel, the lad proffered a newspaper, pocketed his centavos, and was hastening off when the New Yorker exploded into protest:

"'Hey, come back here!' yelled the editor. 'Today is Wednesday, and you've sold me a paper dated last Friday!'

"Undismayed the boy leaned over confidentially, and asked, 'Haf you read eet yet?' Nonplussed, the editor replied, 'W-well, no. Can't say I have.'

'Triumphantly the newsboy queried, 'Then wot's the deeference?'"

OMINOUS

The situation in the Far East may well be described as ominous — full of foreboding. In this attack by North Korea on South Korea, the technique followed by earlier totalitarian groups has been discarded. Hitherto, the totalitarians would create an incident. They would try to secure some approval by making it appear as though they were forced to take reprisals against this or that border incident. A good deal of ballyhoo of this sort preceded everyone of Hitler's attacks.

In this situation in Korea there was no pretence. There was no attempt to create an incident; there was no recognition of the value of world opinion. The Northern forces just marched South, crossed the border and seemingly undertook a complete, well-organized military operation.

It is hard to escape the conclusion that there was some relationship between the attack of the Communist armies in Korea, and the meeting of the American Commander with General McArthur. This Committee seems to have been favourable to the United States sending military aid to Chiang Kai Shek, in Formosa. It may be that the Russians feared that, if they waited too long before attacking Formosa, their chances of success would be pretty slim. So they move against Korea, as a sort of test. If they succeed there, then they will no doubt move to invade Formosa, in an attempt to defeat the final stronghold of the Chinese Nationalist forces.

It is unfortunate that the Democratic peoples in order to defend democracy, have to line up with a discredited Chinese Government. The Chiang Government is discredited in China, and in most of other countries as well.

The United Nations will have momentous decisions to make. If they assume the Russians are bluffing and make only a token resistance, the U.S.S.R. will take this as a sign of weakness, and plan for larger military operations. If, on the other hand they take stern measures and order complete armed resistance, the Russians may feel disposed to test their will and their power. That too, may lead to large scale operations. In either event the situation is ominous — frought with danger and foreboding.

"HIPPED" ON THE SUBJECT

Maybe we are "hipped" on the subject, and keep coming at it time and again. Perhaps we have a right to be hipped on it, when so few in our community take an interest in the preservation of the historic documents of this historic Old County. Now that a decision has been made with respect to a memorial, it is time that some group should be prepared, with all the data, to present the case for a proper archives in a future Memorial Hall.

This County has a priceless heritage in the books, papers, periodicals, that have been carefully collected through the years. These are now housed in the Hall above the Public Library. A trained archivist spent weeks, a year ago, getting them in some sort of order. The Provincial Library knows the value of these and would like to have them, in order that they may be preserved for future generations. Queen's University, too, knows of our valuable collection.

At the present time they are in a place which is a fire hazard. A brief blaze, and all these precious and irreplaceable treasures would be lost. The memorial hall, if and when one is built, should include a fireproof room in which these and other documents still in private hands, could be housed.

Over at the Old Hay Bay Church, the trustees of the property have recently had a lovely cottage erected. During the tourist season, a custodian will reside there, to tell the visitors — and there are many of them — something of this old church — the oldest United Church, formerly Methodist, in Upper Canada; built in 1792, and still standing.

This Trustee Board is a Committee of the Bay of Quinte Conference of The United Church of Canada. When an absentee group go to such pains to see that the historic landmarks are preserved and advertised, it is about time that we, who live here, became a little more enthusiastic about the historic values in this area. After all, while we live in the present, we owe a debt to the future and an obligation to the past.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, July 2nd

GREAT MEN AND WOMEN OF THE BIBLE

Lesson Text: Genesis 25: 27-34; 27: 22; 32: 1-32, 16; 35: 1-15; 37, 29-36; 46: 1, 29-34.

For a while, the lesson centres around "great men and women" of The Bible. Biography is an interesting form of reading and study. The lives of men of strength and character have a great influence, particularly on the young people. Jacob is a great man, he was a leader in his own day. The standard of his day was not that of ours. So we have to get ourselves back into Jacob's day in order properly to appraise him.

Jacob lived in a rather primitive time, when men lived by their wits. Jacob had wits. He was a bit of a schemer; he looked out for the best chance. He was not a very loveable or attractive character. He beat his brother, Esau, out of his inheritence. Posing as Esau, he deceived his blind father, got his blessing and the larger part of the inheritence. Then he got away in a hurry. Esau was a hunter. He was hot tempered. Jacob knew that, and decided he had better make himself scarce.

The first night out was a pretty lonesome one. He was off by himself. He had a dream. He saw a ladder reaching from earth to heaven and, at the top of the ladder, sat Jehovah, who promised that He would look after Jacob and that the land on which he slept would, one day, be his and his descendants. Jacob awakened and declared "God is in this place and I knew it not." He became aware for the first time that One cannot run away from God. He was as we might say "converted" that night. He knew from then on that he was always under the eye of God.

Jacob then moved on and came to the home of Laban. Jacob fell in love with Rachel, one of Laban's daughters. By an oriental trick Laban deceived Jacob into marrying another daughter, and forced Jacob to work seven years before he was able to marry the girl of his choice. Laban gave him then, the both wives — not an unusual practice in the East.

Jacob makes a lot of money, but always the thought of the wrong he had done, haunts him. So he starts back home to make amends. He is scared to meet Esau and the night before the meeting takes place he has a tussle with a divine figure and was subdued. He now knew that he was in the hands of a higher power. The meeting took only a short time. Esau forgave Jacob and suggested they move on, together, to Seir. To this Jacob agreed. Then he slipped off in the opposite direction, once again deceiving Esau. He was quite a double talker, or at least talked one way and acted another. Finally his deeds caught up with him and he suffered from a great shame. Gen. 34. Then he was ordered by God to go back to Bethel and make peace with God and restitution. This he did.

He went back to the place where he first met God and began all over again. That is the way it is in life. We cannot run away from our past mistakes and errors. We must go right back to where we began, make what restitution we can and begin all over again. Jacob's troubles were not by any through; he had his own problems. His children gave him trouble. But, in the long run, he came through all the varied experiences a better and a saner man.

No modern reader of these stories loves Jacob. He is not the kind of man to win friends and influence people, and yet God loved him and never gave up working with him. In the end God prevailed.

EXTRA BENEFITS TO UNEMPLOYED TOTAL $895,000

Ottawa. — About 34,600 job seekers received supplementary unemployment benefits worth more than $895,000 during the first month the programme was in effect, the Labor Department announced, last week.

In its first report on the operation of the supplementary benefits program authorized by parliament at the beginning of the current session, the department said $3,000 persons — 48 per cent of them in Quebec — filed claims for supplementary benefits during March. Benefit payments were started on 35,000 of these claims.

Supplementary payments during March averaged $1.89 a day, compared with regular insurance benefits averaging $2.44 a day for the same period. The daily rate for the supplementary benefit is set at about 80 per cent. of the rate for regular benefits.

REGULATIONS REGARDING U. S. FUNDS

Ottawa, June 15. — To help in the establishment of a uniform method of handling United States currency and making change for American visitors, the Foreign Exchange Control Board has issued a special display card for distribution to hotels, restaurant owners, retail merchants, service station operators and others engaged in the tourist business.

The card carries a simple statement: "U. S. Funds Accepted at the Official Rate — $1.00 U.S. equals $1.10 Canadian." On the reverse are two simple tables for calculating the amount of change which should be given when American currency is tendered in payment of an account. One shows the simplest way to calculate change-making in Canadian dollars; the other when U.S. dollars are requested in change.

In announcing distribution of the cards, Graham Towers, Chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, said they had been designed to accomplish two things. The first was to assure American visitors that they would receive the official rate of exchange on any American currency spent at the point where the card was displayed. The second was to avoid misunderstandings which otherwise might arise by providing business men with clear, concise information for the making of change in either Canadian or U.S. funds as desired by the customer.

Mr. Towers emphasized that, although there is no compulsion on Canadians to accept U.S. dollars when they are offered, those who do so are required by the Foreign Exchange Control Act and Regulations to allow the full official rate of exchange.

Change-making illustrations on the back of the card show two methods for calculating exchange on United States funds. The examples follow:

A tourist tenders a $5 U.S. bill for a $1.80 purchase and change is being given in Canadian dollars:

U.S. dollars tendered	$5.00
Add exchange differential of 10 per cent.	.50
Total in Canadian dollars	$5.50
Deduct amount of purchase	1.80
Change to be given in Canadian dollars	$3.70

CHANGE IN U.S. FUNDS

Since $1 U.S. will buy $1.10 worth of Canadian goods, the sale price of any article in Canada divided by 11 will give you the discount to which your American customer is entitled. This "Rule of Eleven" will make it easy for you to calculate change in U.S. funds whenever requested. The following example shows what happens when an American tenders a $5 U.S. bill for a $1.87 purchase:

Amount tendered	$5.00 U.S.
Canadian Sale Price	1.87
Discount (divided by 11)	.17
Cost in U.S. funds	1.70
Change in U.S. funds	3.30

Three further points are included on the card. They are:

1 Canadian business men may not give American funds in exchange for Canadian funds.

2 They may not give American funds for American if they have reason to believe that the person offering them is a resident of Canada. In cases of uncertainty as to whether the customer is American or not nationality can be established by driving license or other means of identification.

3 Canadian business men are reminded that, apart from a reasonable amount which they may need to keep on hand for change-making purposes, all U.S. funds received must be turned in to a bank in exchange for Canadian funds. It is illegal to use or dispose of them in any other way. Merchants and others who have not yet received these cards may obtain them by writing the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Ottawa — or through their nearest Chamber of Commerce.

6,500 Attend Rotary Convention In Detroit

With an attendance of over 6,500 Rotarians and members of their families from 60 countries of Europe, Asia, Africa and North, South and Central America, the 41st Annual Convention of Rotary International convened in Detroit on Sunday, June 18th.

Opening the Convention program, the President of Rotary International, Dr. Percy Hodgson of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, declared that the real need of the world today is a great campaign of practical education in the field of international co-operation. Reporting on his travels, covering more than 200,000 miles in 79 countries, during the past year, he asserted that in all these countries where there are Rotary Clubs, the people are united in their desire for peace.

Keynote of this five-day gathering of business and professional executives, who represent 7,100 Rotary Clubs in 83 countries, was the international quality of the Rotary organization. Throughout the Convention programme, emphasis was given to the opportunities which Rotarians have, in all parts of the world, to work for the achievement of one of the principal goals of Rotary International — the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace.

The federal department of agriculture was constituted in 1867.

Presentation Made At Tamworth To Mr., Mrs., F. W. Frost

Tamworth, June 22. — A large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered in the Town Hall here Wednesday evening to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Frost, who are moving to their new home in Napanee. Mr. Frost has been manager of this branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce for the past fourteen years. The evening was spent in euchre and dancing. After the lunch was served, Mr. D. O. Clark called with a lazy boy chair and ottoman Milligan read a suitable address and Mr. James Conners and Mr. Clifford Milligan, on behalf of the community, presented Mr. and Mrs. Frost with a lazy boy chair and ottoman to match, an electric tea kettle and a purse. Miss Shirley Brown, a member of the bank staff, presented them with a beautiful table tri-lamp, after which some flash pictures were taken by Robert Clark and dancing was resumed.

Following is the address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Frost — We, your friends and neighbours in Tamworth and community have gathered here to-night to bid you farewell, and to wish you well in your new home in Napanee.

Mrs. Frost, both you and your husband have been faithful workers in the United Church here. During the depressing war years you were president of the Red Cross during your but for the soldier boys. Might we say you helped to organize the Home Aid School Association in Tamworth in order to bring about a better understanding between teachers and parents. Always your home was open for any gatherings or meetings and may we add that both of you were ever willing to lend a helping hand to any in distress.

For fourteen years, Mr. Frost, you have been manager of the bank, ready and glad to help any of us with our financial troubles. Your strong support of the hockey club has helped to make clean healthy sport for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost, we appreciate your efforts on our behalf, in this community of Tamworth, and we want to extend to you our wishes for many years of happy retired life in Napanee. So, as a token of our appreciation of your faithful service here we would like you to accept these gifts from the citizens of Tamworth and Community.

(Signed) Your Friends.

At a special meeting of the Tamworth Branch No. 468 Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Mr. Ward Brown who has been assistant principal in the Continual School here for the past three years, was presented with a leather billfold. Rev. F.O. Ware read a few words of appreciation as to Mr. Crowe's faithful services and made the presentation on behalf of the Legion members.

Mr. Crowe has accepted a position at Athens and will take up teaching duties there in September.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Clark and son, Robert, spent the past week end at Pembroke, where they attended the wedding of their niece, Miss. Phyllis Summerhayes to John Robson. Deep River.

Nomadic Chippewas Finally Sign Treaty With White Officials

Rocky Mountain House, Alta. More than one hundred years of wandering has ended for the last of Canada's nomadic Indians. A band of Chipewyans who inhabit the wastes of the Far North.

Government officials have announced that a treaty has been signed with the Indians and they will be settled on a reservation. The band is the last in Canada to take a treaty.

Agreement Reached

For generations, the band has refused to accept the white man's terms, but at a meeting last week-end between tribe leaders and officials of the Department of Indian Affairs an agreement was reached.

Signing of the treaty was conditional on obtaining promised land for a reservation. A settlement regarding the land was reached Monday.

Independence of the Chippewas and their refusal to accept the white man's terms dates back to 1841 when the tribe fought for its existence against the powerful Blackfoot tribe. The Chippewas wandered through the valleys of the Northern Branches of North Saskatchewan rivers in Northern Alberta. Their existence has been different and at times they were near starvation.

Federal officials have sought to improve their lot but the independence of the chiefs and councils has prevented success. Last year Opposition to a treaty was at its peak by Chief Jim Ochiese known as the "great chief" with 17 years.

"God gave us this piece of nature," he once said, "and we inherited it from our fathers councillors before would never sell a foot of this land. That pledge still the treaty was signed. Representing the Indian negotiations was Andrew Sibbald, Indian Agent at Fort Chipewyan and White Bird, Chief Councillor of Chipewyan with power to enter the negotiations of Chief. He is superintendent of Indians in Henry Steffon of Fort Vermilion known to the Indians as "Great white friend" at Fort. We do of the RCMP.

The deep-sea expedition of scientists from Bermuda, has already achieved some remarkable results. The scientists have made a record of noises uttered by fish. A hydrophone —an underwater listening apparatus— was lowered 200 feet, and this amplified the queer noises made by the residents of those depths. There were screams, wails, hoots, whistles and strangest of all, a sound like a cow mooing. It has been known for some time that fishes can make noises of different kinds, but this is probably the first recording of their great variety.

by "Red" Miller

The local Athletics were thrown for their second loss last week when the Leads of Kingston and the Picton A's advanced at the expense of the Killoinmen.

The Napanee Athletics are sorely in need of an extra hurler or two. They have only had Hooper and McTaggart in uniform lately, and at Picton the "Stanley" was their only hope .... and he failed in the dying moments of the game.

This was not the case here Friday last .... Both the local "Aces" were on hand .... but they failed to use them both .... and if the opinion of a host of supporters .... and we mean a host .... is to be taken into consideration .... Hooper should have been relieved early in the second innings .... with all due respects to both those hurlers .... there comes a time when opposing players get their eye on the apple and it gets slapped plenty .... and a change of slab artists is the strategy usually employed by the master minds on these occasions .... The Leads got Ed. and Stan. was not used .... a lot of customers would like to know why? .... At last games are not won on the players field .... There is the old one being taken by headwork on the bench .... May we suggest giving it a try!

The C.O.B.L. schedule has been revised and appears in another part of this paper .... Jul 1 the Napanee A's home and away games .... and a mere week it is going to be a rough go .... clip it out.

The scrabble for S-mark of Belleville, who wanted to play for the Killoinmen .... and Batawa would not release .... has joined the ranks of the Shoemen and will be an asset to that scrap.

At a recent meeting of the C.O.B.L. held at Kingston .... some comment was voiced on the postponing of games without League sanction.

There will be no more of that .... We wonder if they discussed .... and came up with any ideas in regard to the starting of games on time.

Some weeks ago we voiced the opinion of a group of fans on the matter .... they still start late as usual .... and the voices of a few of these supporters will not be heard in the stands .... that is for sure, too .... until these six-innings games are eliminated .... and they get their four-bits worth .... and why not put enough baseballs in the game .... to keep it going? .... Plenty of daylight is lost on this score.

In the Bay of Quinte League the race for the top rung of the League ladder is being keenly contested .... The local Lions head the parade with an 8 and 1 record Deseronto and the Gibbard Orphans tied for second place with the Orphans a game in hand ahead.

Since writing some of the above things have changed .... at the C.O.B.L. meeting in Kingston Monday things took a definite turn for the better .... in regard to what we have been wailing about.

The game started at 6:30 .... right on the button .... Townsend .... Reid, that is .... was going to call it that time, ready or not .... and the bright spot was the extra frame for the regular admission .... thirdly .... no lack of horseride .... The customers grip eased a little there.

Come win .... lose, or draw .... give the cash supporters a well-tried game .... and the stands will be full .... Monday's fixture put the Leads reserve in action .... Johnny Munroe and Frank Harlen .... and they played well ball .... and it was only last season they battled for the Junior title .... a bouquet to both of them.

MERCHANTS WIN AND LOSE IN B. & D. FIXTURE

The losers used three hurlers in their efforts, Bradshaw, Bennett and Strachan. Brady went the route for the Merchants. Errors were evenly divided with three apiece. KINGSTON LEAFS TRAMPLE A'S HERE FRIDAY LAST

SECOND LOSS IN A WEEK FOR LOCALS

The Disney Leafs blasted Ed. Hooper of the Napanee Athletics for thirteen safeties, including a triple and four doubles, to whip the league-leading Napanee Athletics 9 to 5 at the Lions operated Gibbard Park, on Friday last. Rank, on the slab for the winners, allowed the Killoinmen only six hits, one a double by Burtt.

The visitors tallied in every inning except the first, of the six-innings game. The big blow came in the second when five hits, an error and a walk, put five runs across. Napanee came back in their half with a brace of runs when McQuade connected to right field, and Burtt blasted one to the opposite field for a double, that put McQuade over and Burtt stole third and scored when Vern Green's grass cutter to right went through Leonard's feet. Again in the third the locals pushed three over when two hits, a walk and a safety three big runs. Hayes reached first when he was struck by a pitched ball. Cerow single to centre, Cook walked and B. Breen singled to deep right and Hayes and Gerow scored. Jocko reached third and both runners advanced on a balk by Rank, forcing a run over the plate. Rank only allowed two scratch singles after that. His team scoring a run in each innings on seven hits and an error. Hooper struck out seven, walked four and gave up thirteen hits. Rank stopped five at the plate, walked 3 and was touched for six hits. The catch of the game was in the fifth when Reardon scooped Cerow's drive to centre out of the grass for an out that caused the locals to question the catch.

BATAWA EDGE ATHLETICS IN 10-INNINGS DUEL

In one of the best games of the season, the Napanee Athletics were neatly beaten 3 to 1 in a 10-innings fixture of the C.O.B.L. by the Bata Shoemen, before a capacity crowd Monday night. The winners pushed a run across in the first frame and held the locals scoreless until the fourth, when the equalizer came across. Both teams battled for six innings with Napanee having a golden opportunity in the eighth with one out and two aboard, only to be left high and dry. In the tenth, Wright grounded out to first, Solmes filed out to Markle in left, Carson singled to centre, Bridgeman lifted one to right for a hit that put Carson on third. Watson singled to right and Bridgeman and Carson crossed. Napanee had the only extra base clout of the night, Markle doubling in the third. Two double-plays were hung-up one for each team. Wright on the slab for Bata, stopped three at the plate, walked three and allowed nine hits. McTaggart struck out four, walked one and gave up nine singles. Hayes led the Napanee attack with three singles and Markle with a double and a single. For the winners, Watson and Peacock gathered a pair apiece.

OBITUARIES

MRS. W. E. JACKSON

In the early evening of June 16th Maggie Annetta Winters, wife of Wm. E. Jackson, and daughter of the late Samuel Winters and Mary Jane English, passed away to her reward, in her 71st year, at her home in Selby.

Early converted to God in her home church at Empey Hill, she lived a truly exemplary christian life, one entirely devoted to her Saviour, to her church, and its organizations. Her life showed that her religion was profound and lasting. Home and her duties to her family were of prime importance, but she was always ready to help those in need, and it was her delight to live a quiet, unpretentious life. She was fully resigned when the end came.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband at Selby, her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Price, Selby, and her son, Homer, on the homestead. She also leaves five grandchildren, two brothers, David Brown in Napanee, and S. E. Winters, of Empey Hill, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Winters, in Napanee. One brother, Wilbert Winters, of Empey Hill, predeceased her a few months ago.

Her funeral was conducted at the United Church, Selby, on Sunday, June 18th, by Rev. W. R. Merrick, assisted by Mr. Maurice McLeod, student minist r at Kingston. Interment was at Riverview cemetery in Napanee.

May she rest in peace.

MRS. IRVINE GLASS

Mrs. Glass who was formerly Alma Storer, was born in Ernestown, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Zechariah Storer. After her marria e she went with her husband to live near Bethany. Later they moved to Morven, where they lived until Mr. Glass's death six years ago, when Mrs. Glass moved to Napanee. Until r f w years ago she had kept house herself, but for the past two years she had resided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Pringle on Th mas Street.

Her funeral is to be conducted at the Wartman Funeral Home today (W dnesday, by Rev. C. D. McLellan, and interment will be at Wilton cemetery.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews, among whom in the Napanee district are Mrs. Percy Emberly, Wilton; Mrs. Perry Alkenbrack, Camden East; and Mrs. David Garrison, Colebrook.

GORDON — ALLIN

A charming garden wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 7th at 3 o'clock, by Rev. T. F. Townsend, in Deseronto at the stately home originally built by R. S. Rathbun, and now Cotter's Crest House, when Margaret June Allin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Allin, of Deseronto, Ont., became the bride of Eugene Ferguson Gordon, Napanee, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Gordon, Mt. Chesney, Ontario. The beautiful garden, sheltered by tall trees, provided a lovely setting. Mock orange blossoms floated in the tulle wound fountain and the vine covered arbour background was decked with mock orange blossoms and large baskets of pink and white peonies and other garden flowers.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bridal procession was led from the house, through the arbour ribbon and flower decked archway by the flower girl, little Miss Diane Saunders of Kingston, Ont., a young friend of the bride and groom. She was dressed in a long pale green flower embossed organdy gown. Frills forming scallops decorated the bodice and skirt hem. Pale green and pink velvet ribbon entwined with daisies decorated her hair and waist. She wore the gift of the bride, a tiny heart, enamelled in pink and green, on a pink velvet ribbon on her neck, and carried a basket of white daisies, purple stocks and white peonies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Alice Galbraith, Thornhill, Ont. a cousin of the bride, followed, dressed in a long pale blue flower embossed organdy gown with flaring skirt and flaring double collars framing the low neckline. A poke bonnet of blue organdy trimmed with pink velvet ribbon, as well as pink velvet bow with streamers falling to hemline decorated the back of the gown. Also, she wore the gift of the bride, a blue and white cameo on a pink velvet ribbon. She carried a bouquet of deep pink peonies bordered by blue batchelor's buttons.

Next in procession was the maid of honour, Miss Kathryn Jane Allin, sister of the bride, who wore a pale pink flower embossed organdy gown in the same style as the bridesmaid with poke bonnet, both trimmed with contrasting pale blue velvet ribbon. She also wore the gift of the bride, a blue and white cameo on pale blue velvet ribbon, and carried a bouquet matching the bridesmaid's.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. B. H. Sampson, of Northpoint, Ont. She wore a white embossed organdy gown in fine and lace pattern over white satin. The neckline and sleeves were formed by a band of corded ruching of the same organdy, also a band of ruching was inset in the very full skirt which fell in folds from the waist. Her tulle illusion finger-tip veil was ruched to headband and decorated with mock orange blossoms. Long matching organdy gloves covered her arms and she wore the gift of the groom, a graduated string of pearls. In her large bouquet of pale pink peonies and white honeysuckle, she had tied the 'something old,' a handsome Battenburg lace edged linen handkerchief which has been carried by many brides over the past hundred years.

The minister, groom, groomsman, Mr. Darrell Gordon, brother of the groom, also Mr. B. H. Sampson, uncle of the bride and Mr. Lynwood Gordon, usher cousin of the groom, all wore boutonnieres of white honeysuckle from the bride's bouquet, following the tradition — a flower from the bride's bouquet.

During the signing of the register Mrs. B. H. Sampson, aunt of the bride, accompanied Mr. Glenn C. George, cousin of the groom, at the piano while he sang 'Because.'

The house was beautifully decorated with peonies and other garden flowers, and the guests were received by the bride's mother. Mrs. Evan Allin, wearing a pink and white printed navy sheer dress with navy accessories, with pink peony corsage. Also, the groom's mother, Mrs. Leighton Gordon, received, wearing a royal blue and white printed sheer with white accessories and peony corsage. Mrs. James Galbraith, of Blyth, Ont., a grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. E. Liecert, Inverary, Ont., a grandmother of the groom, poured tea, which was served by the bride's friends.

The bride table was placed before a ribbon and peony decorated mantle. The three-tiered wedding cake was exquisitely ornate with lovebirds and flowers and was surrounded by tulle, pink peony buds and white candles. After the cake was cut by the bride and groom, Rev. T. F. Townsend toasted the bride and the groom responded. Mr. Lynwood Gordon toasted the bride's attendants and a few impromptu remarks were made by Mrs. Ross Sexsmith and the two grandmothers. Miss Marion Boyer caught the bride's bouquet when tossed from the stairway.

The bride's going-away costume was a navy sheer-dress, coin spotted with pink, blue and green, over which she wore a short pink wool coat and matching accessories.

Upon return, they will reside in Napanee where the groom is associated with his uncle, Mr. Howard Gordon, owner of Rosebay Dairy, Napanee, Ontario.

NEWBURGH - STRATHCONA W. C. T. U.

The annual Little White Ribboner meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Monday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the United Church, Newburgh. The platform was tastefully decorated with several baskets of sweet scenes and roses. Beautiful Biblical pictures were also hung on display. The president, Mrs. George Finlay, was in the chair.

The offering was received by Charles King and Diane Boyer. Mrs. Finlay introduced the guest speaker, Miss Dorothy Adams, County Health nurse, from Napanee.

Miss Adams, in her address, spoke of the home as the training ground for children, the constant care and supervision children require; the very important work of a mother in building strong characters in their children to meet the many temptations in the world today. Miss Adams' address was well received and much appreciated.

The Little White Ribbon ceremony then followed. Mrs. Finlay invited all the mothers who desired to present their children in dedication to a clean, temperate life, to bring them to the platform. Thirteen babies and small children were presented. Prayer was offered and a white ribbon tied on the wrist of each child and a white flower presented to each mother. Miss Cameron and Mrs. Herrington were called to the platform and Miss Cameron, on behalf of the Newburgh-Strathcona Union, expressed appreciation to Mrs. Herrington for her helpfulness in the work of the Union and received that this was her last meeting with the Union. Mrs. Doris Wilson presented Mrs. Herrington with a cup and saucer from the Union. Mrs. Herrington spoke of enjoying the society and greatly regretting her white ribbon work.

BOY SCOUTS NEWS

FIRST NAP. BOY SCOUT TROOP

The annual wind-up of the local Boy Scout Troop took place Tuesday night on the grounds of the West Ward School. The major part of the evening was devoted to the games which were conducted by Assistant Scoutmaster Lloyd Mathews. Everything was the presentation of the various proficiency badges to the Leader Johnny Mac. Mr. P. Mathews was awarded his First Class and Signallers badge. All members of the Troop with the exception of Ralph Bedder and Dick in his school at the Valley Forge American camp this summer.

At the closing of the meeting the Scouts appointed patrol leaders for the Scoutmaster, and his assistants. Following is a list of the Troop Leaders and their assistants for the opening meeting on September 5th.

Summertime Activities:

For the benefit of those Scouts who will be in the town during the summer months, a Summer Troop will be formed. The next regular first meeting at the present headquarters on Friday, June 30th at 7.15 p.m. No uniform required and no dues to be paid by those attending. Emphasis will be placed on out-door Scout work with special reference to second class and first class tests. Here is a chance for members of the troop to obtain their requirements while still in town, this summer. Monday at the town.

SCOUT NOTES:

Roger Wideman is 1947 Interprovincial and a First Canadian Jamboree Scout.

SILLSVILLE

Sillsville, June 19 — The Sillsville W. A. met on Wednesday afternoon in the Hall with nine members answering the roll. The meeting was opened with the singing of a hymn. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. B. Windover. Prayer was led by Mrs. D. Hough, followed by the singing of the Lord's Prayer. The devotional came to a close with the singing of a hymn. Reports were received and adopted from the Executive Committee, Pursuing Study Group, Treasurer. After discussion of other business the meeting closed with the repeating of the Mizpah benediction.

On Sunday, June 11th Sillsville Sunday school held a special service in connection with the 25th anniversary of the United Church. Anniversary were present. Mrs. H. M. Hough was in charge of the service. A special feature was the dramatization of The Story of The United Church, in which eight two year-olds classes under Mrs. B. Windover and Mrs. Leslie Malone, the Young People's class, Mrs. R. Lasher, and Mrs. Shirley Lasher, Miss Frances Hough, Miss Elsie Grant, Ronald Hough and Mr. G. Stewart, took part. The Young People's class presented a reading and to be hung in the Church in commemoration of the 25th anniversary. Mrs. D. Hough described by means of a coloured picture the meaning of the symbols on the United Church crest. The programme came to an end with the singing of a hymn.

Personals

Mrs. H. M. Hough has returned home after spending several days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. W. Camm and Mr. Camm, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sharpe and family, and guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sharpe and Mr. and Mrs. Searle and family, were guests at Moscow, on Saturday.

Those from this community who attended the Blossom Tea at Conway, included Mrs. Elmer McFadden, Mrs. Roy Frink, Mrs. Rod Sharpe, Mrs. Morley Creighton, Mrs. Perry Young, Mrs. Harold Hough, Mrs. Bernard Hough, Mrs. Harold Grooms and Mrs. Morley White.

Mumps are still prevalent in the community. The Sillsville school has been closed for the past two weeks due to the illness of the teacher, Miss Wilda Berndt.

Rev. Harvey Moats, of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, was the guest speaker at Sillsville Church on Sunday evening. He gave a fine inspirational service.

On the lonely Hebridean Island of Eriskeucila, South Uist, there lives a crofter-woman who gets up every morning with the lark. The bark is that of her collie dog which, besides waking his mistress every morning, collects peat for the fire and greets the roundsman from whom he collects the groceries. During the day the dog herds sheep on the croft, and his last good deed is to fetch his mistress's slippers.

DORLAND

Dorland, June 24 — The prolonged drought has broken at last. Light rain fell during part of last night, and was followed by several heavy showers this morning, which were accompanied by considerable electricity. It has come too late for an abundant strawberry crop, but will revive the vines so the berries will last awhile longer and will be a wonderful help to gardens and grain crops. All farmers have been busy at hay and many report a light crop.

Rev. Harvey Maate, of Binbrook, Sask., who spent last week end with Mr. G. K. Stewart, renewing an acquaintance begun overseas, spoke at the service last Sunday morning. His thought-provoking sermon was appreciated by those present.

A largely attended meeting of the Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. D. M. Sanford on Wednesday evening. Among other items of business discussed it was decided to donate $50.00 to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Mrs. W. Punchard and Mrs. V. Martin will entertain the July meeting at Mrs. Punchard's home on the evening of July 26th. The date was changed on account of the community picnic to be held on the regular date.

There are 21 hospitals run by the Indian Health Service for Canada's Indians and Eskimos.

They travelled by way of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan, crossed by ferry at Fort Saginaw and arrived at the home of her brother-in-law, Andrew Huffman in Manitoba, where she spent two months visiting relatives among whom was Mrs. Jake Ehrey. While there she witnessed a very severe hail-storm, when farm crops were wiped out. She went to British Columbia in November and visited Miss Mary Bell in the Fraser River district at Balmar. She mentioned motoring along the banks of a B.C. mountain when the numerous small snakes in and on wild berry bushes made bank an appearance of being alive. Presentation to Mrs. Froste

At a combined meeting of the Woman's Association and the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church, held at the parsonage, on Tuesday, Mrs. F. W. Froste was presented with a beautiful crystal swan table centrepiece. Mr. and Mrs. Froste are leaving here in the near future for their new home in Napanee. Mr. Froste has been manager of Canadian Bank of Commerce here for the past fourteen years. Following is the address:

Dear Mrs. Froste:

We, your friends and co-workers in the W.M.S. and W.A. of Tamworth United Church have gathered here at this joint meeting to bid you farewell and wish you well in your new home in Napanee. In the W.M.S. you have been a faithful hard worker, holding the office of treasurer very capably. You, too, were secretary of the W. A. and might we say a regular attendant at our meetings.

Your home was always open for church gatherings. If we had no place for our meetings, Mrs. Froste always said, 'come to my home, it is no trouble for me.' We, of the W. M. S. and W. A. appreciate this very much. Mrs. Froste could always see the good in every one; she had a kind word for all and believed in lending a helping hand to any who needed and it never was any bother.

So, this afternoon we want to extend to you our wishes for many years of happiness in Napanee. You, too, have a standing invitation to come back to our W.A. and W.M.S. meeting, any time you find it convenient.

Now, we would like you to accept this little gift as a token of our appreciation of your faithful service in the W.M.S. and W.A. of the United Church, Tamworth.

Cylce Crash Selby Road Car Turns Over in Camden

Two fatal accidents on the Highways in the Napanee district, occurred during the past week. On Friday evening, June 30th, Garfield Kellar of 5 - 8th Avenue, Kingston, was killed on Highway No 41, when the motorcycle he was driving crashed into a car, about a mile and a half North of Napanee. On Monday afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, Floyd Drinkwalter, of Campbellford, was killed on the Centreville Road, near the intersection of the Nimimo Road, about three miles north of Newburgh.

In the accident on Friday evening, Norma Godfrey, Kingston, who was riding on the pilion seat of the motorcycle, sustained a broken left leg and painful scalp abrasions and was taken to Kingston General Hospital for treatment. The accident occurred on the top of a knoll near the home of Bernell Benson on the Selby Road. The motorcycle was being driven south, when it collided with a car being driven north by James McMahon, R.R. No 1, Odessa. The left front wheel of the car was torn off and damage to the car was estimated at about $200.00 The motorcycle was not badly damaged. Miss Godfrey was thrown several feet, after the crash.

There has been no charge laid in connection with the accident, and no inquest has been ordered, as yet

In the accident on Monday afternoon the car driven by Milton Campbell of Campbellford was thought to have gone out of control and overturned in the north ditch. Floyd Drinkwalter was instantly killed and Milton Campbell and his brother, another pas enger, Kenneth Campbell, suffered severe shock and were taken to Kingston General Hospital. Both men, on Tuesday, were still in a severe state of shock and police were unable to learn any details concerning the accident. No charges have been laid, as yet, nor has an inquest been ordered.

POINT ANNE WIN FROM MERCHANTS HERE LAST FRIDAY

In one of the best games of the Belleville and District League, played here, the Napanee Merchants dropped a 6 to 4 decision to the Point Anne Cementmen after holding a 3 to 1 lead for five frames.

The Brady, youthful righthander of the locals held the winners to five hits in as many frames, only to weaken in the sixth, when he walked a pair and allowed two singles for a pair of runs. Again in the seventh two errors and a single gave the visitors the winning tallies. Brady struck out six and issued seven walks. He allowed eight singles well scattered. Pete Green and Buchanan were the big guns for the Cementmen with a pair of singles, each.

Jack Green, on the mound for the winners, had considerable difficulty in finding the plate in the first few innings and issued three walks, made two wild pitches and a balk, for two runs, before settling down. He was given airtight support after that and only gave up five hits for the balance of the game. Holmes collected the only extra base blow of the night, a double. Green struck out four and walked three. Napanee had three golden opportunities to score, once in the seventh with two left on and again in the ninth with one left on after one tagged at the plate. The losers had seven men stranded while Point Anne had ten. Buchanan, at first, for the winners, stole the fielding highlight with thirteen putouts, five of the unassisted variety.

Committee Reports To Commons On Pension Plan

$40 Pension Advised For All Canadians At 70 Years

A $40-a-month pension to persons 70 and over regardless of means was proposed last week by the parliamentary committee on old-age security as the most suitable retirement plan for Canada.

The committee expressed the view that a pension of $40 a month also should be paid to needy persons between 65 and 70.

In a report tabled in the commons, the joint senate-commons committee said it favored a "universal pay-as-you-go system applicable to all persons in Canada, 70 and over."

It favored abolition of the means test from the present old-age pension program, as far as those 70 and over are concerned, and the assumption by the federal government of full responsibility for financing and administering this project.

The committee suggested that part of the cost of the plan could be financed through contributions by employers and employees.

As for the 65-69 group, the committee favored a joint arrangement in which the provinces would cooperate both as to the administration of the program and as to sharing the costs involved." Only needy persons in this group would receive a pension.

At present the federal government pays 75 per cent. of the cost of $40-a-month pensions to needy persons 70 and over. The provinces pay the remainder . Some of them make a supplementary payment, bringing the pensions in those provinces to $50 a month.

To obtain a pension, a person must prove his need and show that he has lived in Canada for 20 years. The committee said it would not recommend any change in the residence requirement.

Presentation To Rev. W.R. And Mrs. Merrick, At Selby

The joint congregations of Selby and Empey Hill held a social evening in the Sunday school room of Selby United Church, on Monday evening, June 26th, to bid farewell to their minister and his wife, Rev. W.R. and Mrs. Merrick, who are leaving Selby. Mr. Garnet Dupre of Empey Hill, acted as chairman.

Following a few remarks by the chairman, a splendid program was enjoyed, part of it coming from each congregation. The program consisted of a vocal solo by Shirley Fralick, a reading by Roberta Allen, a vocal trio by the Allen sisters, piano duet by Mrs. Greene Robinson and Pauline Robinson, reading by Mrs. Jas. Rose, vocal duet by Mrs. Walter King and Mrs. Geo. Sagsley, assisted by Empey Hill choir, reading by Mrs. Merle Dawson, quartette by Mr. Grant Kimmerly, Mrs. Kenneth Chadwick, Mrs. Walter King and Mr. Stapley, reading by Mrs. Garnet Dupre.

The program was closed with Irene Mowers reading an address to Mr. and Mrs. Merrick and Percy Hudgins, on behalf of the congregation, presenting them with a purse. Mr. Merrick replied, thanking the people for their loyalty and co-operation during his ministry at Selby.

Lunch was served by the ladies and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

The Address

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Merrick:

It is with mixed feeling of pleasure and regret, that we, the congregations and friends of Selby and Empey Hill have assembled here tonight; pleasure at the prospect of spending an evening with you, and deep regret that it will be our last gathering together. It is difficult to find words to express our gratitude and appreciation of the good work done while here. You have married some of us, baptized some of our children, buried our dear ones and been a friend and comforter at all times. Many of us who have been ill, either at home or in the hospital, have very pleasant memories of your visits. You have made allowances for our shortcomings, and helped us when we needed it most. Many Sundays, we have left church feeling we have come nearer to God through your sermons. You will probably never know the influence you have had on a great many of us.

We ask you to accept this purse as a token of our appreciation and remembrance of the twelve years you spent with us. As you go to your new home, the best wishes of your friends go with you.

We pray, God willing, that you will be spared for many years of service in God's vineyard.

To Mrs. Merrick, we wish for improved health to carry on her work. We will always be anxious to hear from you, and any time you can come back and visit us, we will be very greatly pleased to have you.

Goodbyes are always hard to say
And that's especially true
When it's time to say goodbye
To someone nice as you.
Somehow, the place won't seem the same,
For you'll be missed, a lot,
And even though you've gone away,
You sure won't be forgot.

(Signed) —The Congregations of Selby and Empey Hill.

REFRESHING OUR MEMORIES

Just to refresh our memories, it may be well to recount a few important events in the recent history of Korea. In 1929 we visited Korea. Among other things we attended a meeting of Korean underground. Korea had been taken over by the Japanese in 1910. There was a seething undertow of opposition to these overlords. We saw, with our own eyes, Japanese policemen pounding a Korean rickshaw coolie for a minor traffic infraction. That sort of thing, as we found out from our meeting, did not make for good relations.

A secret agreement, at Yalta, permitted Russia to go into the North of Korea and the United States in the South. Nobody knows much of what happened in the North after V.J. Day, but the situation in the South was not very peaceful. The Americans made Syngman Rhee, president. He was a Korean who had lived in the United States since 1910, and went back to Korea after V.J. Day. He was a dictator. The people resented his methods. From September to November, 1949, he arrested thirty journalists. He would not hold elections until forced to do so by the Americans. Then he got 48 seats to 162 independents, after jailing ninety candidates. That was in June of this year.

While the North was being consolidated and whipped into shape by the Russians; in the South there was dissention and lack of support for the Government.

When that condition had sapped the morale of the people, the North struck, and the people in the South had little heart to strike back. The United Nations had then to step in.

If the war remains localized and the Northern Koreans are forced back, the United Nations will have to step in and do something drastic and constructive for the common people, or they will turn to Communism of their own free will. The Koreans have been under a dictator since 1910 — they deserve a break — and the United Nations must see they get it.

DEATH OF FIFTY-SEVEN

The various Provincial Governments in Canada have done their best to make the highways safe for travel. Roads have been widened, curves are being eliminated as fast as possible; pavements have been painted with white strips to indicate the centre of the road; solid lines indicate where passing is dangerous; signs abound, curves are marked, and sidereads indicated. It is hard to think of anything more that can be done to instruct, guide, caution and warn the automobile driver. In spite of that, there were twenty-seven people killed on the highways over last week-end.

The car may be in perfect condition, roads excellent but, in the last resort, the human factor is the determining one. A delay of making up one's mind, even though that may be only a split second is often the difference between life and death — the attempt to pass on hills, the undefinable urge in some people to break out of a line of traffic at all costs, the determination of others to pass everything on the road — are some of the human factors that make for traffic accidents.

There is no way of stopping these. It would not be too bad if the erratic driver had only himself to suffer, but a lot of others, often innocent people, are killed or injured by irresponsible drivers. The accidents and deaths over last week end brought sadness and sorrow to fifty-seven homes. Of these twenty-seven were due to traffic accidents. With care and courtesy, and a little self discipline, most of these could have been avoided.

THE IRONY OF HISTORY

It is one of the greatest ironies of history, that the Democratic people who love decency, freedom, and fair dealings, find themselves tied up with national leaders who are the very opposite of those things. In order to support Democracy in China, the Democracies have to support an undemocratic government and leader. In order to oppose Communism in Korea, the Democracies have to back-up a rotten government, and an undemocratic leader.

The Toronto Globe and Mail, in a particularly frank editorial, on Monday, makes this perfectly clear. It says :

"No informed writer about the Far East, or none that we have read, has a good word to say for the Syngman Rhee Government, which ruled at Seoul. It is described as inefficient, corrupt and reactionary. It is compared to the Chiang regime in China during the latter and disreputable years of that once progressive Government. Possibly the South Koreans could not put much heart into fighting for Rhee and his entourage.

"The rascally boss type of politician can rise and flourish in old and experienced democracies without disrediting the whole system. He is recognized as a blot on an otherwise fairly clean sheet. His misrule and depredations are contrasted with the decent average level of other elected persons. But when such a politician is put up as the sole or chief representative of the Western plan of government, in an Asiatic land without experience in autonomy, the people he rules are apt to arrive at a poor view of democracy. They cannot be blamed if they are taken in by Communism, with its gaudy promises of reform and a better life, and conclude that it might be preferable, or at any rate might be worth a trial.

"It is now universally admitted that one reason for the rapid collapse of the Chiang regime was the prevalence of graft, sloth and reactionary opinions in Chiang's political circle. As Secretary of State Acheson said, the Chiang Government was not so much defeated as simply ignored. It folded up and vanished because it had no roots among the people. The Communists did not so much displace it as fill a vacuum."

That puts the situation admirably.

MIGHT AS WELL TRY IT !

There is nothing that hurts so much as being made fun of. Long ago, in these columns, a suggestion was made that one way to put a crimp on dictators would be to hold them up to ridicule, poke fun at them, and refuse to take them too seriously. The idea never really caught on, but it is interesting to note that the same suggestion has now come from another source. We are fairly sure that Commander King Hall did not see 'The Beaver', but he has the same idea we had, and we can only conclude that, in a desperate situation, we are all ready to make what seems like crazy suggestions.

Anyway, this is what a recent article, by Devere Allen, has to say on the subject :

"One may wonder whether we might not do a whole lot better in the Cold War, nowadays, if Western statesmen, along with the Press and public opinion, could relax a trifle. Commander Stephen King-Hall, publisher of the National News-Letter at London, thinks so. Instead of retaliating when Czechoslovakia shuts down information centres, for example, he suggests that Britain might invite Prague to double the employees in their London embassy, and send a dozen lecturers at British expense. 'If the Czechs send lecturers, let them come and be heckled. A refusal would take some explaining to Czech public opinion and make the regime look ridiculous. There is nothing dictatorships fear more than ridicule.'

"Such steps might go far. If they worked, the Moscow Politburo would perhaps come out and say that this technique, like all good things, was really invented back in 1864 by a Russian named Molostaltnov. Of course, the Muscovites would have to be careful, for their inventions have been getting so frequent it has been hard to keep track of them. Soviet citizen Gerasimov recently announced that he had discovered the oldest human skull in the world, in Uzbekistan, whereupon a dastardly Swedish scientist pointout that the same skull had been discovered in the same place by the same man a dozen years ago. But such mistakes reveal nothing more than the need for a good filing system. If the Russians, noting the success of Mr. King-Hall's technique, would go ahead and invent it, a vast calm might settle upon the earth."

Might be worth a try at that — as we said, before.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, July 9th

MOSES, WHO LED HIS PEOPLE TO GOD.

Lesson Text: Exodus 19:16-25; 35:4-5, 21

The world today is crying for leadership, both in church and state. We need leaders, not politicans; statesmen, not simply vote getters, timeservers, or self seekers, not runners with the herd; but out-in-front-ers. Leaders must be men of character, christian leaders, men of christian ideals.

Of course Moses was not a christian. Indeed this week's lesson indicates just how far from being a christian Moses was. But that was not the fault of Moses. He lived long before the time of Christ. The standards of conduct were lower, the prevailing view of God was much lower than that held by Jesus; lower indeed than that held by the prophets. But Moses had a vital part to play in the unfolding revelation of God, which, in time, culminated in the life of Jesus Christ.

The making of a leader is a long process. Moses went to a hard school. He was well trained, but grieved at what he saw happening to one of his own race he killed a man and fled the country. He became a herdsman, and then had time to think over his past and to dream and plan about the future. He had lots of trouble before he finally got the people of Israel organized into a free people.

This week's lesson comes fairly early in the life of the Israelites. It tells of the thunder of Mount Sinai and the appearance of God there. For them God revealed Himself in the storms, in the lightning, and smoke that ascended from the mountain. Moses gathered the people around the base of the mountain, told them of God's presence, and warned them that they should not come too close to it. Then Moses, himself, acted as a sort of mediator between God and the people, ascending the mountain to hear God's message and coming down to convey it to the people.

Stripped of all its temporary and contemporary trappings the heart of the incident lies in the faith which Moses had in God. When Moses fled to the wilderness he had lots of time to think, and that was important. When he met God at the burning bush he was sure of His presence, and all he did from then on was done in the deepest faith in God.

The rest of this week's lesson underlines this main fact. It tells of how, in the desert, Moses built a tabernacle, and erected altars, for the worship of God. The time came when they left behind these symbols of God's presence, but they never lost God. They might depart from Him temporarily, but back they came. Through the long history of these chosen people they depended on God, and when they wandered away there were always the prophets, other Moses who called them in love and kindness back to the God who had revealed Himself to their fathers.

Our world is in a bad way. We pray for peace and plan war; we plan for material security and neglect to lay up treasures in Heaven. The world needs leaders, men and women of faith, courage, and religion. There are many, especially in science now, who stress the need of religion. Maybe when our statesmen see the need of spiritual guidance as the scientists are now seeing it, we will have peace and goodwill on earth. And, of course, they will go back to the ten commandments of Moses and find there the basis of a just and enduring society. In some ways we have gone far past Moses; in others we have not caught up to him yet.

PRESENTATION TO REV. H. B. AND MRS. HERRINGTON

The congregation of Wesley United Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clancy on Friday evening, June 23rd to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Herrington before their departure to Keene. The following address was read by Miss Norma Harrington, and a purse of money presented by Mr. and Mrs. Herrington by Mrs. Walter Clancy.

Wesley, June 23, 1950

We the members of Wesley United Church, have gathered here tonight to bid you far well and to wish you richest blessing in your new charge. It is with deep regret that we see you leave us. Since coming to our community eight years ago we have all benefited greatly from your superb spiritual and mental guidance.

You, Mr. Herrington, have been active in every department of your Master's consecration and much we have appreciated your faithful work as leader of the cheerful calls to the altar, but a few of these services, as might be rendered to us today are still all missing.

Mr. Herrington, as an organist in a multitude of churches, you have delighted us. Your choice of hymns, their help and fragrance as are certainly indicative of efficient worker. You have taken a place in our church life difficult to fill.

Harvey, we realize that is somebody' pain. May you feel free to carry on as a minister. We are glad that you will both feel the thoughts of Wesley.

As a token of appreciation of many acts of kindness shown in which you are held in our hearts, we accept this purse.

Best wishes for many years and happiness in your new charge.

Signed on behalf of the congregation of Wesley United Church,

Mrs. Walter Clancy
Miss Norma Harrington

by "Red" Miller

The younger fry of the local ball players are holding the spotlight at the present time, both in the Central Ontario League and the Belleville Loop. Last week with the shortage of players, a call went out to the "Minors", and Marshall and Mills answered the bell.

The Kilbirnmen went to Smiths Falls without Gerow, McQuade and Bud Green, and the score was 3 to 0 against the A's .... One of the kids played first and the other at short. Holding a team like the Falls to a 3 to 0 score with the youngsters on their roster speaks well for the future of baseball in this particular locality ... Maybe the "Joseph" would be wise in carrying a couple of these "kids" ...

The A's losing streak continues ... that was up to Friday of last week anyway. They dropped from a three-game lead to the middle bracket. ... In answer to a query on what gives Joe, I allow that the A's are boosting the spirits of the other entries in the C.O.B.L. ... If they keep up the way they will probably need the "boost in spirit" ... The cellar is not too far down.

Back again to the "fry" ... you folks who did not take in the games of the B. & D. League are missing good baseball ... Young "Tar" Brady again showed his ability in this section of sport.

Tar played Juvenile last summer and is now up in Intermediate and throwing hooks and drops that have the old-timers breaking their backs. ... Drop around and see what we mean ... We guarantee you your tax-bits worth.

Word from the west ... Keith Weese ... one of the most outstanding young hurlers that ever slipped through the fingers of local managers, is making a name for himself. Weese has a 5 win and no loss record to date. He is with the Shallow Lake Juniors ... playing in the Interstate League up in Western Ontario.

Two games are of special mention ... both with Listowel. ... In the initial tilt with the latter, Keith was shelled to such a tune had a shaky start, allowing four runs to cross in the first frame ... that was all they got. It was three up and three down the rest of the way ... and his teammates hoisted Uncle runs over the plate to finish 12 to 4. ... 15 strike outs.

The second was slightly different ... a shut out—2 to 0 ... and 11 strike outs ... only 29 men went to bat. ... What an asset he could have been to local baseball.

The most recent ... and noticeable, is the addition on the Bata Shoemen's line-up ... Willis... hurler who was wearing the colors of the Brockville Memos a short time ago ... is now making his headquarters at Batawa.

From all accounts the Washington Pilots have "seeded" Eastern Ontario with their probables ... and everybody has had a look at the prospects, and taken what they could use. ... These 'shifters' should wait ... at least until the ink dries on the "contract" ... before moving on to the next team.

Up until the fateful innings the visitors had a 2 to 1 edge and smart hurling and fielding on the part of both squads provided plenty of excitement as the two struggled to get a run across. The losers had seven men left on the sacks while Kingston had six.

The winners gathered nine hits off Hooper, one a double, four of the total coming in the seventh. Hooper struck out four and walked three.

Stone went the route for the Leafs and allowed six safeties, one a double struck out five and walked four.

FREEZING SWEET CHERRIES

Ottawa — while red sour cherry varieties have been frozen successfully for some time, sweet cherry varieties always have made a relatively poor frozen product. However, recent studies at the Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C., have shown that the natural colour and flavour of sweet cherries can be satisfactorily preserved by the addition of a little ascorbic acid (vitamin C) and citric acid to the syrup in which the fruit is packed for freezing. It is also important to use only pitted fruit. Packing of whole, unpitted, sweet cherries always results in a very undesirable oxidized flavour in the frozen product.

The best frozen packs of sweet cherries are obtained by using 355 to 637 milligrams of citric acid and 175 to 250 milligrams of ascorbic acid for each fifteen ounces of fruit and syrup. In the home a satisfactory procedure is to cover the pitted fruit with syrup which contains one teaspoonful of powdered citric acid and half a teaspoonful of crystalline ascorbic acid in each quart of prepared syrup. If desired, 4 or 5 teaspoonfuls of lemon juice could be substituted for the citric acid.

Royal Ann, Bing and Lambert varieties all make satisfactory products by this procedure. Most people prefer the fruit cooked as it improves the flavour — particularly of the black varieties.

Music Club Recital At Conway

Much interest was aroused by the excellent recital given by the music pupils of Mrs. Harold Haight and Mrs. Gordon Steward at Conway Church, on June 29th, at 8:00 p.m. This recital was the valedictory for the season of the Monthly Music Club. A great deal of credit goes to Mrs. Haight and Mrs. Steward for their splendid organizing the program.

Mrs. Haight, in her opening remarks, outlined the origin and work of the Music Club and stressed the importance of children and young people learning to perform in public and the pleasure derived by both pupils and teachers from such performances. Mrs. Haight explained that while she and Mrs. Stewart do not expect perfection from their pupils, nevertheless they do strive for it, and if they could give their pupils an appreciation of good music, their aim would be achieved.

The programme, beginning with "O Canada" by Neil Babcock, proceeded smoothly without interruptions. The pupils, ranging from beginners to grade four, all gave very creditable performances. Piano solos were given by Frances Hunsberger, Joan Allison, Lawrence Windover, Ellen Simmons, Carla Sills, Lorraine Windover, Douglas Allen, Glenn Merrill, Lois Davis, Harold Simmons, Mary Furse, Neil Babcock, Katharine Hum, Barbara Merrill and Gaynell Berndt. Duets by Gwen McFadden and Mary Furse, Glenn and Barbara Merrill, Katharine Hum and Gaynell Berndt, Joan Allison and Lorraine Windover, Lawrence Windover and Neil Babcock, were much enjoyed. A short talk on Franz Schubert by Ellen Simmons, was followed by a vocal trio, Ellen Simmons, Lois Davis and Frances Hunsberger, who sang beautifully a Franz Schubert arrangement of Bright Star. Mary Furse gave a brief sketch of Mozart entitled "The Years". Everyone joined "Who Built Hyde" song by the vocal trio.

It was unfortunate that owing to mumps, two other promising numbers featuring Samuel Berndt had to be omitted.

Juvenile such as this, especially in rural districts are worthy of notice, and another next year would promise to create even greater interest. Those taking part did a good work in the community.

WEDDING BELLS

FILE — SHILLINGTON

A lovely June wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 24th at the home of the bride when Ruth Marjorie Shillington, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shillington, became the bride of W. W. Stanley Pile, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Pile of Napanee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. E. Coulter, pastor of Fourth Line United Church, under a beautiful arch of evergreens, pink bells and ribbon streamers, built over the mantle in the living room of the home. Mrs. E. Wade, Tall vases of pink and white peonies, added charm to the living room.

The dark haired little bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in white with a deep yoke of Chantilly lace and a Bertha of lace, over satin, fashioned with long sleeves. Her embroidered fingertip veil was held in bridal fashion by a cluster of roses. She bouquet was of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Miss Kathleen Walmsley was the dainty bridesmaid in a gown of ruffled blush pink taffeta with a headdress of roses to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. J. Pile, of Kingston.

After the wedding the guests were served a sumptuous wedding supper by the bride's beautifully appointed table, covered with a lace cloth and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, white and pink tapers, pink and white bells and ribbon streamers. The bride wore the groom's gift, a string of pearls.

The bride presented her bridesmaid with a personal gift and to the pianist a purse. Costume jewelry was the groom presented the best man with a pin and billfold.

The popular bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including a presentation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Denyes, when Miss Lois presented her with a handpainted wooden fruit bowl. She has been a faithful member of Fourth Line choir. Her Sunday school class of small tots presented her with a silver butter dish.

The community and friends of Fourth Line held a miscellaneous shower at her home Thursday afternoon, June 22nd, when about forty-five friends showered this very popular girl with a decorated barrel of gifts.

WILTON W. I.
The June meeting, honouring the 25 years of organization of the Wilton Women's Institute, was held in the hall, with a good attendance, with Mrs. B. Davey in the chair. Mrs. Archie Simmons gave current events. Community singing followed. Mrs. Norman Martin presided over by Mrs. Hedley Babcock, who depicted life in the early 1900's in a table, dress and song. Miss Minnie Mills wore a wedding gown of years ago, while Mrs. Erwell Huff sang, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Barbara. Knight portrayed the singing cowboy, 'Katie' of the 1914-18 war years. Mrs. Margaret Martin and Irma Huff. A resume of the W.W.I. since organization was given and a memorial service was held for the six deceased charter members, namely: Mrs. Guy Simmons, Mrs. Will Sharpe, Mrs. Alva Emberley, Mrs. Byard Stribley, Mrs. Sperry Stribley and Mrs. W. N. Stribley. After the Two-Minute Silence, Mrs. E. Huff sang 'Blest be the Tie that Binds.' Other items of the programme were: Farmer and the Depression, by Mrs. H. Babcock; vocal duet 'Side by Side' sung by Delores and Patsy Burt, and acted by Mrs. Don. Burt and Mrs. Harold Burt; vocal solo 'Voice in the Old Village Choir,' by Mrs. E. Huff.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which a delightful fruit and vegetable contest was won by Mrs. M. Perry. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Sharpe and Mrs. Muriel Perry, pouring tea from a lace covered silver ribbon decorated table, centred with the birthday cake. The cake was cut by Mrs. W. Forsyth.

MAPLE LEAF W. I.
The June meeting of the Maple Leaf Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Ackerman on Thursday afternoon, with a splendid attendance of members and two visitors. The new president, Mrs. E. O'Connor presided, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Sperry Fraser. The roll call, How, When and Where I Met my Husband, was responded to by the members and caused much mirth. Communications and bills were dealt with. Ten dollars was voted to the Manitoba Relief Fund and plans were made for a strawberry and ice cream social.

Mrs. Sperry Fraser, convener of the programme called on Mrs. Fred Perry, who gave the history of North Frederickburgh. A piano instrumental was given by Grace Ackerman, followed with a report of the district annual held at Wilton by Mrs. Ackerman. A contest was held, Mrs. Clarence Parks being the winner. Mrs. Fraser extended a vote of thanks to the hostess, the lunch committee and all those who assisted in any way.

Dept. Education Sanctions Building New High School

Approves Expenditure up to $650,000

At a special meeting of the Napanee and District Collegiate Board on Thursday evening, July 6th, a report was presented by the special committee composed of P. D. Laidley, Edgar Salsbury, Rockwell Parks, Charles Proud and R. F. Hunter, appointed at the meeting of officials of the Department of Education in Toronto, regarding the problem of accommodation for pupils in the Napanee Collegiate.

The committee reported that three proposals were laid before the Department: remodelling the present school; salvaging a part of the present building and adding to it, and building a completely new school. After looking over the proposals, the Department of Education officials decided that it would not be economical to follow either of the first two proposals, and gave approval for the building of a new school to cost up to $650,000, sufficiently large to accommodate 650 pupils.

The Department of Education will assume 75 per cent of the cost of a new building, which leaves a balance to be paid by the eight municipalities in the district, of $160,000. Payment of the District's portion of the cost of the building will be by the issuing of debentures, spread over a period of twenty years.

The proposed school will include sufficient classrooms to accommodate the pupils and in addition a work shop, rooms for home economics and sewing and a double gymnasium. The estimated expenditure of $650,000 includes construction charges, equipment and architects' fees.

A committee of the Board members will continue investigations regarding a new school and report to the Board.

V. L. A. Supervisor Sees Increased Interest Among Smallholders

Lennox and Addington County V.L.A. smallholders are showing interesting signs of the growth of a second national Veterans Land Act development competition, Settlement Supervisor Avern Crossman, of Napanee, said today.

"Despite last year's drought, many of our smallholders attained outstanding development success during the 1949 contest. Recent rainfalls given result in an even more impressive showing," he predicted.

Approximately 20,000 veterans and their families settled on V.L.A. smallholdings across Canada will compete this year for prizes valued at $9,000. Altogether, 666 awards including 150 for junior gardens entered by settlers, are available.

Directing the national competition in the Eastern Ontario area is Mr. H. L. "Rex" Armstrong, former Napanee resident, now living in Toronto. Mr. Armstrong joined the Veterans Land Act administration after distinguished service overseas when he attained the rank of colonel. He is District Supervisor and settlement inspector for V.L.A. settlement in more than two thirds of the province.

Tell the smallholders in the Napanee area I'm expecting big things of them," he said. "I hope to see many of the properties entered in the competition within a few weeks." Smallholders are divided into two groups, those with one acre and less and those with more than an acre. Subdivision group contests were excluded this year in favour of the children's competition.

Top prizes for both groups are worth $820 with numerous others distributed downward from that figure at intervals of one dollar. First prizes for the youngsters are worth $7.00 and second and third valued at $6.00 and $5.00 respectively.

This year's new feature, the junior competition, divides the children into two sections: those nine to thirteen years of age and children eight years and under.

Qualification requires maintenance of a garden at least 100 and not more than 150 square feet. At least three varieties each of vegetables and flowers of the youngsters' own selection are also necessary.

All smallholders in the Eastern Ontario area are automatic competitors. Copies of the scoring guide have been provided the veterans to assist them in developmental efforts.

Properties will be scored on the basis of landscape and agricultural development, with particular stress on the arrangement of features making up the entire property. Economic returns from the smallholdings will also play an important judging role.

Final judging will follow preliminary judging in the Napanee area. A three-man team will make final selections following completion of the preliminary survey.

"This competition is part of the Operation Good Earth programme introduced by the V.L.A. this winter," Mr. Crossman explained. "It envisages encouraging the sound development of small holdings and farms with the advice and assistance of settlement officers. We in the field are the links between the settlers themselves and the sources of ideas and information."

PROMOTION CORRECTIONS

In S.S. No. 19 Richmond list of promotions in last week's paper, the name of Keith Asselstine should have been listed as promoted to Grade IX in place of Grade VIII.

The name of Douglas Shaw should have been included in the list of promotions to Grade VIII at the Prince Charles School.

Interesting Program Ballet Dancing Given At Bath

On Tuesday evening, June 27th, a benefit programme in aid of St. John's Anglican Church was presented at the Bath Masonic Hall by Miss Carol Mitchell, of Picton, teacher of ballet dancing, and a group of twenty of her young pupils.

The entertainment was one of the most interesting given in a long time in Bath, and the programme reflected much credit on the ability of Miss Mitchell and her youthful pupils, who were all under sixteen years of age.

Miss Mitchell gave several excellent numbers and her pupils presented solo and group dances. The costumes were very beautiful and were changed for each number. The very accomplished pianist was Miss Janet Williams, who is only fourteen years of age.

Assisting in the programme was Mr. Hyatt, who gave a most interesting sleight of hand demonstration. Pupils of the Junior Room in the Bath Public School sang two choruses; Mrs. Reg. Milligan and Miss Beatrice Walker each sang two solos.

The programme was given free of charge by Miss Mitchell and her pupils and all the proceeds went to St. John's Church.

Swimming Advocated By Health Unit

Swimming is one of the best forms of exercise. It is a great body builder. All children should learn to swim not only because of the health value, but because it may mean the saving of one's own or someone else's life at some time.

Water tests taken from the lakes in Lennox and Addington County by the Health Unit, have usually come back 'A'. Further tests will be taken this summer.

There should be no swimming or bathing near sewage outlets as the water there is loaded with germs and tests 'D'.

Swimming tends to improve the health and appearance of those who participate. It relieves nervous tension and induces mental relaxation. For those who have not as yet learned to swim it would be a good summer project to learn during their vacation.

LEAFS JINX NAPANEE A'S IN SLUG-FEST

Failure to solve the offerings of Rank, cost the Napanee Athletics a 13 to 2 defeat at Kingston, Monday night, when the Disney Leafs won their third straight game from the locals.

The winners held the Killorinnen to a single hit for seven frames and with the eighth, Gerow drew a walk and Jocko pasted the ball over the fence for a circuit clout. McQuade followed with a clout that hit the fence — robbed of a homer by inches.

The Leafs collected fourteen safeties off McTaggart, five of the total in the eighth; a triple and two doubles included. Rank allowed four hits.

WORK PROGRESSING ON NEW BRIDGE

Work is underway in the construction of the new bridge over the Napanee River, replacing the present structure which has long been considered a menace. A great many accidents have occured because of the narrowness of the old bridge and the sharp turn at the western exit of the bridge.

A change has been made in the original plan for the new bridge. The pier just south of the pier used for east bound traffic will be used. The present approach to the old bridge will be used and the turn will be on the new bridge itself. The road will connect again with the highway about opposite the residence of J. W. Metzler.

At present the cribbing for one pier has been constructed and the work of filling in has started.

Lucky Lott Drivers Supply Thrills For Large Audience

Lucky Lott and his Hell Drivers gave a thrilling exhibition of motor car driving at the Napanee Driving Park on Saturday evening, July 8th, under the auspices of the Elks Lodge of Napanee.

There was a very large crowd present to witness the demonstration, for which Ford cars were used. There were four drivers, two of whom used motorcycles. For the driving stunts new Fords were used, but for the thrilling roll-overs, old cars, stripped to just the frame and motor were put through their paces.

Some comedy acts were also given for the amusement of the crowd.

Glenn Pellatt, 14 Harrowsmith, Injured By Car

Struck by a car in Kingston, about 10:40 Sunday morning, July 9, Glenn Pellatt, 14 years, of Harrowsmith, was removed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital for treatment. His left ankle was X-rayed for possible fracture and his condition is said to be good.

The car involved was driven by Constable Stanley Smith, of Portsmouth. Police Chief Arthur Hall said the boy was struck by the car as he was crossing the street on his way to a bicycle shop.

Pellatt was riding a bicycle and was thrown to the pavement when struck by the car. He suffered a fractured left ankle and a deep cut on the left leg.

NAPANEE A'S OUT OF SLUMP

WIN FROM BROCKVILLE IN BEST GAME OF YEAR

The Napanee Ath'etics, who have been on the short side of the scoring end for the past ten days, have regained their place among the league contenders by taking the powerful Brockville Memos 5 to 1 in one of the best games of the year here last Wednesday evening before a full crowd.

Hooper was robbed of a shut out in the ninth frame when a passed ball allowed a runner to score for the visitors.

V. Green and McQuade were the only hitters to connect twice for Napanee, while Evans collected a pair for the visitors.

Hooper struck out six, walked none, and allowed four safeties. Proctor was nicked for ten hits, walked two, and struck out six.

Council Approves New Tender for Road Surfacing

Asks Department for Permission to Accept Tender

At a meeting of the Napanee Town Council on Wednesday evening, July 5th, tenders for the construction of new sidewalks were opened and a motion was passed to accept the tender of the Tatham Construction Co., which submitted a price of $12,875.00 for the work. The tender was awarded subject to the approval of the Town's Engineer, and has since been approved. Work will not be started until the approval of the expenditure has been received from the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The following tenders were received: I. G. McFarland, Napanee, $17,643.00; Sheppard Construction Co., $20,027.00; Tatham Construction Co., $12,875.00; J. B. Hughson, $17,-422.00; Defosse Bros., $14,339.00.

An amendment to the motion to accept the tender of Tatham Construction Co. was moved by Deputy Reeve Douglas and Reeve Milligan that the tender of I. G. McFarland to do the work at a cost of $17,643.00 be accepted. When the motion was put, the amendment was declared lost and the original motion was carried. Mansell Goodwin was appointed as Inspector for the sidewalk construction, to act under the supervision of the Town's Engineer.

Another important matter which was given consideration by the Council was a letter from the Chief Engineer of the Ontario Department of Highways that the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. had submitted a new tender for the resurfacing of the parts of No. 2 and No. 41 Highways within the Town of Napanee, at a cost of $27,411.00, which figure is much lower than the previous tenders submitted. The Council passed a motion to accept the McFarland tender, subject to the approval of the Department of Highways.

The tender of the Veteran Construction Co. to supply sand for the new sidewalks, at 95c. per yard, was accepted.

Application was made by Bert Barrett for permission to erect a house, to cost $3,500.00, on the south side of Isabella St., and was referred to the Town Planning Committee to secure further information regarding the numbering of houses in the town.

THANKS EXPRESSED FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TO FLOOD FUND

July 7th, 1950.

Messrs. Templeton & Son,
The Editor,
The Napanee Beaver,
Napanee, Ontario.

Gentlemen:—

On May 26th, we wired to you seeking your co-operation in connection with the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. At that time the Red River flood was at its height and many thousands of residents of the Red River Valley area had been driven from their homes.

The flood waters have now receded and business life of the community is back to normal. As a result of the generous help given by the weekly newspapers of Canada in support of the Fund, along with the assistance given by the press and radio of Canada and some thousands of local committees which have been giving their energetic help to the Fund, we now have received contributions of more than $6,500,000 in cash and goods to the value of several hundreds of thousands of dollars, which goods have been directed to the Red Cross and Salvation Army for distribution to flood victims.

The large contributions made to the Fund will enable us to carry out our objective of fully compensating flood victims for the loss of furniture, home furnishings and personal belongings destroyed or damaged by the flood waters. Approximately 1,000,900 persons have contributed to the Fund. These contributions have ranged from 25 cents up to $360,000 received from the Line Elevator Companies and the grain trade.

The Manitoba Flood Relief Committee has decided to bring the campaign to a close on July 15th. In ending the campaign the Committee and the flood victims whose homes will be restored by the Fund, wish to express to The Napanee Beaver, deep appreciation for all that you have done in enabling the Fund to reach its objective. They also ask that through your columns, they be permitted to convey their heartfelt thanks to the citizens of your district who have contributed so generously and to those who have worked so diligently in local efforts on behalf of the Fund.

We feel that the contributors to the Fund will be interested in knowing that the raising of the Fund was accomplished entirely with voluntary help. As a result of all expenses with the Fund having contributed their time and efforts, the cost of raising this large sum of money will be less than half of one per cent of the amount collected. We believe that this constitutes a low cost record in the raising of such a large Fund.

We would appreciate it if, through your columns, you request that any local committees acting on behalf of the Fund, forward any contributions on hand as soon as possible after the closing date of the campaign.

Again thanking you for your generous help,
Sincerely yours,
CECIL LAMONT,
Honorary National Organizer,
Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Interim Hoist Telephone Rates To be Allowed

Final Decision to be Given at Later Date

The Bell Telephone Company has been granted authority to increase its rates in Ontario and Quebec, but just what this will mean in the monthly telephone bill is not yet clear.

In a decision made public on Monday, the Board of Transport Commissioners granted the Company authority to make certain increases on an interim basis with a final decision to be given on its application for an overall revenue increase of 20.6 per cent.

In general, the Board permitted increases of varying amounts for such services as long-distance, private line, extensions, service connections, moves, and miscellaneous, as sought by the Company.

7% BOOST IN 1950

But on the exchange rates phase of the application, the rates applying to local service for residences and business telephones — the Commissioners granted only 50% of the increase sought by the Company, and only after a regrouping of exchanges.

On an annual basis, the rates and charges allowed by the Board are expected to yield an overall increase in revenues of about 16% instead of the 20.6% sought by the Bell Company. For this year, now half gone, the increase will work out to about 7% in Company revenues.

The new rates are expected to go into effect about July 23rd and will remain in effect until the Board hands down a final decision on the Company's application for a 20.6% overall increase in revenues, a case that was before the Board for many weeks.

TO REGROUP EXCHANGES

The Board's order indicated that certain increases allowed on long distance calls, private lines, extensions, and the like, would go into effect shortly, but on exchange rates there would have to be a comprehensive regrouping of exchanges before the interim increase could be applied there.

The Board's order contained no examples of how existing rates will compare with the new rates, nor could Bell officials immediately supply any comparisons.

Largest Enrolment Since Inauguration Four Years Ago

The Community Church Vacation School, which opened on Monday, July 3rd, will conclude its sessions on Friday of this week, at an open meeting in Grace United Church, at 7.00 o'clock. The enrolment of 144 children between 4 and 12 years of age, is the largest in the four years the school has been in operation as a community effort. Gregg, V.C. Minister of Veterans Affairs announced this week.

It is noted, however, that payments could only be made if need existed and the veteran met the terms of the act in other particulars.

WORLD COUNCIL CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEETS IN TORONTO

Leaders of 160,000,000 Christians in 44 countries, on Monday, began a six-day study of world-wide religious problems.

In a grey-stone Gothic building on the University of Toronto campus, the central committee of the World Council of Churches — representing every major Christian denomination but the Roman Catholic Church — will study problems ranging from religious liberty and racial discrimination to Christian judgments on present political and social systems.

The thirty - member committee meets annually to act for the assembly of the council, founded at Amsterdam, two years ago.

The committee's meeting was opened Saturday with special ecumenical service at Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, when Rev. Franklin C. Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, said Christians must take a new "searching hungering, yearning look at God."

In other churches throughout the city, clergymen attending the meeting preached special sermons. At Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Pastor Martin Niemoeller, imprisoned during the Second World War for opposition to Hitler and who recently attracted wide attention for a statement during German unity told an overflow congregation that the real purpose of totalitarianism was to "enthrone man" may be superman instead of God."

In a report to the committee, the council's general secretary, Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft of Geneva, urged prayers for men and women who have been the victims of the totalitarian attempt to silence the voice of the church.

He referred specifically to church leaders imprisoned in Hungary and Bulgaria and to church leaders in other Eastern European countries and China who remain loyal to the Christian cause and fight against atheism in its various forms.

The committee will meet until Saturday under the chairmanship of Rt. Rev. K. A. Bell, Anglican bishop of Chichester, England.

In a radio address, Bishop Bell said the welfare state of the 20th century was a social revolution to offset some of the evils of the 19th century. "But unless the spiritual revolution also comes, it will bring a menace of another kind to man's spiritual life."

FLAMING TUBE SCORCHES GIRL

May Dawn Scrimshaw, aged eight years, of Belleville, was in a critical condition Monday night, from burns received when her dress caught fire with ignited liquid cement.

The accident occurred in a workshop when the girl's brother, Douglas, 9, who was repairing an inner tube with the cement tried to hurry the process by drying it with a match. When the cement exploded the little boy threw the inner tube away from him. It encircled his sister who was standing nearby dressed in a smock. The girl, with her clothes ablaze, ran out of the workshop into the yard where her grandfather, Marshall Scrimshaw, extinguished the flames and removed the inner tube.

Dr. Russell G. Bateman, who attended the girl, stated that 95 per cent of her body was covered mostly with third degree burns.

May Dawn is at present in an oxygen tent in the Belleville Hospital, where she has already been given ten bottles of plasma.

How To Live For A Century

Lacombe, Alberta. — As straight as the birch cane he carries, Hermann Ziehlke of Lacombe, Alta., is well into his second century of life. He celebrated his 101st birthday recently.

His advice to those who aspire to long life:

2 Stay away from strong cider and tobacco.
3 Lead a simple life.

Mr. Ziehle was out of bed long before any of his family on his birthday. He had all the wood in and was raring to begin the celebration while the rest of the household still slept.

NO TIME !

Canada is so busy making money and looking for new sources of wealth that there is little time left to plan any real policy of conserving the wealth that is being created.

We have vast lumber resources. Every year millions of dollars are lost through forest fires. True, some effort is made to prevent these fires, and a frantic and scientific struggle to save the loss, is made as soon as a fire is started. But the preservation of our forests is only touched upon. The fringe of the subject has hardly been touched.

Our own County is a flaring example of this. There was a time when the back part of the county was a source of great wealth and employment. The river was wide and deep. Every Spring the logs would be brought down; river drivers brought life and excitement to the community and great mills at Deseronto, provided employment for the whole town.

But what happened. Came the day when the trees — the profitable ones were all cut down. Besides putting the mills out of business, with consequent unemployment, the destruction of the forests changed the whole nature of the land. Water dried up, and with the rush in the Spring, the river carried down tons of silt, which has all but blocked the channel. Instead of a wide and spacious river, it is narrow, and unattractive. There may have been some excuse for this in the early days, in that little was known of reforestation. But, there can be no excuse now for letting the forests in other parts of Canada be wasted. Trees and more trees should be set out as the full grown ones are cut.

Just now Canadians are making great strides in the discovery of other natural resources. The oil found in Alberta, bids fair to outstrip wheat as a source of wealth. The great oil companies are spending millions to tap these resources. No matter how great they are, a strict government-controlled policy of conservation and distribution should be established.

In Northern Ontario there is a great rush for new fields of asbestos. The resources of Quebec have been found not to be inexhaustible. At one time it looked as though they would last forever. But with new uses for it being discovered every day, new sources of raw material must be found. Prospectors are finding them in Ontario.

Then, there are the newly-discovered iron deposits in Labrador. It is estimated that there are billions of tons in these huge areas. Just now, explorations are going on and a railway is being built into the mines.

But minerals and oils are different from trees. We can grow trees. We cannot grow minerals, and oils. The sources may seem inexhaustible now, but a hundred years from now, what will the picture be?

After all a hundred years is nothing in the life of the nation. And governments should take the long look and frame policies that will prevent the total depletion of these great gifts of nature to this country of ours.

THE TRAGEDY OF DIVISION

It is easy enough to be wise after the event. It is easy enough now to see that one of the greatest tragedies of modern time was the decision to divide nations. A European within recent weeks told the writer that the division of Germany was a colossal blunder. He is quite sure that, were the American Forces withdrawn from Germany, the two parts would, in a matter of a few days, be at each others throats, in a civil war.

The layman can perhaps be forgiven for not seeing these implications of a divided nation. But, the advisers of governments, the expert historians should know that the record of history is against divisions. Unhappy Poland has been partitioned and repartitioned, time and again and one set of Poles were bitter against another: there were German Poles and Russian Poles, and others. They not only did not love each other, they were bitterly hostile enemies. That is the record of history.

When the victorious forces divided Korea they paved the way for the situation that has now emerged. As soon as the restraining hand of the United States was removed, the well-trained North Koreans struck at their brothers in the South, without warning.

It has been said that history teaches nothing. It often looks like that, and it may well be that, what we are witnessing in Korea today is the prelude to years, if not generations of bitterness, enmity and hatred. Strange and tragic as it may seem, these civil wars are always fought ferociously and with an almost personal obsession against those who are related by race and blood.

WHAT GASOLINE DOES

Gasoline and the discovery — or rather the invention — of the internal combustion engine, has transformed the whole pattern of modern life. It has speeded up transportation; made flying possible, and given the average man power which he never dreamed possible. Someone ought to make a study of the effect of gasoline on our economic and social life — may be it has been done; if so, we have never seen such a study in publication.

As much as gasoline does to our economic and social life — though that is not the sum total of its influence — it affects character, as well. We live in a civilization which has been running in high gear for quite a while. That has an effect on people. We rush hither and yon; we push and shove — we get our minds and bodies geared-up to a fast tempo. It starts early in life, too. A little fellow of our acquaintance was as happy as the day was long, playing in a rubber raft, paddling it around and watching its antics in the water. It was perfectly alright until a neighbour took him for a ride in his speed boat. Now, the yellow rubber raft has lost all fascination for him. His breathless report, after the memorable trip, was that we kids kept telling Mr. Blank to go faster.

Then too, gasoline has a strange effect on manners and habits. People, normally quiet, reserved and good-natured, with ordinary self-control, are all too often different people when they get behind the wheel, and get their foot on the accelerator.

A matter of half a second or less seems important. Men who will wait for ten minutes while the train they are riding in unloads and loads passengers, will toot their horns if the man in front of him at the red light, is a split second late in starting. It all seems so silly and so unnecessary. But there we are, and perhaps more or less, each of us is guilty. We lose the old-fashioned virtues of patience, tolerance and courtesy — when gasoline gets into the blood.

May be the scientists will, some day, find an antitoxin for this disease; for certainly it is a disease. Failing that, a little more self-discipline will help. Certainly, something is necessary to prevent the tragic accidents that have marked the present motoring season in this area.

81 Attend Special Meeting Odessa W. A.

There was an attendance of 81 for the meeting of the Odessa Woman's Association, commemorating the 25th Anniversary of The United Church of Canada, which was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Bruce Smith.

The guests from Ottawa, Toronto, Kingston, Yarker, Napanee and Newburgh were received and welcomed by Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. Fred Montgomery. Mrs. Montgomery presided and after a hymn Rev. R. R. Bonsteel offered prayer. The offering was received by Ruth Reid and Gertrude Fletcher and was dedicated by Mrs. D. F. Aylesworth.

The devotional was prepared by Mrs. Bruce Smith, who chose for her theme "Worship and Prayer," and gave an inspiring talk. Mrs. Sproule and Mrs. Jos. Vrooman sang Sweet Hour of Prayer, unaccompanied. Mrs. A. E. Dawson contributed a reading on the theme. The president, in her brief remarks said, many things have been accomplished, but it is only the beginning. May we strive to achieve greater results in the future.

The programme followed, with Mrs. Elgin Parrott in charge. Mrs. Bruce Smith described in detail the United Church crest. It was the Divine Will which created church union. The increased strength of the three churches has a challenge for greater achievements. A large crest was loaned by Bath Church which had been made by their minister, Rev. A. Denholm and Miss Mary Davy. A novel idea was a clock drawn on silver paper, by Mrs. E. Parrott, which denoted the number of years each president held office. This was placed above a small table on which was placed a silver cross and white tapers in silver holders.

The late Mrs. John Bell was the first president after union. After placing a white carnation in a silver basket to honour her memory, Mrs. Herman Vrooman read a review of her work and leadership, prepared by Mrs. J. H. Babcock, who was unable to be present. The second president, Mrs. Courtland Snider, who occupied this office for two years, spoke of the field day and parade, also lawn social held at her home. The next seven years, Mrs. Fred Montgomery held this office and in a brief review spoke of a Round the World Dinner which created a great deal of amusement and proved very successful. It was during these years that the group system was organized. She also spoke of a chicken dinner when nearly five hundred people were served.

Mrs. Albert Hartman paid tribute to the late Mrs. Mary Vandewater for her untiring years of service. The church was redecorated during her term of office, but due to ill-health Mrs. Vandewater was never able to see the church when completed. She also referred to a church service conducted by Miss Willanna Clark with Mrs. Courtland Snider giving the message. A white carnation was placed in the basket in her memory.

Mrs. Robert Cairns then assumed the duties for three years and in this time five one hundred dollar bonds were bought, also new dishes and silver, service for two hundred, were purchased. Mrs. F. Montgomery was returned to office in 1948 and much has been accomplished to date. Each president placed a pink carnation in the basket.

Mrs. Muriel Perry Wilton, first County President, 1950 secretary for 27 years, gave some of the highlights of the conventions, since union.

Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mrs. F. Montgomery, Mrs. Fred Henderson, Mrs. D. R. Sharpe, Mrs. D. F. Aylesworth all past county presidents, gave a short synopsis of their term of office.

Mrs. Wilfred Smith, county president for 1950-51, gave a resume of the Woman's Association and at the end of her address said, we should preface all our acts with prayer.

Mrs. C. W. Hollingsworth closed with prayer.

At a charmingly arranged table covered with a beautiful linen cloth, centred with a three-tiered birthday cake and white tapers in silver holders at each side, with silver streamers from the ceiling to each corner, Mrs. Robert Cairns, honorary president, and Mrs. Montgomery, president, poured tea. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses and conveners, Mrs. P. W. Cunningham, Mrs. Gladys Richmond, Mrs. Shelley Dennyes, Mrs. Ford Scouten, Mrs. John Clyde and Mrs. Elgin Parrott, each wearing a white corsage. The birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Wilfred Smith and Mrs. F. Montgomery.

One feature worthy of mention was a cake make by Mrs. Bruce Smith, iced in white and silver and bearing the colours and emblem of the crest.

'This robbery was carried out very cleverly,' said the judge.

'Come now, my lord, no flattery, please,' replied the blushing prisoner.

RUTH, A SYMBOL OF FAMILY LOYALTY

Lesson Text: Ruth 1 - 8, 14 - 22.

The story of Ruth is one of the most attractive in the whole Bible. It cannot be told in detail here. The student should read it through. It is a delightful love story. It casts a good deal of light on the social procedures in the early days; it reveals a beautiful home loyalty, and it describes some gracious figures.

In brief, this is the story. Naomi, a widow with two sons, left home because of unemployment, and went to Moab. There both of her sons married Moabitish women, one Ruth, the other Orpah. After a while both sons died, and the mother started back for home, and told her daughters-in-law to return to their families. Orpah went, but Ruth refused to leave her mother-in-law. When they got back to Naomi's home town, Ruth went out to work, a menial job, in a field. The story has a happy ending in that Ruth married the man who owned the property on which she went to work.

Several thoughts are suggested by the lesson. The first is the good sense of Naomi. She knew Ruth would be a "foreigner" in Judea and would get a rough ride by the people there. They did not take kindly to people from another country. That is not an isolated incident. There is a great deal of race prejudice in the world yet, in spite of two thousand years of christian teaching and training. In South Africa the clash is a racial class, nevertheless the principle is the same. A superior people want to lord it over an inferior race, inferior of course only in that they are different in color. Race prejudice, national prejudice, is not by any means confined to one area of the earth's service, there is lots of it right here in Ontario.

Perhaps the most touching and thrilling part of the story is that which tells of the loyalty of Ruth to her mother-in-law. The writer was in attendance at a public meeting in Napanee during the first world war. The speaker was describing the suffering of the boys at the front, when he asked the theoretical question: "I wonder what you here are willing to sacrifice?" A man sitting nearby answered in a stage whisper that could be heard half way around the room: "I'd be willing to sacrifice my mother-in-law". Mothers-in-law are the butt of many jokes.

There are good and bad mothers-in-law. During the house shortage married sons and daughters had to go home. It was not the most satisfactory arrangement. There were lots of misunderstandings; not all, of course, was the mother's fault.

Naomi must have been one of the best. When she found herself in difficulty she sought to spare her daughters-in-law from embarrassment and ridicule. One daughter went to her own home. But Ruth would not leave Naomi. In a passage of haunting beauty she declares that she would go wherever Naomi went. That speaks well of Naomi. The home life must have been a happy one, happy because of the religious atmosphere created there by Naomi. A home founded and sustained by christian principle is the only answer to our modern restlessness in the home.

Ruth allowed love for Naomi to overcome some of the prejudice with which she was subject to. If she went with Naomi, she would have not only to change her citizenship, she would have to change her God too. "Thy God shall be my God", That was the supreme test, for, in those days, each nation had its own particular God. Love is the great dissolver of all differences. Jesus made that clear in his own life and example. Paul, too, and those who came after Jesus, saw that the heart of the gospel was love. Given love, real and passionate, and all differences will fade away. We need love in the world today. Wars will end and evil be done away, when love reigns in the home, and in the Councils of War.

Parish Picnic Held At Varty Lake

The Annual Parish Picnic of the three churches of St. Luke's, Camden East, St. John's, Newburgh and St. Anthony's, Yarker, was held on Wednesday, July 5th, at Ross King's Grove at Varty Lake, with an attendance of 120. Each church in the parish was well represented and an excellent dinner was served at noon, which filled all the tables on the picnic grounds.

In the afternoon races were held for the Sunday schools and prizes were given to winners: Mrs. Ed. Hamilton, Mr. William Millsap, Mr. Archie Hinch, Mr. Earl Peters and Rev. M. P. Oldham, were in charge of the races. A very enjoyable time was spent and it was the best picnic held in years. Swings for the children, bathing and boat rides, were also available. The picnic lasted till 5:00 p.m.

NEWBURGH MISSION BAND MAKES PRESENTATION TO MRS. H.B. HERRINGTON

On Monday, June 26th, Newburgh Mission Band met in the church to bid their leader, Mrs. Herrington, good-bye. Romaine Fluke read the following address.

Dear Mrs. Herrington:

We have gathered here as a Mission Band to bid you farewell. You have given us such splendid leadership that we hardly know how we will carry on at all, without you. We cannot realize the time and thought you have spent on the Mission Band work for us in Newburgh. You have played games with us and led us in singing and in prayer. You have instilled, in us, reverence and you have taught us to give and to work for missions. All our lives we will remember the songs you have taught. We are especially thankful for your leadership in song.

The best way we can say thank you for all you have done for us, will be to go on in the way you have been leading us. We know you will be thinking of the children of Newburgh Mission Band, and, as the years go by, we hope you will not have occasion to be disappointed in us.

As you are leaving very soon, we wanted to say thank-you in a practical way, too, so we are asking you to accept these little gifts.

Signed on behalf of the Daisy Mission Band of Newburgh. The president, Joan Clarke and the secretary, Irene Embury, presented the gifts: a painted bouquet and a china cup and saucer.

Mrs. Herrington thanked the children for the kind words and for the gifts. She urged them to carry on in the Mission Band.

by "Red" Miller

Those baseball fans who missed the Brockville - Athletics struggle here last Wednesday through indifference .... missed the best ball game of the year. .... Snappy Napanee style prevailed throughout and Hooper was on .... only 32 players faced Ed. in the 9 frames.

Big Ed missed a shut out by a grad's ear ... a passed ball in the ninth, with two down, allowed a runner to scamper across for the visitors only score.

A youngster ... one of the many that clutter up the homesters' dugout during the games ... shared the ball before Herb. Hayes could ... and wouldn't give ... until it was too late. ... That problem should be cleared up at once. ... You do not sit in the dugout in other ball fields ... why here?

The only parties entitled to occupy a spot in the inner sanctum are the team .... Manager .... Coach .... and one scorer. .... The bat shagger sits out front.

There is a spot in the stands .... complete with board .... for scribes .... and plenty of room on the bleacher board for the rest.

Another problem confronting the managment is the free rein the kids have in the stands .... The youngsters under 12 years are admitted to the Park free .... not the grandstand .... where they make a nuisance of themselves .... running up and down and across the view of the paid customers. How about a short shot of supervision?

Back to the game .... the visitors had four colored boys on the line-up and of the quartette .... Evans in centre and Williford on third .... were standouts on the base paths.... they sure can move.

Another item of interest was the starting of the game on time .... 6:20, and one hour and forty minutes later it was over. That's good baseball in any league.

Speaking of indiff rence .... may we take this opportunity to point out to the parents of the multitude of kids playing under supervision at the local park .... their glaring lack of interest in the welfare of their boys .... A mere handful of fathers take the time to spend an hour or two watching .... with pride .... the efforts of their kids to become a colorful part of the game.

There are approximately 150 boys .... b'sides the Bay of Quinte League .... who are being taught the game .... good sportsmanship and receiving healthful recreation .... and if their parents do not take an interest .... can they expect those .... who spend an awful lot of time for practicefully nothing .... to carry on ? No need to answer .... Show a little appreciation and take a lock any night .... either at the Park or the Prince Charles school diamond.

SEAWAY COLLAPSE IRKS U.S. SENATOR

Washington — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said last Thursday, failure of Congress to pass legislation authorizing the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power project is a national disgrace, an outrage and an insult to the American people.

Wiley, in a statement in the Congressional Record, added:

"The ability of a sinister combination of blind, selfish, obstructionist interests to sabotage this legislation is a shocking commentary on the Congressional process."

He said refusal of other areas to recognize the legitimate interests of the 50,000,000 people in the Great Lakes region is a most colossal and unfair attitude."

THE TWO - PURPOSE VEGETABLE

Don't throw away those outside stalks and leaves of the cauliflower. They are delicious as a vegetable and, in addition, make an ideal base for soup.

So, when buying a head of cauliflower consider it as two vegetables, the head as one and the stalks and leaves as the other.

To make sure the cauliflower is of high quality, see that the head or 'curd' is snowy white, since a yellowish colour indicates exposure to the sun and frequently a strong flavour. The head should be smooth and compact not rough surfaced or loose and the outer leaves should be green and fresh-looking.

The home economists of the Consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have been busy testing recipes using both the heads and stalks of cauliflower and are passing along several suggestions which you are sure to find useful.

CAULIFLOWER SOUP

Half-cup chopped cauliflower stalks and leaves; one and one-half cups boiling water; half-teaspoon salt; two tablespoons butter, two tablespoon flour; one teaspoon salt, two cups hot milk.

Wash cauliflower stalks and leaves. Chop coarsely or put through the food chopper using coarse blade. Measure. Cook covered in one and one-half cups boiling, salted water until tender, about twenty minutes. Make a sauce by melting butter, blending in flour and salt and then slowly adding hot milk, stirring until well blended. Cook over boiling water until sauce is smooth and thickened, stirring constantly, about fifteen minutes. Add cooked cauliflower stalks and leaves and cooking water to sauce, blending well. Serve piping hot, and sprinkled with a little paprika.

SCALLOPED CAULIFLOWER

Remove stems and leaves, wash cauliflower head thoroughly and place head down in cold salted water. Soak 30 minutes. Drain. Cook in boiling, salted water until just tender, about 15 minutes. Drain well and separate into flowerets. Place in a greased baking dish and pour hot sauce over top, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, grated cheese or small pieces of bacon. Place in a very hot oven, 425 deg. F. until crumbs are brown or cheese melted.

Yield: six servings.

Suggested Sauces For Variation

1 One and one-half cups medium cream sauce seasoned with one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg.
2 One and one-half cups medium cream sauce with three-quarters cup grated cheese added.
3 One can condensed mushroom, celery or onion soup, with or without half-cup grated cheese added. Cheese may be cheddar or process (plain or pimento).

FRIED CAULIFLOWER

One medium head cauliflower, broken in flowerets, two egg yolks, half-cup milk, three-quarters cup flour, half-teaspoon salt. Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water until just tender, about fifteen minutes. Drain well. Beat egg yolks until light, add milk, then stir in flour and salt. Beat batter until smooth. Dip each floweret in the batter then drop into hot fat, 390 deg. F. and fry until brown. Serve plain or with a sauce.

Yield: six servings.

The July meeting of Wilton W. A. was held at the Hall, with an attendance of about 35. The worship service was presided over by Mrs. Reg. Chase, and consisted of prayer by Mrs. A. Clarke and the scripture read by Mrs. Chase. Barbara Knight and Shirley Willard sang, The Old Rugged Cross, and Mrs. Chase gave a reading. The president, Mrs. Muriel Perry presided over the business session, when it was decided to hold the Annual Field Day the latter part of August.

The programme was presided over by Mrs. Clarence Babcock and readings were given by Freda Fingland and Mrs. C. Love. Delores and Patsy Burt sang a duet and Mrs. Ethel Babcock gave a reading. Rev. Bonsteel gave a very timely address on Korea, after which he closed the meeting with prayer.

Articles on a Touch and Take table were soon sold. A fruit and vegetable contest was won by Mrs. M. Henderson. Mrs. Perry expressed appreciation to all who assisted, especially the programme and lunch committees. Refreshments of ice cream, strawberries and cake were served.

VICTORIA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Frank McFarlane was hostess for the June meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute. Mrs. M. Denison presided, assisted by the assistant secretary, Mrs. W. McCracken. The roll call was the name of a flower that started with the first initial of the member's name. It was voted to send a donation to the Manitoba Relief Fund and plans were made for the basket picnic in July, which is to be held at Springside Park.

The meeting was taken over by the convener of the programme, Mrs. C. Russell. Mrs. George McKnight gave current events, which were followed with papers by Mrs. C. Martin and Mrs. Ivan McFarlane. A splendid duet was given by Mrs. A. Jackson and Mrs. F. McFarlane and acted by Mrs. W. J. Pringle, which was very much enjoyed. A reading by Mrs. B. Denison and a quiz by Mrs. W. McCracken. The contest was won by Mrs. C. Kerr.

Mrs. Russell extended a vote of thanks to the hostess and to those who assisted in the programme. The evening closed with the National Anthem and then lunch was served.

UNITED KINGDOM FORESEES TRADE WITH CANADA

Liverpool, Eng. — Substantial expansion of British purchases of Canadian goods within the next two years was envisaged by Sir Cecil Weir, chairman of the dollar export boards.

Sir Cecil told members of Liverpool Canadian Club during a luncheon address that few things in Britain's economic picture are more encouraging than the steady improvement which is taking place in British export trade to Canada and the increased British buying which would follow bigger British sales.

"The fact is that we are aiming at doubling our exports to Canada within the next two years," Sir Cecil said.

Higher export values would be to the advantage of both countries, he added.

"It is as disturbing to us as it is to any Canadian that we should have to restrict our purchases and, to some cases, limit our consumption, to the detriment of the best interests of the people of both our countries.

"Let us work hard and fast to get out of this position. It is not by contraction but by expansion that economic prosperity will be secured.

"Let us see that we remove wherever and whenever we can the irritations and frustrations which are inherent in measures which people are sometimes compelled to take in periods of financial economic disturbance."

Bearing fruit forthe years to come
In the lives of those who loved you;
Precious memories of days that are gone.

28ap HUSBAND and FAMILY.

We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh,
But we all hope in Heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.

Lovingly remembered by

The June meeting of Strathcona Mission Band was a pleasing event held on the lawn at the home of the leader, Mrs. Bruce Finlay. A worship service of praise and thanksgiving for the beauty of the universe, was used; several girls quoting verses from the Psalms relative to the theme. Junior members presented two exercises with mottoes. "The Little Birds," and "Five Little Robins." Readings were given by Fay Hartwick, Naomi Hoare and Miss Milligan.

Mrs. Bruce Finlay concluded the story from the Study Book, "The Flying Umbrella." At the close of the meeting, games were played after which the hostess served ice cream and cake. Beverley Buck, on behalf of the Mission Band, thanked Mrs. Finlay for her hospitality.

SWITZERVILLE MISSION BAND

An outdoor meeting of the Busy Bee Mission Band and Baby Band was held at the home of Mrs. Fred S. Wales on Wednesday afternoon, July 5th, with John Craig presiding, in the absence of our president and vice - president, who were attending Boys' Camp. The theme was Sharing in God's Work, and the meeting was opened with a sing-song, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer and the Members' Purpose. Sheila Craig and the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved and the roll call was answered with a verse of scripture containing the word 'give' or 'giving'.

A worship Service of Peace followed and the scripture lesson was read by Sheila Craig. Prayer was given by Rosemary Moore after which all repeated the theme prayer. The offering was received by Peter Miller and dedicated in song. John Craig read a poem on temperance and Elaine Benn read an item on stewardship. Readings were given by Lorna and Beulah Craig, and Mrs. Wales read the last chapter from the study book, being about coast missions. Copies of World Friends were distributed by Helen Spafford and after singing another hymn the meeting was closed by repeating the Children's Benediction.

Motion songs were then conducted by Miss Muriel Craig, after which a lunch was served. Mrs. Peter Miller kindly invited the Mission Band to her home for the August meeting.

Saturday, July 1st.

Dear Mother:

We are on our way, at last. The boat was late getting started. Now we are almost to Quebec City. We stop here to take on more passengers. We did not get our dinner till 3:00 o'clock and O, Boy! what a meal it was. Four courses, with a pint of wine served on each table. They also sell beer on board. This is Italian beer and only 15 cents a pint.

This boat is a very big boat of the Greek Line, T.T.S. Columbia. The crew is a mixed crowd, Italian, Greek and Spanish. The passengers are mixed, too — from all over; some from California and Milwaukee. I had a big bouquet of roses and carnations waiting in my cabin when I came on board, with compliments of the fellow who sold us our tickets.

Take good care of John and I will write as often as possible when we arrive. It takes six days for a letter air mail from Canada.

Your loving daughter,
Edith Holtz.

Twenty Lodges In Procession July Twelfth

Grand Master, Ontario East, Special Speaker

About five hundred members of twenty lodges in the Napanee district, took part in the Orange Parade, which was an interesting feature of the Orange Celebration held at Napanee, on Wednesday, July 12th. About 5,000 people attended the celebration, which was held at the Driving Park. Mayor H. E. Vine of Napanee, delivered an address of welcome at the beginning of the programme, which was presided over by Rev. R. J. Crawford of Enterprise. Addresses were given by George J. Tustin, M.P.P. for Prince Edward —Lennox, by J. A. Pringle, M.L.A. for Frontenac-Addington, and J. A. Corrigan, Grand Master for Ontario East of the Orange Order.

The parade, which formed at the Driving Park at 12:30, marched down Bridge Street, to Adelphi Street and up Dundas Street to the Park. Leading the parade was the Pipe Band of the 47th Anti-Tank Battery. Immediately following the band were the members of the Junior L.O.B.A. of Napanee, composed of young girls dressed in white, with orange capes and carrying orange parasols. In the procession were also fourteen fife and drum bands. Lodges represented in the procession were: Napanee No. 1, Napanee L.O.B.A., Tamworth No. 1 B.A., Camden East; Selby; Croydon, Enterprise, Napanee, Sheffield, Hemerer, Lime Lake, Marlbank, Tyendinaga, Centreville, Harrowsmith, Ardworth, Colebrook, Forest Mills, Dublin and Shannonville.

GRANDMASTER ADDRESSES GATHERING

In his address, Mr. Corrigan said that there was never a time during the past 260 years when the Orange Order was more needed than at present. With world conditions such as they are to-day, every Christian organization needs to fight for liberty, the liberty for which our forefathers fought.

The Orange Order, he said, is trying to live up to the teachings of Christ and is pledged to support freedom of religion, whether Protestant, Roman Catholic, or Jewish. The Orange Order, he added, is not bigoted; it is only standing for freedom. Orangemen, he said are interested in the Protestant Church and are pledged to keep Protestant churches flourishing. Orangemen as individuals, are trying to live up to the ideals of the Order to which they belong. Never before has the Orange Order stood so high in the esteem of people as to-day, because as members are working for the Christian religion. Orangemen must practice Orangeism 365 days of the year, then Protestants and Roman Catholics will see they have learned the way of true Christianity.

Orangemen, Mr. Corrigan said, represent an association professing Christianity and loyalty and love and duty to perform to the people of Canada. They must work together for the good of everyone in the land. There is a great danger in too much tolerance, he said; a danger of losing the great heritage we have. Tolerance is good, he added, but must not be allowed to infringe on rights.

Mr Corrigan asked Orangemen to dedicate themselves to the pledge of their lodge and be determined to stand for the Protestant Church and the British Empire.

PRIZE WINNERS

Later in the afternoon a drawing was made for four prizes, in which tickets had been sold by the Napanee L.O.B.A. and the Y.O.L. The prizes, a air of Hurricane lamps, a three-piece vanity set, a box of Nylon hose and a saucepan were won by Mr. Stanley Ballance, Napanee; W. C. BARN AT ODESSA DESTROYED BY FIRE

A barn belonging to J. J. Wilson, Odessa, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday morning, July 16th. Although the Odessa Fire Department responded shortly after the fire started, about 6:00 a.m., the barn was a total loss. However the Wilson home and other buildings about the barn were saved.

It is believed that a tramp slept on a load of hay beside the barn, which is located near Highway No. 2 about two miles east of Odessa, and that a cigarette butt left by the tramp was responsible for the fire.

Canadian Cabinet Discusses Today Korean Aid

May Decide To Call Parliament in Near Future

A full cabinet will meet today (Wednesday), with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent presiding, to discuss the request from Trygve Lie, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, and study the outline of possible steps which has been prepared by the Chiefs of Staff of the Department of National Defence.

Although the actual text of the note forwarded to Canada by the United Nations Secretary General will not be made public at least until after the cabinet meeting, it is believed that it contains a request to Canada to study what further aid can be made by this country. It would appear that the note would leave it pretty much up to Canada what aid should be supplied. It does contain a request for combat forces, but that can be taken to mean air force, additional naval aid, or ground forces.

Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, will present to the cabinet the report prepared by the Chiefs of Staff and approved by himself as to what can be done on the short term and on a long term basis.

DEFENCE COMMITTEE

The cabinet will give consideration to this preliminary report and then the expectation is that it will be given to the Defence Committee of the cabinet for further study and recommendation.

The cabinet will also have to decide about a session of Parliament. The Prime Minister has made it clear on a number of occasions that he will call Parliament should the situation deteriorate or should it be found advisable to recommend the sending of forces other than the naval units already planned. In the light of the circumstances it would seem that even if the cabinet does not recommend the immediate dispatch of troops to the Korean area, under the United Nations flag, Mr. St. Laurent might well feel that a session of Parliament would be proper and advisable. There were growing indications that the session might be called in either late August or early September.

Lightning Damages Almon Madden's Farm Dwelling

During the severe electric storm which broke over the Napanee district on Thursday afternoon, the large frame dwelling belonging to Almon Madden, about two miles east of Napanee on No. 2 Highway, was struck by lightning and set on fire.

Mr. Madden and a neighbour were standing in the door of a drivehouse near the dwelling and saw smoke coming from the house. They sent out a call to neighbours for help and telephoned the Napanee Fire Brigade for assistance. Before the Napanee firemen arrived a bucket brigade had been formed and, without the assistance of the pumper on the fire truck from Napanee, it is possible the fire would not have been gotten under control. Water from a nearby well was used and the blaze, which had gotten between the partitions, was put out.

There was considerable damage done to the east side of the building, by fire, and fairly heavy damage to other parts of the house by water and smoke.

Engineers say that, within a 10-year period, $500,000 worth of gold was taken from Eagle Creek, Swain County, N.C., as a by-product of the copper mining industry in that section.

Health Unit Finishes Examining New School Pupils

Nearly All Eating Establishments Now Under License

During the month of June, medical examinations were done on children who are to start school in the fall. It is hoped that such children will have any defects corrected before school starts, and that they will be brought up-to-date in their immunization inoculations. The third round of toxoid clinics was completed in nearly all the County schools during June.

Most of the eating establishments in Lennox and Addington County have, by now, received their licenses. They have been co-operative in abiding by the regulations, and find that when the license is displayed it gives the tourists confidence in the establishment.

Milk samples have been taken from all dairies supplying our area, including dairies in Frontenac and Hastings Counties. Bang's disease is very prevalent in this part of Ontario, and it is unsafe to use raw milk.

The Sanitary Inspector's Report

During the month of June, Dr. J. Jeffs and the Sanitary Inspector attended a three-day convention in Toronto. The object of this convention was to bring to the medical officers of health and sanitary inspectors, new developments in the field of Public Health.

Three excellent papers were given by experts on (1) milk production; (2) cleaning; 3 sewage disposal.

The Chief Sanitary Inspector of Winnipeg gave an interesting talk on the flood situation and showed slides of homes before and after the flood.

A great deal of knowledge was derived by the medical officer of health and the sanitary inspector at this convention.

Summary of inspections as follows: restaurants 8, water tests 25, complaints 10, milk samples 32, septic tanks 4, slaughter houses 2, hotels 4, dairies 6, cheese factories 4, and tourist homes (6); total 103.

The four so honored are Bandmaster Woodrow Robbins, Cornerbrook, Newfoundland, who will reply to an address of welcome to the overseas delegates, Arlan Cameron, Toronto and David Knight will give personal witness, and Margaret Macfarlane, A.R.C.T., mezzo soprano, who will sing.

Purpose of the international gatherings is to bring together representative young people forthe development of their vision and understanding of The Salvation Army, and for the deepening of their spiritual life. It is hoped that the Congress will result in the stimulation of Salvation Army youth work throughout the world, and speed an international spiritual revival. The Congress will also provide opportunity for the voice of youth to be heard in truly international conference when vital questions of the hour will be considered.

Delegates will be welcomed in the Royal Albert Hall by General Albert Osborn, C.B.E. Other events include an International Youth Witness meeting in Westminster Central Hall, a massed Youth Rally in the Cockpit, Hyde Park, and a final Youth Rally in Royal Albert Hall which, it is expected, will be attended by 6,000 young people between the ages of twenty and thirty years.

President Truman Speaks To-Night

President Truman will deliver a message by radio and television to-night (Wednesday) at 10:30, which is expected to ask for men, money and sacrifices to aid in the world conflict between Democracy and Communism.

Whatever requests for further manpower and supplies are made will have to be acted upon by Congress. The re-armament programme is expected to be at a cost of five billion dollars, at least.

Miss Marjorie Daly, Guest, Last Week at Royal Garden Party

Miss Marjorie Daly, Toronto, formerly of Napanee who is the fiancee of Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the guest of honour at the summer, was honored by being invited to attend the garden party given in King George and Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace, on Thursday, July 13th.

Miss Daly was accompanied to the garden party by Mrs. Jean Lady Dowding, formerly Miss Jessie Daly, of Napanee who for some years, since the death of her husband Geoffrey Dowding, has lived at Hampton Court Palace, London.

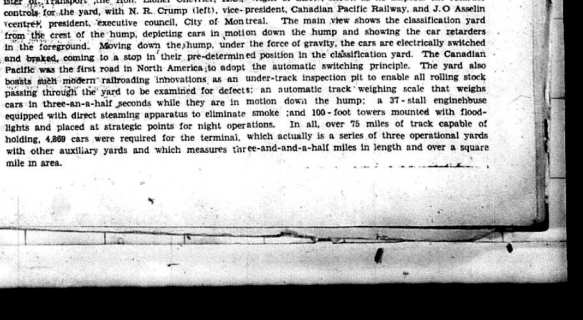
An elderly woman came into a grocery shop this week and asked for two tins of cocoa. "Lovely drink," she remarked to the assistant who served her, adding confidentially: "My old man has had it for years. We can't afford beer for both of us."



PAST FREIGHT I— The most modern freight yard in North America, the Canadian Pacific Railway's new $12,000,000 St. Luc "hump retarder" freight terminal at Montreal, which will speed movement of goods through that busy seaport and railway centre, was officially opened July 6th by Canada's Minister of Transport ,the Hon. Lionel Chevrier, K.C., (right of inset), shown as he inspects the retarder controls for the yard, with N. R. Crump (left), vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, and J.O Asselin vicentre, president, executive council, City of Montreal. The main view shows the classification yard in the foreground. Moving down the hump, under the force of gravity, the cars are electrically switched and braked, coming to a stop in their pre-determined position in the classification yard. The Canadian Pacific was the first road in North America to adopt the automatic switching principle. The yard also boasts such modern railroading innovations as an under-track inspection pit to enable all rolling stock passing through the yard to be examined for defects; an automatic track weighing scale that weighs cars in three-an-a-half seconds while they are in motion down the hump; a 37-stall enginehouse equipped with direct steaming apparatus to eliminate smoke ;and 100-foot towers mounted with floodlights and placed at strategic points for night operations. In all, over 75 miles of track capable of holding, 4,869 cars were required for the terminal, which actually is a series of three operational yards with other auxiliary yards and which measures three-and-and-a-half miles in length and over a square mile in area.

ROLL OUT THE BARREL

They rolled it out, on Sunday, from a secret rendezvous up around Chippawa, on the Upper Niagara. The secrecy of it was due to the fear of the Police. If they had discovered the hiding place, they would have apprehended Mr. Major Hill. Mr. Hill was inside the stainless steel barrel and was going over Niagara Falls in it. After being banged around a bit the steel barrel stuck on the rocks and Mr. Hill was dragged out, pretty groggy. The barrel went over alone, and was rescued later.

People are funny! Why a man would want to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel, has got us guessing. It may be that there is something challenging in the falls, and so long as they flow, or so long as there are mountains to be scaled, there will be those who will risk their necks in the venture. There must be a lot of people to whom such a wrestle with nature, appeals. About 200,000 were out at the Falls, on Sunday, to witness the event, and that is a lot of people.

What is to be gained by such a venture, someone asks. No scientific knowledge will be secured; nothing will be learned that will enable people to know more about the Falls than we already know. The answer, of course, is that all this is true. Mr. Hill was not after knowledge. He just wanted to see if he could go over the Falls and survive. And if a man wants to take a flutter with death, perhaps he should be allowed to do so. But it might be better to attempt it all alone in the middle of the night, when there is no one around to cause excitement. Then, if he has to get out and send the barrel over empty, he will have no pangs of conscience for having deceived the people—200,000 of them. After all, many of them drove a long way, and it was a shabby trick to let the barrel go over without Hill in it. Certainly, had we been among the spectators, we would have felt we had been cheated. After all, Mr. Hill has an obligation to his audience. But Mr. Hill seems to have some managers, and it may be they are like promoters of other sports, who string the games along so as to get "another" good house.

Well! if Mr. Hill is bent on going over the Falls we would suggest that he have a trial run at it in the night time, so as to learn the technique, and so when the Big Day comes, the people will not be deceived — as they were on Sunday. Of course, if he does not survive the trial, it will be just too bad, but the people — 200,000 of them — will be saved the expense of making the trip to the Falls. After all, as we said above, Mr. Hill owes something to the spectators and prospective spectators.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

French politics are an enigma to the rest of us. In this country, as in all two or three political party countries, when a government is defeated on a major issue, it goes to the country.

In France, when the government is defeated, the President asks another Leader to form a new government. He has not enough followers of his own so he has to shop around and see if he can get anyone to work with him. If he cannot get a government, somebody else has a try. For three weeks, this summer, there was no government in France; nobody could form one. But now, Rene Pleven has formed a government, which survived the first test in the House. It may be able to carry on for a little while. Then, one day, an issue will crop up, there will be a hot debate, and the government will be voted out of office and the whole thing will start again.

It is plain as the nose on the face, that that sort of thing is confusing — even to Frenchmen. There has to be some reforms, some electoral reforms. But here again, reforms are difficult. Nobody wants to take a chance, for fear they will lose thereby. However, an election has to be held in about a year at the most, and it may be that some new electoral reform will be initiated, either at the election, or before.

Certainly, the present situation is Democracy run wild — groups are cancelling out each other, and, in the meantime, little leadership is given the nation, and that just at a time when leadership, not only in internal politics is needed, but in the international field, as well. We, who know hod hard it is to reform the Senate, have some sympathy with the difficulty the French have in reforming their political machinery — but, sooner or later it must be done.

UNASSAILABLE

There are some unassailable facts in the present situation in Korea, that should not be lost sight of. In the first place, the Northern Koreans attacked the South, without warning. There were no stimulated border incidents. There was no provocation. The Northern Koreans struck quickly with no hint of any kind, that such an attack was being considered.

Then, too, it must not be forgotten that the North Koreans were trained by Russians. The skill during, and courage with which they are conducting the campaign, bears all the marks of Communistic practice, we learned so much to admire when the Communists were our Allies. Certainly the men who are driving those forty and sixty-ton tanks are no novices. Where did they learn that skill? If they had been learning and practicing in North Korea the Western Powers ought to have known about it. It is probable that they were trained in Russian territory, away from the eyes of the Westerners.

We call attention to this because in a few days the Communists in this and other lands will try to prove that this is just an ordinary civil war in Korea. It is anything, but! It is a struggle between two ideologies, the same struggle that is going on elsewhere throughout the world. What the result will be, even in Korea, nobody knows. If the United Nations fulfills her true obligation, she will have to continue the struggle to a successful conclusion. If the issue continues to be localized, that may be possible, in time. Just now, the Democratic Forces are taking a heavy beating. Should the fire spread — there is no predicting where it may end.

There is nothing gained by assessing either praise or blame. What is done is done. The problem of Democracies the world over now, it to re-establish peace in Korea, and confidence in the authority of the United Nations.

ALOUETTE

O, gentle bird, I will pluck you by the beak, by the tail, by the wing; O, alouette, gentle alouette! That song popped into our head irrespective. We didn't want it there, either. That was not the type of song that we like running through our head on Sunday. We can think of a lot nicer ones than that. Some we heard at church in the morning would have been much more appropriate for the day — if not for the occasion.

The train for Toronto was late. That was the one we were waiting for—so were the pidgeons late. Two of them were hopping along the track, billing and cooing, and cooing and billing, as pidgeons do. They proobly thought — if pidgeons think — that they were quite safe, because they were on the East bound track. And then the fast freight from the West loomed up from around the curve. We all heard the whistle, and as travelers waiting for a train always do, we got up to have a look and see — that is, all but the pidgeons. If they heard the whistle they gave no indication of the fact. The probability is they did not hear the whistle; they were too intent on their billing and cooing, and their cooing and billing.

One of the pair, however, by that sixth sense which birds are reported to possess, sensed something was wrong, and flew off. We rather suspect it was the female of the species — the smart one. The other didn't think of danger, but took after his mate. He barely made it—and we mean "barely". He got off the tracks right enough just as the engine hitting sixty, made the spot where he had been billing and cooing. But he didn't escape the suction of the wheels. For a second or two he beat the air without making any headway, like a paddler facing a swift current, and in those few seconds he lost most of his plumage. The station platform was all feathered up.

For confirmation of all this, page Walt. Blakely. He was plucked clean — the pidgeon, not Walt. Walt may be plucked clean when he gets back from vacation (travel is expensive these days), but on Sunday, he and his wife were just starting out. He reported that the last he saw, was a sort of pidgeon chassis, with everything stripped off, but the engine and steering gear. It was flying upside down, trying to make a safe landing somewhere near Wilson's coal yard, where he could think things over.

O, yes! The other one, when she saw her mate without his uniform, she couldn't take it, and flew off to the dove cove, or wherever pidgeons go, to brood over the hazards and uncertainties of modern life.

Unified Government For World Countries Urged By Senator

Ottawa. — A white-haired 74-year old western senator has urged the Upper Chamber to back the idea of a single, unified government of all freedom-loving countries as a means to obtain one hundred years of peace.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) said if civilization is to be saved, then the world had to act quickly for the sands are running out and a third world war soon may come.

Supporting a motion of Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) calling for a conference of Atlantic Treaty nations to develop the theme of a single government, Senator Crerar said such a move could bring together no less than 300,000,000 persons.

It would usher in an era of a century of peace and present a bulwark against the imperialistic aggressiveness of Communist Russia. It would mean integration of economics and would mean for Canada an expansion of world markets, the markets needed to bolster prosperity.

It would mean meanning of peoples and capital and free the movement of goods, but this idea of a single government would do more than that.

It would unite countries under a single foreign policy, not an aggressive policy, but a uniform policy aimed at the preservation of peace and to aid backward areas developed under the democratic system, not under the system of 'enslaved' Russia.

Senator Crerar said he realized that this idea of a single government would men the loss of sovereignty, but this had been done before without any great loss. The provinces had given up their sovereign rights when they united under Confederation in 1867. The 48 states in the United States had done the same thing when they merged into a union about 150 years ago.

The great danger today, Senator Crerar said, is that the rights of the individual may slip away as they had when the Roman Empire 'grew evil' and finally went down to its decay. What happened to Rome must not be repeated and if a single government did emerge it had to put emphasis on the rights of the individual before the law.

1950 is the fiftieth anniversary of the Wear-Ever line in Canada. These aluminum cooking utensils were introduced here at the beginning of the century. Their popularity grew so rapidly that, by 1912, a new factory was needed to supply the demand. This was built in Toronto. It was the first plant in Canada to make aluminum articles — and this was only a dozen years after the first Canadian smelter had started making aluminum ingots at Shawinigan Falls.

Today Alcan has twelve plants, all of them engaged in the aluminum industry, while more than 1000 independent companies across Canada shape the metal into all sorts of useful forms - from kettles to freight cars.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, July 23rd

SAMUEL, THE UPRIGHT JUDGE.

Lesson Text: I Samuel 1:3-6, 15-16; 12:1-5.

Samuel pulled no punches when he went after his nation. They had been having a pretty tough time. The traditional enemy, the Philistines, were making things pretty hot for them. They did not have tanks and guns and atom bombs, but with what weapons they had the Philistines kept the Israelites pretty well under their thumb.

Then along comes Samuel, a new leader, yourrz, consecrated, and fearless. The whole trouble with this nation, he said, speaking of his own people, is that you have been worshipping the wrong God. You must turn back and worship the true God. That is certainly one source of national weakness. We have seen that all through history. When a nation worships prosperity, sport, excitement, the result is as clear as two and two make four. To be sure they may not get down on their knees and worship that sort of God, but if that comes first in our interest and affections then that is the thing we worship. Nations have been more often defeated by inner disintegration than by force of arms. We all know that, but it takes a Samuel to say it in such compelling tones that it will be listened to.

Not only did Samuel insist that the Israelites must not only worship the true God, but that they must do so with the whole heart. God wants no divided loyalty, no divided allegiance. We cannot worship God and mammon, that was the way that Jesus put it. Both Hitler and Stalin demand individual loyalty. We do not have to look very far today, even in church circles, to see how divided the loyalty there is to Jesus Christ. When christians become as loyal to Christ as Communists are to Lenin, and as enthusiastic about the gospel as the "Commies" are about Communism, we will be more than a match for those who are today challenging our way of life.

The children of Israel listened to this new leader. They solemnly pledged themselves to follow the plan he had advised. They destroyed the old idols, made their confession of wrong doing, and started out all new again.

Samuel must have shown the true marks of leadership early in his career, otherwise the people would not have followed him so readily. How come he was so good a leader. Well, we should have to read his biography to discover that. His mother dedicated him to God. He early went to church, and was challenged to service as well as trained for it. So he became the devoted follower of his God, and consecrated to his service.

Perhaps no country has given greater religious leaders to the world in proportion to its size than Scotland. For generations it was every Scotch mother's ambition that one of her children would be a minister. Parents take less interest in that today than they once did. Not often now do we hear of children being dedicated to the church. Most parents want their children to get a good job. Money, that seems to be the goal and aim of modern parents for their children. But, in the meantime, every church reports a shortage of ministers, and religious leadership lags far behind.

Samuel did a good day's work. He shocked the national conscience. He brought about a condition of national unity. At the end of his career Samuel challenged the people to produce evidence that in any single instance he had not done the right and just thing. "And they said, thou hast not defrauded us, nor oppressed us, neither hast thou taken aught of any man's hand".

A pretty good record for those days, for any day, as a matter of fact.

Omnibus is a Latin name meaning 'for all.' It is easy to see, therefore, how omnibus (or bus for short) became the popular name for the public vehicles which transport the billions of passengers each year along the streets of the cities of the world.

The Killorinmen will be going into Intermediate "B" in the O.B.A. Playdowns .... That decision was reached over the week end by the powers-that-be, the reason given due to the fact that there are three leagues in this neck-of-the-woods, which would curtail long trips at the start of the playdowns .... We understand from Pilot Joe that there is a league in the Gananoque area, another one around Oshawa, Port Hope, etc. ....

The Napanee Merchants entry in the Belleville and District League will, we understand, be going into the Intermediate "C" playdowns.

At the Brockville game here last Wednesday, taken by Napanee 8 to 3, there was a notable absence of fans and kids in the players' pen and dugout .... Congratulations to the person, or persons, responsible. Maybe the bla-t this column gave had a bit of bearing .... Also it was noticed the children were not playing tag in the grandstand, much to the pl asure of the fans .... A bouquet to those responsible.

The Baseball Congress, at Kingston, will be held this year at Meaford in Memorial Stadium on July 31st, August 1st, 2nd, and 3rd .... Just how many teams will be entered is not known, but we do know that the Athletics entry is in, and that the winners of last year's congress will give their all to keep the mug in Napanee.

Yes, this will be a busy week for the A's, with three games in three nights .... Wednesday night at Brockville .... Thursday night here with Smiths Falls .... and Friday night in Belleville against Batawa.

The Smiths Falls "do" should attract a packed park .... We understand that the last time Napanee visited the Frost & Wood town they weren't even given time for a batting practice .... What will happen here on Thursday remains to be seen, but its about time the Rideau Lake boys were taken down a peg.

Scores last week showed Napanee winning two 8-3 over Brockville Memos, and 11 to 2 over Picton; Smiths Falls 4, Picton 0; Danny Leafs 5, Brockville 3.

Fewer Lives Lost To Date, Despite Heavy 1950 Traffic

The grim total of traffic deaths in Ontario (still nearly two per day) improved slightly in the month of June, with 55 known killed, compared with 68 in the preceding month and with 66 in June of last year.

Street and highway accidents have taken 275 lives in Ontario during the first six months of 1950. Compared with Ontario's black record of 324 traffic deaths in the same period last year, this represents a decline of 15 per cent, or a saving of 49 lives; but there were still more victims killed than the average of January-to-June traffic deaths in recent years. Also, compared with last year, there were more children among the victims.

The worst period of the year for traffic accidents is still ahead, officials warn. A greater volume of traffic is expected this summer than ever before — already, over the first two week ends in July, at least another eighteen persons have lost their lives.

Not counting drivers there were 23 other occupants of cars three of the occupants killed in June— wholly helpless victims of accident situations over which they themselves had no control at all. These 23 innocent passengers might, in many cases be still alive today, had some drivers been more concerned at the time of the accidents with their responsibilities for the safety of others —those in other vehicles as well as their own passengers and themselves.

Apart from the 23 passenger victims, June deaths included 14 pedestrians, 9 drivers, 2 motorcyclists, 3 bicyclists and one little boy on a tricycle. In summer, with more persons per car on the roads, passenger hazard is much greater than usual, throwing extra responsibility on all drivers a single moment of inattention can cause a huge amount of human suffering.

BRITISH UNION REJECTS STRIKE

York, England. — British engineers and shipbuilders, in a country-wide ballot, have voted by a majority of nearly three to one against strike action in support of their £1-a-week wage claim and in favour of arbitration.

Result of the voting announced at a meeting of the executive council of the Confederation of Engineer and Shipbuilding Unions at York was for arbitration 326,233; for strike action, 111,048.

Of the 37 unions in the confederation, five organizations representing non-manual workers were not concerned in the claim and did not vote. Another union, the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers, decided that its vote among its members would be impracticable but agreed to abide by the confederation's decision.

A strike would have involved over 2,000,000 workers in industries playing a major part in Britain's export drive.

In London's Central Meat Market normal working was resumed after a 17-day stoppage by meat and market provision distribution employees over issues for lower-paid workers. The dispute had brought more than 5,000 out on strike and deprived millions of Londoners of their full rations and led to drafting of 2,700 soldiers and airmen into the market.

SCOURGE KILLS BRITISH COLUMBIA POULTRY FLOCKS

Vancouver. — Newcastle Disease raging unchecked through poultry flocks in British Columbia — akin to scourge that ravaged hens into the millions — has found poultry raisers and the Government officials alike still seekin ga cure for the scourge.

With more than 350,000 chickens and turkeys already dead, A Provincial Agriculture Department official said losses to the province in potential income from the poultry industry were fast nearing the $3,000,000 mark.

Close to 15 per cent of the province's chicken population has been wiped out with heaviest losses in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island.

Estimates place Federal Government aid to stricken poultry producers in the province at $600,000. The money goes as compensation for those whose flocks have been slaughtered to prevent the disease from spreading.

Proposals to check the disease—a virus infection similar to influenza in humans — have ranged from mass vaccination to poultry import restrictions on British Columbia's borders, a distinct possibility.

A spokesman said poultry import bans might well eliminate transport of the disease from province to province and from the United States to Canada.

Tightening the controls on feed sacks and egg cartons may also be undertaken.

Dr. W. I. Moynihan, of the Federal Agriculture Department told a meeting of the British Columbia Turkey Association that spread of the disease by humans is a distinct possibility. He said that most virus diseases — Newcastle among them — are airborne.

Realistic View Adopted Towards Stemming Of Communism in Asia

BY RICHARD S. MARRIOTT
Montreal Star
Resident Correspondent

Brisbane, the most significant Australian reaction to the Korean fighting does not lie in the active participation of a few R.A.A.F. Mustang planes and two Australian naval units. It lies in the realistic attitude of the average man and woman and in the first question asked by those who today are answering the call to join our badly depleted armed services.

Back in 1939, the average Australian assumed right up to September 2rd, that war would not come. Many Australians hoped, perhaps secretly, that appeasement would prevail. Today, no Australian wants war, but few Australians are seeking to sidestep the real issue: How far can Communist aggression be allowed to spread?

Politicians, of whatever party, do not always reflect exactly the viewpoint of the mass of people. But in the Federal parliament's one-day special session recently Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies and Opposition Leader Joseph Benedict Chifley both echoed the thoughts of the bulk of Australians. Mr. Menzies put it this way:—

"We are for peace. We do not understand aggression but we will resist it with all we have and are. If there is to be a world organization for peace there must be world acceptance of responsibilities to maintain it."

Back in 1939, anyone who prior to September 3rd, thought of enlisting for overseas service, risked being branded a warmonger by quite a few of his friends. Today, the first question asked by intending recruits is: "Can I serve Overseas?"

Back in 1939, and until Japan came into the war, inter-party strife was the order of the day in Australian politics. Today all parties in the Federal House have adopted unanimously a resolution endorsing the Government's stand on Korea.

It might have been too cynical to have insisted upon a division on the motion, just to record for posterity the attitude of each of the people's elected representatives. But the debate showed only one man to be out of step with public feeling.

Genuine Labor Party supporters will regret that former External Affairs Minister Edward John Ward should again have allowed political spleen to get the better of him. From his discomfitted position the Great Opposition bench, Mr. Ward disgusted most of his colleagues when he claimed that the Prime Minister and the External Affairs Minister "would dearly love another conflict. We are frightened that mediation might succeed."

Certainly Mr. Ward's solitary outburst, the other day, was in marked contrast to the realistic support given the Government by such Opposition front-benchers as former Prime Minister Chifley, and by the former External Affairs Minister (and former United Nations President) Dr. Hybert Vere Evatt.

But, while the unanimous vote of Parliament is an indication to the world of Australia's attitude on the Korean conflict, what is needed here and now is an immediate response to the Government's call for more recruits for the Fire Services.

Since the Korean fighting began, Service headquarters have been reluctants to talk in terms of enlistment toals, although they admit that inquiries from prospective recruits have increased by about 400 per cent.

But after the recent special Parliamentary session, Navy and Army Minister, Jos. Francis, echoing that Prime Minister's call for recruits, warned that both the permanent Army Militia and the Navy were below the quotas fixed. Australian five-year defence plan launched in 1947 called for total strengths of 14,-750 for the Navy, 19,000 for permanent Army and an ultimate 50,000 for Citizen Army. The Air Force has not disclosed how its present strength stands in relation to its five-year objective of 13,092.

Two things are needed if Australia is to prepare herself quickly against the possibility of global war — An increased intake of recruits for all Services, coupled with immediate implementation of the Government's decision to reintroduce compulsory military training and the re-gearing of Australian industry to enable it to swing back to a wartime footing.

As with other peace-loving nations, Australia has allowed her wartime strength to be practically dissolved. The necessity for post-war expansion of essential industries was the incentive for a record-breaking demobilization of the Services. And the not unnatural reaction against the necessary regimentations of wartime produced a slowing down of manhour production in most branches of human effort.

Can claim that these things need urgent change is not to claim that war is sought, or that war is inevitable. It is simply a commonsense insurance proposition.

At best, Australia has not the population nor the resources to defend herself completely. But she must do the job to the limit of her ability. In the words of her Prime Minister, "preparation that comes too late is but virtue wasted. The forces of peace always need strengthening."

Oil Find Brings Wealth Alberta Homesteaders

Edmonton — Oil has written a fabulous tale of riches in Western Canada and one of the "rags-to-riches" chapters is the story of the thirteen Mulligans.

William Mulligan, who lived with his wife and eleven children in a tumble-down shack near Bon Accord, eighteen miles north of Edmonton, told reporters the story.

He came to Bon Accord before the turn of the century from Ontario, with his father. They took up a homestead — the Canadian Government threw in the mineral rights with the title.

Three weeks ago an oil company started drilling on the land and on Sunday, May 14, oil flowed a stone's throw from the ramshackle Mulligan barn.

Actually for the Mulligans, the finding of oil is but an added plum from the hands of plenty. Sale of drilling rights on their half section made them wealthy. They retained a 12½ per cent interest in the well and the sale of "points" in that share has already brought the Mulligans $40,000.

Plans, $40,000 was quickly spent. Purchases included a huge new tractor — which 19-year-old Robert said was the only tractor with a hydraulic hoist in Western Canada; a $4,000 seven-passenger sedan; a diesel caterpillar tractor; a new three-ton truck; a wagon for the children and a small new hut into which part of the family now overflows.

But the prize treat for the Mulligans was a trip through the United States in the new car. They couldn't all go but "the folks" and two of the older children upped and went travelling. The journey began February 6th and ended 7,500 miles and several thousands dollars later, March 29th.

The wife and boys can do what they want with the money," said 49-year-old father Mulligan, "they stuck with me when we had nothing to keep us alive but the milk from five cows."

One definite plan, however, is to replace the dirt floor hut with a new house "with a full basement."

"IT TOOK ONLY ONE COAT to make our bathroom walls as beautiful and scrubbable as our lovely new bath tub. And hot water and steam don't affect it one particle."

There's never been an enamel finish like KEM-GLO — so new, so different, so superior to anything ever offered you before.

And it's so easy to use — with brush or Roller-Koater. Just ONE smooth-flowing coat of KEM-GLO does a perfect job for kitchen, bathroom, hallways, nurseries, for all your finest woodwork.

KEM-GLO saves you money because it needs no primer or undercoater! (even on raw wood, wallboard and plaster). It covers most surfaces in one coat — ordinary enamels require an undercoater plus one or more coats of enamel.

PLANE MAGIC

An air-sea rescue Catalina of the Royal Australian Air Force recently flew from Hobart, Tasmania, made a hazardous touch-down on the rough open sea off Macquarie Island—1,000 miles south of Tasmania — and returned the same day.

The flying-boat took a scientist to the island where members of the Australian National Antarctic Research Expedition are spending 12 lonely months making weather and scientific observations.

No details are known of the water, adjacent tothe island, and owing to the storms, which frequently reach seventy knots in a few minutes, the Catalina remained at Macquarie for only two hours. Absence of mooring facilities forced the crew to use the small anchor stowed in the nose of the machine.

TAMWORTH

DEATH OF W. F. PARKS

Tamworth, July 14—William Franklin Parks passed away at his home here on Thursday afternoon, July 7, in his 67th year.

Mr. Parks was born and lived up to his 30th year in this vicinity. At that age he went to the State of Washington, where he worked for a time, and at that time the gold rush was in full swing; he went to the Klondike, where he remained for some time. He returned in 1909 and spent the winter at his home here. The spring of 1910 opened up a new field of labor for him, when he journeyed to Alberta and took up land at Ryecroft, where he was a successful farmer until 1941, when he sold his property in Alberta and came home, where he had remained ever since.

The late Mr. Parks never married. Since his return home his two sisters, Miss Alice Parks and Mrs. Ida Luffman, have lived with him.

He had been in failing health for some months, and for the past ten weeks had been confined to his bed.

He leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Mrs. Ida Luffman and Miss Alice Parks, who nursed him throughout his illness.

Three sisters and three brothers predeceased him.

The funeral service was held at the Alex. Hannah Funeral Parlors on Monday afternoon, and was well attended.

Rev. L. S. Throop preached the funeral sermon. A trio from the choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross".

After the service, burial took place in the United Church cemetery.

MARRIAGE

A beautiful mid-summer wedding took place at high noon in the United Church, Tamworth, on Saturday, July 8th, when Miss Ethelda Jean Detlor, only daughter of Mrs. Detlor, and the late Frank Detlor, was united in marriage to Mr. Errol William Bea, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bon, of Chute A Blondeau, Ont.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and seasonable flowers. The guest seats were tied with white bows entered with sweet peas and fern. The bride was beautiful in a floor-length dress of white nylon lace and net over satin, with long lace sleeves and embroidered nylon net veil with satin wedding bells. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings to match, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was an old-fashioned nosegay of American Beauty roses. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Charlie Detlor, of Tamworth. Her attendants were Miss Eileen MacPherson, of Toronto, maid of honor; Miss Bernadine MacKinley, of Seeley's Bay. The attendants were gowned in floor-length blue and pink nylon dresses, and carried nosegays of blue and pink carnations.

Rev. L. S. Throop performed the wedding ceremony. Mr. Robert Clarke was the soloist, and sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because". Mrs. Pearl Rogers played the wedding music.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in St. Andrew's Hall, where a full course dinner was served to 65 guests by members of the United Church W. A.

The bride donned a costume of pale blue lace and net over nylon, with white picture hat, white gloves, and purse, and a gabardine shanty coat for travelling. The happy couple went to Niagara Falls for a short honeymoon.

They will reside at Chute A Blondeau, Ont.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. Stewart MacDuff, St. Eugene, Ont.; Miss Eileen MacPherson, Toronto; Miss Thelma MacDuff, Mr. William Dowling, Montreal, Que.; Miss Sybil Stanley, Mr. Charles Stanley, and Mr. Lynn Boa, Ottawa; Dr. Lynn Marrow and Mrs. Marrow, Mr. and Mrs. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, of Metcalf; Mr. and Mrs. M. NEW TELEPHONE RATES

The Board of Transport Commissioners has ordered our first general rate increase in 23 years

EFFECTIVE JULY 22, 1950

In accordance with an interim order of The Board of Transport Commissioners, telephone rates will be increased on July 22nd. These rates will apply until the Board makes a final decision on the application for higher rates that we made last October.

No one, of course, wants to pay higher prices for anything. Though our costs have been going up faster than our revenues for some time, we delayed applying for increases until it was clearly evident we could not continue to operate satisfactorily without higher rates.

Most things you buy and the things we buy too, have gone up in price in recent years, and nearly all of them more than the revenue increase we asked for. The temporary rates now ordered by the Board give us only part of the revenue we require. If we are to continue towards our goal of providing service to all who want it, when and where they want it, we must receive the balance of the increase for which we applied.

Although the cost of telephone service has finally gone up, when you think about it, the value of telephone service has gone up even more. In terms of convenience, security and friendly contacts, a telephone is worth far more than it costs!

HOW TO FIND YOUR NEW RATE

Look up your exchange area in TABLE "A". Its rate group appears beside it. Below, under the corresponding rate group column in TABLE "B", you will find the rates for the most widely used classes of service. If you need any information about other rates, please call our business office.

The Soviet Cold War Strategy

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

Two notable developments abroad emphasize that the cold war in Europe has reached an impasse with both sides digging in and determined to hold their present lines to the bitter end.

In the Western camp we find the big three democracies — Britain, France and the United States—meeting in London with the other Atlantic-Pact countries to perfect Western Europe's defences against possible Soviet aggression.

That defence includes both economic and military fields. And Western Germany is to play her part in this stand against the Communistic drive.

On the Russian side we get further proof that while Moscow hasn't by any means abandoned the fight, she recognizes that she has come up against a stone wall in her advance westward, the English Channel.

The Iron Curtain is being tightened for the purpose of putting an impenetrable barrier between the satellites and the democracies. The tightening of the curtain this time involves a further political purge in Poland in order to bring that country under closer Soviet control.

Does this mean that the cold war is approaching its end? Not by a long shot.

It merely means that the Russians, having been halted in their Western push are consolidating in Europe and are shifting the weight of their attack to the Far Eastern front where they have every right to regard their prospects are good.

Meantime in Europe the Russians are expected to continue their tactics of harassment — pressingly largely economic—against the Western powers. Part of the Soviet cold war strategy has been to cut as heavy an economic swath as possible on the democracies. One striking illustration of this was the red blockade of Western Berlin which forced the Americans and the British to maintain for fifteen months the city by air lift to supply the German capital with food and other essentials.

We are getting the reaction it might type of Soviet economic pressure now in the London conference. The main problem of the 12 pact countries is how much they can afford to spend on defence without stifling economic recovery. The money must be that airlift would have gone a long way towards meeting present problems of today.

One of the most striking developments in the Western camp came in the meeting of the Big Three Foreign ministers just prior to the current Atlantic Pact conference. The Big Three decided that it was now able to proceed with a German peace treaty so long as Russia refused to agree to a unified Germany.

However, the three Foreign ministers advised that Western Germany should be fully integrated into Western Europe economically and defensively.

An important aspect of this Big Three agreement was the decision to keep Western Germany an armed camp of occupation troops, for defensive purposes. This naturally will play a vital part in the current deliberations of the pact countries. The agreement is particularly effective since Chancellor Konrad Odenauer, of the West German Government, and other West German leaders have approved the Allied decision.

Profitable Dairy Cows

More Essential Now Than Ever

Due to years of cultivation and growing of crops the soil becomes depleted of many necessary minerals. Consequently many grains do not contain adequate nutritive value.

You can't get milk without feed. But you know a cow will eat the more milk you will get. But the feed must be properly balanced and contain the necessary amounts of vitamins and minerals as well as proteins and carbohydrates.

It makes more money, keep only well fed cows and feed them to the limit with Blatchford's Dairy Meal which is palatable, contains adequate amounts of the essential minerals and is the most economical feed you can buy.

BLOCK ADVANCE OF REDS

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, has returned to his advocacy of the scrapping of the United Nations organization and the establishment of a new one with the Communist countries shut out. He first broached the idea in a speech last April 27 in New York. Its new approach to the subject was made in an address at the dedication of a memorial in Emporia, Kan., to his late William Allen White, noted Emporia editor.

Hoover said his proposal was "unanimously and loudly denounced by the State Department and by United Nations officials. He declared that Korean developments demonstrate the inevitable necessity of his programme. He added that "today the mobilization of non-Communist nations free from Russian domination is slowly unfolding.

The non-Communist world, said Hoover, is faced with three possible courses if it would have peace. They are:

1. Shall it go to war to wipe Communism from the face of the earth? My answer is No! That undoubtedly would be conclusion of observers, as I see it. As a matter of fact you can't kill an ideology by war unless you wipe out every mother's son who fancies it. The only way to counter an ideology is by presenting a better ideology.

2. Could we return to the illusion that the Kremlin has changed its gospel and will work for world peace through the United Nations? That would seem futile!

Why would it be futile? Because one of the cardinal tenets of Communism is that the ideology MUST be spread by revolutionary force. The establishment of a Red Government MUST be accompanied by an upheaval to suppress the proletariat.

There hasn't been the slightest suggestion of any change in the Kremlin's programme, and all Moscow's relations with the U.N. have been calculated to further Communist aims. The programme of the Communist bloc in the U.N. has consistently been one of non-cooperation.

3. Shall we try to build the United Nations so as to confine Communism to the peoples already enslaved, stop military aggression and trust to time for this evil to abate?

My answer is yes!

In this third alternative we of course, have the highly-controversial idea of reorganizing the U.N. so as to exclude the Reds and confine it to the democracies. As this column has pointed out before, there would be no question of the fact that, to all intents and purposes, we already are united into two worlds—Democracy and Communism. The ideal of one world is a long, long way off.

Having taken this drastic step, we should, I judge, continue to block the advance of Communism through force—as in defending victims of Southern Korea, with military force. Would that be feasible? Yes, readily, because the democracies, if they stand together—have the balance of power economically and militarily.

Having adopted this course we must in time for this evil to abate. And that is the significance of that.

Well, for one thing, it is well known that many of the Red satellites are getting soft in line by force. There are reports that they would welcome a chance to escape and to the third independence.

In short, I take it that the [illegible] of the Communist bloc is likely in due course, to the vine. There are many [illegible] the situation who [illegible]

SUPER-WEAPON TALK IN U. S. NOT BACKED UP

Washington — A month ago defence big shots were talking about super weapons that would make tank and infantry warfare obsolete.

Now United States troops are being defeated daily in Korea because they have no weapons that can stop the Russian tanks being used against them.

Why don't we give them these super-weapons that would do the job? answer: We don't have any. As a matter of fact, the men who were making speeches about our modern weapons a month ago didn't say we had any. If the impression got around that we did, it was not exactly the military's fault. The Korean war caught us with a lot of fine new weapons in the drawing board or test stage, but hardly any in production. Even such improved versions of World War II arms as have gone into production were not available in the right places in numbers that would be decisive. What's wanted in Korea is a tactical weapon to stop Russian tanks, which are the world's best. The 2.36-inch bazooka of World War II has failed in Korea. And front reports say the Air Force's highly touted five-inch rocket, the F-80 jet fighter's 'tank killer,' has proved ineffective against the heavier enemy tanks.

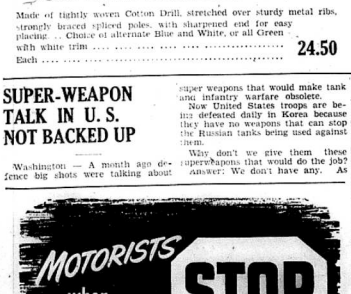
Army Secretary Frank C. Pace, Jr., spoke of 'great scientific advances' in ground weapons since World War II. He mentioned developments in recoilless artillery, the bazooka, and the 'shaped charge;' guided and target-seeking missiles, rockets and tactical atomic weapons.

Dr. Vannevar Bush, former head of the Defence Department's research and development board, has said the recoilless artillery and shaped charge combination could be put into production in six months if great enough effort were made to do so.

Meanwhile, tank warfare is anything but obsolete. Right now the military appears to be putting its greatest hopes on the 3.5-inch bazooka, a modernized and souped-up version of the anti-tank weapon of World War II. A spokesman says that this weapon is on its way to the front. Some shipments may already have arrived. Whether it will succeed where the F-80's five-inch rocket failed, remains to be seen.

No United States tank yet put in action has proved capable of slugging it out with the Russian tanks employed by the North Koreans. Apparently the best mechanized weapon we have in that part of the world now is the General Pershing which was becoming obsolete before World War II ended.

We do have some effective weapons — the napalm fire bomb, for example. And our artillery, recoilless and otherwise, is good for general artillery purposes.



TRAINING COMMAND HEADQUARTERS TRENTON, ONTARIO

The Royal Canadian Air Force's Search and Rescue organization had a busy year in 1949. In late October they carried out the longest mercy flight ever handled by the service, a 6100-mile trip by a Lancaster aircraft based at Greenwood, N.S. The aircraft had been dispatched to bring a seriously ill construction hand out of Resolute Bay in the far Arctic. The sick man was seen safe and comfortable in a modern hospital with every medical convenience at hand to aid in his recovery.

The record of the R.C.A.F.'s Search and Rescue is a proud one. Since its formation in 1946, its successes have been many, ranging from the long, dramatic rescue, 'Operation Attache,' when, after a 12-day search carried out by U.S. and Canadian aircraft, the crash was sighted by an R.C.A.F. plane, and all five persons brought out safely, to the more 'short and sweet' variety like 'Operation Wolford,' when in late 1949, the R.C.A.F. was requested to search for a hunter, missing five days on Manitoulin Island in Georgian Bay. The search aircraft sighted him the first afternoon of their search. The next day he was safely in hospital, courtesy of the R.C.A.F.'s quick, efficient Search and Rescue Service!

Search and Rescue operations call for skill and experience, and in many cases for extreme devotion to duty. They are made possible by a widespread and efficient organization, rather than daredevil flying exploits. Behind each successful operation is a carefully planned organization, stretching from coast to coast and able, if necessary, to call upon the whole resources of the R.C.A.F.

Primary responsibility of Search and Rescue is to carry out Canada's international commitments under I.C.A.O., which state that the Dominion will maintain an organization capable of rendering aid to aircraft in distress on the East and West coasts. Search and Rescue has also been made responsible for helping distressed aircraft in inland areas, although this is purely a domestic responsibility rather than one entered into with other nations.

In addition, Search and Rescue has many times been called upon to carry out mercy missions of many other types. There is no directive stating that the R.C.A.F. is the chosen body to fly a wounded trapper to civilization, or to drop supplies to burnt out village in the far north. But where the job is a life and death matter, and where it can be handled by no one else, Search and Rescue stands ready 24 hours a day to 'seek and save'.

Control of Search and Rescue is carried out from five major co-ordination centres. They are located at Halifax, Trenton, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver. Aircraft earmarked for specific Search and Rescue duties are allowed to carry out certain other duties but they are never allowed to undertake jobs which would prevent them from being instantly ready for their primary role that of Search and Rescue.

375 Attend Community Picnic In Adolphustown

Sponsored by Community Children

Over 200 adults, and more than 160 children enjoyed the beautiful day and sports at the Community Picnic held by the South Frederick-Ernestown and South Adolphustown Community Club, held Wednesday, July 19th at Ross' Wannamaker's farm, along the shore of the Bay of Quinte. Many families with their friends ate picnic baskets along the bay shore and under the many shade trees. The swings erected near the booth proved very popular with the smaller children.

The big tent, loaned by the Agricultural representative in Picton, served as a booth and was a busy place all day. All children on the grounds were treated to a "free" ice cream cone.

During the morning 4 local schools competed in the softball tournament; the Dorland school team was the final winner of the silver trophy donated by the Community Club.

Races and contests for all ages were held during the afternoon. Mr. Harry Babcock gave $10.00 to the Community Club and this money was used for cash prizes for all the children's races.

Children under 5 years — Herbert Gibbs 6 to 10—Joan Allison. Boys 6 to 10 — Malcolm McPhee. Boys 11 to 14 — Merlin Yaterman. Boys 11 to 14 — Don Forte. Gate prizes were won by the following: Edmund Wright, Lillie MacKenneth Collins, Mrs. C. Haight, Miss D. Cline, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. A. Lloyd, Mrs. H. Grooms, Stuart Palmer, Bobbie Grooms, Miss H. Simpson, Mrs. Ira Littlefield, Percy Hawley, Mrs. Fred. Miss Bartlett, Miss L. Brooks, Will Box.

The many prizes given at the picnic were made possible through generous donations from companies in Napanee, Picton, Belleville, Kingston, Toronto.

The Community Club is grateful to Ross Wannamker for the use of his field, and also to the many local people who worked willingly to help make the day a success.

The various committees in charge of the races, ball-games and booth deserve a great deal of credit for a well-planned programme and a lot of hard work.

Among the visitors on the grounds during the day were Mr. Geo. Pustin, M.P. for Prince Edward-Lennox and Mr. Pustin; also Mr. N. Ashton, Agricultural Representative, and family. Mr. Donald Baxter, M.P.P. for Prince Edward-Lennox was unable to be present owing to a recent bereavement.

Everyone reported an enjoyable day and many expressed the hope that such a community picnic would continue to be an annual event.

RECRUITING RATE RISES ACROSS NATION

MANY RESERVISTS WILLING TO SERVE

Ottawa — Canadians continued to throng recruiting stations throughout the country as the Dominion's call-up machinery accelerated its efforts against North Korean Reds went into effect.

The three-armed forces, seeking to boost their regular forces by 6,000 to 8,000 men, all reported a marked increase in recruiting applicants.

The response to the Navy's call for new sailors was so heavy that the senior service was forced to issue a special directive to receiving officers.

Needing less than 1,000 men, Naval authorities ordered recruiting officers to enlist 148 men in the next month—three times the current intake rate — and arranged for the first draft of 74 new sailors to reach the Cornwallis Training Base near Digby, N.S., August 7th. A second draft will arrive a week later.

Both the R.C.A.F. and Navy, said their reservists, all veterans, were manifesting willingness to serve again if needed.

Fewer Seek Employment

Registered employment in Canada dropped from 220,400 to 204,600 in the two weeks from June 15to June 29, the labor department reported last week.

The 15,800 drop in registrations at National Employment Service offices reflected increased seasonal activity in construction, agriculture and transportation, and a heavy demand for many Canadian products in the United States.

By regions the number of registered unemployed at June 29:— (June 15 totals in brackets).

Newfoundland 16,900 (19,400), Maritimes 23,600 (27,700, Quebec 62,500 (68,100), Ontario 54,200 (46,200), Prairies 28,300 (30,800), Pacific region 25,100 (25,100).

As employment in construction and agriculture moved steadily upward, experienced farm help remained scarce in many sections of Eastern Canada, and a shortage of skilled construction tradesmen continued particularly in the larger centres.

Mackenzie King 21 Years Premier Died Sunday

Resigned Premiership November 1948

The Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada for 21 years, died at his summer home in the Gatineau Hills near Ottawa early Sunday morning, July 23rd. He was taken seriously ill just a few days before his death, but had been in failing health for some months. Mr. King was born in Berlin, now Kitchener, Ontario, on December 17th, 1874, and was in his 76th year. He was a son of John King, K.C., and a grandson of William Lyon Mackenzie, who won for himself an undying place in the history of Canada in the early half of the 19th century because of his efforts for responsible government.

Mr. King was Premier of Canada from December 29, 1921, to June 28, 1923, September 25, 1926, to August 6th, 1930, and from October 23, 1935, to November 15, 1948. In November, 1948, he resigned from the Premiership and was succeeded by Premier St. Laurent.

Mr. King was never married, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Jay, of Barrie. A state fun ral will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday (today) at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Ottawa. His body lay in state in the Hall of Fame, Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, on Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock until the time of the funeral. Burial will be in Toronto on Thursday at 10:00 a.m. at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

William Lyon Mackenzie King during more than a quarter century as leader of the Liberal party, gained world stature as did no Canadian before him. He came to see the imprint of his political and social thought deeply engraved on Canada.

His time in office as prime minister and the fact that its latter period spanned the upheaval of World War II made him an elder among the leaders of the nations.

His imprint on Canada, which in some respects applied to other nations of the Commonwealth, came from his leadership in social reform, his championship of national rather than imperial concepts in the status and functionings of the powers of the Commonwealth, and his efforts to establish Canada as a leader of the so-called "Middle Nations."

No other Canadian in the years encompassed by his career was more highly praised or more bitterly attacked. His followers called him the greatest single force for unity in the Dominion, a great conciliator and a world statesman, a master politician unequalled as a party leader. His opponents accused him of splitting the country by opposing conscription in World War II, of political opportunism, of fostering disunity by playing faction wholly and by leaving basic issues unsolved.

He was often criticized during his years of leadership for his lack of "color" and for his quiet method of government by compromise. He was, on most occasions, a flat and boilerplating speaker, lacking nearly all those qualities of oratory considered to mean vote-getting glamor in a public speaker. Yet Canadians elected him again and again. Perhaps the key to his method of heading a nation was the fact that he trod carefully, slowly, to all outward appearances letting events shape themselves. Then when he did get he did it firmly, even though his course might be, and often was, a compromise.

Then an ailing 74, he drove through the capital's first snow on a bleak November day to the governor-general's residence to tender his resignation as prime minister. He was promptly succeeded by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, 66, the brilliant Quebec corporation lawyer who had entered the cabinet in 1941.

OTTAWA SEES BOOST IN TAXES

Ottawa. — Gradual development of the Canadian war potential and expansion of contributions of men and materials to the war in Korea will mean that Canadians can look forward to increased taxation in the next fiscal year as a "real possibility," a Government official said today.

A cabinet source said no special fall session of Parliament is planned to study the expanded defence needs, one that involves a setup in recruiting as well as arms production. He said the line has been taken officially by the Liberal party that defence spending and the international situation ahead will largely determine the course of Government estimates Parliament will be confronted with when it assembles early in 1951.

The forecast of raising funds to defray an expansion of defence costs pointed to increased taxation rather than through the floating of a war loan is in line with the Government's "pay-as-you-go" policy, the official said.

President Truman told Congress that this same policy will be followed by the United States Government.

He will ask for increased taxation, especially on the corporation level, as a means of meeting the need for an additional $10,000,000,000 to push back the aggressors in Korea and to meet possible Communist attack on other fronts.

The official at Ottawa estimated that the cost of sending the three destroyers and eight North Stars, Canada's contribution thus far to the Korean battle, will not be sufficiently high to plunge the Government into fiscal budget into a deficit.

Hon. D.C. Abbott, Finance Minister, announced last year that he expected that revenues would be sufficient for a $20,000,000 surplus at the end of the current fiscal year ending March 31, 1951.

The official said that estimate had been a conservative one and that it was expected that the surplus would be even higher than that.

Health Unit Urges Care During Summer Against Accidents

Now that the summer camping season is under way one naturally thinks about first aid for accidents, sunburn and sunstroke. The County Health Unit is interested in the prevention of the latter misfortune.

Sun bathing should be done gradually — a few minutes the first day, and increasing the exposure over several days. Otherwise a severe degree of reradening could result, causing a general illness and much discomfort. Soothing lotions or ointments should be applied as a first aid measure.

In the case of sunstroke, a fairly rare accident, the body temperature rises to around 107 degrees, and the patient loses consciousness. Cold compresses or ice should be applied to the head and spine, and a doctor called.

Heat exhaustion occurs as a result of heavy exercise during protracted heat waves. The victim is very pale and cold, and has a weak rapid pulse. The first aid treatment is to lay the patient down in a cool place and give him a stimulant such as coffee or tea.

Heat cramps occur in those exposed to intense heat and profuse perspiration. The cause is excessive loss of salt and other elements. The prevention and treatment is the taking of salt tablets with the drinking water.

Tools Used Were Taken From CNR Shed

Using tools stolen from the C. N. R. section house, near the railway crossing on Centre Street, in Napanee, robbers cracked a safe at the M. B. Mills Co. during the early hours of Sunday morning, July 23rd, and made away with about $150.00 in cash.

Employees of the M. B. Mills Co., who went to the plant about 10:00 a.m. on Sunday, discovered the robbery. The safe, which measured about 3 ft. high by 2 ft. wide, weighing several hundred pounds., was rolled from the office at the front of the building to the cooling room at the rear. There it was broken open with the tools stolen from the railroad shed.

When the robbery was discovered the employees called Chief-of-Police Earl Baker, who, with Provincial Constable W. E. Smith, is investigating. Constable James Driscoll, finger-print expert with the Belleville District Provincial Police, was also called, and examined the tools which were left by the robbers. Entrance was made to the Mills building through a cellar window on Centre St., but no one, badly wrecked by the robbers.

Just a few weeks ago similar robberies were committed at the plants of the Amazon Iron Works and Canada Packers. At both places tools to break into the safe were also stolen from the C. N. R. section house. Police are of the opinion that in both the recent robberies the same gang was operating.

Last week a section house at Millbrook was also entered and tools were stolen.

Every effort is being made by the police to apprehend the robbers.

Expert Opposes A-Bomb For Korea

Waterville, Me. — Dr. Vanner Bush, wartime head of atomic energy development, has warned that atom bombs should not be used in the Korean war.

"The Russians would love to have us use up our stock of atom bombs over there so they could hit us some other place when we are unprepared," he said.

"Why did the Russians start all this?" he asked. Bush then answered his own question: "To draw all our forces over there in the east."

Bush was in Waterville to take part in a timing of his book, 'Modern Arms and Free Men.'

Expect to Start Resurfacing Roads In Near Future

New Sidewalks and Repair Work Under Way

It was reported at a special meeting of the Napanee Town Council on Monday evening, July 24th, that the resurfacing of Dundas and Centre Streets, which are parts of No. 2 and No. 41 Highways, would be started in the very near future.

At the request of the town's local advisers in Toronto, by-laws given two readings in 1949, authorizing the passing of $14,700 debentures, which is the estimated share of the expense of resurfacing payable by the town was given two readings on Monday evening. The by-laws, if finally passed by the Council there is every likelihood that the Municipal Board will ratify the expenditure within a few days and the work may then be started.

The H. J. McFarland Construction Co. which has agreed to do the work, are ready to set up their plant in the town as soon as the by-laws is finally passed, and will immediately proceed with the resurfacing.

The condition of the two streets has been steadily deteriorating and the town officials have felt for the past several years that unless the streets were resurfaced it would soon be necessary to rebuild them at a very heavy cost. The present pavements were built about 30 years ago and have so do up well considering the heavy truck, transport and passenger car traffic to which they have been subjected during the years.

SIDEWALK WORK STARTS

At the Council meeting third reading was given to the by-laws authorizing the expenditure of $10,000 for repairs to sidewalks and building of new sidewalks in the town. The contracts have now started the work.

A by-law was passed appointing Earl Baker as Chief-of-Police of Napanee, to succeed the late Chief-of-Police, T. S. Moore.

CONSIDER ADDING FOURTH POLICEMAN

Councillor Davy Chairman of the Police Committee reported that application had been received from Gordon Palmer of Odessa, and Lyall Davis, of Napanee for appointment to the Napanee Police Force.

Councillor Davy stated that the late Chief-of-Police T. S. Moore had recently advised the appointment of a fourth member of the Police Force several times, however there seemed in the town never to be enough, especially at night it is difficult for one man to give adequate police protection.

Reeve Millagen opposed the appointment and another policeman, but a motion moved by Councillors Davy and Ballantyne was passed, authorizing the Police Committee to make further investigations regarding the applicants and make an appointment by a new by-law concerning the same matter will be prepared and submitted for consideration at a later meeting of the Council.

A motion was passed that an advertisement be placed in the local papers asking property holders on Dundas St. and Centre St. to make sure their sewers are in good working order before the resurfacing of the streets is commenced.

Mayor Vine reported that the yellow blinker which has been ordered, would be delivered soon, and would be placed at the east and west ends of Dundas St., as a warning to motorists, to either slow down or keep passing through the town.

The stop signs painted on the surface of Bridge St. near the intersection of Centre St. are to be repainted, white in place of the present yellow.

Joe Lowe, driver of the fire truck reported that in order to operate the truck and run the fire hall by parking the car to the entrance of the hall, it was making it difficult for the fire truck or when a fire alarm is received.

The Police Committee was instructed to negotiate with Mr. Lowe and provide for giving tickets to any who infringe the by-law prohibiting parking near the fire hall entrance.

HERBERT C. PETRY, JR.

Chicago, July 22 — Herbert C. Petry, Jr., of Corpus Sprinkle, Texas, is the new president of The International Association of Lions Clubs, Lions International. He was elected by unanimous vote at the 33rd annual convention of the Association which closed at the Chicago Stadium July 20th. Petry succeeds Walter C. Pulver, Queenston, Ontario, Canada.

The convention concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by Melvin Jones, Chicago, founder and Secretary-General and founder of the Association. He reported the addition of 806 new Lions Clubs and 21,415 men to the roster of the Association during the twelve-months period ended June 30, 1950, for a total of 8,055 clubs and 402,841 members. He stated also that during the year Lions Clubs were established in two additional countries: England and Denmark. Lions International, he added, is the largest, strongest and most active service-club organization in the world, with Lions Clubs in 28 countries on five continents.

EMPIRE CABINET 'NOT WORKABLE'

Wellington, N.Z. — Suggestions for a Commonwealth cabinet were deprecated by Patrick Gordon-Walker, United Kingdom secretary for Commonwealth Relations.

Recently-arrived from Canada in the course of a Commonwealth tour, Gordon-Walker was asked at a press conference to comment on a London report that Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia was making the suggestion during his current British visit.

Gordon-Walker said in his opinion a supreme body within the Commonwealth with authority to order individual Commonwealth countries to war would be unworkable.

"It is my view that while existing facilities for the exchange of opinions and information might be still further improved, any forum of a central governing body within the Commonwealth would not work.'

He added, 'I cannot imagine that United Kingdom would subscribe to taking orders from such a body and I don't think other independent members of the Commonwealth would accept such an authority either.'

The legendary round table of King Arthur was said to have been suggested by a carpenter so that the knights would cease quarrelling over precedence in seating, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

MACKENZIE KING

With the passing of Mackenzie King an era comes to an end in Canada. It was a transitional era, during which Canada emerged from the status of a British Colony into a full member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. With that change Mackenzie King had a great deal to do. The Statutes of Westminster have been attributed, in a large degree, to him, and that document paved the way for the family of equal partners in the Commonwealth.

It was a transitional era in other ways. It was during his regime that the social legislation which changed the whole complexion of government responsibility for all the people, was enacted. From the time when as a young man, Mackenzie King wrote the book "Industry and Humanity," until the end of his public career his interest in the common man was uppermost in his mind. It is hard for us who have not come to take for granted so much social legislation to think back to the time when little or no attention was paid to this, save by the rich far and the professional social workers. Of these latter, there were not so many, either, at that time.

It was a transitional era in still another way. Canada began in it to take her place in international affairs. There was a time and that, not so long ago, when Canada was little known outside the Empire. But her contribution to two World Wars gave her a place in the councils of international affairs that she had never before enjoyed. In the League of Nations, and later in the United Nations, Canada's Councillors took a part. They have been heeded by our country. Their advice is sought and considered. It was during the regime of Mackenzie King that these developments came to fruition.

Canada is a hard country to govern; a long narrow country stretching across a whole continent. It is composed of two dominant races, with two points of view, two religions and two languages. Beside that there are hundreds of thousands who belong to neither of these dominant groups. To keep these elements together is not an easy task. To do so, often demands of our leaders, compromise. For that reason it may seem that there is no settled policy among the leaders. This explains much of the seeming hesitancy and inconsistency in Mackenzie King's leadership.

The first task of a leader who wants to lead the nation is to secure and keep a place in Parliament. This Mackenzie King was able to do. He was a politician. He learned how to win elections, and to stay in power once he had been elected.

To the progressive, Mackenzie King was too cautious; to the cautious he was too progressive. He was a quiet man; lacking colour and popular appeal. His strategy was to secure the best men he could get for cabinet and key positions, then to place the responsibility on them, and leave them pretty much alone. Some of his ministers received more attention at the hands of the public than did the Prime Minister, himself. That strategy seemed to work. There were times of cabinet crises that would have wrecked most governments, but Mackenzie King survived them.

Mackenzie King, too, had the knack of appropriating the views of others. Ideas expressed by the C.C.F. or the Progressive Conservative Parties at one session, might pop up at the next, in government sponsored legislation. He was a clever statesman and a shrewd politician.

A RAY OF HOPE

A ray of hope comes from Dusseldorf in Germany. The brief news item, says: "More than 100 ousted German Communist leaders, who oppose the Kremlin's foreign policy line, formed a new independent Communist Party here, yesterday (July 23.)

"In a secret conference they gathered around Joseph Schaffe, 51, former party leader, who was ousted as a 'Titoist.' Leiter Schaffe told a press conference he expected 'tens of thousands' of dissatisfied Communists to join the new independent party.

That is the first crack in the German Communist armour. Once the German armour cracks be it ever so little, the future is unpredictable. Hitherto, except for Jugo-Slavia, the Communists have been obedient slaves to the party line. Tito broke with the Kremlin and, Stalin, so far, has been unable to do much about it. Now German Communists are showing signs of dissatisfaction with the Kremlin. They do not want to follow the foreign policy of the party. It takes a lot of outrage for former party leaders to break with the system. They count disaster and possible liquidation. That a hundred have been willing to take that risk is a hopeful sign.

The Germans have had enough war. They know what war is. They have seen it, close-up. They have experienced the effect of modern weapons. They have little stomach for another war. So when the party calls upon the West Germans to employ warlike tactics on the Democracies, at least one hundred German leaders cannot take it.

This may not seem like a very great link in the armour, but it will bear watching, all the same. Some day the crack will burst right open. Even Communists will not, forever, submit to imposed slavery, and to being goaded on to war.

PIPPA PASSES

We really did not plan that one big day, as the heroine in Browning's poem planned her's, and looked forward to it for months on end. It happened quite unexpectedly and found us psychologically unprepared.

It took place on a farm, where we were spending the day, awaiting the time for an evening ceremony of some importance, and, incidentally, of some interest to Napanee people, to wit: the marriage of Miss Jean Lancaster, former school teacher at the Napanee Collegiate.

The day was spent on a farm. Rising with the farmers was not a hardship, but a life-long custom. Early breakfast, too, was just to our liking. It was a lovely large, brick farmhouse, with wide verandahs. We found a chair and in comfort surveyed the scene. The wheat was showing a golden glow; the oats were showing just a sensation of ripening. The birds were bubbling over with joy, and the bees and other humming insects made one drowsy. After a while we thought it must be nearly noon. What! only nine o'clock. So off we went to inspect the barn, where the chief item of interest were twelve new Cattle puppies; tiny things, their eyes not open yet. The hens—they were unaccustomed to strangers and made a great to-do. The machinery — all modern equipment — was safely and neatly housed. And then we went back to the verandah, and sat. Sitting still is not easy after one has spent his whole life doing things.

Then is was lunch time, and after lunch it was the verandah for us, again. By this time, we were getting used to inactivity of mind and body. Along about three o'clock, just thinking of walking down the four steps off the verandah, seemed quite a burden, and when it became necessary to walk over to the car for a paper, it took a long time to get up courage just to walk the hundred feet or so.

It really doesn't take long to learn to do nothing, and it might be better for our souls and our bodies if we all practised it a bit more than we do in this modern world — where business and spluttering fussing it taken as a sign of successful living. . . . Maybe if we didn't go so hard and so fast, we would get further. Anyway, the holiday season, which, happily, is about universal in Canadian life, gives us a chance to experiment.

IN KOREA

There is little value in recriminations. What should have been done in Korea, and what should not have been done, is no longer a matter for debate. The fact is that there is a war on in Korea. We may say it is only a small war, but the people in Koren have no such thoughts on the matter. For them it is war — their country is being blown to bits; their people are being killed.

The cruel truth of the present military situation is that the Communist North Koreans are gradually overcoming all opposition in their drive towards the South. They are now within fifty or seventy miles from the Southern tip of the Peninsula. The United Nations Army is fighting a delaying action. They are trying to hold on to every inch of ground while the United States gets more men and more ammunitions and equipment, there. Whether they will be able to hold out long enough to keep a toe-hold on the hermit kingdom, only time will tell.

What will happen if the Communists overrun the whole country, is a matter for legitimate speculation, because of its influence on future world policy. Should the United Nations forces have to withdraw completely, the situation would be grave indeed. Unless the United States is willing to give up the struggle and lose face, then we are in for a long, hard time of it. It would mean that on a somewhat smaller scale, the forces of the United Nations would be faced with the same situation that faced the Allies in the effort to get a landing in Europe. A long time of preparation would be necessary to build up a well-trained invasion force, and to accumulate vast stores of reserves of men and munitions. That will take months, if not years. For this reason, the Americans can be depended on to do everything in their power to hold, at least, some part of Korea. The crucial struggle for that is now taking place.

So far, Canada is out of the picture, except for boats and planes that have been offered to the United Nations. It may be, if the contest continues, that Canadians will once again be called on, to bear arms. That is something no one can contemplate without a heavy heart.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, July 30th

DAVID, A KING WHO HONOURED GOD

"David had been driven from the court of Saul, to become a freebooter in the pay of the Philistines. But when he heard of the death of Saul and his beloved Jonathan, he went back to Hebron and was elected king by the tribe of Juda, while in the north a son of Saul, ruled under the domination of Abner, his general. For seven years this dual monarchy existed, and then the murder of Abner and the puppet king led to the election of David as king of the whole nation. He defeated the Philistines, captured Jerusalem for his capital, and took the ark there. For David, a palace was built, but the ark was housed in a tent."

David lived an interesting life — a shepherd boy, a musician, a member of the Royal household, a bandit, a king.

There is much about David to admire; there is much to dislike. He did many things that we cannot by any stretch of the imagination, condone. He broke the laws of decency, and of common humanitarianism. He was cruel ,licentious and ambitious.

When David got settled in the Kingship he wanted to build a temple to Jehovah, and to house the ark. The ark, it will be remembered was, according to tradition, built by Moses. It was symbolic of the place where God dwelt. It brought victory to the Hebrews in battle. Once the Philistines stole it. But it only brought bad luck to them so they sent it back. Now, David had it in a tent. He was not happy about that, he wanted to build a temple in which it could be housed.

Nathan, the prophet ,at first gave other such ruler of outstanding evils, we would draw the line. Otherwise, we would look over his main faults and accept his good intentions.

Is not that exactly what God Himself did with David. In many ways David was a bad man, but God forgave him. God accepted him as one who was trying to do his best. He saw the errors of his ways; sought forgiveness, and God forgave him.

Perhaps, after all, that is the best we can say of a man; the best, too, we can hope for in ourselves. It is impossible to go on through life without slipping at some point or other, but if our heart is right, if we regret our sins, seek forgiveness and go on hoping, praying and struggling to do better, that is all that can be hoped for from most of us. It is the man that feels no sense of guilt, who goes on in his sinning, that God in Christ ,condemns.

It would have been nice if David could have built the church but in the design of God that was not to be — His Son did that.

In the West Indies and some parts of South America, the Rain-Tree grows. It gets its name from the fact that it distils moisture to such a degree that the ground below the branches is often wet.

SHIPBOARD LETTER DESCRIBES TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

Saturday, July 8th.

Dear Mother and Johnny Boy:

Well, I hope you got my other letter O.K., as it was posted in Quebec City. This one will be posted in Lisbon, Portugal. Please keep the stamps from all the letters. Don't worry about the boat sinking because she is a fine ship. It is 450 feet long and six stories high. Our cabin is one storey above the water and sometimes the spray comes in. I do wish mother, you could see how blue the ocean is. I never saw anything like it before — it looks as if it had blueing in it. Then the white caps glisten in the sunshine and as far as the horizon it looks the same — so sublimely beautiful.

Today is very nice and warm. I sat on deck in the sun in a deck chair and my face, neck and arms are burned. Bill looks wonderful too and feels so well. We have had hardly any rough seas. I love the motion of the boat; it is soothing and makes me drosy. I sleep well at night and take a nap every afternoon.

There are 75 people on board, taking a religious tour, travelling through seven countries, and it costs them twelve hundred dollars each. They intend visiting in Vatican City and want to talk with the Pope. They are very earnest and sincere about it all.

There are about five hundred students on board from the United States, some of whom are just travelling for pleasure, others going over to school, who have won scholarships, etc. There are a few Germans born in the United States, going home to visit aunts and uncles, also a number of Jewish teachers who have been teaching Hebrew in the Jewish schools in the United States. We met and talked with one whose father was a Rabbi in Germany, but when Hitler purged the country of Jews, they fled to Switzerland.

There is a show on tonight at 9:30 p.m. The students from some University are putting it on. The girl who dines beside me at the table is one of the teachers. She is going to do a hula hula dance in a grass skirt. Thus, I must see because she is taller than I.

I also know more about my ancestors now, the Pennsylvania Dutch, because this teacher gave us all the details. I am keeping a diary so I won't forget things from day to day.

I saw two whales out from Spain Peninsula and a Portugese fishing craft off the coast of Newfoundland. We passed the Azores Yesterday afternoon and expect to dock in Lisbon sometime tomorrow evening. They won't let anyone off the boat till Monday a.m. Then we will get a taxi and take a drive all around the city.

It will take four more days to reach Naples and by Friday next we should reach Bill's brother's home, or Saturday. I will write as soon as we arrive.

I am learning French and Italian right now. It is amazing, mother, how easy it is to learn something, when it is necessary.

The ocean is as smooth, tonight, as old Hay Bay, so calm. I must say so revoir for now, hoping this will find you all fine.

Your loving daughter,
Edith Holtz

by "Red" Miller

More good news has wandered in from the western portion of the Province in regard to the pitching ability of Keith Weese, ace hurler of the Lions Juniors of last season.

In a week and game with Walkerton, in the W.O.A.A. Intermediate League, Weese again earned another shut out .... 6 to 0 .... allowed three scratch singles .... and struck out his usual 14 batters.

To date he has had nine starts and nine wins ... with only eight runs being scored against him ... his team gathering 76 counters ... and the pro scouts are licking the second glance at his possibilities.

According to reports from reliable sources Keith has been offered a chance to go south to New York State .... and show his wares against keen competition at the request of a scout for the "Giants", who was more than taken by Weese's showing.

The latest word on this count is .... if they want to see him in action they will have to bring the south to Shallow Lake.

In the C.O.B.L. things are about as usual. One day the Athletics are skidding toward the cellar and the next day making it touch for the top dozen.

The Smith Falls Royals ... who are at this time heading the league ... took a hard passing from the Kill runners .... and up come Lats from way down .... and lace the leads to a fate-the-well.

If some of our local dyed-in-the-wool fans ... who take up house-keeping on the third-base bleachers .... would put as much energy in panning the outside teams as they do the locals .... it might help the morale of the Napanee squad, and help them up the ladder .... the language sometimes used is not apropos by either the players or those fans who are forced to listen ... if they wish to see the game from that section.

We wonder how the A's will make out in the coming Kingston Congress .... which runs from Monday to Thursday of next week at Megaffin Stadium.

Last season the Athletics brought home the silverware and are determined to hang onto it .... come what may.

They played four and won four ... their nearest competitor being the Kingston A's with two losses in six starts.

In one of the games against the latter McTaggart hung up a "no hit no run" game. In the series only five runs were scored on the McTaggart-Hooper duo; in the four games ... three to Kingston A's and two to Brockville.

The teams entered to date are: Gananoque, Kingston Midgemares, and the present teams in the Central Ontario Baseball League.

The schedule for the first round on Monday night has been released and the locals take on the Kingston Monarchs in the nightcap of the evening 9.30. The other two games at Smiths Falls and Bata at 6:30, and Gananoque and Brockville at 8:00.

In the interest of those fans who wish to attend the "Congress", the Athletics have chartered a bus, and for details as to times and prices ... see the head man ... Joseph.

In the way of games here this week in the C.O.B.L. ... Brockville at Napanee .... Wednesday (tonight) 6:15.

NO MAKE-UP 'PEEK ADVISED FOR GROOMS

Christchurch, N.Z. — Men should see their fiancees at least once without make-up before marriage, said Rev. C. L. Horwood, in an address to the Marriage Guidance Council. Husbands would be a clearer picture based only on a sudden infatuation with the personal beauty of a girl, New Zealand Life says. He not very greatly impressed with the idea as a pre-marriage test. Of many girls he spoke said that if the idea had not spoke it had better be extended so that they could see their fiancees in a bungalows and slippers and hair in a handkerchief scrubbing the kitchen floor.

Brian Knight, a prominent conciliation psychologist, suggested that it would be the best would be of any great help. He declared that an engagement based on sound motives was more beyond lipstick, but equally an engagement based on the wrong motives was usually strong beyond reason.

EDWARD BRENNAN

The sudden death of Edward Brennan, Sr., occurred at his home in Tyendinaga, near Marysville, on Saturday, July 22nd. He had been in his usual good health until a short time before his death.

Mr. Brennan, who was born in Tyendinaga, about 84 years ago, was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brennan. He had farmed all his life and was a member of the Holy Name of Mary Roman Catholic Church, at Marysville.

He was predeceased by his wife and leaves four sons: F. W. Brennan of Marysville; J. C. Brennan, Marysville, P. J. Brennan and J. L. Brennan of Lonsdale. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth McConnell of Milford, Ont.

His funeral was conducted by Father Donohue at the Holy Name of Mary Church on Monday, July 24th, and interment was at Marysville Parish Church.

MRS. JOHN McGRATH

Mrs. John McGrath, a resident of Napanee for over 30 years, died on Tuesday, July 18, at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, where she had been a patient for two weeks.

Mrs. McGrath, who was 87 years old, had been in failing health for some time. A few months ago she was taken to St. Marys-of-the-Lake Hospital, in Kingston, and two weeks before her death she fell and broke her leg, and was removed to the Hotel Dieu.

She was a member of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church and was devoted to her church and to her family. Her quiet, kindly disposition endeared her to a wide circle of friends and relatives.

Mrs. McGrath was born in Camden Township and was formerly Catherine Hawkins, one of twelve children of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hawkins. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

She was twice married. With her first husband, James Gleeson, she spent several years in Manitoba, and after her husband's death, returned to Camden about 50 years ago. She later married John McGrath, who passed away 47 years ago. With her daughters, Mary McGrath and Pearl Gleeson, she came to Napanee in 1917and had resided here since that time.

She is survived by her two daughters, Mary, Mrs. G. Rutherford, of Windsor, and Miss Pearl Gleeson, at home.

Her funeral was conducted on Friday morning at St. Patrick's Church by Monsignor Leacy, and interment was at St. Patrick's cemetery, Napanee.

The ninth hole at the golf course at Hendon, Middlesex, England, was a 'fox hole' until five fox cubs which inhabited it were dug out.

Donald E. Caton Died in Toronto After Long Illness

Donald E. Caton, a former resident of Napanee, son of the late Arthur B. Caton of Napanee and Mrs. Cora Caton of Toronto, died at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Toronto, on Friday, July 21st. He suffered a stroke in January 1949 and has been a patient in the Queen Elizabeth Hospital since May 1949. About three days before his death he had another stroke from which he failed to rally.

Don was born in Napanee about 42 years ago and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Caton. He attended the Napanee Schools and after graduating from the Napanee Collegiate he attended the University of Toronto Medical School for two years returning to Napanee afterthe death of his father to assist his mother in running the bakery and confectionery business which had been operated for many years by Mr. Caton. About eight years ago he and his mother moved to Toronto.

For several years Don was employed at the University of Toronto and just prior to his illness was a member of the accounting staff of the University.

Some years ago he joined Union Lodge No. 9, A.F. & A.M., and after going to Toronto transferred to Occident Lodge No. 346 and was also a member of Occident Chapter R.A.M. No. 77, of which he was Second Principal at the time he was taken ill.

While living in Napanee, he was one of the most popular young men in the town. He was a member of the Napanee Drama Group and was a Charter member of the Napanee Lions Club. When in his teens he met with a serious accident while swimming and was seriously ill for a long time. His health since then had never been good, but his genial, happy disposition had not been spoiled by his lack of good health. In whatever group he was with he was always the life of the party. Ever since he became seriously ill and was a patient in the hospital his natural optimism and good spirits were an inspiration to other patients and his many friends and relatives. His death is a great loss to his friends and particularly to his mother and his father's six sisters who all reside in Toronto.

His body was brought to Napanee on Sunday and the funeral service was conducted at the Tierney Funeral Home Chapel on Sunday evening by Rev. Noble Hatton, followed by the Masonic Service. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery on Monday morning.

WIGMORE - BOYCE NUPTALS

A wedding a widespread interest was solemnized in Deseronto United Church on Saturday, July 15th, at three o'clock, when Shirley June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howard Boyce, was united in marriage to William Brodie Wigmore, son of Mrs. Richard Curran Wigmore of Toronto, and the late Mr. Wigmore. The wedding took place on the twenty-fourth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Tall standards of mauve, yellow and white gladiolia with baskets of mauve larkspur and baby's breath, formed a lovely floral setting for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. T. F. Townsend, B.A., B.D., minister of the church, assisted by Rev. D. Wigmore, B.A., L.Th., of Calvary Anglican Church, Toronto, father of the groom. The wedding music was played by Miss Helen Brace of Kingston. The soloist was Mrs. Charles Leach, also of Kingston, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and the dedication hymn "Take Our Lives and Let Them be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee", during the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a Victorian styled gown of gardenia white bridal satin and French lace, made with a fitted Basque bodice buttoned at below the waist in the back. Silk net formed a yoke above the wide double Bertha of satin and lace, on which she wore a pearl and sapphire pin given by her father to her mother on her wedding day. The very full hooped skirt of her dress was made with satin ruffles of satin and lace, forming panners at the side and it swept into a long circular train fingerted silk illusion formed her full length bridal veil, which was caught with a tiny bonnet of satin and lace. She carried a white satin-bound Bible from which fell a cascade of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The bride's four attendants were identically styled gowns of nylon marquisette over taffeta made with corded ruching forming bands around the neckline and on the bouffant skirts. Miss Dorothy Boyce of Belleville was her sister's maid - of - honour, wearing leaf green, and the bridesmaids in matching lilac dresses, were Miss Violet Wilson of Peterborough, and Mrs. P. M. Hannah of Kingston.

Little Miss Marena Wigmore of Toronto, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a miniature copy of the bridesmaids' gowns, in daffodil yellow. All attendants were short ruffled mittens and carried Colonial bouquets of mauve and white sweet peas and yellow rose buds. Their beaded head-bands were caught with matching nosegays of fresh flowers.

The best man was Mr. Robert Wigmore, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Ronald Boyce, brother of the bride and Mr. Douglas Palmer, of Toronto.

Baskets of roses and cornflowers decorated the home of the bride's parents, in Deseronto, for the reception which followed. The wedding cake was centred with the vase used at the bride's parents' wedding.

Mrs. Boyce received her guests wearing a dress of silver grey Chantilly lace with a wide navy picture hat. Her accessories were navy blue and she wore a corsage of Briarcliffe roses and stephanotis. She was assisted in receiving, by the mother of the groom, who wore rose embroidered satin with black accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wigmore left for a honeymoon at a summer resort in Northern Ontario. For travelling, the bride wore a suit of mist blue gabardine with a hat and blouse of dawn pink, and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pale pink roses and stephanotis. Upon their return the couple will reside at 559 King St., London, Ontario.

The bride is a graduate of Peterborough Normal School and is a former member of the teaching staff of Winston Churchill School, Kingston. The groom, who is a veteran of the R.C.A.F., is at present a theology student at Huron Anglican College, University of Western Ontario.

Host, with an address by the Prime Minister of Ontario, Hon. Leslie M. Frost, on the Conference theme: "Ontario 1950."

The 1950 Conference has a Three fold purpose, according to Jack McNie, Hamilton, president of the Ontario Y. P. C. Association, "First of all," he explained, "we plan as nonpartisan a review as possible of the progress which Ontario has made over the past half century in industry manufacturing and commerce, agriculture, mining and lumbering, and in other fields of endeavour. Secondly we will consider the implications of this remarkable growth both for the people of Ontario and for the nation as a whole in the years ahead. And lastly, because we believe the fortunes of this province can best be advanced by a Progressive Conservative administration, we will make an intensive study of practical methods of political education and organization among young people."

The youthful delegates at the Conference will be provided with plenty of food for thought and discussion by an outstanding roster of authoritative speakers who, together with the young people will review the past and blueprint the future of Canada's banner province. Among those who will contribute to the discussions are Professor Vincent W. Bladen, M.A., Ox., Director, Institute of Industrial Relations, Toronto; Earl Watson, President Local 194, U.A.W.-C.I.O. Windsor; William Gibson, President, National Celulose Company, Toronto; Charles L. Dubin, prominent labour lawyer, and J. J. E. McCaig, Alliston, noted agricultural authority.

Hon. Geo A. Drew will be on hand along with Mr. Frost to officiate at the opening and will address the Conference on Tuesday on the theme "Canada: 1950." Many other distinguished political figures, including the members of the Ontario Cabinet, will be present to take part in the proceedings and meet informally with the delegates.

The closing address will be delivered by the Overseas Secretary of the British Student Christian Movement, Phillip Potter, who is coming to Canada from London, England, to attend the World Conference on Christian Education to be held shortly in Toronto. His subject will be "The Implications of a Free Society."

Green Light Given Re-surfacing Two Town Streets

Expect Start Soon on Dundas and Centre Streets

Word was received by the Town Clerk, M. P. Graham, on Monday, July 31st, that the Ontario Municipal Board had approved the town's by-law, which authorizes the borrowing of $16,700.00 debentures to cover the town's share of the cost of resurfacing Dundas Street and Centre Street, which are parts of No. 2 and No. 41 Highways. The by-law, which was given two readings at the Council meeting last week, will now be given its third reading, and the work will be started almost immediately.

The contract for the work has been awarded the H. J. McFarland Construction Co., and the plant for preparing the materials to be used has been set up near the town, ready to start the work.

The total cost of the work is to be $27,411.00, a figure much less than the estimate for the work last year. The balance of the expenditure, over and above the town's share, will be paid for by the Ontario Department of Highways.

The Dundas Street pavement was laid some 20 years ago, and in the past few years has required a great deal of patching. At the present time the surface is very rough, but the base is considered to be in good condition. It was the opinion of the Council members that unless the road was resurfaced this year possibly a whole new pavement would have been required in a short time, at a much greater expense.

BROCKVILLE ON WAY UP IN C.O.B.L. RACE

The Brockville Memos edged up in the race in the C.O.B.L. senior baseball standings when they handed out an 8 to 3 defeat to the Napanee Athletics at the Lions oppened Gibbard Park, last Wednesday evening.

"Bill" Aldrich, youthful right-hander held the A's to three scratch hits in five and a third frames before he weakened to allow the locals to fill the sacks and force two counters across to make it 8 to 3. Aldrich walked eight, struck out three and gave up three hits. "Smokey" Smith was hurried in to fill the break and had little difficulty in putting away the hitters for the balance of the game. Smith struck out three and failed to give up a hit.

For the Athletics, Hooper started and was under fire for nine hits including two triples and a double before McTaggart took over. Hooper walked six and struck out two. McTaggart allowed only one single from the sixth, and struck out two.

Two big innings paved the way for the Memos, three in the third and four in the fifth. The single was gathered in the sixth.

Bud was the big gun for the winners with three for four. Turner, Hickey, a pair apiece, the former getting a double and Evans and Aldrich each collected triples.

Errors were almost even—two going to the Memos and three to the losers.

Three snappy double plays by the Napanee squad early in the game, drew the plaudits of the fans. The hour was called at the end of the eighth.

Officials of the H. J. McFarland Construction Co., Limited, which is completing the bridge work, recently returned from an inspection trip in the United States where they purchased additional modern equipment to be used on the company's numerous contracts.

The larger machinery equipment bought consists of a Ransome 34 E Dual Drum Paver, together with screeding machines, including a fifteen foot spreader, a fifteen foot screed finisher, and the necessary pumps, steel forms, etc.

Ann, who is thirteen years of age, was Queen of the Fairies in the Children's Theatre production of "Alice in Wonderland" in 1948. She has had three years' ballet training and had been rehearsing for the part of Wendy at Oshawa, for the past six months. Frederick Huffman has also had several years' training. Both are very accomplished dancers.

Reports in the Oshawa paper stated that the presentation of 'Peter Pan' gave the large audience a masterful acting treat which will long be remembered. The beautiful lighting arranged for the presentation added greatly to the effectiveness of the ballet.

Local Citizens Supply Articles

The August issue of the magazine, "Police News", the official publication of the Police Association of Ontario, has an interesting section in it devoted to the Town of Napanee, under the caption "Welcome to Napanee, Ontario's Most Beautiful Municipality".

At the beginning of the Napanee section, under pictures of the members of the Town Council, is a message from Mayor Vine, who welcomes new industries and new residents to "one of the most friendly towns in Ontario". Next is an article written by D. A. "Red" Miller, concerning the Napanee Lions Club interest in the boys and girls of the town, and its co-operation with the local police in helping to eliminate juvenile delinquency.

A splendid picture of the late Chief-of-Police T. S. Moore, and short tributes Barry and Beam, accompanied by a short sketch of the three-man police force of the town.

Frank Correll, Chairman of the Lennox and Addington Fish and Game Association, contributed an informative article concerning the opportunities for sports enjoyment in and around Napanee.

A review of the history of Napanee newspapers, written by C. L. Graham, Managing Editor of The Napanee Beaver, told of the establishment of "The Bee", the first newspaper in Napanee, just 100 years ago and recorded interesting facts concerning the other newspapers issued in the town since 1850.

Mention was made in a short article of the sudden passing of Chief-of-Police T. S. Moore, who had occupied the office for twelve years, and the representative of the Police News in collecting material for the feature about Napanee.

Pictures in the section included the new Prince Charles School, the Town Treasurer, M. P. Graham, a group of children at the winter carnival sponsored by the Lions Club, and the Napanee Athletics, 1949 Intermediate "B" finalists.

Others were also short articles concerning Napanee's educational facilities and the Napanee Golf Club.

Pres. Syngman Rhee Confident of Outcome Hostilities in Korea

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea said at the week end the Communists would not in the port of Pusan, probably preparing for an attack against Japan but for the U.S. intervention in the United Nations.

Dr. Rhee addressing a public meeting of the United Nations Mission to Korea, said the return of his Government to Seoul was "only a matter of time."

Speaking in English and Korean, he told a large audience of Korean and foreign diplomats that the 'unification of free Korea' would also result from the war.

Rhee said Koreans, 'even in the northern base from which the aliened-forced army launched its treacherous attack,' were sincerely grateful to the free members of the United Nations' who came to the aid of the South Korean Republic.

Rhee said he was not deterred 'the numerous enemy successes have not caused us grave concern nor that they have in any shaken some of us who were faint of heart.'

Rhee thanked the United States, Australia, Britain, Canada and Holland for the armed aid already extended.

"We all look forward eagerly to the near future when British, Australian and the many forces of other nations,' will join the fighting, he said.

Grocer Tricks Bargain Hunters

He stacked sugar outside his store and put up a sign reading "special five pounds sugar, 98 cents."

Lines formed, he said, and he sold about 800 pounds in four hours.

Grocers across the street continued selling sugar at five pounds for 50 cents and had no rush.

"I just wanted to see the reaction," grinned Rosenthal. "I wanted to prove that the price doesn't mean a thing. If they want it, they buy it."

Australian Premier Talks Pacific Defence With President Truman

Washington. — Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies began a whirl-wind tour of Washington last week-end to promote a stronger defence against Communism in the Pacific.

Menzies scheduled conferences with President Truman and Dean Acheson Secretary of State before leaving on Wednesday, today's, he will confer with Defence Secretary Louis Johnson and Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder.

Diplomatic quarters said Menzies wanted to discuss the entire problem of Pacific defences against Communism. These include the defence of Korea, a Japanese peace treaty, and economic and military aid for Southeast Asia.

His reports were expected to help the Australian cabinet decide just what troops to send to Korea. His government has offered to send about one division of infantry—one of the biggest reinforcements yet offered to the hard-pressed American GI's.

Crop Conditions Reported Excellent In Napanee District

Nearly All Produce Better Than Average

W. N. T. Ashton, Agricultural representative for Lennox and Addington, reports that crops in the County show promise of better than average yield this year.

Fall wheat, which is now being cut and combined, will yield about an average of 35 bushels to the acre, which is considered reasonably good. Some fall wheat, which was damaged during the winter, had to be plowed under, but nevertheless the acreage was about the same as last year.

Indications at present are for a better than average yield for spring sown crops. Recent wind and rain storms have caused some lodging of oats, and, as a result, the yield will be slightly lower than was expected. Other grains are in fairly good condition and, barring other accidents, should yield well.

The crop of hay was hardly an average, but was better than expected, as a result of late rains and cool weather. It was cut early in the month, when dry weather had an adverse effect.

The tomato acreage is about 25% less than in 1949. Factories which process tomatoes had a larger than usual stock on hand at the beginning of the planting season and contracts were reduced. Combined price for tomatoes was also lower than usual, which was another factor in the lower acreage. The prospects for a tomato crop are at present excellent.

Corn is in splendid shape, but needs warmer weather. Root crops and other vegetables are giving promise of excellent yield.

Strawberries were slightly better than average crop this year, and fruit berries are yielding better than average.

Yield of milk is good, due to the splendid condition of pastures.

France Said Ready To Permit Manufacture German Arms

Paris, France — France appears ready to permit the making of arms in Germany, as long as Germans are not allowed to use them.

Germany has invaded France three times in the last eighty years and since the Germans were last driven into their Reich have been the most insistent of the allies on dismantling German war plants. Today, however French officials are predicting that the question of German rearmament would be raised at the current Atlantic Pact talks in London.

They argued that what Western Europe needs mostly for its defence is not men but arms and the money to pay for them. These officials were too cautious either to permit their names to be used, or to say outright that the Germans should be allowed to make arms. What they did was to let the semi-official Agence France Presse quote "well-informed circles" as saying:

There is certainly a most urgent aspect to this question. The rearming of Germany a few years after the defeat shocks the countries which have been occupied by German troops. But it is not this aspect that should count but the realistic aspect . . . It is a question of rearming Western Europe now."

MASS MIGRATION FROM U. K. URGED

London — Britain's pioneer of jet propulsion, Sir Frank Whittle, in a newspaper article yesterday, suggested mass emigration from Britain as defence against the atom bomb.

In an article in the Sunday Express, headed 'How to Beat the Atom Bomb,' he says that whole communities should be moved to other parts of the Commonwealth, not slowly over the years, as some suggest, but as swiftly as possible. With them should go their work and their living accommodation."

He says that there should be carried out a large-scale military operation.

Explaining that the order in which the emigrants went was important, he says that in the first phases builders would be needed.

Admitting that the transfer would be an 'enormous task,' Whittle says it would take 100 voyages of a greasy-liner—such as the Queen Mary to make 1,000,000 people by sea.

"Nevertheless we cannot afford to shirk it . . . and we would be wise indeed to face it with a sense of urgency," he adds.

Individuals Can Fly U. N. Flag, Now

Lake Success, N.Y. — Spurred by president requests, the United Nations during the week end, announced a change in its flag code policy.

Baruch Attacks War Profiteers

New York. — The height of immorality," according to Bernard M. Baruch, is reached by those who profited at home while American soldiers fight abroad.

The elder statesman who, last week, urged Congress to impose immediate controls on wages, prices and rents declared that "any subject that would call young men to the colors" and leave behind "those who would profit and profiteer" is contemptible.

"I think it is the height of immorality" Baruch said, departing from his prepared speech at the 175th anniversary observance of the Army Chaplains Corps.

"We must pace ourselves so that we may be ready for every physical attack," he said, "but we much also avoid the inflation that will destroy our home economy."

Flowers at Post Office Greatly Admired

For some years the flower bed in front of the Post Office has been greatly admired by the citizens of the town and visitors. But this year, under the care of Mrs. Gerry Pollard, has excelled himself in the choice of flowers and their arrangement.

The lobelia and alyssum which border the bed and are interspersed among the taller plants, make a beautiful contrast for the geraniums, ageratums and cannas. When the cannas are in full bloom the bed will be a beautiful picture of striking colour.

THE ROADS

The Ontario Government has embarked on a large scale policy of road building. We who are accustomed to drive between Toronto and Napanee rejoice in the evidences of this policy, which are seen all along the way. The dual highway which now extends from Toronto to Oshawa, is being extended. Modern machinery is busy getting the culverts done and the foundation laid. It will be quite an asset and a convenience, indeed almost a luxury when this extension is completed.

Then, too, a lot of bad curves are being straightened and hideous danger spots being eliminated. The work is being done with speed and efficiency. It seems incredible that, within a few weeks after work is started on these projects, traffic is going full blast over the new stretches.

Nobody who drives these roads, however, can fail to be disturbed by the freight cars on rubber, which in increasing numbers, ply the roads. According to the American Automobile Association, "Billions of dollars worth of the nation's finest highways are being pounded to pieces by overweight and overloaded vehicles." That, of course, refers to the United States. Nevertheless, when one sees these recent increments on our Canadian highways, it is hard to escape the conviction that what applies across the line, applies here, too.

We often wonder where the size of these great monsters is going to end. It seems that, as soon as better roads are built, they are cluttered with "bigger and better" trucks.

PANIC BUYING

There have been a good many rumours of panic buying in The United States. Undoubtedly it was fairly general, for the President twice told the people that there was no necessity of hoarding, for there was an abundance of every commodity.

In a recent visit to an American city, we had a look, to see. Not a real survey of course, but a casual look around, and some enquiries from reliable sources. We discovered that each showwindow had few cars displayed. There was a big rush on new and used cars. Tires were hard to get. We lined up at a self-service store — every order had, at least, one five-pound bag of sugar. It was told us that much more was being hoarded and that nylon stockings were being bought in large quantities.

The President's warning has gone unheeded and, as a result of this panic, buying prices have increased. This increase in prices has alarmed the Government. It may be that before this is in print, the Government of the United States will have taken drastic action to check this movement.

It is unfortunately a sad commentary on the selfishness of the Modern Citizen of the Western World. Apparently our high standard of living has so coloured the lives of many people, that they cannot see themselves deprived of the luxuries to which they have become accustomed.

Half the world is hungry and the other half has far more than it can eat, or consume. We cannot preserve a high standard of living by hoarding. The problem is much deeper than that. It will only be solved when this unequality between the haves and the have-nots, is appreciably narrowed. Sharing helps some, but that is not enough, either. The peoples in the backward areas of this world's surface must be shown how to produce; how to get more out of the soil than they now get, and how to develope and exploit their natural resources.

That is a job which has to be tackled on a world scale before the envy of the haves of the have-nots, will be eradicated. And envy, we know, is one of the greatest causes of unrest and illwill, between both individuals and peoples.

WHAT GOES ON ?

As these lines are being written, it is still impossible to tell what Russia has up her sleeve in the about-face tactics she has adopted. After six weeks' boycott of the United Nations, Russia has decided to come back into the Organization. What is she up to ? We do not know until her Representative declares himself at the meeting.

There are several probable ideas. The most plausible is this: Russia will come into the United Nations and suggest that the war in Korea cease, that an election be held in Korea and that the people choose their own leaders. She will thus pose as a great peacemaker. Through her radio broadcasts she will impress the Peoples of the East with her role as a mediator and peace-lover.

But the fly in the ointment is that the Northern Korean Army has overrun practically all Korea. To cease fire and accept the status-quo would be a tantamount to condoning military aggression. If a country can overrun another and then call for an election, then why a U.N. at all.

Not only so, but with the Communists in charge of an election, there is a pretty slim chance of anyone being elected to office, save those who were sympathetic to the conquerors. An election in Communist - controlled countries, is a controlled election. The result of such an election, if held, would secure for the Communists, all they desired. It would give them control of the whole of Korea.

That is the way we in the West, would see it. But all the same, Russia would make a good impression on those countries in the East, who would hear only one side of the argument — over Russian controlled radio.

What should happen, of course, is that the North Korean Army be compelled to retire to the Thirty-eighth Parallel, and an election be held under the supervision of the United Nations.

TWO ERRORS

The Democracies have made two errors in their post-war treatment of Russia in general, and Korea in particular, that are easy enough to explain. With respect to Russia, the Democracies have taken her word at face value. It is assumed that when a nation gives her word to a pact, or a plan, that such will be kept. That is the only way in which the world, either in politics or economics or anything else, can function. If we cannot trust people, then it is hard — if not impossible — to deal with them. We cannot do business with a man who does not keep his word, does not meet his obligations if it suits his convenience not to do so. The same is true on the international level. The Marxian philosophy justifies any course to the achievement of its purpose. There is no harm — so the Russians believe — in breaking a treaty or an obligation, if doing so suits their purpose. It is hard to do business with that sort of people.

The other mistake has been made in Korea. We have assumed that every nation has a right to run her own affairs. It was assumed that Koreans should hold an election, choose their leaders and then all would be well.

But the Koreans had never been trained in democratic processes. All the time the Japanese were in control — that is from 1904 to 1945 — no Korean took any part in politics; they were not permitted to do so, and higher education was permitted only for a few to whom Japanese gave consent. It was a mistake, therefore, to assume that people could run their own country, without a good deal of training.

Then, too, we know from experience, how hard it is to make Democracy work. It takes hundreds of years to make a Democracy work smoothly. People of different opinions, different religions, have to learn to work together. They must learn to give and take. That takes a long time — a very long time. It was certainly an error to assume that by setting a democratic process up in Korea, it would work itself. A Commission, operating under the United Nations, should have stayed in Korea, for years: perhaps fifty years, training and guiding the people to govern themselves.

It may be that something of that sort will have to take place when the present crisis has passed.

ELIJAH
A COURAGEOUS PROPHET

Lesson Text: I Kings 18: 30-39

The situation that Elijah faced was pretty bad. It was not a new condition. It is not an ancient one. We still face it. Elijah was a sort of fanatic, a puritan. He would be called by the so called respectable citizens of his day a kill joy. The people of his time had gone hay wire in their worship of sex.

The Hebrews were ordinarily a people of strict morals. It was from them we got the ten commandments. But they got into bad company. The people round about were pagans. Their worshipped gods that brought fertility to the fields, and increased the herds and flocks. The worship was associated with the process of reproduction. The church services were more like emotional orgies.

The Hebrew people fell into the ways of their neighbors. Gradually the environment conquered their opposition. They began doing what the Jones's were doing, and in a short time—a few years—the Hebrew people were conquered by their environment. It proved too strong for them. I have watched that process at work in our own day. I have seen people who a few years ago would have been horrified at drinking, fall into the habit, because others were doing it. They became afraid to stand alone, and finally caved in, gave parties at which liquor was served, and sort of glorified in it.

As we try to estimate contemporary civilization, it is hard to escape the conviction that we are living in a time of crises. Old standards have gone and we hardly bat an eyelash, and that goes for a lot of us who have given our lives to religious work, as well as to others.

Elijah faced that. The people had slipped, and the priests were not as useful but bitter. They, too, had lost their enthusiasm for the old standards. They became leaders in the new and brighter religious practices of the "younger generation". The chapter out of which this week's lesson is chosen portrays that conflict in a very dramatic way. He set out to demonstrate to the people that Jehovah was God.

It was a time of drought. For three years there had been no rain. Elijah challenged the priests of Baal to a contest. The lesson tells about it. The Priests of Baal failed in the test. Elijah succeeded. The sacrifice was burned, when Elijah made adequate preparation in invocation and prayer to God. Just what happened is impossible to explain on any human basis. At any rate the lesson is unmistakable. The way of righteousness was vindicated. It was demonstrated definitely and unequivocally. God desires and supports decency, in rality, and obedience to the moral law.

There is place in our church life for a few prophets of Elijah's type. Men who are not afraid to call things by their proper names, and to condemn those in high places for evasion of their religious precepts, and for their easy conformity to an exotic way of life. And, of course, besides a few leaders of that sort, we need a lot of the rank and file who refuse to bow the knee to Baal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Deseronto, Ont.

To the Editor of
The Napanee Beaver.

Dear Sir :—

Some Canadian papers made a great splurge that the President of the United States was going to build the St. Lawrence canal as a defense measure. The President can order the Army engineers to make a survey and an estimate and a report to lay before Congress, but that is as far as he can go. Before construction Congress must vote the money and the Senate must approve—and this, the Senate will not do unless a large majority in Congress, vote for the Bill. This means that the St. Lawrence canal will be a political football for a long time to come.

The way a great many Congressmen and Senators look at it is: to build a 27 ft. deep and 200 ft. wide canal from tide water to Lake Erie, a dam and canal would have to be built at Montreal to back the water up to Barnhart Island. No engineer has ever been able to estimate the cost of the canal and dam at Barnhart. To build a canal through the Thousand Islands that size would lower Lake Ontario from 5 to 10 feet, if allowed to run free, so that another dam and canal would have to be built there to hold the level of Lake Ontario. To build a canal from tide water to Lake Erie, and lower all the harbors to 27 feet, would stagger all imagination and would make the Panama Canal a playboy's dream, in comparison. If such a scheme could be accomplished it would be a financial flop. For five months ofthe year it would be frozen up.

It is the steel interests that are clamoring for this monstrosity. They want to continue to get their supplies from their ports in Lake Erie. They know the Masaba mines are playing out and they are looking at our mines in Labrador to keep them going. They cannot buy the Brazil ore for export and ours should be the same. If Uncle Sam wants to put his mills on the banks of the St.Lawrence he will be welcome. There is an abundance of Hydro power going to waste there. To help him build an impossible canal — if it could be built — that would help only him, is void of the question.

To build a canal from Lake Erie to Lake Superior is impossible. At the St.Clair flats it would take a dam fifteen miles long and forty feet high, built on shifting sand, and no engineer has ever even made a suggestion about it. Western Congressmen and Senators all know this, so that there will never be a St. Lawrence canal in our time or forever after.

New York and Ontario could build a power dam at Barnhart, that would be in operation the year round and would pay for construction in time. This would be a mighty benefit to all of us, but the canal is an impossibility.

Stalin Loves Our Pacifists

BY LEWIS MILLIGAN

A British Methodist minister, Dr. Donald Soper, is reported to have told a 'hushed gathering' at Bradford, England, that he would rather see the world overrun by Communism than plunged into a third world war. Dr. Soper is said to be 'an ardent pacifist', and he presumably would have the British Government adopt a policy of non-resistance towards Soviet Russia's ambition to dominate the world. But Russia is the most completely militarized nation in the world, and if Communism were to overrun Britain, Dr. Soper would cease to be a pacifist and even a Methodist minister, or he would cease to exist.

There would be no surer way of starting a third world war than for Britain to follow the advice of Dr. Soper. It was that very policy that led to the last world war. The appeasement of Hitler, so far from pacifying him, only made his bolder and the more arrogant in his determination to conquer the world. There would have been no Second World War if Hitler and his Nazi gangsters had known that the British people would resist them to the death, as they did in the Battle of London and Dunkirk.

All would-be world conquerers are bullies and bluffers. Stalin is a much bigger bully and crafter bluffer than Hitler ever was. He has been able to scare his victims into submission by his military might, and he tried the same on Western Europe with the Berlin blockade, but it didn't work. His bluff was called by the air-lift, and his plan to overrun Europe was stalled by the Atlantic Pact, plus the atomic bomb. By means of the Cold War he has been able to keep the Western Nations preoccupied with his threat to Europe and distract their attention while he was overrunning China by proxy through the back door.

In all these moves Stalin has avoided a direct clash with the West's big Nations. He has bullied and bluffed his way in the United Nations until he rendered that body futile, and his withdrawal from its activities on a technicality was a ruse to cover up his plan for the conquest of South Korea. That being accomplished, the whole of Asia would, by the same process of piece by piece be annexed to the Russian Empire.

What Dr. Soper and his fellow pacifists do not see is that it is not a matter of Communism, as a social and economic system, overruning the world. Stalin and his associates are not idealists, and they are not Communists in the social sense of that term; they are unscrupulous and ruthless crew of international gangsters. The purpose of the United Nations was to establish and preserve world peace, but they have used it to keep the world in a state of political chaos and fear of war. Stalin does not want another world war, for he knows that he would eventually go the way of Hitler.

Another English minister, Rev. E. Ewart Jones, in a letter to The British Weekly, supplies the best answer to Dr. Soper when he says: "The cardinal error of the United Nations has been in admitting Russia into its counsels without first requiring her to restore to the Baltic States the freedom filched from them, at the close of the war, when her Allies were engrossed in making peace. Russia's object in joining the U.N.O. was apparently to follow up her success. Finding that she could not get what she wanted, but was always being checked, she withdrew. This is entirely consistent with her previous attitude and intentions. Having sacrificed its cardinal principles in the first place, U.N.O. is finding it increasingly difficult to recover its lost prestige, or make any headway in its relations with Russia. Some of us have known from the beginning that this must be so. The only policy that will eventually win the respect of Russia is that the United Nations shall stand solidly and firmly for justice and righteousness in conformity with the Charter, and leave the issue with God."

Proof Of Climbing

There are 287 steps in the lofty Scott Monument in Princess Street, Edinburgh, but it is not everyone who has the hardihood to complete the climb.

Last summer a party of American visitors who had reached the 287th step suggested to the Lord Provost's Committee that there should be some form of certificate available at the top of the Monument to prove that the climber had reached his goal.

This idea is to be adopted, and next summer visitors who reach the topmost gallery will be able, for the price of sixpence, to extract a ticket from an automatic machine. When the ticket is produced at ground level the keeper will supply the necessary certificate.

Surely no one will be [illegible] to [illegible] certificate which [illegible] the climb, while the wife [illegible] halfway up or down below ?

Libraries For Vacationers

London, Eng. — A scheme to use public libraries for distribution of vacation information has been launched by the Home Holidays Division of the British Tourist and Holidays Board.

More than 3'0 libraries, all in industrial areas, are backing the scheme which is part of a national campaign to develop the holiday habit.

One of the functions of the Home Holidays Division is to encourage more people to take vacations away from home in accordance with the generally accepted theory that the beneficial effect on health and morale which comes from a complete break from day-to-day environment is reflected in a stepping-up of industrial efficiency.

The scheme aims at providing workers in industrial areas with on-the-spot information about vacation resorts. Instead of writing to individual resorts for guide books and tariffs, workers will be able to walk into the local library and secure information they need to plan their vacation program.

An ancient Hebrew law commanded that all debtors be released from their debts every seventh year, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FOUL TIPS...

The ups and downs in the C.O.B.L. continue ... particularly with the local A's. ... Their hard earned third place is now too secure ... with the Brockville Memos and Bata closing the gap.

Those who saw the Memos take the A's ... 8 to 3 ... in a free hitting affair ... especially for the home fans ... They pasted big Ed. Hooper for 9 safeties and our Stanley for one in 8 frames.

"Bill" Henry Aldrich, 16-year-old right-hander for the Memos, had the locals eating out of his hand up until the start of the sixth before he gave way to start to give free tickets ... the breach was filled quickly with none other than the famous "Smoky" Smith.... formerly of Bata .... and late of the Northern loop.

Smith ... who claims his arm was not in good condition as yet ... did all right for himself. ... Anything he gave up did not amount to much ... and that crossfire hook stopped any ideas of clouting it out of the Park. ... If his arm is not in good shape now ... we would like to see it when it is.

Some apparent changes have been made in the headquarters of the Athletics ... the Joseph was doing the "mastermind" the other night ... Vic Burtt was absent also ... included Mrs. Bredeney, of Toronto; Miss Estella Ingoldsby, Wes. Virginia; and Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Leughrin, of Toronto.

SCOUT NOTES

Studying the Beaver :

Wolf Cubs of the 3rd Barrie, Ont.-ario, Pack studied Canada's national animal, the Beaver, from more than one angle, recently. Cubmaster W. M. Salter had persuaded a guide to send a Beaver for study purposes. The Cubs examined the animal in detail and then were able to taste it, for the pelt sent a hind quarter which had been roasted and which the Cubs enjoyed in sandwiches.

Wolf Cub's Collector and Observer Badges :

This is the time of the year for members of the two packs to work on their Collector and Observer's Badges. They are two splendid outdoor badges and can easily be gained with a little study while enjoying summer camp life. Collections of leaves or flowers may be submitted by those Cubs desirous of passing this particular badge.

The tests for the Observer's Badge is a bit more difficult but will bring no end of joy to the Cub who finds nature study interesting. A knowledge of five Canadian animals or birds, or the knowledge of the habitumes and appearance of twenty Canadian flowers, or of 15 Canadian trees and shrubs, will carry the smiling Cub through the first half of this badge's requirements.

13 Auto Mechanics

Thirteen Edmonton, Alta., Scouts recently earned their Auto Mechanics Badges after a twelve-week course. The course was conducted by Harry Holt, who had the co-operation of Harry Cohen, owner of the Jasper Auto Parts shop. Mr. Cohen permitted full use of his shop and equipment for the course which took up two nights a week. The Scouts were required to get 84 per cent. on the examination, to pass.

WEDDING BELLS

MORRISON—BIER

Decorated with white gladioli, the Zion Evangelical Church, New Hamburg, Ontario, was the scene of a lovely mid-summer wedding at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, July 22, 1950, when Jean Marjorie Bier, of Napanee, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Her matching pillbox was similar to that of the bride, and she carried a dainty muff of tulle with a spray of white gladioli florettes.

The bridesmaids, both dressed the same as the maid-of-honor, were Miss Frances McCuish, of Cooksto wn, Ontario, and Mrs. H. B. Lind, sis er of the groom, of Brockville.

NAP. ATHLETICS WIN FIRST GAME BASEBALL CONGRESS

PLAY AT 1:00 P.M. TODAY AND TONIGHT

The Napanee Athletics upset the predictions of the "Who's Who" in baseball by winning their first game of the Eastern Ontario Congress at Kingston on Tuesday night, defeating the Kingston Monarchs 5 to 3 in a 6-innings affair.

Hooper went the route for Napanee and allowed six safeties, while Harry did the chores for the losers, allowing six safeties also. Gerow led the hitters with a single, double, and a triple, followed by McQuade with a single and a two-bagger. Hay's gathered the extra single.

The results of the other games of the night were: Smiths Falls won over Bata; Brockville defeated Gananoque; Picton defeated Kingston Leafs.

The draw for Wednesday's schedule resulted in the Athletics taking on Brockville at 1:00 p.m., and who they play in the night game was not known at press time.

Outboard Races

The interest shown by about 700 summer campers and citizens of the County in the outboard races held recently on the south shore of the Deseronto Bay, near Buzz Curry's home, has prompted officials of the Quinte Outboard Association to hold another meet at the same place next Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

NAPANEE POLICE RECOVER STOLEN CAR

Alertness on the part of the Napanee Police resulted in a car stolen in Toronto on Monday night, July 31st, being recovered in Napanee early on Tuesday afternoon.

The police in Napanee were warned by police radio to be on the lookout for a 1949 Plymouth Sedan, belonging to the Drive-Ur-Around Taxi Co., in the city, which had been stolen.

Chief-of-Police Baker and Provincial Constables Bolster and Brennan stationed themselves on Dundas St. in Napanee during the early part of Tuesday afternoon, and soon saw the stolen car parked in front of the Richelieu Hotel. Hiding themselves in nearby doorways they had to wait only a few minutes until a man approached the car and, after looking about anxiously, attempted to enter the car. Just then he was apprehended and placed under arrest. A short time later a second man was arrested and both were placed in the County Gaol.

The men were Wm. Thos. Moran, 37, of Toronto and Everett W. Shenfield, 25, of Toronto. Toronto police came to Napanee Tuesday night to escort the men back to Toronto.

WILL RUSSIA STAGE A BLITZ THROUGH IRAN

BY FRED J. ZUSY

Iran will not be another Korea.

That's the opinion of seasoned observers thoroughly familiar with the situation in this oil-rich country South of the Caspian Sea, which has a 2,000-mile common border with the U.S.S.R.

These informants argue Iran is in danger of invasion from the North only if Russia decides on all-out war.

A blitz through Iran to seize the great oil fields on the Persian gulf—a vital strategic prize—then might be in order. But these observers believe the Soviet could not justify—even with twisted propaganada—any local aggression.

Unlike North and South Korea, the present Iranian-Soviet border has been unchanged for years.

There are some small groups now in Russia who might conceivably form the nucleus of a 'people's front liberation army.' Observers say these are too small, however, to matter much.

The Russians now have under their protection a number of Kurds from Iraq. Some of the Kurds — wild tribesmen — have demanded in the past a Kurdish republic in Northwest Iran, Northern Iraq and Syria and part of Turkey.

Immediately after the last war the Russians attempted to foster a Kurdish people's republic, but it collapsed after a few months.

Russia also controls refugees of the short-lived Azerbaijan people's republic, set up about the same time in Iran's Azerbaijan province.

Strong Iranian resistance, backed by the United States and the United Nations, forced the Communist leaders there to flee.

Iran's border has been remarkably clear of "shooting" border incidents for the last six months although tension still exists in Iran's Northern provinces.

The Tehran press has reported that flares have been fired at night along the entire Northern front for the last three or four months. This may be a Soviet war of nerves, or, perhaps, only a precaution against night time border crossings.

There is a verified report, however, that along the Azerbaijan front, both sides have been firing tracer ammunition into the air at night.

Both the Soviet and Iran maintain strong border garrisons. Every now and then there are reports of Soviet troop movements.

Homogenous tribal groups live on both sides of the border. Members manage to cross from one side to the other across open fields.

The Soviet opened an exchange of notes with Iran several months ago complaining about Iranian planes for aerial photography in Northern Iran in connection with oil exploration.

The Russian note said the planes have a 'militarty purpose' and that these operations by foreign representatives may cause danger to the borders of the Soviet.'

The note added this was at variance with the Soviet-Iranian friendship treaty in 1921. This treaty, which the Russians blustered about continually more than a year ago, provides that Russian troops can march into Iran if the Soviet feels itself endangered because of operations by a foreign power.

Iran has replied it considers its search for oil purely an internal matter. It made a big concession to the Russian protest, however, by backing down on plans for aerial photography in regions contiguous to the land frontiers of the USSR.'

THE MIMICRY OF THE LYREBIRD

There are birds we never see or hear that are most unusual and interesting. For instance, there is the African gray parrot that uses face powder, keeping its face coated with a fine white powder which it gets from a curious patch of feathers on its breast, caused when the tips of the feathers break off, forming a talcum powder. The colour of the cockatoo's feathers, a bird of the tropics, can when it rains dye the feathers an impermeated with metallic copper tint.

Much has been written about the call of the lark and the whip-poor-will but it would be a novelty to hear the cornerake, a common bird in Europe, which is an excellent ventriloquist, or the Australian lyrebird, believed to be the best imitator of sound in the animal kingdom. With incredible fidelity the Australian lyrebird can mimic the bark of a dog, the crow of a cock, the cry of a child, the hum of a saw, and the whistle of a locomotive. The native cry of a large bird found only in New Caledonia is similar to that of the barking of a dog.

A species of bird, called the guan, its only habitat high up on the wooded slopes of a certain Guatemalan volcano, moos like a cow and is unlike any other bird call. The Brazilian bellbird, about the size of a pigeon, gets its name from the fact that it makes the sound of a hammer on an anvil. The cry of the mompot, in Central America is a quizzical 'hoo-hoo', while the quetzal the national bird of Guatemala, runs the gamut from two plaintive notes to a discordant scream. However, the noisiest bird of all is the tropical cockatoo, for the din made by one single bird is enough to drown out a dozen automobile horns.

A remarkable bird found in Mexico is the bee martin, which has a flick of ruffing up the feathers on the top of its head into the exact semblance of a beautiful flower, and when a bee comes along to sip the honey from the supposed flower it is snapped up by the bird. The sandpiper, a bird of the desert, sucks up water in its plumage and carries it to the nestlings with the young birds sucking up the water from the bather.

The oyster catcher, native to sea coasts in the tropics, gets its food only because its sharp-edge bill can be used in opening oysters, clams, sea dfish and other mollusks.

Oyster catchers make no attempt at nest building but deposit their three or four eggs among the bare pebbles. Another bird that gets its food in an unusual way is the cassowary of Australia, which catches fish by allowing them to swim into its plumage but the phalarope spins as well as just being present at. The natives of Tahiti where it is devoured by the bird, dote by reaching the nest. The food of bird varies even to the extent of feeding regularly on poison for the Malayan hornbill thrives on a diet of strychnine which is found in an unusual way in the cases in the seeds of a tree the bowary of Australia, which catches fish by allowing them to swim into its plumage but the phalarope spins as well as just being present at. THE FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN – 1951

The Festival of Britain, to be held from May to September, 1951, will be a nation-wide demonstration of Britain's leading achievements in the arts, sciences, technology and industrial design. The centrepiece of the Festival will be the Exhibition on the South Bank of the River Thames.

Because many aspects of England's national life and achievement do not lend themselves to Exhibition display in a place reliant mainly on glass, literature, sociology—the South Bank Exhibition will be mainly concerned with those contributions of science, technology and industrial design which can be illustrated by displays of tangible things and in which Britain's prestige stands highest. It will cover new ground by telling a continuous story throughout the whole of its extent, each pavilion providing a chapter in this story and adding evidence and argument to the main theme of British achievement.

The South Bank site—approximately twenty-seven acres—is very well fitted for such a task by contrasts with recent national and international exhibitions, but there the visitor will find a concise presentation of the most significant aspects of contemporary British science, technology and industrial design, and will be encouraged to visit other parts of the country where the story may be followed up in greater detail.

For example, the trade inquirer whether from home or overseas, will be well served by information industry in each main section of the Exhibition; are buyers, having seen the range of British manufactured goods in the Exhibition, will be encouraged to make contact with the industry itself.

The Exhibition and exhibits will be selective to a degree never before attempted, for not only will the story be limited to illustrating British achievements, but the exhibits themselves will be selected solely for their quality, design, and efficiency, seeing that in many activities and industries British achievement is not significantly in advance of other countries and it will be no reflection on an industry or on a particular manufacturer not to be included.

The Exhibition will not be a trade fair; industries or businesses cannot buy exhibition space. But between the manufactured exhibits will be selected for the credit they will bring British industry, the 1951 Exhibition will promote British Business on a national scale and will powerfully reinforce our export drive.

The scientific and engineering displays will be selected on the grounds of their relevance to the story of British achievement. They will be based in all sections, showing how science has increasingly contributed to every aspect of civilization. The convenience of technology such as will be demonstrated in the appropriate sections and some results of research which have yet to be applied will also be shown.

Three other supplementary Exhibitions, two in London and one in Glasgow will deal in more detail with Architecture, Science and Recreation respectively, and the amusement section normally associated with any large exhibition will be in Battersea Park.

A VALUABLE WOOD

One of the most valuable woods in the world, teak has been known and largely used in India for more than 2,000 years. Its extraordinary durability — even in warm countries — is remarkable. Examples of wooden beams made of teak are been found in India and Burma in buildings many centuries old, and instances have been known of beams lasting more than 1,000 years.

In its youth the tree grows with extreme rapidity. Two-year-old saplings o nsuitable soil usually reach 2 height of five to as many as ten feet. In fifteen years the average height is sixty feet with a girth of nine inches forr or five feet from the ground. Mature trees are usually anything from 100 to 150 feet high, and are often from 10c to 200 years old.

Teak is used for shipbuilding, furniture-making, for door and window frames, and for many other purposes.

EGYPTIAN RELICS UNCOVERED

A peasant's plow has led to the discovery of a richly decorated sarcophagus of Queen Takhut, wife of a pharaoh who ruled Egypt twenty-five centuries ago, Dr. Etienne Drioton, director-general of the Egyptian Antiquities Department, said recently.

The discovery was made near the village of Atrib, north of Cairo. Atrib in antiquity was known as Athribis.

The plow hit a solid object which seemed to the peasant worth investigating. He called in the experts. Digging unearthed a white quartzite sarcophagus upon which the figure of Queen Takhut was carved.

Inside the sarcophagus was a wooden coffin, which in its turn contained the mummy in accordance with ancient custom. A sculptured image of the queen's face. The sculptured face was covered with a mask of solid gold. Inside the coffin was a mummy. The head was encircled with a gold diadem. Around the neck was a string of gold-en amulets. Thirty gold rings covered from the fingers. At the mummy's

COOKING VEGETABLES

1. Never use soda in cooking vegetables. It destroys some of the vitamins and flavour.

2. Recommended cooking methods are baking, steaming and steam-boiling. This latter method is cooking in as small a quantity of water as possible, such as half an inch. It is recommended for young, fresh garden vegetables.

3. Over - cooking and too much water cause loss of minerals and vitamins and destruction of true colour and flavour.

4. The liquid in which a vegetable has been cooked or canned should be used for soups, cream sauces, gravies or vegetable juice drinks.

5. Fresh or dried herbs, leaves from celery tops often add flavour and variety to vegetables or other dishes.

6. Serve a raw vegetable once a day.

7. Scrub tender young vegetables. Trim wisely. When you peel, peel thin. When you cut, cut even pieces. When prepared, do not allow them to stand in a warm room, keep in a small amount of water in the refrigerator. Better still, prepare vegetables in time to dash them onto the stove to cook.

8. Add one teaspoon of salt to each pint of water and then it is not necessary to add salt when they are eaten.

9. No matter what some people say, a tight-fitting cover maintains an even, constant boiling point and prevents too much steam escaping, therefore reducing the danger of burning dry.

10. When the pot of vegetables begins to boil, reduce the heat to keep boiling, but never allow a "rushing" boil.

11. Do not cook to death. Keep track of the time. When a fork can be gently pushed into a piece, drain the liquid into an enamel or heat-resistant glass jar.

12. To serve as a buttered vegetable, shake the fresh cooked food over a warm electric element, then add one tablespoon of butter for each cup of vegetables. Fold a piece of cheesecloth over the food if it is not being served immediately. Serve in a warm vegetable dish.

Housekeeping Hints:

A boiled potato is a humble thing. It needs color—a dash of paprika or a sprinkle of chopped parsley can pep up plain fare.

Left-over potatoes diced and tossed into cream sauce or concentrated cream soup makes a good supper dish. Sprinkle with parsley.

Split big baked potatoes and scoop out part of the centre and put in scrambled egg or sandwich filling.

Diced carrot and onion sauteed in a covered casserole with very little added water, makes a tasty vegetable dish.

Two dishes cooked with little water in the pressure cooker will preserve any bland meal's flavour.

The purpose of a tea kettle is to heat water to boiling point for tea. Every time you make tea measure only the amount you will require. Place the teapot in a warm place so it is not necessary to use a large amount of water to scald the pot. Always turn the electric switch off as soon as the boiling point is reached.

Cooking meats and desserts in quantities sufficient for two meals is a habit of the modern homemaker. Store servings for next day in the electric refrigerator and carry it sufficiently when you serve them for a second time.

Glass cooking dishes are those containing food prepared in servings or diced in small uniform pieces.

POLITICAL STRAWS IN BRITAIN

London — Political tipsters on both sides of the fence predict now that the thin Socialist control of Britain's affairs will last at least until next spring.

Some say a new election may not come even that soon.

The Conservative boss of Prime Minister Attlee's candidates lined up to run for almost every seat in the House of Commons but political chiefs who guide the party still have no coherent program on paper. They don't think they'll need one for several months.

The Labor party is going full speed ahead with a new platform which stresses a slowdown on public ownership plans.

A preliminary plan has been drawn. It will get a final polishing from Labor's executive committee, then will be moved on to local parties in each constituency for discussion. The final program will be ready by mid-October. In that month it will also get a going over from the Labor party's annual convention.

The Prime Minister has power to request the King at any time to dissolve parliament and call a new election, but Labor party informants say Attlee is in no mood to chance a test at the polls yet and probably won't be before next spring.

Last February's balloting which cut Labor's majority from overwhelming control of the Commons to a shaky working majority of one, allowed political sentiment evenly split in the country.

Intended tapping of popular feeling has shown no convincing swing to either party. That's perhaps the biggest reason why neither party wants a new election soon. They don't want another extensive campaign to end in another near-deadlock.

The critical turn in world affairs, marked by the outbreak of war in Korea, is casting its shadow on the political scene. If general war should grow from that conflict, British politicians would most likely enter a truce under which Prime Minister Attlee's regime would continue but without its controversial Socialist program. The burden of administration would rest on Attlee and his lieutenants. This would last until conditions are ripe for a new parliamentary election.

INDIA'S THREE YEARS OF INDEPENDENCE

BY ROBERT C. MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Nearly three years of independence finds India far behind in its planned social and economic improvements. But optimistic of the future.

Foreign residents, however, make gloomy predictions, some even foreseeing chaos within two years.

India was hit with a blizzard of troubles when it took its first toddling steps as a new democracy on August 15th, 1947. An estimated eleven million of its people became homeless refugees during the Punjab riots in which more than a million Hindus and Moslems died the violent deaths of a religious war. Thousands of these refugees are still on Government relief, and agricultural production in this "bread basket of India is still far below normal.

Kashmir went up in smoke and flames even before the dead were buried in the Punjab. Pakistan "raiders" swept through the beautiful mountain valley state burning, raping and looting everything in sight. The Hindu Maharaja fled and the people banged on India's door, pleading for help and annexation. They got both in what became the costliest war India has yet fought. Its troops still face the Pakistanis along a five hundred mile "cease fire" line in the stalemated war that takes fifty cents out of every government dollar.

Then came devaluation of the rupee which pushed already rising prices to all time highs and started an economic cold war with Pakistan, which refused to devaluate. Trade between the two countries practically stopped, and thousands of Indians normally employed in processing Pakistan grown jute and cotton were jobless.

More woes have come with the growth of Communist terrorism throughout India. Indian Communists admit one objective — the overthrow of the Nehru Government by violence. Fanatical, well disciplined, armed and eager to become martyrs, the Communists are wrecking trains, guerilla raiding villages, disrupting communications and inciting labor strife at every opportunity. One high government official blames India's communists for the direct and indirect deaths of more than 2,000 people a month.

Besides suffering from strikes and shortages of raw material, Indian industry needs new machinery and equipment to replace its patched and outworn plants. New capital, however, is hesitant about investing in India without guarantees.

Many foreign business houses, particularly British, feel their days in India are numbered. The better managed and more efficient foreign companies make the competition difficult for Indian organizations, and European business men feel it will only be a matter of time until the clamor for "restrictions on foreign business" is acknowledged by New Delhi.

The curtailment of dollar imports by 25 per cent of the 1948 parcels does has hurt. Not only has it deprived India of much needed capital goods, but has also inflated prices on hard to get American drugs and necessities.

India's biggest difficulty is food. The partition gave Pakistan the majority of the agricultural areas, forcing India to spend an estimated quarter of a billion rupees yearly for imported foodstuffs. The government had hoped to be self-sustaining in 1950. The new goal is late 1951.

Increased government expenditures are another liability. India has become one of the greatest bureaucracies in the world, and duplication of authority and inefficiency are universal. Many of the government functions previously regarded by the Indians as "useless and British" are not only continuing, but their usefulness has been increased.

There is also government corruption and fraud, but not in any dangerous degree. Plain ignorance and stupidity are costing the Indian taxpayers far more than its dishonest officials.

Offsetting all the shortcoming and disappointments of the Indian Government, there is one incontestable fact — it has made India a far happier country for Indians. Everywhere you go there is a pride in its achievements, and, hope amongst its people for a better future.

Hudson Bay Affects The Weather

Does Hudson Bay freeze in winter?

What happens in fall, winter and spring on that vast body of water has a lot to do with the weather from the Atlantic coast to Manitoba. It can determine whether Montreal, Toronto or Ottawa get rain, snow, hail or clouds. It plays a part in weather forecasting on the western end of the trans-Atlantic air and shipping routes.

There's a defence consideration too. Obviously whether the huge bay gouging the northeastern part of the continent freezes completely in winter is significant from a military point of view.

Just in case you are interested, meteorologists — and the defence people too — now are sure that Hudson Bay does freeze every year. They have been pretty sure for some time, but now they have RCAF reconnaissance flights over it to confirm.

Last winter a Lancaster of the RCAF made four flights over it. Aboard were McGill University geographers and defence research board and transport department personnel.

The flights were to get more general data for the Arctic research branch men of the defence department had more than a casual interest. However their part in the survey came under military security.

There was a time when it was believed the bay did not freeze completely. In fact a government commission in 1929 said it was the only large body of water in the world that never froze over.

Moving Air Masses

Meteorologists say all this is an item from the Arctic which in the long run affects the weather in the Napanee area. The great air masses which move down from the Arctic are dropped in the Hudson Bay region and cooled.

When the air masses are cooled over the bay they are much heavier than the air masses which move down from the Arctic. Therefore they will press cold air masses over this area.

Hudson is said to have frozen on spots in 1609.

HEALTH UNIT ADVISES CAUTION AGAINST POLIO

The County Health Unit has been receiving inquiries recently in regard to Polio. As this is the Polio season, it would be well to keep in mind a few precautions in this regard. No Polio has been reported in Lennox and Addington, this year, and it looks as though we will be much better off than last year when we had eleven cases with two deaths.

Avoid over-fatigue and chilling. Combat the fly menace to the fullest extent. Pay strict attention to personal hygiene. Avoid swimming near any sewage outlet. Drink only pasteurized or boiled milk. In any suspected illness call your family doctor. If any cases of Polio are reported in this County the newspapers will be informed; and more detailed data in regard to precautions will be made available.

FED PARLIAMENT MAY MEET AGAIN IN OCTOBER

A Special Fall Session of Parliament may be called to deal with the Korean situation and the other most generally indicated is October 5th.

The exact date will depend to a great degree on how fast the accelerated program of the Department of National Defence can be put into high gear.

In the meantime, it is certain no troops will be dispatched overseas without the consent of Parliament. The Prime Minister and the Cabinet are adamant on that point. It is not there is a split as to what further aid should be given the United Nations.

It would appear from present and estimated future spending of the Department of National Defence, money appropriated by Parliament will all be used up by about the end of October. With additional emphasis being laid on recruiting the Government is going to rise even more sharply in coming weeks.

The Cabinet has given considerable thought to progress which has been made and to what further steps should be taken.

There are 65 churches of the Latter Day Saints (Mormons) in Britain.

Surprise Visit Paid Lorne Shetlor By Benefactor

Belgian Lady Calling on Canadians She Befriended

Lorne Shetlor, of Napanee, foreman of the Maintenance Crew of the Ontario Department of Highways, Napanee district, received a pleasant surprise last week, when he had an unexpected visit from a Belgian woman, now a resident of the United States, who had rendered him a great service during the second world war.

Mr. Shetlor, a member of the R.C.A.F., was shot down in a Halifax bomber and was a prisoner of war in Germany for a year. The story back of the visit last week, while true, has all the ear-marks of fiction.

On May 2nd, 1944, a Halifax bomber from the R.C.A.F. 429 Squadron, was on its way to unload its bombs on a target in Germany, and, when over Holland, it was shot down. One of the members of the crew of seven was Lorne Shetlor, of Napanee.

After safely bailing out, he was picked up by the Dutch Underground, and was taken to Antwerp, Belgium, by Yvonne DeRidder. While in that city, and with other Canadian Airmen, a member of the underground supposedly was taking them to Brussels, and from there to England. Instead they were arrested later by the Nazi Police.

Lorne Shetlor was a prisoner of war for a year. It was learned later that the man who turned the Airmen was a member of the underground and was working for the Americans and also the Nazis. For every prisoner turned in he was given 1000 francs. Miss DeRidder was arrested later by the Nazis and sentenced to hang, and her father was killed. Two weeks before her sentence was to be carried out, the Canadians took Antwerp and she was freed.

Miss Miss DeRidder, who is now Mrs. Kennedy, stopped in Napanee, and called upon Mr. Shetlor. She had married an American who worked with the Stars and Stripes, an American Army newspaper, during the war, and is now in the army of occupation in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy are on a two months holiday in the U.S.A. and Canada and Mrs. Kennedy is making many calls on persons whom she and other faithful members of the underground had helped escape from the Germans. Her husband comes from California.

FURTHER DECLINE IN UNEMPLOYMENT DURING JULY

The Deputy Minister of Labour has released the following statement on the employment situation:

During the first two weeks of July there was a further decline in the number of persons registered at the National Employment Service Offices.

As at July 13, there were 183,099 applicants for employment, a decline of more than 21,000 during the previous two weeks. The July 13 figure represents a drop of 212,000 from the peak registration figure of 435,-000 at April 13 of this year, and is only 38,000 higher than the 145,000 total at the same date in July, 1949.

Employment has reached an all-time high in an increasing number of industries, and shortages of some types of workers have developed. During the first half of July, skilled construction workers were becoming increasingly scarce and farm help was not too plentiful in some areas. More summer cutting is being done in the logging industry this year and the demand for workers was greater than the supply both in Eastern Canada and on the West Coast.

By region, the decrease during the first two weeks of July in the number of registrations on hand at National Employment Service offices was largest in the province of Quebec, where the total fell from 62,500 to 55,000. In the other main regions, Newfoundland, the Maritimes, Ontario, the Prairies and the Pacific, the drop in each case was just under 2,000.

Several of the major centres reported substantial declines during the two weeks ending July 13 in the number of registrations on hand. The more important of these were St. John's, Newfoundland (1,628); Montreal (2,481), Winnipeg (2,122); and Vancouver (1,404).

The only cities to report increases in the number of live applications on file were Regina, Calgary and Edmonton in the West and Shawinigan Falls, Sherbrooke and Sydney, Nova Scotia in the East. In none of these was the increase larger than one hundred.

GIVE FIREMEN A BREAK AFTER FIRE ALARM

Residents of Napanee are again being requested not to call the Fire Hall immediately after a fire alarm has been turned in. The telephone is needed for several minutes after the bell rings to call firemen who do not hear the alarm.

Calls from people who want to know the whereabouts of the fire add to the difficulty in informing the firemen and securing their attendance at the fire.

Mr. Giroux has had considerable department store experience. For five years prior to the war he was a department manager with the Canadian Department Store in Napanee.

Since his release from the Army he has been manager of Lipson's Picton Store.

Mr. Knuth, who has been manager of Lipson's Store in Napanee in the past four years served overseas as a sergeant in the artillery.

Prior to going overseas he was in business in Napanee and prior to that had been connected with the Bank of Commerce.

LETTER FROM GERMANY

TO MRS. J. C. FITCHETT FROM HER DAUGHTER, MRS. W. HOLTZ.

Stuttgart, Germany,
July 24th, 1950.

Dear Mother:

Well, here we are in Germany and today we are in Stuttgart. This is one of the most bombed-out cities in Germany. It is just block after block of broken-down buildings. Some shells of them still stand and are full of rubble. But they are getting forward and some have been cleaned up and already employ for store, like Eaton's in Toronto, was just a shell. They have built a new one on the next corner and it is larger and more modern.

The country round here is very beautiful — the little villages and cities clustered in the valleys. But as you get close up to them you see every building has suffered from the machine guns and have building walls. The country people are a quiet, orderly race. They all show the effects of the war and are aged beyond their years. Women of my age look and walk like fifty, and women your age are either all dead or are going around, half-dead. The people are friendly and hold no grudges, except against the French occupation army. They seem to think they were treated doughby and seem to be still going around in a daze. I would like to tell you a lot more but cannot write it while here, but will tell you all when I get home, especially about the Gestapo.

I hope John is being a good boy. We have a ring for him. A friends of Bill's youth gave it to us when he saw John's picture. I am also getting a watch from a jeweller in Pforzheim. It was a beautiful city and they did not make war material but but, of course, it suffered also from the war so much that only one-quarter of the city is still standing.

Well mother, it's getting late. Will tell you more the next time.

Your loving daughter
EDITH HOLTZ.

A'S ELIMINATED BY DISNEY LEAFS IN TOURNAMENT

BY KEN REID

Disney Leafs erected a 5 to 0 lead by the fifth inning in the second game of the tournament play before Napanee Athletics threatened. Then Leafs truly had something to worry about. The first four batsmen singled, driving home two runs, before Eric Rank settled down to retire the by strikeouts and a flyout. Napanee's loss meant their elimination from further competition in this year.

Leafs threatened in the first inning when Don Gilmour and Joe Lecandeo singled and Kerluk walked to fill the bases, but with two out, Bill Reardon popped out to Rod Green at short. Neither team made any headway until Tip Logan opened the fourth with a triple to centre field. Kerluk doubled to right, Ferguson trifled to centre and scored when Joe Deko muffed Rank's grounder.

Leafs maintained the attack in the fifth as Bud Allen led off with a double and Logan singled. Hooper's throw to first to catch Logan off the bag was wild, allowing Allan to score and Logan to race to third, where he scored on Kerluk's second double. Stan McTaggart took over pitching duties from Hooper and Reardon, first man to face him, lined into a double play.

In the exciting sixth, Walt. Gerow, Eric Rank, Jack Markle and Bud Green singled in succession. Pinch hitter Johnny Munro struck out and McTaggart fired out to right. The game might have ended there but Leafs missed a routine double play when he carried the ball into the infield, allowing Green to get back to second.

During Hooper's stint on the mound he gave up eight hits, struck out six and walked one. Rank also allowed eight hits, struck out seven and walked one.

TWO FIRE CALLS LAST WEEK END

On Saturday afternoon a grass fire started in South Napanee near the overhead C.N.R. bridge, got out of control and the Napanee Firemen were called. The blaze was put out before it did any damage.

At 2:30 a.m. on Monday, the firemen were called to the apartment of I. Prosserman on the Market Square where a fire had broken out in the kitchen. The blaze was quickly put out with chemicals and only a small amount of damage was done.

An added feature of this year's Vacation School was the Red Cross swimming instruction near Bath Beach. Bath Public School is the school at Bath each afternoon to attend the swimming classes.

Transportation to the Variety in School came to a perfect balance. All expenses were met by free-will donations made by various church organization and by a few individuals. A total of $64.00 was donated to the Vacation School expense account which just paid expenses. This left the children free to donate every cent of their pennies collected to a missionary project. In all the children gave $5.00 to purchase coloured pictures for the life of Christ for use in Mission Field Sunday Schools. The thanks of the school goes out to all those who made this missionary work possible.

BESTING GANGSTERISM

We have had our own troubles in this country with the so-called comics. These books, if we can dignify them with that name, caught the imagination of modern youth. Money grabbers were not slow to see in these a field for personal gain. The country was flooded with them. So serious did the situation become, that the Government had to take a hand and have the publication of these, barred.

It is heartening to learn that other countries, besides our own, have been faced with this same issue. We would hardly have expected that France would have bothered much about such things as comics and gangster pamphlets and novels. But France had done so. She has gone about it in a way a bit different to that in which Canada dealt with the subject. But the method is just as effective.

The law which controls the publication of children's books in France, has now been in operation for a year. A dispatch from Paris has this to say about it:

"Satisfied with progress made thus far, France has just passed the first anniversary of its 1949 law about publications intended for children. Every firm or association putting out literature for young people must set up a committee to direct its youth work. Such committees must contain three members who are French citizens with a good record, who have never been convicted of social offences. "Publications are not censored before going to press, but each publisher of books or periodicals must submit copies when printed to a national control commission, whose duty it is to report violations to the regular legal authorities. The commission is made up of a government official, teachers, publishers, authors, parents, and youth organizations.

"No publication may contain any "illustration, story, news or any insertion showing in a favorable light gangsterism, lying, theft, cowardice, hatred, idleness, or licentiousness, demoralizing youth."

France has avoided the accusation of censorship. It has placed the responsibility squarely on the shoulders of the publishers and a responsible committee. When France takes a stand against these books, it indicates that others, besides Canadians, are becoming alarmed at their effect on growing youth.

SUPPORT THE UNTED NATIONS

The League of Nations died because it had no power to stop unprovoked aggression. For that reason, if for no other, Member States of The United Nations must support to the full, the world organization. It must not be allowed to die from lack of support for its evident duties.

If ever there was a clear case of unprovoked aggression, the attack of North Korea on the South, is it. The Communists and fellow travellers argue that South Korea started the war. Nobody believes them. It is a preposterous claim. There may have been border incidents. How could that be helped. But they were isolated incidents, such as happen on any armed border.

The U.N. must be supported in the stand it has taken. We in Canada, who are members of the U. N. must share the responsibility that membership in that organization, involves. We have already dispatched planes and ships. Ground forces — at least a token group — should go to the scene of battle.

History is being made. For the first time a nation has defied the World Organization command to cease fire. If the North Koreans get away with it, the prestige of the United Nations will be done away. It is a pretty safe assumption that if North Korea succeeds in her defiance of the U.N. no other nation will pay any attention to commands that the U. N. may issue in the future. That is why the situation is so critical.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Last Sunday, August 6th, was the fifth anniversary of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima. The world was aghast at that time, at the destructive power of the new bomb. More startling, however, was the knowledge that the secret of the constitution of the Universe, had been discovered. Within a few weeks of the dropping of the bomb, the war ended.

On the close of the war, speculation turned to the new uses in civilian service to which the new source of power could be applied. Hope was held out that before many years had passed, the nuclear energy would be turned into productive and constructive channels. Five years have passed, during which time Russia has secured the secret of the atom bomb, and The United States has developed an even more destructive hydrogen bomb. How many bombs are in existence, nobody knows. There have been occasional rumors that progress is being made towards the application of new power to industrial uses, but so far, these are only rumors.

The tragedy of this whole matter is that the greatest discovery of all time, is still being turned to destructive prospects. When weapons such as the atom bombs are in existence, it is almost a certainty that pressure will be brought to bear on governments to use them — and very plausible arguments can be advanced for its use.

Already in the Korean conflict the suggestion for the use of the A bomb has been put forward, and of all places, it was seriously put forward in the British House of Commons Shortly after the invasion of South Korea began, Major Peter G Roberts, Member of the House, wondered why the bomb was not used. "Winston Churchill, who has never shown any sign of equeamishness about the bomb, nevertheless, looked around, shocked. From Labor benches came shouts of protest; from the Tories, gasps."

Labor M.P. Emyrs Hughes, reporting for his weekly 'Forward' wrote: "Nearly everybody agreed that Roberts had said something bordering on the obscene." The 38-year-old Major, himself a Tory, was repudiated later the same night by his party leaders, who issued an official statement declaring him "in no way representative."

The use of the A bomb was suggested early in the struggle. Just what will happen if things get worse, is anybody's guess. Ours is that Great Britain will be very slow to sanction its use. Its use would fall hardest on the blue eyed natives of Korea, who are still stunned by the suddenness of the attack on their country, and who must wonder what it is all about.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, August 13

EZRA, INTERPRETER OF GOD'S WORD

Lesson Text: Nehemiah 8: 1-4a, 5-6, 8, 10, 18

When the history of the D.P.'s and the refugees is finally written it will be one of the most tragic stories ever penned. At the close of the war there were twelve million people who had been forced to leave their homes and move in Germany, where they were kept in big distribution centres. There were another five or six million who were refugees, those who had fled before the oncoming Russians. Gradually they are being absorbed into society.

The Hebrew people were the ancient D.P.'s. They were driven out of their homeland and forced to live in Babylon. After seventy years of this they were allowed to go back. Jerusalem was in a mess, walls down, cattle roaming the streets. The people had intermarried with the surrounding natives. Morale was low.

The first thing to be done was restore the city. The walls were rebuilt. Then the citizens were compelled to put away foreign wives. That was a good start. But Nehemiah knew that a lasting civilization could not be built on government decrees. It needed more than that. It needed a moral foundation, firm convictions. So he called a convention of all the people—not only those in Jerusalem, but those from the surrounding districts as well. A large raised platform was built. And from it Ezra, the Scribe, read the Bible. It took a long time, about a week, reading most of the time except for meals. At the end of the week a solemn feast was held, and the people pledged their loyalty to the Bible which Ezra had read to them from their Bible. They pledged their loyalty by the upraised hand.

Of course there was a lot more to all this than just rattling through the Bible. Ezra read it aloud from the platform and spent a bit of time explaining obscure or difficult passages.

It is incalculable the influence a book possesses. We have seen in our own day just what happened when the book Das Kapital, written by Karl Marx, became known intimately to the common people. It changed the whole civilization of our own day. Something like that happened in Europe when the Bible, which had been forbidden, to be read by the common people, was opened to them. What a change the open Bible made! Our forefather fought for it, and paid a price in life and property that we might have the open Bible.

Today we are not reading the Bible as we ought. Nor are our children and young people been steeped in it, and challenged by it. Survey after survey has been made among high school and college students to determine their knowledge of the Bible. All reveal a lamentable lack of knowledge of the very rudiments of the Bible story.

The Bible is the source book of our religion. We shall never have a strong and vigorous democracy until we have once again a real knowledge of the Bible. We are not lacking in aid to that end. There was a time not so very long ago when reading of the Bible was a difficult task. Not so now. There are more and better books today on the Bible than ever before. They are very attractive and interesting too. It would be a great thing if preachers and teachers would gather their people together regularly, read the Bible, study its implications, and see the way in which, all through the years, God revealed Himself to people in all areas of human experience. Indeed, it does not seem possible that in any other way can this generation of christians be given information, courage, and ability, sufficient to enable them to meet the challenge of the paganisms that threaten our way of life.

Classical Auto Race Brings Home A Reminder To England

BY SIR SHULDHAM REDFERN

London. — Motor racing is about as old as the motor car industry. There was a road race in northern France in 1894, and there were probably many 'speed trials' before that though the word speed had a more modest connotation then than it has today.

It has always been maintained by the car manufacturers that the comfortable and efficient family motor car owes much to the research into the design of racing cars, and that as cars are intended to be used on the roads, our races should be held on the roads, too.

The British authorities have remained steadfastly impervious to this argument and the English countryside with its network of narrow twisty roads and many muddle ridden villages has been kept mercifully inviolate from the noise and urgency of the racing motorist.

True, local laws in the Channel Islands, Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man have permitted road racing, but except on one or two private tracks it has never been a popular sport like football, cricket and greyhound racing.

In other parts of Europe, however, car racing has always figured in large type in the sporting calendar and it has been carried on as long as most of us can remember, if only vaguely the old Gordon Bennett trophies of the early years of the century, and these famous races were the forerunner of the Grand Prix d'Europe which is run by the French and contested for annually in peacetime in various parts of the continent.

This year, for the first time, the Grand Prix d'Europe was held in England, an event which may help to remind some people, perhaps against their will, that England is part of Europe but, of course, we could not hold it on our roads or highways as they are more correctly called in Canada; and the most famous of our private tracks — Brooklands — is no longer in use. And so the great race took place on Saturday, May 13th, at an old wartime airdrome, sixty miles north of London in the presence of the King and Queen and 130,000 of their subjects.

The concrete runway which encircled the perimeter of the airfield formed a track three miles long and the absence of banking at the corners made it, no doubt, more difficult for the drivers but easier from the point of view of the spectators. The race consisted of seventy laps of the circuit and took about two hours to run.

The cars all looked to me, much the same — low beetlelike and explosive. As they became spaced out once the head of one lap merged into the tail of another, it soon became impossible for the inexpert to follow what was happening, nor did the blare of loud speakers above the general roar simplify the situation though it must be admitted that the blasphemies of the pit lady valiantly.

I was, however, surprised by the amount of technical knowledge possessed by so many of the onlookers. I was, for instance, amused to hear an old farmer and his friend next to me discussing the names of the drivers and the technical details of the cars as they flashed by, but he was also fully acquainted with the esoteric mysteries of the effects of things like supercharging. I never feel so ignorant as when I am in the middle of an English crowd at a sporting event.

I soon got tired of the pops and bangs of the racing cars and found a greater interest in the throng of spectators and the extraordinary variety of vehicles by which they had got there. The debris of the airdrome—bits of old fuselage, strands of wire, rusty and tattered oil cans, piles of rubble were all brought into use as 'Grand Stands' and the surrounding trees were alive with nests of young men intent on missing nothing.

"Maybe I am a rugged individualist !"

"NO reporters ever interview me. But just the same I figure every man should have his own opinions about politics, foreign affairs, business, or what have you.

"Take all this talk nowadays about old-age benefits, for instance. That's something everybody wants. And each man has a different idea of how much security he wants and how he'll get it.

"I know there are a lot of old folks in this country that really need help. But while I'm young and earning good money, I figure the big part of my own security-building job is up to me.

"So, I'm hanging on to all my life insurance and adding to it whenever I can. It gives me and my family protection — and a better income for the future. And it's all piece of the way I want it.

"What's more, by relying on life insurance for my future security, I know exactly what I stand. My life policy is all edged in my wealth. I know just how much I'm going to pay off — and when.

"That's the way I like it.

"Maybe that makes me a rugged individualist. But if it does, there are millions of others like me. Because most Canadians like to do things on their own !"

WEDDING BELLS

DOWKER - GEROW

Of interest is the wedding of Norma Jean Gerow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gerow of Newburgh, and Leland Basil Dowker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dowker, Harrowsmith. The marriage was solemnized on Saturday, July 22, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at Newburgh United Church by Rev. H.B. Herrington, assisted by Rev. George Mosey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory white lupper satin with nylon and lace trim and designed with round neckline, slim basque and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a coronet headdress of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and maiden hair fern.

Mr. Hanlon Wilson, of Kingston, was best man and the ushers were Mr. William Reynolds, of Kingston; and Mr. Keswick Bedford, Odessa.

Mrs. Hugh Ramsay was soloist and Miss Lulu Fluke was organist for the wedding music.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received the guests in a chic gown fashioned of navy blue sheer with matching accessories. She was assisted by the mother of the groom who wore a soft grey crepe gown, designed with smart simplicity.

For her travelling ensemble the bride chose a blue sheer afternoon dress with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Dowker will reside in Kingston on their return.

ALLORE - BOSMA

St Anthony's Church, Centreville, was the scene of a lovely summer wedding on Monday, July 17, when Margaret Teresa Bosma, eldest daughter of Mrs. T. Bosma and the late Mr. Bosma of Gronmgen, Holland, was united in marriage to John Stanley Allore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Camden East Rev. W.P. Healey officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. Dorner of Boston, Mass., the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon net over taffeta and designed with full skirt and slim bodice. Her long veil was held in place with a satin coronet studded with seed pearls and she wore a double strand pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Alice Hagadorn, friend of the groom, was maid of honour, in a gown of pale yellow nylon velvet with matching headdress. The groom's sister, Miss Betty Allore was bridesmaid, in a floor length gown of orchid taffeta with matching headdress. They both carried bouquets of sweetheart roses and sweetpeas.

Mr. Bernard Allore, of Kingston, brother of the groom, and Mr. R. J. Ingoldsby and Mr. Percy Doyle were ushers. Mr. Ambrose Kidd, cousin of the bride, was soloist, accompanied at the organ by Dennis Nolan. The flower girls were Vincent and Gerald Murphy.

The wedding dinner was served at the Tourist Restaurant, in Napanee. A reception was held at the groom's home, where the guests were received by the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. Dorner, in a gown of rose sheer with matching accessories and corsage of red carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother, in a gown of navy sheer and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's gift to her attendants was pearl rosaries and the groom's gift to his attendants were prayerbooks. For her travelling ensemble for a honeymoon in Montreal, the bride chose a dress fashioned of grey figured sheer with white accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. Dornor, Boston, Mass., Miss M. E. Ingledsby, of Charleston, West Virginia; Mrs. J. J. Brecdanan, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ingoldsby of Watertown, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Kidd, Regina, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Minifee, Kingston; Mrs. S. Lajoie, Frank Allore and Francis Meraw, of Tweed; Mrs. A. Kidd and son, Ambrose, of Erinsville; and Miss Betty Allore, Toronto.

Tommy: Mother, what becomes of a car when it gets too old to run?
Mother: Somebody will sell it to your father.

Rio de Janeiro's new soccer stadium will be nine-foot mast around the field to protect players from over enthusiastic fans.

"There seemed to be no limit to the ingenuity of human beings to add a few inches to their stature, and the way in which the roofs of cars were raised to provide headroom for tall families was, to me, just as good evidence of their constructional skill as anything to be seen in the race track.

"The car parks were jammed with cars of every shape, size, color and vintage. I found myself at one stage behind a car which was a shocker dream—for sellers of lubricating oils. If Mr. Shell or Mr. Esso ever had a prayer this was the answer to it. Through the whirling clouds of blue smoke, I caught an occasional glimpse of a contraption that may have brought a pang of joy and pride to its first owner's heart some twenty years ago. But now with the stops and starts, its creaks and groans, it reminded me of Shakespeare's description of a car in Julius Caesar :

'Which much enforced shows a hasty spark
And straight is cold again.'

At the other end of the scale were the sleek and magnificent Rolls Royces. I have yet to see a car produced in any other country that can compare with them.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE AIDS RURAL HOME ECONOMICS

RAISES HOMEMAKING STANDARDS

The contribution of the Women's Institutes in raising the general standards of health and morale of the population was recognized years ago by the Government of Ontario to be of such importance that it assigned a branch of the Department of Agriculture to assist the Women's Institutes in their work of social education. This branch is now known as the Women's Institutes Branch and Home Economics Service. Its purpose is to carry out the aims and objectives of Women's Institutes and to put into effect the policies of the provincial board. This close association of the Women's Institutes with the Department of Agriculture has always worked out harmoniously and has gone a long way in making rural living more profitable and attractive to legions of people.

The first Women's Institute in the world was organized in 1897 in Saltfleet Township, Wentworth County, in the village of Stoney Creek, by Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless of Hamilton. This remarkable woman felt that rural women needed some kind of organization in which they could work and study together to raise the standard of homemaking. The response to the call for a rural women to help unite was immediate and organization of new Institutes went on at a brisk pace. Six years after the birth of the movement in Stoney Creek, there were thirty similar groups in Ontario. Today, the number of these organizations has passed the 1,400 mark with membership of nearly 30,000 women. The movement has also spread to the other provinces and to many other countries of the world.

Early in their history, the subject of providing a means for education in homemaking became a vital issue in the Women's Institutes. The Department of Agriculture recognized the need and endeavoured to meet it by the appointment of a staff of capable and well-qualified lecturers who were available for courses of instruction to Institute members. The first lecturer was appointed in 1899.

In 1905, the Department secured a Canadian household magazine as an official organ for the Institutes. The publishers agreed to reduce the price to Institute members and to allow Women's Institutes from three to five pages each month in which to publish Institute news and papers read at the monthly meetings. In 1910, at the ninth Annual Convention of the Women's Institutes of Ontario, a committee was appointed to formulate an educational program of educational short courses which could be easily accepted by the Minister of Agriculture which gave it strong support and provided the staff of lecturers and teachers required to put it into effect.

During the next few years the program developed on broad lines and the short courses became the main feature of educational activities in all of the Institute districts. It still constitutes the main work of the Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service of the Department of Agriculture.

The function of this Branch of the Department of Agriculture is to provincate the work of the Women's Institutes and to provide an extension service in Home Economics for all rural women and girls of the province. It was created in 1921 under the name The Women's Institute Branch. In 1946, the title was changed to the present one to more fully explain the functions of the Branch.

Its director is a member of the provincial board of Directors of Women's Institutes of Ontario, acts as adviser and counsellor to this board and is the liaison between it and the Department of Agriculture. The present incumbent is Miss Anna P. Lewis, who has under her a staff of 43 instructors and lecturers.

The services of these instructors are available to the various Women's Institutes of the Province through the Co-operative Program in Home Economics which is based on the resolutions and policies adopted by provincial board of the organization. The courses are open, not only to members of the Institute, but to all women of the community where the course is given. Young mothers are specially encouraged to participate. Where no Institute is organized, arrangements can be made to organize the course by appointing the Institute Branch and Home Economics Service.

The object of these courses is to help women to good and approved practices in home efficiency, but also to develop and train leadership, to more abundant life in the communities and a deeper appreciation.

In the things near at hand, in the building of better, more and more useful citizens. Experience, therefore, convinces the Institute Branch that a successful management, nutrition, home furnishing, crafts and other subjects, leadership, health education, social psychology for the whole family, clothing, programme building, limited means, is distinct courses, but includes the study of the design, quality and characteristics of fibres and fabrics, budgets and care of clothing. The programme is aimed to help makers to select garments and materials to the best advantage and efficiency of the family, to give each member of the home the best possible care and training, and social relations.

The work in foods and nutrition is directed through the years to always aimed to develop interest that will develop through further study and application of the knowledge to individual and family needs. The aim is to lead to a better understanding of the selection, purchase, preparation and serving of food, and to make wise use of the family income.

Home crafts have been in progress since 1933. The course in home crafts offers a wide variety of types of work including small loom weaving, rug hooking, braiding rugs, chair caning, rush and shape matting, stuffed toys, smocking, needlepoint, knitting, quilts and many other crafts for beginners.

Education is another phase of study aims to help homemakers gain a better understanding of the world around them and maintain good health for themselves and their families in the home, the school and the community.

The modern interest in personality and its growing importance in everyday living has brought about helpful living has been recognized in the co-operative program in the form of psychology present the fundamental modern psychological in fields of particular interest to the homemaker, especially in the fields of child training and living together in the family.

All of these various studies and subjects, woven together form a well integrated and complete programme which is available to all the rural women of Ontario. The response is a complete justification for the efforts that the Department of Agriculture has contributed towards the education of Women's Institutes.

CHINESE TYPEWRITER

The Chinese language is picturesque and difficult, and so are Chinese typewriters. Almost as big as dining tables, they look rather like a giant cash register, and are operated electrically on an intricate system known as the "four-digit" But not a modern Chinese typewriter has been designed, the owner, and indeed the designer, of the only one in existence, being Dr Lin Yutang, who has just been appointed Head of the Arts and Letters Division of the United Nations Secretariat.

This Chinese typewriter looks very much like the machines we are familiar with, writing from left to right instead of downwards. The main problem of the symbolic nature of the language is solved by making each key represent a component part of a character. Then, in order to type the whole character, the necessary combination of keys must be pressed down at the same time.

It is hoped that an American firm will produce great numbers of these modern typewriters for the Chinese.

by "Red" Miller

The Eastern Ontario Baseball Congress is over for another season.... and the Steve Martin Trophy .... won by the Napanee Athletics last year .... was duly presented .... in the middle of the night to the Kingston Leafs.

The Leafs, who lost three of the games to the unpredictable McPaul Athletics, of Picton, and two to the Trenton Golden Hawks, of Trenton Falls .... the latter in two games .... to finish on top and rightfully earn the silverware at 2:25 in the morning.

Fourteen games were necessary to bring the series to a conclusion, and the final fixture between the Royals and the L'afs was one of the sternest tests of endurance facing the battling squads.

In their achievement, the Leafs won from Batawa, 6-2; Napanee, 5-2; Picton, 12-3, and then second victory over the Royals, 5 to 4 .... the first, 3 to 2.

Napanee Athletics took the first game of their draw from Kingston Monarchs, 5 to 3, and in the second series lost a 1 to 0 game to Brockville Monos in the dying frame of the effort.

Shortstop Hall crippled, and in an attempt to steal home .... was called "out" at the plate .... but the ball was dropped and in the scramble was "safe" .... the only run of the game .... and the winning tally.

The other Kingston local, came that night, when they dropped a 5 to 2 count to the Leafs.

The Picton McPaul group have finally had a protest to deal with .... the first, we believe .... this season. Some of the details are not quite clear .... but we will try and paint a word picture .... as we hear it, anyway.

The other night in Belleville the Napanee Merchants were engaged in a slug-fest with the Canniffon entry in the league, and in the final portion of the struggle a local hitter scampers to first and arrives there safely .... only to be called out because he failed to touch the last 45 feet on the "outside" of the white base line .... a new rule .... according to Canniffon .... the official presiding.

The locals scan the book quickly .... but fail to find any such legislation .... so they quietly walked away .... it being the final out.

After the showers .... more booklearning is unfolded in .... and nothing further found .... they protested. Someone should see that "Carson" gets a copy of the latest edition of O.B.A. rules.

On Saturday last Batawa Sheemen busted loose with a seven batter inning in the last of the ninth, to make a 7-all tie with Brockville, and forced the game to go 14 innings .... still deadlocked .... The game was terminated by the curfew.

More overtime .... on Monday at Brockville .... a homer in the tenth gave the Memos a 3 to 2 victory over Batawa .... Extra games seem to be the order of the day for these two squads.

The same day .... the Athletics .... or at least part of the regular team .... took a 9 to 0 defeat from the hands of the Smiths Falls Royals at the Falls town.

Two of the regular infield — the Green boys — were absent, and the team was switched around, with everybody but Hayes and McTaggart out of position .... and the latter pitched good ball .... being let down by a flock of errors.

VOTING IN THE OLD DAYS

In a recent broadcast talk, 'Almost a century's memories,' Mr. Theodore C. Taylor, a ninety-eight-year-old woollen manufacturer and former M.P., recalled the time when 'the chief qualification to vote for a member of parliament was to own freehold property of the yearly value of at least £2, or to pay a higher rent than any working man could afford.' He himself, said Mr. Taylor, bought a one-sixth share in some cottages and this gave votes to him and to five other men.

'In 1867,' he continued, 'there was no secret ballot. On the contrary, in order that everyone should know how everyone else had voted, immediately after a Parliamentary election, a booklet was published with the name of every elector who had voted and for whom. I have a copy of the printed official list showing how every elector voted at the first Parliamentary election at Dewsbury in 1868.'

KIMMERLY - BADGLEY

Melrose United Church, Melrose, was the setting for a pretty wedding on Saturday, July 8th, at 2:30 p.m., when Helen Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Badgley, of Shannonville, became the bride of Harold Norman Kimmerly, of Selby, son of Mr. Fred Kimmerly, and the late Mrs. Kimmerly. The Reverend L. W. Scott, pastor of the church, officiated before a background of delphiniums, Canterbury bells and ferns.

Mrs. Charles Bates provided the wedding music and Miss Betty Bates the soloist, pleasingly rendered 'Because' before the ceremony and 'Through the Years' during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her Victorian bridal gown of white satin, featuring a sheer yoke and Bertha collar, outlined with lace and seed pearls. The full skirt was fashioned with a scalloped peplum edged with pleated lace. Her three-quarter length veil of tulle illusion fell gracefully from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of butterfly roses and stephanotis and satin-edged French lace.

Mrs. Jack McFarlane, of Shannonville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Georgina Huffman, of Corbyville, was bridesmaid. Both wore nylon net over taffeta, embroidered with silk appliqué, the former in pink and the latter in blue. Matching mitts and wide-rimmed headdress completed their costumes. They carried crescent bouquets of blue carnations and orchid gladioli, interminged with delphiniums.

Four-year-old Shirley Pascoe, niece of the bride, made a charming flower girl, demure in her floor-length frock of pink, dotted Swiss organdy, daintily trimmed with Valenciennes lace. She wore a flower bandeau and carried a miniature bouquet similar to that of the other attendants.

Mr. Earl Kimmerly, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and ushers were Mr. Earl Badgley, brother of the bride, and Mr. Wm. Kimmerly, brother of the groom.

The wedding dinner was served at the Golden Acre Inn, where the bride's mother, in grey and mauve figured silk, with white accessories and corsage of mauve roses and pink roses, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert Tucker, who wore a gown of navy and white figured sheer, with corsage of red roses.

For a wedding trip to the United States, the bride wore a pink sheer ensemble with white accessories and pink corsage. Since their return, they are residing on the bridegroom's farm, Selby, Ont.

ROADS SHOULD BE CONCAVE

An article published in Kinston and Lindsay papers, and written by C.E. Cobb, an engineer with considerable experience, states:

'Highway pavements in cities and towns are designed the wrong way. They should be concave instead of convex. Putting it in everyday English, they should not be high in the centre, sloping to both sides with a curb on each side to form a gutter.

'With the type of pavement, as used at present, the water runs to the sides of the road and gets away into catch basins, which carry the water back to the sewers, eventually laid under the centre of the pavement. In fall, winter and spring slush accumulates, blocks the catch basins and allows water to accumulate. Passing cars splash pedestrians. Children play in the dirty water. People hesitate to cross the road for fear of getting their feet wet. Ramps are necessary to carry cars up over the curbs into laneways. These ramps have pipes running through them to carry drainage. The pipes are easily clogged. The ramps provide a traffic hazard or at least, a nuisance.

'With the pavement sloping from both sides to the centre, there would be but one gutter in the centre of the roadway, instead of one on each side. This gutter would be situated where people on the sidewalks would not be splashed. Being directly over the sewer, catch basins would be cheaper and easier to build. There would be a saving on the cost of curbs as well, since they would be two inches high instead of six inches. Traffic would keep catch basin gratings open in the centre of the street.

SCAFFOLDING

The oldest of civilizations created a mighty architecture without scaffolding or supporting timber of any sort. Ancient Egypt, mother of civilization, lacked trees, and therefore has no timber, yet her building went on incomparably.

In the absence of timber, Egyptians could still make bricks in unlimited numbers; so bricks solved the problem. With their home-made bricks they built vast ramps up which the slaves hauled colossal blocks of stone from ground level to the uppermost heights of temple.

To the subjects of the Pharaohs there seemed something godlike in these achievements; they believed that their ramps would enable a dead king to step into the starry heavens, there to join the company of the gods. Religious writing of the Egyptians of fifty centuries ago, telling of a dead Pharaoh, declare that 'a ramp to the sky is built for him so that he may go up to the sky thereon.' These were the first skyscrapers!

A New Device For Displaying Goods

An experiment in retail merchandising, aimed at bringing the service of the large city department stores to people in the smaller communities, was launched at Ottawa, Ont., last week.

The president of the company, who has been considering the idea for five years, calls his method 'via-o-matic retailing.'

His new Pembroke order office is a small air-conditioned shop on the main street, fitted with booths and screens on which color pictures of merchandise articles are to be flashed.

The customer sees a series of pictures, selects the article wanted, writes his order out on a pad at his hand. The order is immediately telegraphed to the main store in Ottawa and the goods are delivered the next day by mail or express.

Each picture is like a page out of a mail-order catalogue, except that it is a color photograph taken in the case of clothing, from a live model, and hence is an exact reproduction of the article offered for sale.

If the Pembroke order office is a success, the firm plans to establish others in towns around Ottawa.

The advantages claimed for the new method over the traditional method of mail - order selling through a catalogue are the main considerations which led to the launching of the experiment. The store can sell on a mail-order basis without maintaining a large stock of goods. It can adjust its prices quickly to changes in the market, give its mail - order customers the advantages of small purchases.

The pictures in the color photo catalogue can be changed from day to day, as new goods are bought and old stocks are sold out. Goods bought one week can be offered in the order office the next.

HOW PASTEUR SAVED AN INDUSTRY

A recent Pasteur Exhibition at the Science Museum at South Kensington, London, illustrates the noble work which the great Louis Pasteur did for the world — work which is still being done by Pasteur Institutes all over the world. Louis Pasteur's name will always be a great one because of what he was, as well as what he did. What he did was to pave the way and civilization a knowledge of the chief maladies which have affected men and beast, a knowledge of the means by which the body may either be protected against these diseases or the poison neutralized when once in the body.

Of universal benefit was his identification of the germ of disease or, as he called it, the microbe. The infant now inoculated against diphtheria, and his elders against typhoid or in some hoped-for future remedy against influenza or the common cold, will find that Louis Pasteur was the man who opened the door to that knowledge. Not that he alone did it; others worked and strove as well, but he was the man who established the truth about the germ — that it was a living thing born from a living parent.

Faced Opposition

The great French scientist spent years warring against disappointment and unbelief, but at last he dissipated all doubt and all denial. From this was born the knowledge that the dust of a hospital ward can be as deadly as that of the desert.

Pasteur's treatment of the silkworm disease, is typical of his methods and of himself. Just eighty years ago an epidemic was ruining the industry of the cultivation of the silkworm and 3,500 proprietors in the Alais arrondissement had appealed to the government for help. So Senator Dumas wrote to the only man, Louis Pasteur, and anxiously asked him to undertake the study. Pasteur replied that he had never touched a silkworm, but he would do it. So, beginning with learning all that was known about it, and what was not known about the disease, he set out for the south.

The disease began with the appearance of tiny black spots rather like pepper grains on the eggs, the chrysalis, and the moth. The name given to it by the cultivators was pebrine, from the patois word pebre, for pepper. Pasteur pushed on till he was sure that wherever there was disease there was the black corpuscle. So far, so good, but then came a serious setback. Some of the diseased silkworms were without the pebbre. So he had to begin again. At last he knew that there was a second disease, much less well-known, flacherie. Two years more of work and then at last all causes were known; the silkworm disease was eradicated and the silk industry of Lyons was saved.

Profitable Dairy Cows
More Essential Now Than Ever
Due to years of cultivation and growing of crops the soil becomes depleted of many necessary minerals, etc., consequently many grains do not contain an adequate amount of these minerals.
You can't get milk without feed. The more cow will eat the more milk you will get. But the feed must be properly balanced and contain the necessary amounts of vitamins and minerals as well as proteins and carbohydrates.
To make more money, keep only well bred cows and feed them to the limit with Blatchford's Dairy Meal which is very palatable, contains abundant quantities of all the essential vitamins, minerals and is the most economical feed you can buy.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE CHANGES

Every winter, the cold weather in Canada causes a drop in employment. This seasonal unemployment is a regular characteristic of our economy, and in exceptionally bad winters it is often aggravated by layoffs in particular areas or industries as a direct result of storms or extreme cold.

The amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act, announced at the beginning of 1950, are, in part, a move to better adapt our system of unemployment insurance to fit this seasonal pattern by giving additional assistance to insured workers during the winter months, when, for one reason or another, they cannot qualify for ordinary benefit. It is believed that Canada is the first country in the world to pass such legislation.

Nearly ten years of experience in the administration of the Act has shown other changes to be desirable, and new amendments provide for changes in the classes and rates of contribution and benefits, and for widening the coverage of the Act. Other amendments permit regulations governing the payment of benefit to married women, and increasing the amount which a person may earn in subsidiary employment while drawing unemployment insurance.

Some of these new amendments came into effect on the date the bill was passed, while others will come into effect later by proclamation.

SUPPLEMENTARY BENEFITS

These are designed to extend the regular provisions of the Act by providing additional benefits to those affected by seasonal unemployment. Supplementary benefit payments amount to about 80 per cent of the rate for ordinary benefit, and are payable during the period from January 1 to March 31, except during the present year, when they are payable from the date of the amendment (February 28th) to April 15th.

1 Those who normally work in insurable employment, but who have exhausted their benefit within the fiscal year — that is, since the 31st of March preceding their claim.

2 Those who have worked in insurable employment for too short a time to qualify for ordinary benefit. Such persons must have contributed for not less than 90 days within the fiscal year to qualify for supplementary benefits.

3 Those who have worked in lumbering and logging in provinces other than British Columbia. (These occupations been not insurable employment in British Columbia since 1905, while in the rest of Canada they are only now being brought under the insurance provisions of the Act. Such a person must have worked not less than 90 days in any consecutive twelve-month period during the eighteen months preceding the date of his claim — the 90 days to be made up either entirely in lumbering and logging outside British Columbia, or else partly in that work and partly in any other insurable employment. For this class, supplementary benefit will be paid only during the winter of 1950 and 1951.

Those who have been working in occupations which have been brought under the Act within the 12 months preceding their claim, but too recently for them to build up enough contributions to qualify for ordinary benefit. The requirements here are that the person must have been employed for not less than 90 days since the 31st of March preceding his claim, either in such an occupation or in a combination of that occupation and any other insurable employment.

A person at the cost of supplementary benefit will be financed by an additional contribution of one cent a day by each insured employee, and one cent by his employer. These extra contributions will not be payable until proclaimed, and not before July 1st of this year.

CHANGES IN COVERAGE

Up to now, the top insurable limit for salaried employees has been $3,120 a year. The amendments will raise this limit to $4,800 a year, probably from July 1st, 1950. Employees paid by the hour or day and those on piecework will be insured, as they were before, regardless of the amount of their earnings. As by a recent Order-in-Council, the provisions of the Act will be extended to everyone in Canada engaged in lumbering and logging as from April 1st, 1950. Those employed in logging operations only by British Columbia, while in the rest of Canada workers in sawmills and planing mills have been insured only in those cases where the mills operated for the greater part of the year. From April 1st, the whole lumbering and logging industry will be insured regardless of the duration of operations.

CONTRIBUTION AND BENEFIT RATES

Employees are grouped at present, on the basis of their earnings, into nine contribution and benefit classes, ranging from Class O, covering employees earning less than 90 cents a day, to Class 8, covering those earning $34.00 or more a week. The classes were regrouped last July and reduced to six, and a new seventh class has been added for employees earning $48.00 or more in a week, in line with the new higher ceiling of insurability.

The present maximum benefit of $16.40 weekly for a single person and $18.30 for a person with a dependent is raised to $16.20 and $21.00 respectively for the new Class 7. However, this new maximum rate will not be paid until July 1st, 1951, so that those who will benefit will be required to accumulate contributions at the higher rate for a year.

Weekly Earnings (dollars)	Weekly Benefit without dependent	Weekly Benefit dependent
Less than $9.00 ..	$ 4.20	$ 4.80
9.00 to 14.99 ..	6.00	7.50
15.00 to 20.99 ..	8.10	10.20
21.00 to 26.99 ..	10.20	12.90
27.00 to 33.99 ..	12.30	15.60
34.00 to 47.99 ..	14.40	18.30
48.00 or more ..	14.40	18.30
(after July 1 1951)	16.20	21.00

In line with the change in the classes, new rates of contribution have been set for employers and employees. Under the old rates the employer's contribution was greater than the employee's for the lower wage classes while the two were equal for the four highest wage classes. Employer's and employee's contributions are equalized all down the scale by the new amendments.

Hereafter also, the employer of a person who was under sixteen years of age, or who earned less than 90 cents a day, was required to pay the employee's contribution as well as his own, while such an employee was not eligible to draw benefit while he remained in that class. These employees will now fall under the new Class 1, and will pay the employee contribution, and be eligible to draw benefits.

The new rates, shown in the table below, have been calculated to eliminate fractions of a cent from the daily contribution figures. They include the extra contribution, by both employers and employees, of one cent a day toward the new supplementary benefit:

Weekly Earnings (dollars)	Weekly Contribution Employer	Employee
Less than $9.00 ..	$0.18	$0.18
9.00 to 14.99 ..	.24	.24
15.00 to 20.99 ..	.30	.30
21.00 to 26.99 ..	.36	.36
27.00 to 33.99 ..	.42	.42
34.00 to 47.99 ..	.48	.48
48.0 or more ..	.54	.54

NON-COMPENSABLE DAY

Before the amendments, an insured person could not draw benefit for the first day of unemployment in any week unless the day followed one was in a complete week of unemployment. This had the effect of discouraging an employed person from taking casual employment while he was drawing benefit, since if he worked one day in a week he not only received no benefit for that day, but usually lost another day of benefit as well. The amendment now provides, in effect, that an insured worker drawing benefit may work up to three consecutive days and still draw benefit for each of the remaining days of the six-day benefit week. If a person is working short time for his regular employer, the first day of unemployment is non-compensable in every case.

OTHER AMENDMENTS

The following are among the other new amendments.

The daily average wage which a person can earn while he is drawing benefit is raised from $1.50 to $2.00. As before, these earnings must be in addition to those which he could normally follow outside the hours of his usual job.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission is given power to make regulations governing additional conditions for payment of benefit to married women, with the object of determining whether an unemployed married woman is actually available for employment.

THE BATTLE OF THE BIRDS

A great air battle between a large flock of storks and a raiding party of eagles was fought recently near the Spanish village of Arena, in the lonely province of Caceres, near the Portuguese frontier.

The storks were nesting - place for storks, for here they are usually left in peace. One day recently, however, their peace was rudely disturbed!

A party of about forty eagles arrived from the distant mountains and attacked the nests of the storks. Many of the young were killed, and next day the same thing happened.

This apparently was too much for the storks. The same evening Spanish workmen in the neighbouring fields saw a great company of about eighty of the long-beaked, slender-legged birds in urgent conference. After a time eight storks detached themselves from the others and flew off in different directions, as if on a mission.

Two days later the result of this was seen when about 200 storks began to arrive from all directions, swelling the stork colony to unheard of dimensions.

The next time the eagles came over on a marauding expedition the storks savagely attacked them, three or four storks to an eagle. Although the surprised eagles were nimbler and more manoeuvrable in the air it seemed to be the sheer numbers of the storks deliberately to crash into them in midair while the others tried to get at them with their beaks. The battle, watched by all the villagers for miles around, lasted half an hour. At the end of that period over a hundred storks lay dead onthe ground, but they had accounted for every one of the invaders. Then the surviving storks of those who had come to succour their comrades flew akay again, their mission nobly accomplished.

Glimpse Of Englnad Through A Canadian's Eyes

As a Canadian, but recently come to live in Britain in reverse of the usual situation, it was natural to expect that everything here would be new and different. Instead, my strongest impression is a strange sense of familiarity, like one of those half-remembered unexplainable feelings of us get at time — "This, I remember! Where did I experience this before?"

Then comes the sudden realization that as Canadians our backgrounds are so definitely and tightly knit with what is English, that everything here in Britain, even seen for the first time, has a familiar quality which makes us feel instantly at home. Those quaint, thatched-roof cottages, you see in so many English villages. Why, of course, Mother Hubbard lived in one just like them in our first nursery rhyme book.

And here, too, is the familiar England of our history books—of Thomas a Becket and the Black Prince, the England of Norman keeps and ancient Cathedrals—the England of our Christmas cards, with their deep-gabled, picturesque-timbered Elizabethan and Dickensian inns, the England of tree gardens, trim hedges and even small Mary, Quite Contrary handkerchief-sized cottage gardens, with cockle-shells all in a-row.

And last, but certainly not least, there is London ... that London that Belongs to Us All — the London of narrow winding streets, beautifully ornamental grey buildings in the heart of the mist, the streets with their gas'lights glistening, and bright two-storied buses nosing their way around corners. Or South London, down by the river, when most people are going home from work — hordes of them swarming across London Bridge to the tube station on the other side—the river looking very full, brown and cold. The London of bright little shops, where you can stop to ask directions then turn a corner and descend abruptly a flight of very steep steps into a grey mistiness of ware-warehouses rising high on the riverside, and the railway thundering by on the other, way above street level.

The London, too, of Wesminster Abbey, but well, not the Westminster the casual visitor sees, for we went as worshippers to the evening service there. We were in the eastern transept and it seemed small and cluttered compared to my conception of it, but in spite of that, or because of it, I was able to escape that touristy feeling which makes everything seem like a showpiece or stage setting. We were there as part of the congregation, and—looking up at dim lights which were swaying slightly—it was not the impressive Westminster Abbey, but a very ancient and reverend place of worship. The minister was very learned; but he was also simple and good and his prayers for those who are unhappy and lonely, for those who are ill or in trouble, were sincere. — "F.M." in The War Cry.

NEW STEWARDSHIP FOR A BETTER WORLD

BY

DOUGLAS J. WILSON, M.A., PhD.

The expression has been used in my hearing a goodly number of times recently that 'they are always asking for money.' I do not know how it is in other homes but in the one I dwell in I find a new appeal for funds delivered in almost every mail.

The superficial response to such cries of monetary request is one of irritation. This is all the more true because many of us ogein our mail after a day's work when fatigue has put us somewhat and altruism is a trifle submerged by a desire for relaxation and good food.

Further reflection in duties such an emotional reaction. After all we are indebted to our rational senses and should be able to get at the facts of the matter. Is it really true that 'everybody asks for money.' And has it been at least 3 noted that I especially money when pay day arrived. I found I was not alone in this peculiarity.

Whatever else could be said for this carving of lots of people, they, at least, were in good company. The train company needed money to remain in business; the minister frankly believed that his mission would not continue to be a going concern in the absence of funds; the clerk with the post office, the storekeeper, the restaurant and all the others.

MODERN OBJECTIVES

The question at issue then is not that there are so many appeals. A buff a dozen more would not make much difference to the avalanche of similar obligations that face us at every turn. The real issue is whether the objectives of the appeals were in the same class with the other services included in our examples. Do they belong amongst the 'going concerns'? Or is the difference rather in the way which they could be kept going without heaping our desk with an unbearable collection?

It is not merely academic to say that before these questions can be answered we must examine the whole state of social progress. When that is done it is clear that we have moved into a new era in social obligation.

What we are trying to do today is to assume responsibility for human welfare in a manner that could not have been imagined a hundred years ago or even fifty. The enlightened nations of the world are, for the first time in history, trying to act on the assumption that we are in no small measure our brothers' keeper. The writers on Utopias like Plato, More and Morris looked forward to a society where misfortune would either be eliminated or immediately pensioned. You can do that if you are merely writing a book. In real life we do have to face the facts of calamity, floods, fires, illness, accidents, misfits, cripples and criminals. In the midst of life we are in death with one chapter at a time; and that's the chapter that we are at, right now.

At this point it might be well to take a look at the term 'stewardship.' This is a word of history that was borrowed from the German philosopher Hegel. It is not certain that we would have authorized its transference to the explanation of history. But one version of the story of human history shows a kind of pendulum swinging — first one type of society then another, first of extreme of one type, and so on. Just why this kind of back and forth swinging would come to very much amongst a group of scrupulous cutthroats has never been made clear. Apparently some disciples of the dialectical notion are bound to spoil the theory.

A SOCIAL DIALECTIC

Without the long words, however, there has been a swinging forward of social history. The Wesleyan movement in England is a good example, especially in the practical efforts of Shaftbury and Wilberforce. They started a pendulum moving that provided spiritual ballast along with vigorous reform right through all the initial stages of the labor movement in England. In passing, I may state my conviction that if the Labor party in England ever cuts its anchorage with a spiritual view of life it will be heading for the very marsh from which it was hewn.

This truly remarkable 'dialectic' of social progress has brought it to the point where we nearly all accept responsibility in some measure that has been regarded as fantastic three generations ago. Given the noted reformer reported here the case of this life how pleased he was that he had been able to reduce the hours of work for women to 14 a day! Hi-ligh water mark would appear as an inexcusable low for the most retarded citizen today. We may argue today about methods but we tend to agree on the objectives.

All of this means that we have moved forward in the matter of social assistance. A new day has dawned. This acceptance of responsibility has not appeared as a straight line in the present generation. Groping after a better way of life there are still many who will take advantage of the efforts. But the march of progress goes forward.

In my presentation I would then wish to have entered upon a way of community life from which no one want to recede. The organization of society must have a claim upon our mindful sympathies. This attention to detail, it is a complaint, is the sin of our Christian outlook on life.

This is not true. The fact that more people and organizations are engaged in doing worthy things than at any time in history is cause for joy. We are able to conceive a society in which governmental departments will include a department of the ministry. It might not be desirable even if they could. Meanwhile and for a long time to come the efforts will be both praiseworthy and indispensable.

The multiplicity of appeals is the outward sign of the new day. They are here to stay. They will be lauded perhaps by those who have not grasped the latest saying of the pendulum. They will be regarded as corruptors of our much prized social outlook by those who have kept pace with progress.

THE IDEA OF STEWARDSHIP

Never before has the call to stewardship been more pressing than it is today. As we share the attainments of higher standards of living, so also must we share the costs. What we have is not a power upon but a trust. This means that we shall no longer be called upon to give if the results are the millionaire, the banker, the merchant and the professional man attained. The leadership of funds must now extend to all of our social services. Let us not be afraid of this, this is modern essentials.

But the old method of giving to the causes of religion is entirely inadequate to the new kind of stewardship would involve. We have only to think of how many people come to achieve peace of mind and character from dedication of a tithe of their income. Yet some of us can remember with a thrill receiving our first pay envelope with $5 inside and then putting aside 50 cents for our church.

So it is good and bad, that so many people are asking for us many desirable things. The world is alive with the possible and we are called to their part in a better society. And this must be considered and called stewardship we can be part of this progressing, though still imperfect, world.

BEES FERTILIZE MILLIONS OF FRUIT BLOSSOMS

The primary work of the bee, said Reginald Gamble in 'Back to the Land,' is pollination of the production of fruit and seed, while honey is really a by-product, and it is on those grounds that the Ministry of Agriculture has encouraged bee-keeping as being of national importance.

Look at it in this way—the present trend in agriculture and horticulture is to concentrate crops which, where pollination is required, increases the heavier concentration of pollinating insects. But concentration of crops reduces the number of pollinating insects and thus the real effect is to upset the balance of nature, and we do not get maximum yields in crops.

We also spray, which plays havoc with the pollinating insects, good, bad and indifferent. Now, the main object, as these pollinating insects is concerned, we must restore the balance of nature by concentrating pollinating insects, and the only pollinating insects we can concentrate on over which we have any control, are hive bees. It is estimated that by having bees close to the crops we can get a 50 per cent increase in the crop; this, I think, is more or less the basis on which future bee-keeping must build.

Talking of estimates, I figured that in Britain there are about 231,000 beekeepers, keeping about 655,000 stocks and that the annual value of the stock of bees in pollination and in honey production is £12. This means that the annual value of beekeeping in this country is about £7,750,000. The honey stomach of a bee holds about one-fifth of a drop of nectar which consists of over 60 per cent. water.

That means that 1 lb of honey represents something like 72,000 bee flights, and it takes something like two million florets of red clover to yield 1 lb. of honey. That gives us some idea of the number of flowers visited by the bees in the collection of honey. But to go a step further, a normal stock of bees requires about 1 cwt. of honey for food during the course of a year, plus about half a hundredweight of honey and when you add to that the value of honey you remove as surplus you can get some idea of the economic work performed by the bee stock alone.

HAVE A GOOD THUNDERSTORM! Enjoy It's Rage!

BY FRANK LOWE

The booklet is devoted to telling what causes a thunderstorm, and what a thunderstorm causes, and is an all-round admirable job pleasingly free of the gobble-dedook which generally clutters up the writings of most government departments.

But the one worrying aspect of this booklet is the closing paragraph which says:

"It is not suggested that you hunt a safe spot when a thunderstorm is on instead why not think a bit about the wonder of it all, the tremendous energy required to produce one, the great boiling air currents, sit somewhere where you can see it well, and enjoy it."

Go ahead, we dare you.

Now, for years we have regarded thunderstorms with somewhat the same wary nervousness as we have regarded career women — occasionally decorative, always unpredictable and never to be tangled with.

Another maxim learned over the years has been: "when you see one coming — duck."

But the thought of actually enjoying a thunderstorm had never actually occurred to us up to this point. And, it must regretfully be stated, this booklet has done little to convert us.

Just prior to admonishing us not to sit on a certain place — such as under the bed or in the broom closet — at the first clap of thunder, the booklet gives us this graphic description of what goes on inside a "thunderhead":

"Inside the boiling mass of cloud, electrical charges build up until a discharge occurs in the form of lightning, which is a huge spark."

Comforting, eh what?

Of course, there are those hardy types who claim they do enjoy a thunderstorm. They use such words as "awe-inspiring," "tremendous" or "breath-taking."

Personally, we prefer to get our fill of those words from movie advertisements.

Actually, we are not condemning the weather people for putting out this booklet. It does contain comforting information, such as the fact that we have generally only half as many thunderstorms as Chicago and only one-quarter as many as Miami.

Still, would be almost caddish, right here, when we have ourself feeling so comforted, to mention that we also have four times as many earthquakes a year as Vancouver or Halifax.)

Anyway, to get away from that idea of buying a ticket for the coast, the booklet is an admirable job. It tells us that "the cloud-to-ground type of lightning is, of course, quite harmless."

However, the booklet is not all fair. It does mention that "the other type of lightning is the cloud-to-ground variety. But search as we might, even in the small print, we can't find where it says that this termed "cloud-to-ground" is the kind that kills you.

KOREA WAR: Blessing For U. States

The Korean war may turn out to be a blessing for the United States.

There is bitterness in watching American men die in a farm country in contemplating $50,000,000,000 spent during the last few years on a military establishment which was not prepared even for a small war; in finding the U.S. outclassed in tanks and fire-power by a tiny Oriental satellite of the most backward country in Europe, however, temporary that situation may be.

But prior to June 25th, when the Communists launched their 38th parallel into South Korea, the U. S. and her western allies had merely been playing around with preparedness. Security played second fiddle to business as usual. Big business got, as particularly to blame. Economic recovery seemed to be, and was, the first order of business in a world where there might be many forms of trouble, but where general war hardly seemed a likelihood.

Now the "war is not inevitable" idea is being subjected to considerable qualification. The thought is growing that, unless there is a volte face on the part of Russian Communist imperialism, a general war is inevitable, although perhaps it is still not imminent.

If that be true, the United States may one day thank its lucky stars for Korea.

Korea has just about closed the be-all and end-all school of atomic worshippers. It now is obvious that there are ways to lose a war, to lose the whole order of business in a world without being able to use the bomb. The story of Korea is the story of the infantry man, and a new awareness of his importance. As he dies today in small numbers his experience may save lives in vast numbers on another day and another field.

The awakening brought about through the Korean incident may have its greatest and most far-reaching result in lessening that avowed danger to which democracies are prone—too little and too late.

Hitler plastered his war for 1943; didn't think he could be ready for it until then. But as his actions in the Rhineland showed, the ill-will of the world against him, he realized, was not such that war again would conditions be better than they were in 1939. As long as there are dictatorships, unhampered by the necessity of mobilizing the opinion of their own publics, that can continue to happen.

The United States faces not just a "limited operation." She is taking the place of bouncer-keeper in the world, of the bulwark against barbarism, with Russian Communism in other centuries. It is a job which requires actual strength and "know how" beyond mere willingness.

MARSHALL AID DOLLARS PROVING VERY EFFECTIVE

BY DAVID LEE

In The Montreal Daily Star

My observation post has been the pocket state of Trieste, insecure backdoor of Russia's Eastern European Empire.

Into this former Communist stronghold the Marshall Plan is pouring more dollars per head of the population (£29) than in any other E.R.P. country.

The issue is straightforward — with the Marshall Plan Americans operate committing its objective — the defeat of Communism — and the local Communist Party acknowledge the failure of its objective — the defeat of Communism — and the local Communist Party acknowledge the failure of its most government departments.

But the one worrying aspect of this booklet is the closing paragraph which says:

"It is not suggested that you hunt a safe spot when a thunderstorm is on instead why not think a bit about the wonder of it all, the tremendous energy required to produce one, the great boiling air currents, sit somewhere where you can see it well, and enjoy it."

TENSION RISES IN HUNGARY

BY ERIC GEDYE

Vienna — Interesting reports of recent developments in Communist Hungary, some of which are confirmed by news from other sources, have been given by a fugitive Hungarian official who has just reached the British zone of Austria after escaping from Budapest East Railway station, where he was employed up to a short while ago.

It is quite a common sight, he said, for railway officers on night duty, to see political prisoners in the cattle trucks, which are then locked and sealed, and attached to trains bound for the Russian frontier. He himself had seen eight of these transports during the last six weeks. Railwaymen never speak of them even among themselves since one who was indiscreet enough to remark to a colleague that there seemed to be a shortage of miners in Siberia, disappeared next day and has not been heard of again.

The guard of armed members at the Communist headquarters in Budapest has just been replaced by political police who carry machine pistols and have also heavy machine-guns in concealed and fortified machine-gun posts. Other signs of nervousness at this headquarters are the expulsion of the inhabitants of a number of neighbouring houses and their replacement by police and the installation on the roof of the building of a police searchlight which at night plays on roofs and windows in the neighborhood. It is forbidden to look out by night from any window giving on to the headquarters.

Travellers arriving in Budapest from the Bakony Hills report that in Veszprem county, particularly near Varkesgurn and Hajmasker, several small camps have been established, and the surrounding area has been cordoned off by troops. In each of these camps there are some 100 men and women undergoing training as partisans to work behind the enemy's lines. Among those training them are said to be Red Army partisan experts. From time to time the partisan trainees do parachute jumps at the airport at Fapa.

Well to the south, on the Yugoslav frontier, in the districts of Pecs and Nagykanizsa, some 1,500 families have been evacuated and their homes handed over to the military, among them fair-sized Red Army detachments. Further east on the Rumanian side of the Yugoslav frontier, a 'forbidden zone' has been established, 35 kilometres in depth, near Arad and Timigamara. The area has not been completely evacuated, but several thousand persons have been arrested and sent eastwards. Practically all personal communication between this zone and the rest of Rumania has been severed by a military cordon, the inhabitants are not allowed to cross it, nor are persons from other parts of Rumania allowed to enter it.

BIRDS THAT TOBOGGAN

The penguin is the bird 'that walks like a man and swims like a fish.' Yarely does it leave its Antarctic and northward as far as equatorial islands but in the northern hemisphere, they may be seen only in zoos. If pursued or desiring speed, the penguin forsakes his comical waddle and tobogganns over the frozen surface on his smooth feathered dress shirt, using feet and flippers much as he does in the water. Emperor penguins sometimes reach a height of forty inches and a weight of eighty pounds. Small species are only eighteen inches tall.

'SILENT' GIRAFFE SPEAKS

The recent opening of the London Zoo's reptile house to visitors by night after the ordinary closing time, has had at least, one startling result. A giraffe that has lived in silence for seventeen years was so completely taken by surprise at the unusual occurrence that it broke from the position in which it had lain down for its night's sleep, it uttered a roar of astonishment.

The giraffe's surprise was less than that of the people who heard the roar, for until recently these animals were considered quite voiceless.

WEDDING BELLS

CASTELLANO - TOMPKINS

A wedding of interest was solemnized at Grace United Church, Napanee, on Saturday, July 29th, when Betty Lois, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Tompkins, was united in marriage to Flight-Lieut. William Ernest Castellano, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Castellano, of Ottawa. Baskets of flowers formed a lovely setting for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. Parker and Mrs. J.M. Black played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown with lace yoke, edged in pearls, and fitted bodice. The skirt was draped softly and fell in a slight train, disclosing an underskirt of frilled lace. Her full-length bridal veil was held with a coronet of satin, trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas in the form of a horseshoe.

Her attendants were Mrs. Alfred Castellano, matron-of-honour, gowned in daffodil yellow taffeta, and Miss Joan Vanalstine, wearing orchid taffeta. Both had matching Juliet caps and carried nosegays of sweet pea and roses.

Mr. Alfred Castellano, twin brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. William Tompkins and McDonald Tompkins, brothers of the bride.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, on the Palace Road. Mrs. Tompkins received her guests, wearing a dress of rose taffeta with navy accessories and a corsage of gladiolus. She was assisted by the mother of the groom, who wore black figured crepe and gray accessories, and corsage of camelias.

After the reception the couple left by motor for a trip around the Lakes. The bride, for travelling, wore a suit of rose gabardine, with white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Upon their return they will reside in Ottawa, where the groom is now stationed.

The bride is a graduate of Grace Hospital, Toronto, and the groom is a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Castellano, Mr. and Mrs. A. Castellano, of Ottawa; Mrs. F. Lewis, of Watertown, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tompkins and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. Tompkins and family, Mrs. Fred Reid, Mr. and Mrs. George Reid and daughter, of Bath; Mrs. C. Hines, Mrs. H. Tompkins, of Conway; Mrs. H. Ruttan and daughter, Newburgh; Mrs. W. Tompkins, of Newburgh; Mr. and Mrs. W. Bullock and daughter, Carol, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tomlinson, Mr. and Mrs. Gault and Miss Nancy Gault, Mr. D. Gabriel, Mr. and Mrs. A. McAdoo, Mr. and Mrs. T. Tompkins, Miss B. McLaughlin, of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ash, of Yarker; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hart, of Colebrook; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reid and Flight-Lieut. Jack Thompson, of Toronto.

DILLON - RUSH

On Monday, July 24th, Rev. J. G. McCabe officiated at the wedding of Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henigan Rush, and Mr. Francis J. Dillon, of Enterprise, in St. Andrew's Church, Stoco.

Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Francis J. Quinlan, O.M.I., of Ames, prior, cousin of the bride, and Rev. W. P. Healey, of Campbellford.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown of foam white daisy lace over ivory satin, fashioned with a cameo neckline which was offset by a deep Bertha collar, banded with satin. The softly flared skirt featured a flounce of tulle about the hemline, extending to a full sweep. Her fingertip veil, fell from a tiny halo hat and she carried a crescent bouquet of gardenias and white stephanotis.

Her attendants chose [illegible] nylon net over taffeta. The honour, Miss Anna Rush, [illegible] the bridesmaids Miss Geraldine Dillon and Miss Doris Rush. They carried crescent bouquets of yellow and blue glamelias, white daisies and wore halos of matching flowers.

Little Mary Enright of Toronto, niece of the groom made [illegible] flower girl in her gown of [illegible] organdy, with matching [illegible]. Sue carried a miniature [illegible] bride's bouquet.

Mr. Gerard Dillon, brother of the groom, was best man and [illegible]ers were Mr. Jos. Crawford, Napanee, and Mr. Kenneth I. Meade, of Detroit.

Miss Colletta O'Keefe, A.T.C.M. of Campbellford, presided at the [illegible] and during the ceremony the Mascagni Marchen rendered several appropriate solos, including Rosary, Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus by Cesar Franck.

At the reception which followed the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a gown of copper light faille, navy accessories and a corsage of tea roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a gown of light blue faille, navy accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

For travelling to the Laurentians and Quebec City, the bride wore a dusty rose summer suit, navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

HOW THE CANARY ISLES WAS NAMED

The beautiful Canary Islands, which were known to the civilized world in the days of the Caesars, are remarkable for a good many things. One of them is the infamous Pico de Teide, over 12,000 feet high, which is one of the 11 tallest island volcanoes in the world. From its summit the view is magnificent, the air being so clear while the volcano itself has been an age-long landmark for sailors.

When an expedition from a Roman dependency visited the islands in 40 B.C. they were found to swarm with a race of huge dogs, and were given the name Canaria, from the Latin canis, a dog. Unfortunately all the dogs have disappeared so that we know nothing of this curious race except what bones can tell us.

Hello Homemakers! A Cuttin' party seems to be replacing weiner roasts. Could it be the cost of the main ingredients? By the way, this popular outdoor get-together is the occasion to cut and serve melons. As usual there were just watermelons at our first party, but now other fruits are also offered, but mainly the melons such as cantaloupe, honeydew. Peaches, pears, apples and grapes, which can be eaten out of the hand, are also good.

People don't mind standing when they have a fragrant chilled piece of fruit in their hand. So set up a table for the garden with a platter full of sliced chilled melons. The only other items necessary are a shaker of salt and dishes of lemon or lime wedges. Cookies and a glass of punch complete a delicious repast.

TAKE A TIP

1 Cantaloupe should be left out of the refrigerator to ripen and develop flavour. Then it should be wrapped well in wax paper and placed in the refrigerator to hold its flavour.
2 A good cantaloupe is firm but when ripe will yield slightly to pressure on the blossom end.
3 You can usually tell the ripeness of a honeydew by the smooth skin that can be stretched when gently pressed.
4 Weight is a good indication of the juiciness to any melon when you select one from several of comparable size.
5 To tap a watermelon at home you may use a coring knife. Take out a plug to see if flesh is pink as this indicates ripeness.

FRENCH DRESSING

Two teaspoons sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one-quarter teaspoon mustard, six tablespoons of olive oil, two tablespoons of vinegar.

BATAWA DEFEAT NAPANEE A'S MONDAY NIGHT

The Napanee Athletics dropped the C.O.B.L. fixture here on Monday night to Batawa, 8 to 7, in a free hitting affair that was anybody's game up until it was called at the end of the seventh.

A triple and a single and three walks gave the Shoenen four runs in the second, the three-bagger coming with the paths cleared when "Mouse" Bush lined over Murphy's head in right.

Again in the fourth, two walks, a double by Watson, and a single by Muffitt, coupled to an error, pushed four more counters over the plate for the winners.

For Napanee, in the first, V. Green singled, McQuade sacrificed Green to second, and Hayes pushed Green across with a short hit to centre. In the second, the locals grabbed themselves the lead on a four-run splurge when two walks, a triple by Markle, two singles by McQuade and Jocko, and an error at third, put them one up. In the third, the lead was increased by one when Markle singled, stole second, and came home on a ringing double by Lucas. The final count for the A's came in the fifth, when Bud Green walked, Markle was hit by a pitched ball; Lucas sacrificed two runners to advance, and Gregg came home on a wild pitch.

For the Shoemen, Spencer led the hitters with two for four, with Bush a triple, and Rankin and Watson doubles. For Napanee, Jim Markle topped the list with three for four with a triple and two singles, and was hit by a pitched ball. Lucas followed with a double.

Errors were small, but costly; three for Napanee and one for Bata.

Cec. Simes played spectacular ball in centre for Bata, with two running catches to his credit.

Only one double play was registered in the game, the A's getting the twin killing in the third.

For Bata, Willis started and was touched for seven safeties in two and a third frames, walked two and struck out one. Muffitt replaced him and held the A's to one hit, struck out two and walked one.

Health Unit Adds Veterinarian To Regular Staff

To Give Attention To Meat and Milk

The Lenhox and Addington County Health Unit has obtained the services of Dr. Fred. Harden, D.V.P.H., through the National Health Grants. Dr. Harden, who graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College in 1949, will spend half of his time in this County and half in Prince Edward County.

His duties will be concerned with improving the quality and cleanliness of the milk and milk products produced in this area. He is interested in the control of Bang's disease and Mastitis, and also in meat control.

Milk producers throughout the County may consult Dr. Harden in regard to their problems by calling the County Health Unit.

Dr. Harden served in the R.C.A.F., and, on discharge, commenced studies at the Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph. After completing the four-year course and obtaining the degree of D.V.M., he took the course in Public Health at the University of Toronto. He has had considerable experience in dairying, and spent some time with the Northumberland Durham Health Unit, working with the milk producers in that area. It is hoped that Dr. Harden will be able to render valuable service to the farmers of this district in regard to the control of disease and the improvement of the quality of the milk.

NO POLIO CASES REPORTED YET IN L. AND A. COUNTY

Dr. J. I. Jeffs, Medical Officer of Health for the County of Lennox and Addington, advised The Beaver on Monday of this week that, so far this year, no cases of polio have been reported in the county. Dr. Jeffs is hoping that since the summer is so far advanced there will be no outbreak of the dreaded disease, this year.

In the whole province of Ontario, there have been fifty-five cases of polio this year, which is much less than in previous years.

FIRST NAP. RECRUIT FOR KOREA FORCE, REG. FEATHERSTONE

The first recruit from Napanee in the Special Force being raised in Canada, for possible service in Korea, was Reg. Featherstone, who left at the week-end for training at Shilo, Manitoba.

Mr. Featherstone a veteran of the Second World War, has recently been employed as a guard at the County Gaol.

Bruce Richmond a former resident of Napanee, who has been on the staff at the Income Tax office, in Kingston, for some years, has also enlisted. Up to Monday afternoon of this week, five men in Deseronto have also enlisted.

RED CASUALTIES CLAIMED 44,500

Tokyo. — Some 44,500 North Korean troops have been killed or wounded since the outbreak of the Korean war, a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur estimated.

He said the enemy was losing men at the rate of 1,000 a day.

The Reds still have replacements to fill the gaps in their ranks, he said, but their quality may be poor. Captured prisoners include men arranged along the front with only two or three held in reserve, he said. He said a Red division totals about 10,000 men, possibly a few more.

Canada First To Organize U.N. Security Force

From 4,000 to 5,000 To Be Enlisted For Special Duty

Ottawa. — Canada has become the first country in the world to organize a special United Nations Security Force. This became known when Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced in a nation-wide broadcast that Canada had offered "a Canadian Army Special Force" of from 4,000 to 5,000 men, which would be sent to Korea if still needed there when ready, would be raised immediately. Recruiting for the brigade started last week. Parliament, said the Prime Minister, would be summoned if international developments required it.

Decision to raise a special United Nations force was the Government's third and most important move toward helping to stem the Communist aggression in Korea. Three destroyers were dispatched immediately after the outbreak of hostilities, and later the R.C.A.F's No. 426 Transport Squadron was made available for the Pacific airlift.

Though it will probably first be used to aid the United Nations in South Korea, the special brigade is designed to be available for use in carrying out Canada's obligations under the United Nations charter or the North Atlantic Pact.

Mr. St. Laurent emphasized that events force us to be realistic. He held out the hope that firm action now in connection with Korea would bring an end to further Communist aggression.

There is a real chance, he declared "that the final defeat of the Communist aggressors in Korea will discourage aggression in other places because the risks will appear too great."

FIVE POINT PROGRAM

Speaking slowly, in simple forceful words that could not be misunderstood, the Prime Minister clearly set forth Canada's five-point military prepararedness program which called for:

1 Pressing on with recruiting for the other active forces of the Army, Navy and Air Force, which are all being expanded, and for the Reserve forces.

2 Accelerating production of the new all-weather two-seater jet fighter, the CF-100, known as the "Canuck", whose tests have exceeded expectations.

3 Expending Canada's capacity to produce the Orenda jet engine.

4 Stepping up the production program for naval vessels, armament, ammunition, radar and other types of equipment.

5 Working in the closest co-operation with the United States "to the end that our joint resources and facilities are put to the most effective use in the common defence effort."

The decisions of the Government, outlined by the Prime Minister, came after intensive study and deliberation. Cabinet itself held two day-long sittings last week, and sat again all Thursday, while all Canada waited and wondered what would be the outcome.

TWO CHANGES IN FEDERAL CABINET

Ottawa. — Only two changes were made in the federal Cabinet as the result of the death of Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor.

Hon. Milton G. Gregg, V.C., Minister of Veterans Affairs, takes over the Labor portfolio and Hon. Hugues Lapointe, Solicitor-General, becomes Minister of Veterans Affairs.

Hon. Stuart Garson will become Solicitor General in addition to his present post as Minister of Justice.

Over 1000 Attend Farm Drainage Demonstration Day

Newest Equipment Used By Experts

The Lennox and Addington County Drainage Demonstration Day proved to be very successful. Harvesting operations were in full swing throughout the County and therefore was generally considered 1,000 people attended this event.

The first machine in action on Wednesday on the farm of Mr. J. S. Palmer was the Buckeye tile drain machine and except for about 50 feet of digging no tiles were encountered. The machine put in well over 1,000 feet of tile as demonstration work. This machine, along with a Bulldozer equipped with a Grubber blade, were owned and supplied by Mr. Benjamin Franklin, of Joyceville and the work of the Bulldozer caused favorable comment throughout the day. A large Bulldozer with the ordinary scraper blade, owned by the H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton, was at it in low swamp area which was dry in Wednesday, but which contained much scrub, underbrush, logs, vines, etc., and did an excellent job of preparing this area of ground for draining and eventual crop use. The operator of this Bulldozer received hearty clap of appreciation when he climaxed the day's work by felling a large tree during over 50 feet in height. These big machine as well as all of the smaller machines I shall mention did a big job with the operators were provided without charge for the day's work by their owners, and this it would not have been possible without this generous support.

A Jay digger, owned and operated by Mr. Carmen Rose of Maxville, did a very excellent job of tile draining but unfortunately was placed in an open ditch proved to be somewhat stony in the bottom, and the amount of tile laid was considerably less than otherwise would have been the case. This machine works on somewhat the same idea as the Buckeye machine, and will be returning to the County within a couple of weeks to do some custom work for our farmers. I might say that the Buckeye ditcher has remained in the County and has several jobs lined up at the moment.

The Little Wonder Tiling Machine was loaned by Mr. Harold Bourne of Carrying Place, and local operators were able to show this it too was a very good tile drain machine for use for installing tile. This machine is being kept in the County for a few days to finish the tile draining.

The Mole Drainer, a John Deere machine was op rated by Mr. Walter Huff of Napanee, who is a John Deere dealer, and this machine caught the fancy of a number of farmers present. At least two men considered very seriously of ordering a similar machine for work on their farms. This machine is not so expensive as some of the others and on a farm without stones and with fairly tight soil would be worthwhile owning by the individual farmer, or a small group of farmers. The Mole Ditcher put on demonstration was owned and donated for use by Mr. Aaron Lawrence of Picton.

The Martin Ditcher was also on hand, and this is a very useful type machine and was loaned by Mr. Fairchild of Consecon.

From the local Ford dealer, Mr. Charles McConnell, a Ford tractor, with blade attached, was obtained and his operator worked on an open ditch. The County power maintainer, also very materially to the success of the day. The Trans-Canada Road Grader was in use and proved its worth as well. No doubt many farmers will be noting the effect of the wood saw, as well as the results from the work of the drainage machines, as time goes on.

LADIES SERVED LUNCH

The ladies of the Federation of Agriculture had a most successful day in their refreshment booth, where sandwiches, pie, ice cream, and both hot and cold drinks were available throughout the day. The ladies' work was most capably handled and efficiently carried out, particularly in view of the fact that the committee members in charge of all Drainage Day, and the ladies supplying food, etc., were just as widely scattered. Excellent co-operation was received from the local ladies, who were somewhat handier to the demonstration farm.

At 1:30 p.m., a loud speaking system arrived from Napanee, with instructions to contact Mr. Fred Hoey, to operate equipment, and a programme consisting of speeches of welcome, introductions, and specific information relative to drainage maintenance and use of machines, was carried out, following which the sound car was taken to each machine in turn and further specific information relative to the implement was given by Mr. Frank Parish, head of the Engineering Department, Kemptville Agricultural School, Kemptville.

Heard from during the programme were Mr. J. S. Palmer, farm owner, and a veteran established under the Veterans' Land Act; Mr. Guy Huyck, Reeve of South Fredericksburgh, the Township in which the Drainage Demonstration Day was held; Mr. Donald Baxter, M.L.A. for Prince Edward-Lennox and Addington; Mr. Clarence Code of the County of Lennox and Addington; Mr. H. R. Hare, Superintendent of Agricultural Societies and Director of the Provincial Federation of Agriculture; Mr. Glenn Shaver, of the Drainage Department, Kemptville Agricultural School, and Mr. F. J. Parish, of the Kemptville Agricultural School.

Mr. Frank Ham, President of the County Federation, was to have been the chairman of the programme, but, due to serious illness, he was unable to attend.

As is always the case with any special work, and it cannot be otherwise, the local people, along with the Planning Committee, fall heir to all of the hard work, and too often too little of the praise. The Federation, and the Crop Improvement Association, who sponsored the demonstration funds, along with the Provincial Department of Agriculture, wish to express thanks to all of the local farmers who did so much of the actual work in preparation for the day, and who continued throughout the day operating some of the machines, and stayed to help clean up that evening.

Mr. H. Wilson's contribution of B-A products was most welcome.

Members of the Planning Committee consisted of Mr. Frank Ham, Mr. C. A. Milligan, Mr. Leland Wannamaker, Mr. Harold McCaul, and the Agricultural Representative.

The survey for the drainage work and allocating of the machines to their different jobs, and supervision of same for the day, was excellently handled by Mr. F. J. Parish and his staff, in the persons of Mr. Shaver and Mr. Rutherford.

We feel that the day was most successful, and are sorry that the busy season prevented many more farmers from attending.

Alarming Increase In Traffic Deaths During July

Despite Warnings Death Toll Mounts

Ontario motorists will have cause for concern about the preliminary total of deaths last month from street and highway accidents in the Province: At least 85 persons lost their lives in traffic last month, more than in any July since 1937.

Ontario's traffic death toll since the beginning of 1950 now stands at 571 killed. While this is still lower than it was in the same seven months of last year (396 died from January to July, 1949), Highways Minister Hon. Geo. H. Doucett warns that from July to October Ontario motor traffic will likely be heavier and more dangerous than ever before. These same four months have, in the past, had more fatal accidents on average than any other four-month period in the year.

In an interview just before the August Civic Holiday week end, the Minister urged holidaymakers to stay alert on the highways for drivers who are "out of step with the rest of the traffic. Whether they go too fast or too slowly—either way such drivers are a menace to the safety of others."

"The Police will do their share," stated Provincial Police Commissioner William H. Stringer, O.B.E., who has directed a much intensified road patrol in recent weeks, particularly to multiple-death accidents. Any one killing-six people at once, five killing three people each, and seven taking at least two lives. There was no increase over last July in number of victims of pedestrian accidents, motorcycle accidents, or two-vehicle collisions. Big increase was in railway crossing smashups, and in accidents involving only a single vehicle which went out of control and left the road, or hit some fixed object.

CANADA, U.S. STUDY VAST INDUSTRIAL PLAN

Ottawa. — The historic Canada-United States meeting to map out a joint industrial blueprint for war, was held last week.

Industrial planners from both countries filtered into the Senate Banking Committee Room in the Parliament Buildings to give formal approval to a set of principles which, it is expected, will release millions of dollars worth of United States war orders to Canadian plants. The meeting was closed to the public and guards were placed at the door to keep the curious away.

Entering the chamber were Harry J. Carmichael, chairman of the Industrial Defence Board and munitions production co-ordinator during the Second World War. He presided at the meeting, the first formal get-together of the Joint Canada - United States Industrial Mobilization Committee in a year.

With him was Sydney D. Pierce, Associate Deputy Minister of Trade and Canada's official charged with the stock-piling of strategic war materials.

A surprise addition was the presence of Brig. C. M. Drury, Deputy Minister of Defence.

On the American side were Fred Wmant, of the U. S. National Security Resources Board, replacing W. Stuart Symington, the board's chairman, and Donald E. Howard, chairman of the U. S. Munitions Board.

Along with them were other officials of the two American planning groups, including a State Department official, H. Merrill Benninghoven, of the department's Canadian desk.

WOULD AMEND LAWS

Principles under discussion, it was disclosed, included:

1 Canada and the United States would agree to the removal of all restrictive legislation which impeded the flow of armament orders across the international border.

2 This removal would include reduction in tariffs and elimination of the Buy American Act of 1934 which limits U. S. defence orders to equipment purchases inside the United States.

3 Joint international action on economic controls, required to complete defence orders in both countries, including controls on allocation of materials and priorities.

A declaration of non-discrimination in allocation of materials. United States armament producers would get the same priority rating on Canadian nickel that Canadian producers would themselves. The non-discrimination plan would apply to materials procured in both countries.

PENSION PLANS IN CANADA

Although it is only in the last year or two that industrial pensions have become an important factor in collective bargaining in Canada, such plans are by no means new in this country — it is known that at least four of the plans now in effect were introduced before 1900.

From that year to the beginning of World War II, there was a substantial extension of the number of workers covered by pension plans. This period saw a general awakening of interest in the problem of old-age security, and a development of formal and informal arrangements to help provide assistance for retired employees. The greater number of these plans were initiated by employers, and were non-contributory as far as the employees were concerned.

Most of the pension plans introduced in this period were in three industries — finance, manufacturing and trade — the industries in which the greatest expansion was taking place. These industries, and manufacturing particularly, were experiencing important changes in organization growing out of the changes which were taking place in our economy — the increasing urbanization and the shift toward greater specialization and mechanization in industry. The work performed by the individual craftsman was becoming less important and the independent rural artisan was rapidly disappearing, while more workers in the urban plants were now being faced with an arbitrary retiring age.

World War II ushers in a period of rapid expansion of pension plans in numbers and coverage. From that date to the present, about three thousand new plans have been introduced, and there is every indication that the number will continue to grow. At the present time, about one million workers in Canada, or about one-fourth of all wage and salary earners, are covered by group pension plans which assure them of some measure of financial security when they retire.

The largest increase in pension plans in the last decade has been in manufacturing, the industry with the greatest total employment in Canada. Because of the enormous demands on production, accentuated the trend toward mechanization and specialization and increased the number of workers who could be covered by group pensions. At the same time, many firms now had at their disposal the funds necessary to set up plans. The war brought ceilings on wages, and employers tended to emphasize good working conditions and to provide benefits in place of wage increases. Pension plans gave employers an opportunity to increase the overall economic returns to their employers without increasing wages. Personnel problems, too, became increasingly important — labour was scarce, and every effort was made to increase efficiency and morale.

Behind all these factors, lies the increasing interest which Canadians are taking in all forms of social security — an interest which has led to some demand, by both labour and management, for a national pension program. While it is difficult to assess the effect that the introduction of such a program would have on private pension plans, it is likely that most plans would continue in effect, to provide payments supplemental to those of any basic national program.

One of the factors which has led to a demand for a national pension plan has been the limited coverage of private plans. Many Canadians are 'own-account' workers and many employees could not be readily included in industrial plans. Another factor is the limitation in practically all private plans on the transfer of pension rights with a change of employer. The worker's vested rights in a pension plan often depend on the length of his employment, and he must usually remain at least twenty years to gain an adequate pension. This constitutes an effective restriction on the worker's mobility. On the other hand, an employer may hesitate to discharge an employee who is inefficient or who is not required, on account of the credits the employee has built up toward a pension.

The existence of a pension plan requires that a definite age be set for retirement. From the employer's standpoint such a fixed retiring age often seems desirable, since it makes it possible for him to retire his workers with the knowledge that they will enjoy a degree of economic security. However, it also means that a growing proportion of the population, including many of our most experienced workers, might be retired when they are still capable of a valuable contribution to industry and while they wish to continue working.

The Korea War and The German Ruhr

Dusseldorf. — The deepening political and economic effects of the Korean conflict are causing some disquieting shifts in the thinking, talking and acting of some members of that mercurial circle, the Ruhr industrialists.

The most open evidence is a somewhat unexpected bonanza of industrial advertising which has been handed the only Communist newspaper in the Ruhr, the Dusseldorf 'reis Volk' in recent days. It is difficult to believe that a Communist newspaper is a really effective advertising medium for industrial equipment, engineering firms and the conclusion that the owners of these companies are trying to buy anti-American policies in cases of trouble in Europe, is an obvious one.

But in addition to these somewhat naive attempts to get on the fence politically, a new line is being taken on the Schuman Plan. For the average Ruhr industrialist it is safe to say that the greatest attraction of the Schuman Plan has been that it points the way directly to an increase in the 11.2 million tons steel level which the Allies now impose on Germany, and to an eclipse if not the dissolution of the Ruhr authority by which the Germans have a minor, unequal role.

The defence zone which is building in the United States and Western Europe is changing the first of these. Today the Ruhr is already producing steel at the rate of 13 million tons per year and manufacturers are turning down American orders for such items as steel wire, tubes, and light steel plates. These orders are coming into the Ruhr as sub-contracts from American firms who see a big demand for armor plate, and heavy fabrications just around the corner.

In this situation Ruhr manufacturers see the steel limit melting away with out bothering to go through the motions for which it was planned. If Western Europe needs steel they are saying it can only be a matter of time until Western Germany is allowed to make whatever is needed.

The Political work on the Schuman Plan in Paris will undoubtedly go forward to a quick and apparently effective end, but the test will come when the new 'high authority' begins taking decisions and issuing orders to put the Schuman Plan into execution. From then on it will be the owners and manufacturers whose reaction will rest and it is by no means certain that they will act unanimously in support of the plan.

None of this reflects more than a segment of Ruhr opinion which is far from unanimous on any of the political and economic issues confronting German industry. How strong the segment might prove to be remains to be seen.

Record Expected At Niagara This Year

Niagara Falls, Ont. — Visitors to this world-famous scenic resort may establish a record this year if the influx of travellers continues at the pace of the last three months.

In June, automatic automobile and bus counting devices installed on Queen Victoria Park, central area of the 35-mile-long Niagara Parkway system, recorded 223,948 automobiles entering the park. July traffic averaged close to 12000 a day. This is considerably higher than 1949, despite prolonged cool, wet weather.

Since the counting devices were installed a year ago, the largest single 24-hour period was the Sunday preceding Labor Day last year when 29,915 vehicles were registered.

Douglas Allen, supervisor of the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, said visitors registering during June at the department's information booth, numbered 14,836, an increase over 1949. In July, the daily registration was estimated to be double the June figure.

The Falls continue to attract visitors from all parts of the world. Aside from representatives of most of the 48 states, a total of thirty-seven countries were represented by June visitors. Among them were Germany, Japan, Finland, China, Alaska, Malta, Egypt and Switzerland.

Canada's 'Realism' Draws U. K. Praise

London. — The British Press, last week gave prominent play to announcement of the formation of a special Canadian Army force for Korea but there was little editorial comment.

First to comment was London's Liberal evening newspaper, The Star, which praised Canada's 'realism' in forming the force.

'This is the kind of thinking and action now required,' the paper said. 'All members of the United Nations should make similar preparations for immediate action against aggression.

'Such forces standing by for hard-hitting action anywhere in the world would give the U. N. the compelling police authority it must have.'

FINLAND Poor in Soil, Rich in Character

Our land is poor, shall so remain; who seeks for gold, a stranger land is ready by us — so wrote Runeberg, Finland's national bard; this is still so a hundred years later. Nature is austere.

On rocky soil which is often bare grow firs, spruces and birches. The slender stems of the latter look unbelievably white against the sombre background of the firs. The soil is poor and to produce crops incessant hard work and infinite patience are needed—the more so that during the long severe winters agriculture is at a standstill. So the landscape is unrelieved by hedges and spreading trees, as in England. Woods are woods, fields are fields; breaking the latter up would increase the farmer's labor. There are hedges, often running alongside the railway track, low hedges or closely planted fir trees, but they are there to protect snow drifting on the permanent way and interfering with rail traffic. Also, some farmer, proud possessor of an orchard will plant a hedge of fir trees to act as a windbreak against the cold northern blasts.

Houses in the country are built of timber, almost universally painted a dark rich red with a special protective paint, corners and windowframes being picked out in white. These houses and Finland's thousand (or more) lakes do much to brighten the picture, especially in summer when a glint of water can be seen every twenty miles or so. Central heating, electricity and the telephone are amenities which reach to the remotest cottage.

Finland has made a remarkable recovery since the war. Between the wars huge air-raid shelters were blasted out of the very rocks on which Helsinki, the capital, is built. They stretch under streets and houses and must have been absolutely bomb-proof. Unfortunately, they are still in use—as permanent dwelling places for thousands of people who would otherwise be homeless.

As elsewhere, the housing shortage is acute—and housing committees very strict and vigilant. One adult occupying a flat consisting of an ordinary-sized room, small kitchen and bathroom is not allowed to have the use of this alone but must take in a lodger. Building is, however, going on apace, houses in Helsinki, being literally "built upon a rock" — often blasted out of rock. People live in flats and huge blocks going up are anything but attractive from the outside — apart from their proportions. But inside, the flats are the last word in modern comfort and far from stereotyped.

A TIDY FOLK

Cleanliness in Finland has been brought to a fine art. It has to be seen to be believed. One can enter a third-class railway carriage in Finland, find it perfectly clean and after a crowded four to five hours' journey it is still as clean apart from possible ticket, fragments in the conductor's punch. No one would dream of throwing anything on the floor. A very young couple were sharing an orange (fruit is expensive) and saving time a tiny fragment of peel dropped on to the floor, it was picked up and put into a paper and finally deposited in a receptacle provided.

Windows, walls, ceilings in private and public buildings are painted in light, soft colors. Interior decoration has reached a high level. Rooms are large, with wide sills on which to stand flowering plants — flowers and plants the absence of gardens. Plants, particularly creepers, are also fixed on walls and from the ceiling and trained along the walls of rooms.

Children are clean, unbelievably clean. They are often very poorly clad but clean. The emphasis with the clothes of children is of a national character and that tendency is noticeable with adults, too. In summer many women wear national costumes for "best."

Art is modern and highly developed. It finds expression in painting and crafts such, as pottery and glass —the latter are expensive and very beautiful. Folk handicraft has also reached a high standard and in that realm weaving and woodcarving are prominent.

Finland's greatest riches lie in her forests, and perhaps the word is pulped to paper. Paper! There is no end to the uses it has been put to, but counting devices installed in Queen Victoria Park, central area of the 35-mile-long Niagara Parkway system, recorded 223,948 automobiles entering the park. July traffic averaged close to 12000 a day. This is considerably higher than 1949, despite prolonged cool, wet weather.

Maybe Is Was 'Russian' Whale

St. John's, Nfld. — Was it a whale or a submarine? That continues to be the big question in Newfoundland.

A fisherman reported last week, he saw an unidentified underwater object just outside the harbor at St. John's Monday night.

The Navy says it probably was a whale. There have been numerous reports of a sub — probably Russian, during the last month but many remained unconfirmed.

Aunt Ella was explaining the meaning of various words to her young nephew, Sidney. 'Now an heirloom means something that has been handed down from father to son.'

'Well,' observed Sidney, 'that's a queer name for my trousers.'

Animal Vision Different To That Of Humans

What does a cat see when it looks at a human being? "The beasts of prey," declares one student of animal life, "never seem to me to look in our sense, at all. Their eyes are fascinated by the motion of anything, as a kitten by a ball; they fasten, as if drawn by an inevitable attraction, on their food. But when a cat caresses you it never looks at you. Its heart seems to be in its back and part of its eyes. It will rub against you, but you may talk to it an hour yet not rightly catch its eye."

We all know that few animals can endure the stare of human eyes; we all know too, that animals see what they see according to their several organs of sight; but no one knows what these companions fo curs really do see.

A dog seems to sacrifice sight to scent. We have again and again noted that a dog does not recognize his master for certain at even a short distance. In a strange environment a dog only recognizes his master by sound or scent. And many a dog will mistake at the distance of only twelve yards a clod of earth for a rabbit, or a blackbird in a ditch, for a rat.

"How much of a man," it is asked, "can a snake see? What sort of image of him is received through that deadly vertical cleft in the iris — throughout the glazed blue of the ghastly lens?"

No man can answer. We have no knowledge of what sort of world is seen by the spider, the bee, and the horse. But this we can say, safely, that no animal on the earth is given the wonderful vision of man which enables him to lock with mercy on an enemy and with kindness on the unlovely.

Sight is itself a miracle. The human look seems to us to have something in it of the divine.

When it comes to fancy baseball . . . the Athletics of Picton take all the honours. . . . Especially when the matter of fielding a team comes to the fore. . . . On several occasions this summer . . . they have arrived in Napanee . . . either without enough players to form a proper officials . . . and sometimes, a shortage of both. . . . Surely, a team playing this calibre of ball, should be able to gather up enough to make a team, without borrowing from Napanee . . . and using part of the executives to round it out.

Dyer, McDonald and Wardaugh were noticeably absent. . . . But, a "Honey" on first was right in there, partcularly when he threw his bulk into 'Skipper' Green on a cold out, at second . . . putting the peppery second-sacker out of the game with a badly injured knee.

The final pay-off was when he fell . . . over a pair of number 12's, his own . . . and tripped Burtt going over the first sack . . . throwing him for an injured shoulder.

Both players . . . Burtt and Green, went to the hospital for treatment. Nice going . . . the touquet of onions is all his. . . . No one in this district has ever been known to throw the hooks into anyone . . . that is . . . up to now . . . and under no circumstances would those tactics be employed. . . . We do not play ball in that level. . . . Coach Tom Church, a good clean sport and a gentleman, should take this would-be ball player . . . and bench him . . . for the good of baseball.

The injuries received by Vernon Green and Vic Burtt are not serious but somewhat painful. . . . Green has a bad bone bruise on his leg, and Burtt has a badly wrenched right shoulder. . . . Vern Green made a short appearance on Monday night, but had to retire early in the game because of the strain on the injured member. . . . Burtt will be out for quite some time.

In an effort to take care of the medical expenses, etc., incurred by the Club, a benefit ball game is bein garranged for the near future. Watch for the date and . . . .

Show your appreciation of the efforts of an 'amateur' team to impress, to provide you with entertainment . . . by being on hand.

As to the game itself . . . the score should have read 5 to 4 . . . if Davy Young had been on his toes. . . . Vern Goyer was on third when the play was made on 'Honey' at second and the 'big train' made no move to the plate until after Green was knocked down. . . . An interference decision should have been called and Vern remanded to third. . . . However the error meant very little as the game was won on default as soon as Munroe took the field for Picton . . . . being a Napanee player.

In the Belleville loop . . . the Merchants are out of the running and will sit tight until the O. B. A. play-offs are ready . . . The protest it was ignored.

The Bay of Quinte are also waiting for an executive meeting . . . to settle a three-way tie in third place, with Deseronto sitting on top of the heap and the Lions holding second lung. . . . When the three-way tie is settled, the play-offs begin with first and third and second and fourth teams battling a three out of five, home and home affair. . . . The winners meet in a four out of seven series, for the Beaver trophy.

At Picton on Friday last the locals dropped another game, 9 to 3 to the Bay boys . . . according to reports the game was one where the Napanee squad hit into their hands and the pitchers batted them into the park.

In regard to future games in the C.O.B.L. concerning the Napanee A's . . . there are three: Trenton Falls here Friday and two postponed games . . . one with Picton, at Picton, and one with the Leafs, at Kingston. . . . The latter two dates are to be set later.

Colonel Refuses to Blow Up Train, As Ordered

Korea, (U.P.) — Lieut. Col. William O. Holley, of Corvallis, Ore., got orders to blow up an American train. It was stranded just outside the 1st Cavalry sector. Fifteen freight cars loaded with gasoline and munitions were in imminent danger of falling into North Korean hands. Col. Holley planned everything just right.

Twenty tired riflemen set out ahead in jeeps for the railway station, fifteen miles east of Kumchon. The main body of his Engineer's Battalion followed in trucks mounting machine guns.

The riflemen seized the station and threw up a defence. The demolition was ready.

He telephoned back to headquarters and said he wanted a locomotive. The officer he spoke to said maybe there was one he could get farther south.

From 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. the engineers held the station against enemy attack. Then in came a locomotive and hauled the train out.

The boys thought it was a pity they wouldn't get to use the demolition, after it was all set up. "So we spread through town," said Holley, "and destroyed the rail crossings, switches, bridges and communication centres."

Attends Cornell Univ. Summer Ext. Course

Miss Elsie Irvine, County Home Economist, has just returned from Cornell University at Ithica, New York, where she was one of a group of eighty-three Extension workers attending a three weeks' summer school. Included in this group were students from twenty-five states and twelve foreign countries.

"The opportunity of meeting these people and of hearing how they carry on Extension work was a wonderful experience" says Miss Irvine. Eight courses were offered and each student was allowed to take two of these courses for credit.

Professor Longdorf from Kansas State College, who conducted the course on Extension Information, told his group: "If you can get one new idea from each class. It has been worth your while." And certainly many ideas were exchanged during the fifteen lectures.

The three weeks were not all work but many outside activities were arranged such as tours and discussion groups and picnics. The Graduation Party on the last evening added the finishing touch to a worthwhile vacation.

NAP. TAKES GAME BY DEFAULT

It was 'musical chair' night at the Lion operated Gibbard Park, Wednesday last when the Napanee Athletes tied the Picton Athletics, 5-all, in a seven innings struggle.

Shortage of players on the Picton team forced the locals to lend the visitors a fielder, and Fraser, business manager and coach of the Picton squad, was given the chore of catching.

The game was a win for Napanee as a result of the lack of players by the Picton squad.

As for the locals' injuries of Burtt and Verral Greer put the Killorin men out of position and errors resulted.

Ed. Hooper went the route for Napanee, allowing eight safeties, one a double; struck out seven and walked one. One runner reached first when hit on the elbow by Hooper.

For Picton, three hurlers were used. Hayden started and lasted for one frame; struck-out one walked one and allowed one hit. Dean took over and hurled for two frames. He walked one and allowed three safeties. Fitzpatrick came in at the fourth and struck out one, walked two and only gave up two hits.

In the fourth frame Honey singled and was thrown out at second, but charged into Green injuring the latter out of the game with an injured knee. In the next innings, Burtt hit to short and the throw pulled Honey off first, when he tried to field the ball, and Burtt got to the mid-up and came out with an injured shoulder. Both players were taken to hospital for examination and treatment.

The bride chose a floor length gown of white corded silk with fitted bodice, low neckline and inserts of silk eyelet. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion fell from a halo headdress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

THE AGE OF OIL

The great petroleum industry celebrates its ninetieth birthday on August 27th. The modern oil age was born in 1859, when a few Americans, led by one Edwin L. Drake, succeeded in sinking a well to a depth of seventy feet, and there found oil.

In 1859 oil was practically the only form of domestic lighting used, apart from candles. Today products obtained from crude oil drive aeroplanes, cars, ships and trains. Oil lubricants are essential to every kind of machinery from the engines of the Queen Elizabeth to the pedal-bicycle. Crude oil also provides other products, used for thousands of everyday purposes — it is used in paints and plastics, for instance, and in soaps and sundries.

Crude oil comes mainly from the United States, the Middle East, South America, and Russia; but nearly forty countries produce some oil. Compared with the seventy feet of that first oil well one modern well produces oil from over 14,000 feet. So much oil is found in Britain, but British oil companies have played a great part in discovering and producing oil in many other lands.

It was stranded just outside the U.S. Cavalry sector. Fifteen freight cars loaded with gasoline and munitions were in imminent danger of falling into North Korean hands.

Twenty tired riflemen set out ahead in jeeps for the railway station, fifteen miles east of Kumchon. The main body of his Engineer's Battalion followed in trucks mounting machine guns.

The riflemen seized the station and threw up a defence. The demolition was ready.

He telephoned back to headquarters, and said he wanted a locomotive. The officer he spoke to said maybe there was one he could get further south.

From 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. the engineers held the station against enemy attack. Then in came a locomotive and hauled the train out.

The boys thought it was a pity they wouldn't get to use the demolition, after it was all set up. 'So we spread through town,' said Holley, "and destroyed the rail crossings, switches, bridges and communication centres.'

Attends Cornell Univ. Eummer Ext. Course

Miss Elsie Irvine, County Home Economist, has just returned from Cornell University at Ithica, New York, where she was one of a group of eighty-three Extension workers attending a three weeks' summer school. Included in this group were students from twenty-five states and twelve foreign countries.

"The opportunity of meeting these people and of hearing how they carry on Extension work was a wonderful experience" says Miss Irvine. Eight courses were offered and each student was allowed to take two of these courses for credit.

Professor Longsdorf from Kansas State College, who conducted the course on Extension Information, told his group: "If you can get one new idea from each class. it has been worth your while," and certainly many new ideas exchanged during the fifteen lectures.

The three weeks were not all work but many outside activities were arranged such as tours and discussion groups and picnics. The Graduation Party on the last evening added the finishing touch to a worthwhile vacation.

WEDDING BELLS

BAKER—HINCHEY

Selby United Church parsonage was the setting of a pretty wedding on July 29th, 1950, when Rev. H. S. Cooke united in marriage Florence June, only daughter of Mr. William Hinchey, and the late Mrs. Hinchey of Arden, to William Vernon Paul, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Baker, of Napanee.

The bride chose a floor length gown of white corded silk with fitted bodice, low neckline and insets of silk eyelet. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion fell from a halo headdress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Pauline Baker, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, wearing a floor length gown of light blue corded silk, designed similarly to that of the bride's. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

Mr. Wilfred Hinchey, of Arden, brother of the bride, was the best man.

A reception was held in Napanee following the wedding. After a short honeymoon, the bride and groom will reside in Arden.

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY SNIDER

The death occurred on Friday, July 28 h. at her home, near Enterprise, of Mrs. Henry Snider, in her 74th year. Mrs. Snider, formerly Amanda Cronk, was born at McLean, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Cronk. She had been in failing health for about one year, but her death came as a shock to everyone. She was a member of the Free Methodist Church.

Mrs. Snider is survived by her husband, Mr. Henry Snider; one daughter, Mrs. Norman Hagar (Dorothy), one son, Courtland, of Yarker, six grandchildren, and four sisters, Mrs. Irvin Graham, Enterprise; Mrs. Beasley Clark and Mrs. Arthur Binkley, Fairham; Mrs. Margaret King, Troy, N.Y., and one brother, Mr. Melvin Cronk, Enterprise. Three children, Myrtle, Margaret and Bert, predeceased her many years ago.

The funeral was held on Sunday, July 30th, from her late residence, and was conducted by Rev. F. Burnham, assisted by Rev. I. M. Loucks. Special numbers in song were given by Mr. E. R. Bell and Mrs. Ross Cousins, of Enterprise.

Interment was made in the cemetery at Fifth Lake.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Gordon and Phil Higby, Wilmot and Burton Clark, and Henry Keech. Flower-bearers were Jacqueline Higley, Rita King, Alma Snider and Jean Buckley.

THE AGE OF OIL

The great petroleum industry celebrates its ninetieth birthday on August 27th. The modern oil age was born in 1859, when a few Americans, led by one Edwin L. Drake, succeeded in sinking a well to a depth of seventy feet, and there found oil.

In 1859 oil was practically the only form of domestic lighting used, apart from candles. Today products obtained from crude oil drive aeroplanes, cars, ships and trains. Oil lubricants are essential to every kind of machinery from the engines of the Queen Elizabeth to the pedal bicycle. Crude oil also provides other products, used for thousands of everyday purposes — it is used in paints and plastics, for instance, and in soaps and candles.

Crude oil comes mainly from the United States, the Middle East, South America, and Russia; but nearly forty countries produce some oil. Compared with the seventy feet of that first oil well, one modern well produces oil from over 14,000 feet. Not much oil is found in Britain, but British oil companies have played a great part in discovering and producing oil in many other lands.

Beauty, Just Skin Deep

Romford, Eng. — A losing beauty queen contestant who was alleged to have bitten the ear of the winning candidate and pulled out some of her hair, was fined $5 for assault, in a court, last week.

Rosina Jones, crowned carnival queen of Rainham, Essex, said that while she was dancing after winning the competition, a rival finalist, Queenie Swan, bumped into her and smacked her, biting her ear until it bled.

In Loving Memory

MILES — In loving memory of our two dear sons, Delbert Miles, who passed away January 20th, 1946, and his brother, Purcell Miles, who was instantly killed on Deseronto Highway, August 18th, 1948

Gone, dear sons, gone forever.
How we miss your smiling faces.
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed;
How sweet the memory still.
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Lovingly remembered by
MOTHER and FATHER.

BROWN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father James H. Brown, who passed away suddenly August 15th, 1949.

Who walks with us no more
Along the path of life we tread
He has but gone before.

Always remembered by
WIFE and FAMILY.

KIMMERLY — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Fred Kimmerly, who passed away on August 17th, 1949.

Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile.
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy, to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self, but of the other;
I know He said: "Well done, dear mother."

Deeply missed, but always remembered by HUSBAND and FAMILY.

Tribute To James C. Furnival

(From Portland Maine, Newspaper)

For a full lifetime, James C. Furnival served his city and served it well. There was nobody in the City Government who knew so many citizens or who had such intimate acquaintance with the workings and history. He was the right-hand man for our first two City Managers when they came as strangers to Portland. Though he had never been Mayor of the city, he had served with success, satisfaction and distinction on several occasions as Acting Mayor and as City Manager. Moved to a difficult field in which he had had no specific experience—the field of public welfare—he put the Department on a firm basis, in line with the best thinking of experts, and for the last 13 years had administered its affairs with tact, justice and kindness. Best of all, he had a host of friends who learned of his passing from their midst with sorrow, and will remember him with abiding affection. And that, perhaps, is the highest tribute that any man can earn.

MAJOR WORTHYLAKE DIES IN FLORIDA

FORMER S. A. OFFICER IN NAPANEE

Major Claude Worthylake, 57, of Toronto, a Salvation Army officer for 29 years and formerly assistant superintendent of the Memorial Men's Hospital, died in Miami, Fla., last week, after a long illness.

For two years he served in the hotel in Montreal until ill-health forced him to move to Toronto, six months ago.

During the Second World War he served at hostels in a number of army camps, including those at Halifax and Shelbourne, N.S. He spent the first fifteen years of his Salvation Army career in the Maritimes.

About twenty years ago Major Worthylake was in charge of the Napanee Corps of The Salvation Army.

Motion Pictures At Rate 40,000,000 Per Second

Motion pictures taken at the rate of 40,000,000 a second were announced in the Review of Science Instruments, recently.

Three are shown, each a step in the exploration of a bit of fine gold wire when it vaporizes in a flash of intense heat.

In the first picture the wire is glowing. In the second the wire has swelled, but is still unbroken. In the third, the wire is three to four times its normal size, but still in perfect form. Later breakdown rings form around the wire like bullet-holes stripes.

The trick is the shutter. This is a further development of the same shutter, known as a Kerr cell, on which they have done several years work. Nearly two years ago this shutter was fast enough — at 10,000,000 a second—to photograph a ray of light travelling only 10 feet. Light's speed is 186,000 miles a second.

The shutter is a glass jar, filled with a crystal-clear liquid, nitrobenzene. On each side of the jar is a metal window, of polarizing glass. The jar and its contents are perfectly transparent. The light enters through one polarizing window and goes out at the other.

One of these windows is turned opposite the other, so that it shuts out all light, the same as can be done by turning one of the lenses in polarizing eyeglasses. To open the shutter, an electric shot is sent into the liquid between the two windows. This twists the light in the liquid.

The twist is just enough to let the light pass out of the second window. In this shutter nothing moves but light itself.

London's Buried Treasures

London. — Excavations in an area flattened by buzz-bombs in the Second World War have exposed another buried treasure of London's unwritten history.

The archaeological discovery has been identified as a Roman fort or guard-house, believed to date back to 70-80!. Members of the London Roman and Medieval Excavation Council, directing the work, believe the find will be established as the city's earliest military bastion, with a history probably 1,000 years older than the famous Tower of London. If confirmed, they say, it would mean the rewriting of the story of the defenders of Roman London.

Workmen, who have been probing the extensive area of devastation, came across the long-buried citadel under the present site of Moorgate in the shadows of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The excavators were concentrating on tracing the course of a Roman wall and gravel road previously uncovered, when they suddenly came upon the fort. Covering an area of approximately eleven acres, it was found to be of rectangular construction, much along the pattern of similar military stations unearthed on the continent and in Western and Northern Britain.

W. F. Grimes, keeper of the London Museum and honorary director of the excavations, said the date of the fort could not be positively fixed pending detailed study of other finds associated with different parts of the ancient defences. An inner wall, however, has been approximately dated by an A.D. 140 coin found embedded in its mortar.

New Army Truck Runs Under Water

New York — A new army two-and-a-half ton truck — the Eager Beaver—designed to run with its engine submerged in water or in temperatures ranging from 65 degrees below zero to 125 degrees above, is now in production, it has been announced.

Pilot models of the truck developed by United States Army Ordnance to meet the extreme conditions of military service have been tested for many weeks at the Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland, and at other army bases. The Eager Beaver officially labelled the model M-34 is being built by Reo Motors, Inc.

In releasing the details of the truck's performance the Reo people claim that the Eager Beaver with its completely waterproofed engine will cross a 10-foot deep stream without benefit of a bridge.

RICE, MEAT STUFFING IN PEPPERS, MAKES AN ECONOMICAL, TASTY DISH

With the green pepper season approaching here is a taste-tempting method of serving them—stuffed with rice! These simple stuffed peppers require only ten minutes baking time for most of the cooking is done on top of the stove.

Add one cup cooked rice, half-teaspoon salt, half-cup cooked meat, chopped, or one can chopped ham, baby or ground, a small garlic salt and monosodium glutamate, to taste, half-teaspoon curry powder, two large green peppers or four small peppers, bread crumbs for topping, paprika, one tablespoonful of butter for fat.

To Cook The Rice: Put one cup of white rice, one teaspoon salt and two cups cold water in a three-pint saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then turn down the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency. Never stir rice while cooking—and the grains will be separate and tender. Makes approximately three cups fluffy white rice. Keep left-over cooked rice in a small bowl in refrigerator—you'll find it handy next time you're in a hurry to fix a quick meal.

Note: This produces very firm rice grains. If you prefer more tender grains, use one-third cup additional water for each cup of rice and increase your slow cooking period four to five minutes.

To Prepare Peppers: Wash, split the large ones in half, remove the seeds from small ones, remove centre, cave and seeds. Cook in boiling water for about fifteen minutes or until tender; heat the oven to 250 degrees F. Mix one cup of cooked rice with the meat and seasonings in a bowl. When the peppers are cooked, stuff them with the rice mixture, top with bread crumbs or cracker meal and sprinkle with a dash of paprika.

In a shallow baking dish put the contents of an eight ounce can of tomato sauce. Place the stuffed peppers in the sauce and bake for ten minutes at 350 degrees F.—or until hot through. Serve at once in the dish in which they are baked. This will make four servings.

United States Negro Now Czech Citizen

Prague, Czechoslovakia.— James M. Robinson, American negro from Chicago, who turned in his passport last year, has become a Czech citizen, the official news agency has reported.

The agency said Robinson was issued citizenship papers by the vice-chairman of his local committee.

United States officials said Robinson's swearing allegiance to another state automatically invalidated any claims to U. S. citizenship. They contemplated no action.

The officials said Robinson left his passport at the United States Consulate in Prague in June, 1949, together with a letter denouncing the United States for racial discrimination.'

Robinson, who works as a welder in a steel factory, said recently he intended to marry a Czech girl and settle down in Prague.

THE STORKS FLY SOUTH

It is an unforgettable sight to watch in late October or early November a party of storks, returning to their African winter quarters after their 4,000-mile journey from the grey skies and cold winds of the north.

From tiny specks in the air, parties of one hundred or more may be seen arriving and with graceful spiral wheelings coming lower and lower preparatory to landing, and so completing the last long hop of their journey, which has been covered in fairly easy stages at a cruising speed of about twenty miles an hour, and taking not less than forty days.

They remain in Africa till March, when most of them depart on their long homeward journey to the breeding grounds in Europe. A few only, composed possibly of the older and weaker birds, remain during the long journey back, will remain during the winter months.

Many Canadians know these birds by sight as they quietly stalk about the open veld, with their white body and long red bill, and standing a little over two feet in height.

They are protected by law, but are so confiding and well known to both Europeans and Natives that they are easily interfered with. It is quite possible to estimate the number visiting South Africa each year, but it is thought to be not fewer than several hundreds of thousands.

They feed most of the day, and shortly before sunset rise in great spirals in the air to so great a height as to appear no larger than a speck, descending to roost soon afterwards.

The only authentic record of these birds breeding in South Africa is that near Calitzdorp, where a pair or more have been nesting and bringing up their young for some years under the protection of the farmer whose property the nests are on, and with some aid and encouragement from the South African Ornithological Society.

STRIPED SYMBOL

The "Barber's pole" — that red-and-white striped symbol outside the "tonsorial artists'" shop is a relic of bygone days. In olden times the barber usually combined the duties of surgeon with his hair-trimming operations. The common practice of "bleeding" the patient and the subsequent bandaging is effectively represented by those crimson and white lines round the pole.

Birds That Cannot Fly And Others That Flap Wings Alternately

Talking of queer birds, much can be learned from the tailor bird. This little creature of Asia is an expert seamstress, using her bill as a needle, with thread if she can find it, if not, with bits of fibre or grass. The common American oriole came its shipknot equal to boy scout or a sailor.

Flight is always associated with birds, yet there are species that cannot fly. The emus found on Island far in the South Atlantic are flightless and so are the kiwi of New Zealand, which are as large as hens and are such sound sleepers that they can be picked up without awakening. The bustzin of South Africa has toes on its wings which are used by the young birds in climbing back to the nest after they escape from danger by diving from their limb to the water below.

When it comes to flying, the frigate, a sea bird, reigns supreme. It can fly for days without a stop. The albatros is another distant flyer, yet this bird is almost helpless in a dead calm, requiring the aid of strong currents to make its great flight. The puffin does not go far north, flies under water, while the cormorants of Japan have been caught in crab pots 120 feet below the water surface. All birds fly with their wings flapping together except the wood-mocker of Africa, which flaps its wings alternately.

Broad Wings

Birds vary in size and weight from the European golden crested wren, weighing no more than a single ounce feather, to the giant pelleans with a wingspread of twenty-two ft. They can be loving as the male cardinal which is considered to be the most affectionate of birds, for only death or captivity will separate it from its mate, to the crowned-hawk eagle which makes its nest in the lofty yellowwood trees of South Africa, and which is a vicious killer. On the other hand, there is the kingbird of North America that chases hawks, crows and even eagles, and yet flies from the attack of a humming bird.

Almost all birds are individualists, but there are some species that live in groups and live all together. The cedar birds, for instance, will line up on a limb and pass a piece of fruit back and forth, from one to another. Most birds are pretty to look at, but the reason for being ugliness to the puffin, a bird rather common in Canada, nosing out such as the pink flamingo with its stilt-like legs and snake neck, and the squat, satchel-billed pelican.

The woodcock is an oddity, since it has its ears in front of its eyes! The male cardinal can whistle a tune from the curious crest it wears, resembling a secretary with quills behind his ear. The Australian mutton-bird yields oil sixty times richer in vitamins than cod liver oil and the Eskimo knows how to bake an egg that is pure white in color.

Icelandic Volcano Erupts Frequently And Regularly

A new chapter is being added to the thousand years of history recorded at Hekla, the great volcano in Iceland. With those of Etna and Vesuvius, these records of eruptions are the most complete in existence.

Dating from the ninth century, when Norway first colonized the island, these records show that there has never been an interval of more than forty years, during the last eight centuries, without either a major earthquake or volcanic eruption in Iceland. Nine times Hekla has burned, accompanied by lava-flow, smoke miles high, and dust spreading to the British Isles and beyond.

Hekla has a hundred fellow-volcanoes in the island, more than fifty of them active, and these, geologists say, act as safety valves for the area in which the British Isles and the Faroes are midway between Hekla's spouting in our midst. Lying partly within the Arctic Circle, Iceland is made of volcanoes, with hot springs and geysers of steam and boiling water gushing everywhere. Iceland, its heart afire, is one of the world's wonderlands. It is nearly twice the size of Wales, and the home of 180,000 people, centred about the more favored parts of the island's coastline, where alone grain has to be imported. Cattle, sheep, and ponies thrive in great numbers on the grassy slopes.

Yet they live, these Icelanders, next door to perpetual terror and frightfulness. Lava fields, thousands of square miles in extent, scar the uninhabitable interior, where immense sheets of ice and glaciers form on the volcanoes as they slumber, to melt in time of eruption, and cause disastrous floods. During periods of subterranean violence old hills and lakes are swallowed up, and new hills and new lakes are created, while off the coast established islands vanish, and new islands are thrust up out of the sea.

One of the volcanoes created two islands, and of these, the first fifty miles long, the other forty, the amount of material ejected being estimated to exceed the entire mass of Mont Blanc, Europe's greatest mountain, nearly 16,000 feet high. The volcano of the great storms such as that recently created by Hekla may be gauged by experience of the Icelandic trawler, Prince Palatine steaming in the Atlantic, twenty-five years ago.

Suddenly overtaken by what they thought to be a sandstorm, the crew voyaged for sixty-four hours through what seemed an imitation London fog. The vessel was thickly coated with dust, which proved to be volcanic glass, from fresh eruptions of Hekla, 500 miles away.

How long the present eruption may last no man can predict, but Hekla, which until last month had been practically at peace for a century, has been known to smoke and spout for six years without cessation.

Birds Of Prey

Birds of prey are large and powerful birds which kill other birds and animals for food. Eagles, hawks, falcons, and owls are birds of prey. They have sharp, curved beaks and claws called talons. Their eyes are very keen, and they can see their prey from a great distance. Birds of prey have strong wings and can fly fast. They usually swoop down on their victims from above.

ROBLIN WOMENS INSTITUTE

The July meeting of Roblin W. I. was held in the hall with Mrs. Brooks presiding as hostess. With the president, Mrs. T. E. Wickham presiding the meeting opened in the usual manner. The roll call was well responded to by sixteen members. The ball game was What Your Best and other interesting ones were given and we hope something will be done about several of them such as building of sidewalks in Roblin, beautification of grounds of public buildings, flush gates of canal etc. Leaflets on food health were distributed by the secretary, who also stated the W. I. Institute had given over fifteen thousand dollars to the Manitoba Relief Fund.

Mrs. J. H. Kimmett had charge of the program on Agriculture and Canadian Industries. Mrs. Kimmett read a paper on agriculture telling what the Federation of Agriculture is doing in this County. Mrs. Tice contributed a lovely solo to the programme and Mrs. J. H. Kimmett gave two splendid readings.

Mrs. Fred Perry of Ad-Johnston was guest speaker. She gave an interesting account of her visit to the F. W. I. of Ontario, held at Guelph, last spring. She stated that the Women's Institute is the strongest organization in agriculture. Mrs. Stocks then conducted two contests on Canadian industries and Mrs. Wm. Paul demonstrated a sandwich loaf which was very prettily made and delicious when it was served with the lunch at the close of the meeting, which was closed with the National Anthem.

MAPLE LEAF W. I.

The August meeting of the Maple Leaf Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Perry on Tuesday afternoon, August 8th with the President, Mrs. E. O'Connor in the chair, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. S. Perry. The roll call was answered by My Favourite Outdoor Sport. Business and correspondence followed. A total of $4.00 was handed in for use of the piano. In different parties and a donation of $1.00 was received for the hall.

The convener of the programme took the chair and welcomed and introduced the speaker, Dr. Jeffs, M.O.H., who spoke on child diseases. He mentioned such as scarlatina, whooping cough, scarlet fever and typhoid and under each gave the cure. He spoke of a new drug on the market now for undulant fever, also that children should drink plenty of milk to build up their strength and energy, as it contains so many of the vitamins.

Mrs. R. Hill gave a reading and Mrs. Lyn Perry and Mrs. R. Hill sang a duet, which was followed by a very interesting paper on Spices and a Quartet of Clever Ideas. Miss Ida Perry rendered a solo.

The convener thanked all those taking part also the hostess and lunch committee.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

SCOTTISH DESERT TRANSFORMED

A great expanse of sand-dunes, on a Scottish coast which was, perhaps the first serious approach in Britain to a real desert, is being turned into a pine forest by the Forestry Commission.

The expanse of dunes, six miles long by more than six miles wide, is called Culbin. It lies on the southern shore of the Moray Firth near Nairn, and the work of turning this desert into a forest is described in a Forestry Commission booklet recently published.

This place has had a strange history. In the seventeenth century it was a green stretch of countryside with lush meadows and pasture lands supporting thriving herds of cattle and flocks of sheep, and with a rell yielding such bountiful harvests that the region was known as the Granary of Moray. It was the wealth estate of the Kinnaird family.

Here lived a fine-looking community of folk, and a handsome mansion, set in the Laird system farmhouses and a number of smaller efforts and the Church of Kinloide Eden of the North. But along the coast, and in the area huge sand dunes had been piled up. Over these grew tufts of marram grass, the deep roots of which held the sand and kept it from drifting.

The countryfolk however were always pulling up this marram grass to make ropes, thatching mattress. Then in 1694 the story goes, a terrible storm arose, and the sand dunes became a moving mass, burying the houses and fields and driving the people out of their homes. Only a few of the cottages could be rescued, and the people visit these ruins to-day. Only the tops of the walls of the houses can be seen.

A few years in the past pine trees were planted to hold the sand in place, and in 1922 the Forestry Commission began establishing the present Culbin Forest. Four thousand acres have been planted, and more than 2,000 acres of timber were cut, worth more than £12,000.

GERMANY AND REARMAMENT

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
A. P. News Analyst

There could be no more startling indication of the dangers of our time than the growing sentiment among the democracies for the rearming of Western Germany to help meet the Red menace.

That's an amazing change of attitude,— which France, for one, thus far disapproves — towards a defeated nation which has been condemned to punishment for twice plunging the world into war.

It's strange but understandable, for the consensus of military experts is that without the support of this former keystone of central Europe the Western Allies would face a grim task in event of another all-out clash at arms.

Only five years ago the victorious Allies declared grimly that Germany never again would be permitted to rearm, and would be occupied militarily to insure this. As a matter of fact as recently at June 7th, State Secretary Dean Acheson ruled out the rearming of Western Germany (favored by some military men) as a means of reinforcing the defences of the west.

Last week, however, bypartisan demands were made in the United States Congress for arming Germans and Japanese to defend themselves. And in Frankfort, Germany, nearly all Western military men, and most officials agree that Europe couldn't be defended against the Soviet Union without the arming of Western Germany.

Why this sudden change? Well, Western military men and statesmen have reluctantly faced the fact that their military houses in order. Britain, hard hit as she is economically, is grimly turning to strengthening her striking power. France has pledged herself to a three-year rearmament programme to help guard against Red assault. And the other countries of the Atlantic Pact are falling in line.

Since Western Germany is the barrier between the Soviet bloc and the democracies, the need of her rearmament is obvious from the viewpoint of the latter. She has vast resources in coal and iron in the industrial Ruhr. And her soldiers rank among the world's best.

That 'time is not on our side.'

These circumstances, belatedly admitted by the Western powers, have sent them scurrying about to put their military houses in order. Britain, hard hit as she is economically, is grimly turning to strengthening her striking power. France has pledged herself to a three-year rearmament programme to help guard against Red assault. And the other countries of the Atlantic Pact are falling in line.

Since Western Germany is the barrier between the Soviet bloc and the democracies, the need of her rearmament is obvious from the viewpoint of the latter. She has vast resources in coal and iron in the industrial Ruhr. And her soldiers rank among the world's best.

FAVOE DEMOCRACIES

Whether the Germans would consent to rearmament under such circumstances hasn't been determined. Vice-Chancellor Bluecher says they aren't willing to be rearmed. However, there are many signs that Western Germany would rather cast its lot with the Democracies than the Reds.

It would be interesting if one could lift the roof off the Kremlin in Moscow and discover how the Mussovite leaders view this situation. One suspects that they regard it complacently and perhaps even with pleasure.

By forcing the Western allies to rearm, Russia is putting a heavy economic pressure on countries already badly hit by the last war. In short, the Communists stand to gain even though they sit tight.

However, while the Western bloc is well aware of this mad twist of fate, it is bound to weigh carefully the idea of reversing itself and rearming the country which it swore to keep under wraps.

BRITAIN, FRANCE 'PUSHOVERS' IN MAJOR WAR

BY ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London. — It looks as though Russia thinks Britain and France would be pushovers in any major war.

That, at least, is one conclusion to be drawn from a recent conversation between Russian propagandist Ilya Ehrenburg, sometimes called the Socrates of Soviet journalism, and Richard Crossman, left-wing Labor member of the British House of Commons.

The conversation took place at a luncheon party arranged by mutual friends during Ehrenburg's visit to London to speak at a Trafalgar Square 'peace' rally. It was conducted in French, through an interpreter, and there are two versions of what was said.

Speaking in the Commons later, Crossman quoted Ehrenburg as saying Britain and France are physically and morally incapable of waging war. Crossman said Ehrenburg's attitude reminded him of Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German pre-war ambassador in London, who advised Hitler that Britain had no stomach for war.

"I am quite convinced that nothing I said to Ehrenburg had any effect at all," Crossman said in his Commons speech. "That's why I felt constantly depressed by the conversation."

In a 600-word letter published in The Times and The Manchester Guardian, Ehrenburg denied everything. What he did say, he wrote was that in my opinion the British people were not capable of aggression.

He rejected any comparison with Von Ribbentrop, who Ehrenburg said had described the British people as incapable of defending their own land.

Crossman took up the cudgels again. He said there could be no doubt Ehrenburg used the words attributed to him. Anyway, any conflict between East and West would be described by Soviet propaganda as a war of aggression. Von Ribbentrop similarly had described the defence of Poland in 1939 as 'aggression on behalf of plutto-democracy.'

What is vital,' writes the British M.P., 'is that Soviet policy should not be based on similar misapprehensions about British morale.'

The stocky, white-haired Ehrenburg had a rough passage throughout his British visit. Reporters who attended his one press conference wrote sarcastically of his performance saying that his answers to direct questions seldom bore any relevance to the subject matter.

Ehrenburg, who wrote 'The Storm' and other books, also drew a reprimand from British playwright J. B. Priestley.

Priestley, like Crossman, once was an ardent supporter of Russia. In reply to criticisms of Prof. Ilya's recently - changing attitude made by Ehrenburg at the Trafalgar Square rally, the British writer said:

"If Mr. Ehrenburg and his colleagues are really after with a crusading spirit, let them get up in Moscow, preferably when its peace-loving government is parading more armed men tanks and warplanes for an afternoon show, than we could muster for a week, and show some fiery crusading there."

GEOGRAPHY IN A TWIN-ENGINED CLASSROOM

BY DANIEL BEHRMAN
Special Unesco Writer

Five times this year, M. Jean Gandillot, assistant chief of the physical geography laboratory at the University of Paris, has told his students:

"You know how the microscope brings within the range of the human eye objects that are too small to be seen? Well, the airplane brings within the eye's range objects that are too big."

Following this little talk, he has loaded his class into a twin-engined airplane and taken it for an aerial inspection of the geological characteristics of the Paris region, covering in 55 minutes an area that he would need three days to explain by land-bound methods.

M. Gandillot thus has introduced 200 students into the use of the airplane as an instrument for the study of physical geography, that is, the physical characteristics of the earth's surface and the forces that made them the way they are. From the air, it is only a matter of minutes to trace back the work of eroding rivers, volcanic eruptions and great upthrusts which corrugated the earth's surface millions of years ago. Although M. Gandillot's course is concerned only with the physical aspects of the earth's surface, the work of the physical geographer has left its mark on many other sciences.

Agriculture, for example, is interested in erosion and what can be done to stop it, and often the physical geographer's discovery of an ancient river bed has saved time and money for the builders of railroads, roads and canals. It is natural, then, that the students of M. Gandillot's flying class-room include high school geography instructors, visiting professors from other nations, and amateur geographers, as well as men and women studying a number of specialties at the Sorbonne.

M. Gandillot has received requests from geographers in Switzerland, Belgium, and the United Kingdom for information on his technique, which he believes to be completely new in Europe.

M. Gandillot and his class, usually about forty students, make their flights in a British-built cargo transport, a high-wing monoplane, which gives the passengers an uninterrupted view of the terrain.

The five flights of the airborne geography class have covered the Parisian area, north, south, east and west. Thus far, the flights have been made at an altitude of 2,000 feet, from which the earth looks like a giant relief map. This altitude is ideal for the study of relatively flat country, M. Gandillot explained, since visibility would be lost by flying higher and perspective would suffer at a lower altitude.

From the air, such features as the former bed of the Marne River — which used to join the Seine by the of Paris and now joins it at Ch south — are easily visible. The old Marne bed looks like a broad highway from the air, its loops and bends as distinct as those of a living river.

The area near Pontainebleau, which lends itself well to aerial study, shows the terrain changes abruptly from limestone to sand, and that in only 2,000 feet high can see the difference as clearly as on a baker's relief map.

The chateau of Versailles rears up for an aerial inspection. M. Gandillot points out the way in which architects of the fabulous palace took advantage of what geologists call an 'antiklinal valley,' to give Louis XIV and his court the beautiful panorama of countryside which has delighted visitors from all parts of the world.

Now that some 200 students have studied the Paris region from the air, M. Gandillot plans to study the Auvergne section of France on the next series of flights. This area, rich in extinct volcanoes, can best be studied from an altitude of 5,000 feet. From a lesser altitude, it is impossible to see individual volcanoes.

He hopes later to make flights over the channel coast of France and over the study of marine life over the Zuider Zee in the Netherlands, in agreement with the Dutch Government and UNESCO.

FOREST FIRES AND THEIR DESTRUCTION

Last year 7,682 forest fires in Canada destroyed 2,728,656 acres of trees, a total of timber [illegible] the annual consumption of the Canadian pulp and paper industry. The damage of standing timber alone in the forty amounted to almost [illegible] dollars, while the year's total [illegible] forests brought the bill to more than nine million dollars.

This is a staggering total, particularly disturbing when it is realized that the great majority of these fires were caused by man's carelessness, and were therefore preventable. Thirty-seven per cent of the fires — those caused by smokers, by camp fires — could be blamed entirely on ignorance and carelessness. Lightning, the one natural cause of forest fires, was responsible for only nineteen per cent of the total.

Last year's six million acres burned covers only the value of the timber and property destroyed. There were other losses which were perhaps even more serious, although they were more difficult to assess. For instance trees destroyed by fire are not necessarily replaced by trees of the same type — often the second growth is inferior, and sometimes the soil is so altered by the effects of fire that it will support no trees at all.

A part of the forest destroyed every year is classed as non-productive, and consists of stunted trees which will never reach merchantable size. However, the destruction of all forested, even a non-productive one means the destruction of the trees which regulate stream-flow in the watersheds of our rivers, and which shelter much of our wildlife. Also means the loss of a part of the vacation area preferred by large numbers of Canadians and visitors to Canada.

Fire - fighting and fire - prevention methods have developed rapidly in recent years, and the [illegible] of forest acreage fire and the total area burned are little more than half what they were in 1918. However, the number of fires occurring annually has remained about the same over the last thirty years. This means that fire prevention efforts have barely kept pace with the increased use of the forests by the public. Until carelessness is curbed, easier access to the forests will continue to offset new expenditures and developments by forest authorities. The real cure for forest fires rests squarely with the individual Canadian who uses the woods.

The danger of fire in the woods varies widely with rainfall, humidity and the state of forest growth. Early in the spring, before the new green vegetation has appeared, the forest floor is covered with dry debris from the previous year, while in the autumn, again, the green growth has disappeared and the ground is covered with the dried litter of the summer. Thus, in most parts of Canada, the peak number of fires occurs in May, with another minor peak in July and August. However, certain conditions may set off fires at any time during periods of low rainfall.

The most dangerous and destructive forest fires are crown fires. These are the fires in which the main mass of flame, driven by strong winds, rises into the crowns of the trees and travels forward at several miles an hour. Such fires cannot be fought at close quarters — the usual method is to start a backfire far ahead of the blaze and so make a natural break in the forest. Less spectacular, but fought by methods just as exacting, breaking and expensive, are ground and surface fires. Ground fires spread below the surface in moss, peat or decomposed vegetation, and often smoulder for long periods before breaking out into the open. Surface fires travel in the surface litter of dead leaves and branches.

Forest resources are under provincial jurisdiction, except for forests in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, and in national parks, which are administered by the Federal Government. Most of the provinces have some type of fire protection organization early in the century, and laws and regulations dealing with the control of fire hazards were already in force. The provincial forest protection services are now highly organized. They include fire detection, by means of lookout towers, patrols by aircraft; the reduction of fire hazards and the maintenance of roads, trails and telephone lines, and, of course, the actual fighting of fires when they break out.

The flag of the People's Republic in Korea (North Korea) has two hammers crossed on two sickles.

Architect Submits Tentative Plans For New Collegiate

Municipal Councils Are Given Details On Proposed Building

From opinions expressed by Reeves and Councilmen of the eight municipalities which two years ago gave approval to the formation of the Napanee District Collegiate Board it would appear that approval would likely be given to the Board's proposal to erect a new Collegiate in Napanee.

A meeting of the Board and Council members of the eight municipalities was held at the Napanee Collegiate on Tuesday evening, August 22nd, when details of the proposed school were laid before the gathering by Mr. H. Berts, an architect from Westport. P. U. Laidley, Chairman of the Board, and Chas. Froud, Principal of the present school.

From information given the architect the cost of the new school is estimated at $649,000. The Provincial Department of Education will contribute 75 per cent of the cost if it is decided to go ahead with the construction of the school. That would leave a sum of approximately $160,000 to be paid by the municipalities. The Napanee delegates are said to take care of the municipality's part of the cost by yearly charges against municipalities for the 20-year period would be:

Adolphustown	$ 601.74
Camden	2300 20
Ernestown	2153 54
North Fredericksburgh	962 41
Napanee	2345 50
Newburgh	272 83
South Fredericksburgh	844 38
Richmond	1283 28

Mr. Roberts showed plans for the school and explained in detail the equipment, accomodation and the general operating equipment which would provide a building of the most modern design.

It is proposed, if the plan is approved, to erect the school on the present site of the Napanee Collegiate The building would be "L" shaped with the longer part of the "L" facing the Belleville Road about 50 to 60 feet from the Street and the shorter part facing Graham Street. The present school building could be used until such time as the new school is ready for occupancy.

The plan provides for twelve classrooms to accomodate 360 pupils, physics room for 30, chemistry room for 30, agricultural science room for 30, Home Economics room for 30, Sewing room for 20, Commercial room for 30, Typing room for 20, 2 Work Shops for 40, a double Gym and combination Assembly 60 by 80 feet, which, when opened up, would seat 600 people. The total accomodation in the new school would be for 650 pupils.

The proposed building would have two floors. On the ground floor the plan provides for the Principal's room and administration room, near the front entrance, the Gym and Assembly room ,the Vocational rooms and the Shop areas. The second floor is laid out for the remainder of the Cafeteria and Kichen. There would be three fire-proof stairways, one at each end of the building and one at the angle of the "L".

The overall length of the building is 274 feet, plus 154 feet, and the width is 92 feet. The construction would be of light steel and brick with almost completely glass fronts in the class rooms.

Mr. P. U. Laidley, chairman of the School Board, said that the original part of the present school was built in 1892 for 250 pupils, 25 years ago an addition was added to accomodate 70 more pupils. Last year the enrolment was 425 and this next term it is expected 485 pupils will be in attendance. Accomodation is entirely inadequate in the present building and the board is having serious discussion as to the ways and means of relieving the congestion.

Three plans were presented to the Department of Education for its approval:

(1) Remodel the present building.

(2) Tear down all the old part of the present building, retain the addition built 25 years ago, and add a new wing.

(3) Construct an entirely new building.

The first scheme would cost more than to build an entirely new school. The second plan would require $621,000 to complete, and the third plan would require about $650,000.

Mr. Laidley said that while it looked like economy to build a new wing on the newer part of the present school, it was found that the Ontario Department would pay grants on only the new part of the building, and none on the remodelling of the old part. The result would be that the cost to the municipalities would be about $55,000 more than to construct a complete new school.

When the plans were considered by the Department it was recommended that a new school be erected. After careful consideration, the Department of Education gave approval to the School Board of hiring an architect to prepare tentative plans for a new school.

The Department of Education will pay grants for new schools on a per-pupil basis up to $650,000, and in the case of the Napanee Board the grants would be 75% of the cost, including everything except the cost of the land, which, in this case, belongs to the School Board.

The meeting on Tuesday evening was simply to lay the proposition before the Councils of the municipalities concerned. The individual Councils will have to pass motions approving the erection of the building. Then the School Board will go to the Department of Education and the Municipal Board to secure approval of the expenditure and to get authority to ask for tenders. If tenders are secured within the estimated cost, the Department will be asked for approval to issue debentures to cover the portion of the cost payable by the municipalities, and, finally, the Board may let the contract after final approval has been secured from the individual municipalities.

Most of the representatives of the Councils present at the meeting spoke on the question, and while the individuals did not commit themselves to final approval of the scheme, the general trend of opinion was in favor of going ahead with the building of the new school.

CHURCH EDITOR GIVES WARNING OF PETITION

Rev. A. J. Wilson, editor of the United Church Observer, warns clergymen and members of the church against signing the "Stockholm peace proposal" circulated by the Canadian Peace Congress.

In a signed editorial appearing in last week's issue of the semi-monthly publication, Dr. Wilson wrote that he had received a copy of the proposal some time ago and had signed it, as a statement "to which any peace lover might sincerely subscribe".

Two days after he had signed the petition, his picture was prominently displayed in the Leftist Canadian Tribune, together with a story reporting that he had signed the proposal.

With the appearance of the story and picture, it had become obvious to Dr. Wilson that there was a "tie-up" between the Communist party and the distributors of the Stockholm proposal.

He subscribed to the statement passed by the World Council of Churches at its recent meeting in Toronto, branding the document as "a strategy of propaganda, rather than a genuine peace document", and warned ministers and members of the United Church of Canada what to expect if they signed it.

Mail Services Are Curtailed Because Of Strike

Only First Class Mail To Be Delivered

The Post Office Department announces that as the result of the railway strike in Canada there will be a drastic curtailment of mail services.

This emergency makes it necessary to place an embargo on parcel post, newspapers, and other printed matter, which are normally transported by the railroads.

Under the restrictions to be observed, mail service which formerly was dispatched to out-of-town points by trains, will be limited to the following:

(1) Letters in their ordinary form.

(2) Letters prepaid at air mail rates.

(3) Medicines, including analyses, specimens, and other similar items prepaid at normal rates.

There will be no restrictions on local mails for the time being. The department emphasizes that the restrictions mentioned are the minimum to be expected, and that further restrictions in service may have to be imposed as transportation difficulties develop.

The public is assured that the Post Office Department will spare no effort to render the best possible mail service in 1950 but the congregation was first established in those pioneer days when the services were held in the homes and school house nearby. In honouring those devout Christians who erected the church in its spiritual influence, these services are being held. There will also be a thanksgiving at this harvest season, unto The Giver of all good and perfect gifts.

A special invitation is given to all former members and adherents to come and share in this anniversary on September 3rd, at 11 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m.

Anniversary Service At Wesley Church Sunday, Sept. 3rd

Wesley United Church on the Newburgh Charge, of which the Rev. George Murray is minister, will hold Anniversary and Thanksgiving services on Sunday, September 3rd at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The guest preacher will be Mr. Robert Blair, B.A., of Roblin. Special music will be provided and these services will be inspiring and profitable in every way.

The present church building was erected in 1863 but the congregation was first established in those pioneer days when the services were held in the homes and school house nearby. In honouring those devout Christians who erected the church in its spiritual influence, these services are being held. There will also be a thanksgiving at this harvest season, unto The Giver of all good and perfect gifts.

OUTBOARD RACES NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday afternoon promises to be an exciting one for any racing enthusiast. The Napanee Outboard Racing Club has planned another race meet at Buzz Curry's, about eight miles down the River Road on the Bay of Quinte. There will be plenty of excitement as such local boys as Bob Roblin, Dr. 'Mac' Smith, 'Mickey' McCabe, fight it out with boats from Picton, Consecon, Belleville and Kingston.

There will also be stock boat races for the older boys of the crowd such as Don. Roblin, George Howitt and Reg. Douglas.

Besides all this there will be some novel races such as standing start and paddling finish, etc. All in all it should be an exciting afternoon next Sunday — down by the Bay. See you there?

Farmers Co-operate To Harvest Crop For Sick Neighbor

Fourteen Combines Thresh 5000 Bushels at Frank Ham Farm

Frank N. Ham, of Conway, one of the best known and most popular residents of South Fredericksburgh Township, who served as Reeve of the Township for several years, is ill, and is a patient in Kingston General Hospital. He was taken ill just about the time when his large crop of grain was ready to harvest, and has been very much worried as to how the work would be done. But now his worries on that score are over, for his crop of 5,000 bushels of grain has been safely harvested and is in his granary.

Mr. Ham's father, Geo. T. Ham, went to Dunbarton Allan to arrange to take him to the hospital after the harvesting of his son's crop. Mr. Allan told Mr. Ham not to worry, the crop would be looked after. And it certainly was looked after in short order.

Mr. Allan proceeded to organize the farmers of the district, with the result that last week in the end of half hours with the help of 14 combines and 65 men, 90 acres of oats and wheat were cut and threshed and the grain stored in the granary. The crop of grain was made up of 4,700 bushels of Beaver oats and 300 bushels of wheat.

The Ham farm was certainly a busy place during the day the crop was harvested. The men brought lunches which were supplemented by food prepared by the women of the neighboring farms, and ice cream donated by Bahen's Dairy and Conway, and soft drinks by Christie's store at Adolphustown.

It was one of the finest demonstrations of co-operation and sympathy this County has ever seen and should do much to hasten Mr. Ham's recovery. He is still a patient in the hospital, where he was taken following a heart attack, but it is expected he may be able to be moved to his own home by the end of this week.

Paintings Displayed At Golf Club House Last Friday

In spite of the cooler weather, there was a good attendance at the Golf Club on Ladies' Day last Friday. The appearance of the Club House was brightened by an exhibition of paintings by Mr. F. R. Dinesen. These were on tables at the side and the players included Mrs. Jack Adams and Mrs. Gene Casper, of Detroit, Miss Vye Ponsford from Port Stanley and Mrs. Arthur Trapnell from Owen Sound. The Silver Stash was won by Mrs. Frank Every. The Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Ford, Mrs. M. Isbester and Mrs. Don Morton.

For Tuesday's regular golf tournament, the balls were donated as prizes by the Golf pro, Mr. Len Elliott. These were won by Mrs. Carrie Medd and Mrs. Pat Culhane. On Friday Mrs. Kay Coathup and Mrs. Kay Bray tied for top position with a score of 60.

FINED FOR FRAUD IN NAPANEE COURT

On Thursday, August 17th, George Hayes, of Kaladar, was arraigned before Magistrate Gorvin for obtaining government funds from the Unemployment Insurance Commission through false statement. That is to say, he stated that he was unemployed while, in fact, he was working.

Upon discovery of this overpayment which was disclosed when the claimant presented his book to file a new claim, the overpayment was refunded to the Commission by the claimant. However, while refund of the overpayment cleared the debt, there still was, on conviction, a penalty for obtaining money under false pretence. Consequently, Mr. Hayes was found guilty and ordered to pay $15.00 and costs, or spend 15 days in jail.

Progressing Rapidly With Resurfacing Napanee Streets

People in Napanee who recall the laying of the first pavement are greatly interested in the speedy way in which the old pavement is being resurfaced on Dundas with the time it took for the same work about 30 years ago.

The actual work of resurfacing was started at the western limits of the town on Monday morning of this week and by Tuesday night the surface was completed nearly to the Simpson section of the road.

30 years ago the asphalt mix was all spread by men with rakes. Today it is done by machinery. The hot mix is transported by trucks from the plant at Roblin. Trucks back up to the laying machine, draw the machine backwards as the load is emptied into the machine and spread in the required thickness over the old surface.

Only a space of about a foot at the curbside is put on and raked out to thickness by hand. A medium size roller packs down the asphalt mix over the main part of the road and a smaller roller smooths out the edges.

The whole job of resurfacing Dundas Street should be completed within a few days and traffic will be back to normal. At present traffic is being diverted around a few blocks by way of Bridge and Mill Streets, Centre Street, Deseronto Bridge and the C.N.R. Tracks will be resurfaced when the Dundas Street job is finished.

RAILWAYS STRIKE

From Coast to Coast 124,000 Walk Off Jobs; Canadian Business Tied Up

Mediator Fails To Effect Settlement

When the deadline for the railway and telegraph strike in Canada was reached at 6:00 a.m. on Tuesday morning of this week Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, vice principal of Queen's University, Kingston, had failed in his efforts to have the strike called off. The result was that at 6.00 a.m. Tuesday, 124,000 railway workers laid down their tools, and although some concessions were believed to have been made by the unions, rail traffic, the length and breadth of the Dominion, came to a halt.

The Dominion Cabinet which was startled by all day Monday, decided definitely there would be no last minute government intervention to avoid the strike.

Direct negotiations between the railways and unions ended last Friday, with the strike ultimatum coming out. The men asked a wage increase of 7 to 10 cents an hour for various union groups and a 40-hour week to go into effect January 1 next, with the same take-home pay as now.

COMPANY OFFERS 44 HOUR WEEK

The companies offered a 44-hour week, with the same take-home pay as for 48 hours, plus a recognition that the 40-hour week would be instituted at the appropriate time. The alternative offer was the 40-hour week with an 8½ cent hourly increase.

That left a long way between them and into this picture on Saturday, came Dr. Mackintosh vice-principal of Queen's University, Kingston, as a special mediator appointed by the government.

His problem was to bring the two diverging viewpoints in the squabble together.

TRUCKERS STAND READY

Canadian truckers have instituted a 24-hour service throughout the country in an effort to keep the movement of vital supplies. Of a total of 544,000 truck registered in Canada, 43,000 are commercial vehicles, most of them engaged in interprovincial trade. These trucks and many others made available by independent owners will be used to transfer foodstuffs and other raw materials. Priority will be given to food and medical supplies.

NORTH BADLY AFFECTED

A meat famine, gasoline rationing, a shutdown of paper mills and a partial shutdown of mines are expected as a result of the strike over a large part of Northern Ontario before the end of the week days if the expected chaotic conditions would prevail among food supplies. Even lumber prices may be expected

MAN KILLED IN CAR CRASH NEAR SHANNONVILLE

An American tourist was killed and his wife and three sons were trapped in his wrecked burning car, near Shannonville, on Thursday, August 16th. They were freed by Provincial Const. Arthur Watson, who put out the fire and forced open the car doors. The injured family is at Belleville General Hospital along with two other victims of the accident.

Dead is Robert Geender, of Washington, D.C., whose car skidded at a curve on the wet pavement, six miles east of Belleville on Highway 2, and crashed head-on into a car driven by Robert Gillen, of Belleville.

Mrs. Geender and her three sons, Robert, 18, Roland 11 and Roger 7, and a passenger in Gillen's car, Morgan Martin, 26, of Belleville, were taken to hospital, as well as Gillen.

Roland and Martin are in critical condition. Mrs. Geender and her other children have fractured legs. The provincial police car was patrolling in the area when the crash occurred.

Annual Pilgrimage To Hay Bay Church Next Sunday

Rt. Rev. W. Brewing, Church Moderator Guest Speaker

The Annual Pilgrimage and Anniversary Service in connection with the historic Church at Hay Bay, Adolphustown, will be held on Sunday, August 27th at 3 p.m.

The Right Rev. Cyril Willard Brewing, B.D., D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, will be the guest preacher. The presence of the Moderator and his message should give the event an unusual significance. The committee has made every possible effort to ensure that its arrangements for the service will result in the greatest conceivable inspiration to all who participate.

Premier Frost of Ontario who was to be the guest present will be unable to attend but will be represented at the service by the Hon. G. H. Challies.

This building was erected in 1793 on Paul Hudy's farm on the Bay Shore. In the first Methodist Church in Upper Canada. As the Church grew and grew a new church building was abandoned as a preaching appointment. But some time later another was built on the old site, reconstructed and rededicated as a historic religious shrine, and is maintained as a memorial of the faith and religious life of our forebearers.

This year the Committee undertook the project of erecting on the property a cottage to be used as a summer lodge by ministers of the Church, in return for which some service of oversight and ministry in connection with the property will be expected. Already this summer approximately five hundred tourists and guests have visited the site.

This cottage is now built. It has been done through the generosity of Mr. Harvey McPherson who erected it without cost to the Church. A rich bedroom suite in Maple finish has been donated by Mrs. Jack McPherson of Napanee. Further equipment has been purchased by the Committee to augment the comfort and convenience and attractiveness offered by this fine structure.

Mr. Jack McPherson will be represented at the service by Mr. Mallory, a member of his staff.

The committee acknowledges with profound gratitude the fine generosity and good will of these several friends and interested parties in making this cherished dream actual realization.

Through the kindness of Mr. Angus Smith, a loud speaker will broadcast the vents of the afternoon, for any who are unable to find seating accommodation in the church. Mr. Ward Wartman, as in former years, will loan chairs for this service.

PARLIAMENT CONVENES TO DEAL WITH STRIKE

On Tuesday morning as a result of the non-settlement of the railway strike Prime Minister Rt. Laurent issued an order to reconvene Parliament to consider the matter of dealing with the situation.

Just how members of Parliament were to get to Ottawa was left to the individual.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE

What a difference a few years make. Not so many years ago The United States were the white-haired boys of the Orient. They had been generous. The Boxer indemnity imposed on China, had been spent to educate Chinese and to improve life in China. That unselfish policy made a deep impression on the Chinese. Here was a nation, they reasoned, that had no axe to grind. They were anxious only to help and to improve the lot of the Chinese. The Americans were the favoured people, in China.

How different to - day! China has hardly a good word to say for The United States. The conditions are completely reversed. The impression which the average Chinese now has, of The United States, is that of a great economic imperialist country, which is seeking to exploit the New China.

What is the cause of the change? There are two or three. In the first place, the Chinese have been bombarded with Russian propaganda. Day after day, they are told, over the air from Moscow, that the West seeks to gobble up the East. The right or wrong of the allegation does not matter. What matters—and this is the serious aspect of the situation — is that the Chinese are gradually absorbing the Moscow line. They are coming to believe that The United States is the enemy of "The China for The Chinese" policy.

What effect this will finally have on the relations between the East and West, is hard to say. The Chinese, themselves, are different. The day of Western exploitations is over. They have learned a lot of things in recent years. They have learned, for example, that a Chinese with a gun can work it as well as a Westener; that a Chinese trained to run a truck, a bull-dozer, or an aeroplane, can do that, too, as well as a White man. This has altered his mental attitude. There is no inferiority complex, but rather a pride in their power and their achievement. There are hundreds of millions of these Asiatics. They will have a lot to say on the kind of world our children, and children's children, will live in.

Somehow or other, this barrier between East and West will have to be broken down. It will not be broken down by guns. The United Nations provides the meeting place. Some day, when Russia comes to her senses, this organization will do what its framers had hoped for. In the meantime, infinite patience and the exercise of goodwill, is essential.

BY THE BUS - LOAD

About forty young people from Napanee and district went by bus, on Sunday, August 13th, to attend The World Convention of Christian Education, which was holding a youth rally in The Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. It was a long trip. The bus left early Sunday morning and got back early Monday morning. It was a busy and fascinating experience. Sunday morning, at church, Sunday afternoon at a service in Queen's Park; in the evening, at the Maple Leaf Gardens. This latter was, of course, the climax of the day.

The Maple Leaf Gardens has seen many interesting events. Doubtless, many of those who were in the bus had listened to the hockey broadcasts from The Gardens, where hard and skillful battles were fought out on the ice. But there was never a more impressive gathering than that of Sunday. The young people of sixty-one nations were present. Youth from all over Ontario swarmed into the the Gardens. Practically every seat was taken, and another two thousand were on seats temporarily placed on the floor. Over 14,000 people were present.

There was colour; there was excellent sacred music; whole-hearted singing that shook the rafters. There was a good address. All of this was heard over the air. But by far the most impressive part of the service, were the brief addresses of witness by four young people, all nationals. There were testimonies from young people, all of whom had come from war-torn countries. Their faith developed under the strain of war and the fervor and beauty of language in which that faith was expressed, made a deep impression on that great gathering.

Those in our district who organized the bus-load from Napanee and Community, are to be congratulated. The young people will never forget that experience. Echoes of it will reverberate through our County, for many a day.

FREEDOM

If by any chance some of our readers were listening to the radio a recent Sunday morning, they may have heard a speaker from Bolivia who, among other things declared that "You (meaning we who live in North America) have no idea of the value of your freedom. You take it for granted." There is a lot of truth in that. A recently written history of the social life of Great Britain traces the history of this struggle for freedom in The British Isles.

Now that we have freedom, we rarely think of it. We take it for granted. It is only when someone suggests there should be certain controls in our economic life that there is a public outcry. And yet even the strictest controls we have had in our country are mild, compared to what happens in a totalitarian state — where life itself is controlled to the minutest detail.

Perhaps one of the most moving odysseys in our history, came to light Monday, Aug. 14, when 128 Baltic citizens, fleeing from Russian compulsion, landed in Canada. They had braved dangers of the sea, threat of hunger, and disease, and possible destruction, in order to enjoy the privileges so prized by them — but taken for granted by us. In a special dispatch to The Toronto Star, this is the way the Captain described their flight for freedom:

"We had been fleeing from the Communists for many months. We seemed to be always just one step ahead of them.

"None of us wanted any part of them. Even when we got to Sweden we didn't feel safe. With Russia on the Swedish border we realized we never would feel safe and free to do the things we wanted. Every night as we went to bed we felt as though the cold hand of the Russians was on us.

"For weeks we looked around for a ship until we finally came across the 'Goran,' She was under Nicaraguan registry but appeared to be the type of boat we wanted. When we found the ship could be had, we went around to all the people wanting to get out and collected money. We paid $17,000 for her. It seemed a lot more money than she was worth but when you wanted to get out of a country the way we did, the price was small to pay for freedom.

"Even after we cleared Sweden, we never felt safe. There were several Russian ships near the Norwegian coast and we hadn't any doubt but they would be on the lookout for us. After we left Sweden and were several hundred miles out, we stopped the ship. The crew and passengers went over the side and changed her colour, so the Russians wouldn't recognize her. To be doubly sure, we even changed the ship's name several times. She became, alternately, the 'Oran' 'Ran,' 'Naorg' by simply switching the letters in the original name, or painting over others to obliterate them. Once far out, away from the fear of the Russians, we changed the name back to 'Goran'."

Canada has screened them all, and found them to be worthy of Canadian citizenship. People like that will make good Canadians.

Health Staffs To Be Boosted By Ontario

Money Provided by Ottawa Grants

Money to provide increased staffs for County Health Units in various sections of Ontario has been set aside under the national health grants, the Health Department announced this week.

The staff increases will be in Halton, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward, Leeds and Grenville, Porcupine, Oxford, Peel, Kenora-Rainy River, Lambton and Kirkland-Larder Lake units.

To provide better supervision and inspection of supplies of raw milk, meat, poultry and other foods, veterinarians will be added to the health units for Halton, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward, Leeds, and Grenville, Porcupine and Oxford.

Aid to Food Handling

They also will aid in the educational program for food handlers and make special studies of diseases of animals which might be related to human health. The veterinarians for Halton, Leeds and Grenville, and Porcupine will serve full time; others part time.

Each project was recommended to Ottawa by the Provincial Department of Health. Costs for the current fiscal year, to be met from Ontario's share in the national health grants, estimated at more than $28,000.

"Every year science is creating more 'miracles' to make living easier in countless ways. And what we see today is only the beginning of an amazing new era of comfort and convenience.

"But it seems to me that some people are expecting too many miracles. For instance, they believe that, by some kind of magic, old-age benefits will provide all the money they're ever going to need when they retire.

"I believe in security for everyone, but I want mine planned to suit my own individual needs. That's why I have my own life insurance.

It'll take all the insurance I've got now, and maybe more, to help provide the kind of retirement income I want and when I want it!

"My life insurance is flexible, too. I had my choice of dozens of different kinds of policies. And my life underwriter helped me arrange a balanced programme that gives my family protection now, while it builds a better income for my old age.

"Come what may, I'm still relying on my own life insurance. Like millions of other Canadians, I've found it the sure road to security!"

by "Red" Miller

The garrison finish of the Smiths Falls - Athletics game, which saw the locals come from behind to tie 7 all, took some of the sting out of the old-fashioned drubbing handed out to the Killorinmen by the Brockville-Memos the same week.

For the first time in five weeks the Napanee Athletics have had their regular team on the field. With exception of Vic Burtt, who is out with a dislocated shoulder, the "Old A's" showed some of their pre-season form and the fans liked it.

Even the C.O.B.L. race .... the teams are all set .... that is almost .... a loss here and a win there .... will put Smiths Falls and Brockville in one heap .... and with several if and ands .... the Napanee A's opposing the Disney Leafs.

According to "the Joseph" the game between Bata and Napanee, played last week at this place .... will either be tossed out or replayed because of Willis .... another import who neglected to get his transfer or league sanction to travel or something.

By the way of information in regard to a "Honey" of Picton .... to whom we referred last week in this column of words .... He did not play against the Athletics in Picton .... Apparently his teammates .... as well as the management .... failed to appreciate his "big four" brand of baseball. He should try out with the Tigers or Argonauts.

As you will remember .... two Napanee players were injured in a recent game here with Picton and expenses, both medical and lost time .... come high these days. In order to compensate those involved the Kingston Monarchs have offered their services for a benefit game here Thursday night, tomorrow at 6.30 against the Napanee A's.

All services, the teams .... the Park .... the Umpires .... etc., are donating their part .... the rest is up to the fans. Your patronage at this affair will show how you appreciate the Napanee Senior Ball Club .... You'll be there of course.

In the Ontario Baseball Association Play-Offs .... which will commence September 1st .... as far as the Napanee Athletics are concerned .... the locals have entered the Intermediate 'B' grouping and the first team drawn for in that section is Gananoque.

The Killorinmen will play at Gananoque on Friday September 1st, with the return fixture slated for Labor Day here (September 4th). And if rumors have it correct the Joseph has taken advantage of the presence of "Bill Durnan, star N.H.L. goalie .... who will be in Napanee for the Legion Bingo and Draw of the Armouries that night .... and the hockey celebrity will take part in the opening of the game.

The third game .... if necessary .... will be decided by the toss method and the winner of this series will take on Trenton 6RD .... the remaining team in this area. The next outing is as far as we can learn is Cobourg .... A couple of weeks ago we passed an opinion in regard to the type of language used by some of the fans at ball game here. A big improvement has been noted. Now it is up to the players .... on the field and in the dugout .... to control their tongues .... Some of the remarks were quite audible in the farthest corners of the stands.

Fly Menace Stressed In Report By Health Unit

Urge Precautions To Protect Food From Contamination

In their travels about the County the Veterinarian and Sanitary Inspectors of the County Health Unit have found that the fly menace is at its height. This is especially noticeable in cow barns and other places where milk is being handled.

There are new spray materials available which are effective for several weeks after use and are non-toxic to humans or to farm animals.

In order to make food safe it must be protected from flies. All places where food is processed should be protected by screens. The fly can carry intestinal infections such as typhoid, paratyphoid and dysentry. It has also been known to carry tuberculosis, plague, gas gangrene and botulinus infection. Bacteriologists have found flies carrying polio virus. Flies should be destroyed at every opportunity.

REPORT FOR JULY

During the month of July a number of bathing beaches were visited and samples of water taken. In every case the bacteriological examination showed the water to be safe for swimming. Periodic checks will be made during the summer.

The half-time services of a Veterinarian from the Department of Health have been obtained by this County through a Federal grant. His duties will be concerned with improving the standard of milk production. The other half of his time will be spent in Prince Edward County. Each County has over 1600 milk producers.

During the holiday season a number of schools are having improvements made in their sanitary facilities. The school boards have cooperated well in carrying out the suggestions that have been made for the protection of the health of the pupils.

A's Last Inning Rally Ties Smiths Falls

The Napanee Athletics, playing for the first time in five starts without the regular line-up, pulled a seventh-inning rally, scoring three runs to tie Smiths Falls here 7 all in a free-hitting affair. Despite the exceptionally cool night, a good turnout of fans witnessed the game.

In the first innings, the Locals kept the visitors off the score sheet and gathered three big runs off five singles, two walks and a batter hit by a pitched ball, leaving two men stranded at the third sack.

The locals were left scoreless until the sixth when Markle fled out to short, Jocko singled and was thrown out at second when Bud Green's hump-back single back of first went for a hit after the runner had tagged up. Green went to second on a balk and scored on Munroes single through first.

In the seventh, the A's hammered three runs across to tie the count when V. Green walked; McQuade went down second to first; Hayes singled and Green came home from second when Majek let the throw from the outfield get away from him, Hayes tagging up at second. Gerow slapped out a ringing double that put Hayes home. Majek went down short to first and Gerow held up at second. Jocko singled to left and Gerow slid to the plate to tie it up. Bud Green struck out to end the game.

The visitors piled up their count in two frames. In the second three solid hits, one a double and an error, pushed the score 4 to 3 and again in the fourth, five clouts, all singles added three more. For the balance of the game, only two base hits were registered.

McTaggart on the mound for the locals was touched for eleven hits, struck out six and walked one batter. For Smiths Falls, Kapichuk gave up nine safeties, walked four and struck out five.

Errors were on the lean side, two for each team.

Both squads executed twin killings. V. Green, Jocko and Gerow figuring in the outs for Napanee and Smith and Kelleher for the visitors.

Letter From Germany To Mrs. J. C. Fitchett From Her Daughter

Altbalach, Germany,
August 9th, 1950

Dear Mother:

We have been travelling around a bit. We hired a car to take us all to Garmisch Partenkirchen. It is very expensive travelling by motor car as gasoline is scarce and rationed, but Bill's brother Joseph has a tractor and so can get gasoline.

We climbed to the top of the largest mountain in the Black Forest. On the top is an old castle (deserted). This is where Bill as a little boy fell and got a head fracture. It is 1500 feet above sea level and you can go 'boom', once you are up you are O.K. Then on the top is a rolling flat country five or six miles square. The climate here is very healthy. I have not had a headache since coming here.

We were in Bad Iunich yesterday. This is the place where the mineral wells are situated. The water runs out of the mountain hot and cold, and is supposed to have medicinal properties. A hot bath costs 25 cents and you can stay in as long as you like. The people tell me it will cure rheumatism.

The people of Altbalach gave a sing-song for us last night. This is a sort of a musical festival with speeches as well. Bill's brother made a speech saying when Bill left Germany he drove him to the station and never expected to see him again in Germany with a young Canadian wife.

The people here do a lot of eating and talking about eating as food is quite plentiful an d they think they have to make up for the lean years when food was scarce. All of the people I talked to would like to go to Canada. One of my husband's nieces is very anxious as her man was in a Russian Prison Camp and ran away and in the event of war he would be afraid of the Russians re-capturing him.

Well I guess I have told you all of interest I can.

Love to all from your loving daughter — EDITH.

Indo-China Claimed Next on Red List

Taipei, Formosa, August 21.—Chinese Nationalist Premier Chen Cheng predicted the next big Communist move would come in Indio-China.

"Moscow's fifth column will start an eruption in Indio-China just as its fifth column did in Korea," the Premier said in an address to Nationalist army officers.

He described the Nationalist redoubt of Formosa as the lighthouse of free China, and for general large-scale revolts on the Red mainland when the Nationalists return.

"We have failed in the past," Chen asserted, "but failure is often the mother of success, and final victory will be ours."

C.P.R. TO Manage Duke's Ranch

A change in the management of the Duke of Windsor's ranch near Fi-kisko Alta., from the P. Burns Agencies Ltd., to the colonization department of the Canadian Pacific Railway was announced last week.

H. C. P. Cresswell of Montreal, chief commissioner of the C.P.R.'s Department of Immigration and Colonization, said plans include a sale at public auction Friday of 80 head of registered shorthorn cattle.

The house of the E.P. Ranch will be renovated so it will be habitable the year-round. Registered sheep herds will be extended and the shorthorn cattle will be replaced by some commercial cattle, possibly Herefords.

WHAT IS THE LOUDEST NOISE?

A writer has suggested in one of his books that future generations may develop fleshy ear-flaps as a protest against unwelcome sound! Building experts are among the people who are striving to make life easier for those who are sensitive to noise. A recent Survey of Noise in British Homes, made at a Building Research Station in Hertfordshire ,sought to classify noise into that originating in (a) the home, (b) a neighbour's home, and (c) outside.

Investigations showed that about four-fifths of the people of Britain in the middle and lower income groups living in small and medium-sizes houses noticed noises of various kinds within their own homes, but only about a quarter were troubled by them and less than one-fifth were ever disturbed in their sleep by them.

The building experts recognize that disturbances generally originate from such things as banging doors, music in another room and noisy water cisterns — sounds connected with the structure and equipment of houses. Children cause extra noise in any home and houses intended for large families could well be given special internal insulation. Houses built before 1918 have been found rather less noisy than more modern ones.

Generally speaking ,noise from a neighbour's house is much less bearable than noise from one's own ! Complaints suggest that the greatest sources of irritation are the radio and the banging of doors. Flat dwellers bemoan the noise of footsteps on public stairways and on the floors above their heads, and that radios can be heard not just through open windows, but through thin party walls.

Noises from outside usually originate in barking dogs, the playing of children and road rail traffic. Two out of five people are troubled by outside noise, and about one-third of these have their sleep disturbed.

No help, however, can be given to the tired city workers, who, holiday-making in a picturesque village, discovers that at night and in the small hours the so-called quiet of the countryside is an illusion. He can sleep easily to the drone of automobile engines and the movement of pneumatic tires upon macadamized roads—the symphony of sound beyond the windows of his own dwelling. But in the village retreat' the tumbling go fa market van, the roar of a tardy motor-cycle, the rattle of pails, the shout of a farm - hand cause sleep to fly from him.

Doctors Threaten to Quit United Kingdom National Health Scheme

London— Nineteen thousand doctors — members of the powerful British Medical Association — have indicated they plan to withdraw from Britain's state-run health service if their demand for higher salaries is not met.

They are awaiting results of an inquiry following the Government's earlier refusal to implement pay recommendations of a government committee dating back to 1946.

A spokesman of the B.M.A., most influential medical body in Britain, announced machinery has been set up to enable its 19,000 members to withdraw from the scheme.

"The British Medical Association is constitutionally precluded from making funds available to assist doctors in the event of their withdrawing their services," he said.

"But it has set up an organization known as the British Medical Guild through which it will be possible to take the necessary action."

Withdrawal of the B.M.'s 19,000 members would bring an immediate crisis to the two-year-old national health service under which every man, woman and child in Britain is entitled to free medical treatment.

The doctors are demanding that more money be put into the central pool from which they are paid. They complain of financial worries and say that the health service will be endangered by the continued refusal of the Government to implement the committee's pay recommendations.

Britain Sets Car Record Canada Triples Import

London.—British automobile manufacturers have turned out 100,000 more cars in the first six months of this year than the same period last year — itself a record year. The British Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders have put the six-month output at 262,500 cars and 125,000 trucks and buses.

Australia remained the biggest customer, taking 70,000 cars. Canada tripled her imports to buy 38,500.

New Succession To The British Throne

London. — The new order of succession to the Throne of England is as follows:

1 Princess Elizabeth, 24, the heiress-resumptive.
2 Prince Charles, her first-born, now 21 months old.
3 The new Princess.
4 Princess Margaret, 19.
5 The Duke of Gloucester, 43, brother of King George VI.
6 Prince William Henry Andrew Frederick, Gloucester's first-born.
7 Prince Richard Alexander Walter George, six on August 26, Gloucester's second son.
8 The Duke of Kent, 14, nephew of the King. The Duke's father, brother of the King, was killed in a plane crash in Scotland in 1942 while on war service.

Can. Bacon Exports Valued $3,800,000,000 In The Past Ten Years

Ottawa. — Canadian bacon exports during the past ten years were valued at 3.8 billion dollars, which exceeded the exports of the previous forty years, L.W. Pearsall, Director of Marketing Services in the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, told delegates to the recent Ontario Poultry and Livestock Conference at Guelph.

Mr. Pearsall said that hog production in Canada has consistently exceeded domestic needs, and that for eighty years surplus bacon has been exported in varying quantities to the British market.

In 1939, he said that hog marketings totalled 3.7 million hogs with exports of 186 million pounds. Five years later these figures had more than doubled and had reached 8.9 million hogs with exports of 695 million pounds. This year marketings will approximate 5 million hogs, with exports of bacon estimated at some 60 million pounds.

One important fact about this phase of the swine industry, Mr. Pearsall pointed out, was that virtually all the increased production occurred in Western Canada. He said that the decline in marketings and exports during the past few years is directly attributable to a drastic and sharp decline in western hog production. He emphasized the point ern marketings had maintained the that during the past five years eastlevel of wartime peak production.

A Viking Ship For Britain

Cliffsend, Isle of Thanet, Eng — Built by the Danes to celebrate the 1550th anniversary of the Thanet landings, a Viking ship with its dragon figurehead and many-coloured shields, has been presented to the east coast towns of Ramsgate and Broadstairs.

The ship, christened the "Hugin," has been berthed in a concrete cradle on a cliff-top prominence near here. It will serve as a permanent monument to the close historical associations between Denmark and Britain.

Replica of the rugged craft that carried the early Norsemen on their voyages of conquest and discovery, the "Hugin" was rowed across the North Atlantic a year ago by a crew of 50 modern Vikings. After visiting several British ports it was bought by the London Daily Mail and presented as a joint gift to the two towns.

Thousands watched the colourful ceremony as bearded Danes in picturesque dress, horned helmets and carrying battle-axes, turned the ship over to its new owners.

Viscount Rothermere, chairman of Associated Newspapers, Limited, in asking Prince George of Denmark to present the ship, declared:

"Since 1066 nobody has repeated the experiment of invading these shores. If this country keeps up its spirit as it has during the past 900 years, I think no one ever will. I trust the 'Hugin' may serve as one of the many reminders of the kinship and love between the peoples of Denmark and this country."

Said Prince Georgs: "Nowadays, it is not necessary to stress the friendship between Danes and Britons. All the same I think it is good that from time to time this friendship, which is often taken for granted, should be re-affirmed as it was by the visit of the 'Hugin'."

YOUNG PEOPLE AND RELIGION

IMPORTANT
Y. M. C. A. REPORT

What do our young folk believe in today? And how do the beliefs they hold affect their conduct?

These are vital questions. Perhaps we all hold individual opinions about how to answer them. Recently an attempt has been made to probe them by modern questionnaire methods and the results have now been issued in an Association Press book called "Religious Beliefs of Youth." It was written by Dr. Murray Ross.

Few books ever produced under Y.M.C.A. auspices have been discussed and argued about as much as this one which is the product of the Canadian Y.M.C.A.'s National Personnel Secretary. Nearly 2,000 representative Y.M.C.A. members from eleven American Associations contributed to the material summarized in this volume. The use of a carefully prepared and tested eight-page questionnaire, one hundred interview interviews extending from one to four hours each) and a series of discussions with the members of fifty Youth Groups provided the data on which the findings of this volume are based.

Purpose of the Study

The objectives of this project are stated as:

1 To determine the religious 'position' of young people in the Y.M.C.A.
2 To determine the 'meaningfulness' of the religious position.
3 To discover the relationship between religious position' and 'position' on characteristic social problems of our day.
4 To discover if youth have 'felt needs' that impinge on the religious field, and if so, what these are and how one may deal with them effectively.

The answers to the first three problems stated above seem to have surprised some people, shocked others and confirmed the opinions of still others. In brief, the 'position' of these young people can be summarized as follows:

About three quarters of them subscribe to fairly orthodox beliefs about the nature of God, Jesus, and the church. They regard the Bible as a sacred book with a divine message, attend church at least once a month and frequently pray privately.

A smaller proportion (but still a majority) believe in personal immortality. Several strange discrepancies can be found in this material however—for instance, of the nearly 80 per cent. who regard the Bible as the revealed word of God, 77 per cent. read the Bible not at all or only once or twice during the previous six months.

There are many other illustrations of the apparent emptiness of these casual beliefs which Dr. Ross calls "a passive acceptance of a fact presumably established in our culture," and which Dr. Gregory Vlastos calls "an affirmative reaction to an echo."

By and large these young people who are older, who have had more education, or who are veterans, tend to take a less orthodox position. Men are less orthodox than women.

What Does It Mean ?

The significance of all this becomes apparent in the findings relevant to the second and third objectives. It is quite evident that those who accept religious orthodoxy also accept other 'status quo' conditions and are less concerned about social justice and the rights of the individual in a free society. Not only is the orthodox group less concerned about the larger issues of life, but evidence is presented here indicating that there is a higher degree of mental ill-health and proportionately more immature individuals as contrasted with the less orthodox group whose members seem to have achieved a more wholesome personality adjustment. Perhaps the clue to this anomaly can be found in a dualistic set of separate and even contradictory motivations held by so many young people. As Dr. Ross says '. . . the evidence suggests the presence of religious 'beliefs' . . . but the dominant attitudes' have as their focus concern with successful adaptation to the current secular mores of our society."

The tragedy is that religious belief does not make many young people sensitive, generous, venturesome (not to mention sacrificial and creative) citizens . . . few of this group (the more orthodox) feel their lives really count for anything significant. They do not have significant goals or relationships. . . . Their personalities suffer. They do not fulfil their potentialities."

What then is the challenge that the report presents to Y.M.C.A. workers and others in the religious education field ?

First perhaps, to recognize that faith is not attained by rational persuasion; this achieves at best only passive acceptance; because faith is an individual matter, a product of doubt and search; — to recognize, that our beliefs should motivate all of life, and that formal religious observances only reinforce the religious faith one already has, without apparently having any fundamental effect on what one does.

Leaders of youth (professional and volunteer) then should be people who have experienced this struggle and search and who can achieve an intimate and sensitive understanding of and relationship with youth. The role of the leader is thus limited to technical guidance and is directed at helping youth find the resources for dealing with their own problems.

Dr. Ross suggests three ways in which the Y.M.C.A.'s approach to this task should be refined and strengthened.

1 More counselling of the 'non directive' or 'reflective' type administered by qualified and understanding people.
2 Group therapy.
3 The organization of study-action groups where young people make a serious attempt to face problems of faith personality social justice, etc.

Underlined in all of these 'methods' is the democratic approach, in which the search for truth, on the part of all is pursued in the spirit of humility taught by Jesus Christ, concerning the infinite value of the individual human personality, becomes the way in which the Y.M.C.A. works with its young people.

A Viking Ship For Britain

Cliffsend, Isle of Thanet, Eng — Built by the Danes to celebrate the 1550th anniversary of the Thanet landings, a Viking ship with its dragon figurehead and many-coloured shields, has been presented to the east coast towns of Ramsgate and Broadstairs.

The ship, christened the "Hugin," has been berthed in a concrete cradle on a cliff-top prominence near here. It will serve as a permanent monument to the close historical associations between Denmark and Britain.

Replica of the rugged craft that carried the early Norsemen on their voyages of conquest and discovery, the "Hugin" was rowed across the North Atlantic a year ago by a crew of 50 modern Vikings. After visiting several British ports it was bought by the London Daily Mail and presented as a joint gift to the two towns.

Thousands watched the colourful ceremony as bearded Danes in picturesque dress, horned helmets and carrying battle-axes, turned the ship over to its new owners.

Viscount Rothermere, chairman of Associated Newspapers, Limited, in asking Prince George of Denmark to present the ship, declared:

"Since 1066 nobody has repeated the experiment of invading these shores. If this country keeps up its spirit as it has during the past 900 years, I think no one ever will. I trust the 'Hugin' may serve as one of the many reminders of the kinship and love between the peoples of Denmark and this country."

Said Prince Georgs: "Nowadays, it is not necessary to stress the friendship between Danes and Britons. All the same I think it is good that from time to time this friendship, which is often taken for granted, should be re-affirmed as it was by the visit of the 'Hugin'."

World Sends Greetings To Princess on Her 20th Birthday

Balmoral, Scotland, August 21 — The silver head of Commonwealth Princess Margaret is up to 29 today amid a crop of romantic rumors.

With King George and Queen Elizabeth — the still celebrate at a small family birthday party tonight at Balmoral Castle where the family is spending their annual Scottish summer holiday.

Many from the party will be elder sister Princess Elizabeth, who gave birth to a son—Prince Charles—in November. That made Princess Margaret an aunt for the second time.

Princess Margaret was born at Glamis Castle, Scotland, and Edinburgh is the doctor says that all girls born in the royal house are baptized before their 20th birthday.

There today was wondering whether Margaret has made her choice.

Some society circles figured the man in Margaret's life is the Earl of Dalkeith, who will one day inherit one of Britain's largest fortunes. His parents own six mansions and more than 500,000 acres of land.

The Earl, 27 in September, has been one of Princess Margaret's frequent dates. But his name has been repeatedly linked with hers. Once an official denial had to be issued as wide-spread was the belief that the Princess was in love.

Today's newspapers devoted columns to Princess Margaret.

Only five-feet-three, she is always up-to-date with the latest fashion news.

Princess Margaret is expected to remain in Scotland until the King and Queen return south in October. Then she will see her niece—Princess Elizabeth's baby daughter—for the first time.

Birthday greetings from all over the world piled up in Balmoral's tiny post office to be delivered throughout the day.

Gifts have also arrived by special couriers, although many, including a television set for Margaret's private salon, were taken to her London home Buckingham Palace.

Margaret's first visitor this morning was her mother, Queen Elizabeth. A spokesman at the palace said that if the weather is good — the sun was trying to break through grey skies—the Queen and the Princess would go fishing.

100 - Inch Telescope

Britain is at last to have a 100-inch telescope, equal in size to the famous one belonging to the Carnegie Institution at Mount Wilson in California, and surpassed only by the 200-inch reflector at Mount Palomar, near San Diego.

This great new telescope will be housed in the Isaac Newton Observatory to be built in the grounds of Turstmoneux Castle, in Sussex, to which the Royal Observatory, Greenwich is gradually being moved. The 100-inch mirror will be cast in Pyrex glass, and the telescope's movements will be controlled electronically.

In his latest annual report, just published the Astronomer Royal has revealed that construction of the new telescope is to begin. A board of astronomers and physicists has been set up to decide on constructional details and draw up a program of scientific research for which the instrument will be used.

While the atmosphere in this country will not allow an instrument of this size to be used at full aperture for many days in the year, the decision to construct it will be welcomed by all British astronomers.

Proteins During Adolescence

During the age of puberty, 14 to 16 in boys, 12 to 14 in girls, there is a greater rate of increases in height and weight than before or after this time. It is for this reason that boys and girls at the puberty age have such a large appetite. They not only have to supply the body with a definite amount of food to keep the body processes in good working condition, but they must also eat extra food needed for growth in height and increase in weight at this time.

While from the standpoint of height and weight both boys and girls appear to reach 'full' development at puberty, research workers are pointing out that while the hemoglobin (iron in the blood) does not greatly increase in volume or percentage after the age of 12 and 13 in girls, in boys it increases in volume or per cubic inch after the age of 22. The percentage of hemoglobin was found to be most nearly normal in the adult male, and it is 6 per cent more in boys at the age of 16 than in the years of puberty. The cross-section a difference in the total quantity of hemoglobin with relation to the body weight. The quantity of hemoglobin did not increase with the increase of weight after physical growth had stopped, but during growth the increase in hemoglobin was in proportion to growth.

Thus, the increase in hemoglobin is about the same in girls as in boys, to the age of 13, but in girls is considerably less from 13 up to the age of 20 after which there was no further increase while in boys there is a continued high increase in percentage up to the age of 22. The new telescope is to begin. A board cause of this is unknown.

While starch foods—sugar, bread, potatoes—are needed by teen-agers to give energy for play, proteins—meat, eggs, fish and cereals—are needed even more to build up rich red blood to continue the increase in hemoglobin needed at this time. Proteins build new tissue and repair worn tissue.

Man Who Started Korea War, Parts His Hair Like Hitler

BY UNITED PRESS

The man who started all the trouble in Korea combs his hair Hitler - fashion across his forehead and operates under an assumed name.

To the outside world he is known as Kim Il Sung, Chief of State in North Korea and Commander - in-Chief of the armed forces. Like most leaders of international Communism, he surrounds himself with an air of mystery. He seldom makes speeches and tries to stay in the background.

But last week, he reported to headquarters. Headquarters for all Communists is Moscow, of course, and Kim Il Sung sent a message to Joseph Stalin to commemorate the fifth anniversary of Korean independence. The tone of the message left no doubt as to who was running the show in Korea and it was much more revealing than a two-hour speech by Jacob Malik in the United Nations Security Council.

"The People's Government of Korea," Kim Il Sung told Stalin, "send hearty congratulations and thanks to the Soviet people and government through Stalin. The Korean people do not wish to be a colony of another country and are resisting United States military interference and imperialism and continuing a just war to defend our country's independence and freedom. The Korean people won't forget their joy at being liberated by the great Soviet army. On the fifth anniversary of August 15, we pray for Stalin's health. All Glory to the Soviet forces which liberated Korea and her people."

Kim Il Sung is about 38 years old. His pictures show him to be a roly-poly, sleepy-eyed man with dark hair brushed across the forehead toward his left eye. His real name is Kim Sung Chu and he followed a long-standing Communist tradition when he changed it. Stalin's real name is Djugashvili; Trotsky's parents were named Bronstein; and Lenin was born Ulyanov. Assumed names were a big help to them in the days when they were only a couple of steps ahead of the Czar's police.

Kim Il Sung entered North Korea with the Soviet Army in 1945. Apparently he was Stalin's boy from the start because the Russian commissars put him through a big build up. There had been a real Kim Il Sung, a guerrilla hero of the Korean independence movement in 1918-19. So Kim Sung Chu became Kim Il Sung in an attempt to trade on an heroic legend.

Kim Il Sung was born close to the place from where he now rules Communist Korea — the red capital of Pyongyang. Little is known about his early life, but it is definite that he attended China's famous Whampoa Military Academy. From here he went to Moscow where he was thoroughly indoctrinated with the political philosophy he now is trying to impose by force upon the South Koreans. He probably was attached to the Chinese Communist Army for a while, and learned some of the tricks American troops are up against now in Korea.

His career parallels in many ways that of Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese Communist leader. But none of his followers refer to him as the "Korean Mao Tse-tung." Word has got around that Kim Il Sung prefers "the Stalin of Korea."

Civil Defence In British Columbia

Victoria, B.C. — British Columbia is getting down to brass tacks on civil defence problems.

An organizational blueprint — for use in case of attack on the province — is being prepared by a special committee of civil servants, set up by the provincial government.

The committee, headed by H. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, is assembling data gathered at civil defence meetings recently in Seattle. At those talks, officials from both United States and Canada discussed defence problems — mainly with a view toward atomic attack.

Informed sources here say the report the committee will submit to the provincial cabinet will probably contain a proposal to set up an advisory council of experts on utilities, fire fighting, law enforcement and other services that would be called into play in the event of an emergency.

Up to the present the stress in British Columbia has been laid on planning rather than the actual setting up of a civil defence organization.

Meanwhile, the committee here is making an inventory of the actual resources of the civilian population which could be used to combat a disaster.

Another plan being studied by the committee is a program of general public education on what steps civilians can take to help themselves in an emergency.

Said one official: "It's good insurance for the public to know what could be done to lessen the loss if an atomic attack or similar disaster occurred."

Also under study is the matter of zones for civilian defence and the legal problems involved in setting them up, when several municipal authorities would likely have to be co-ordinated under an over-all authority.

A war-developed device for sending automatic radio signals giving scientific information from a roaring rocket high above the earth, has operated successfully from an altitude of nearly seventy-two miles, while travelling at more than 2,800 miles an hour.

TURKEY AND THE WAR OF NERVES

Seasoned by twenty major scraps with the Russians in the past several hundred years, the Turks with Russia on their eastern frontier, Bulgarian satellites within comparatively easy striking distance to the north of this rich and strategic city, and a Russian fleet in the Black Sea, do not appear worried by the cold war at present.

There have been war nerves, some scares, some alarmist reports, but none of this local reaction to the present world situation has had any serious effect to date, on daily Turkish life.

The most glaring recent alarmist report was that the American consul here had alerted United States officials and their dependents to be ready to evacuate in 48 hours notice with a maximum of forty pounds of luggage. This report annoyed the Americans, disturbed Turkish officials and has repercussions in Washington. It was followed by U.S. and Turkish official explanations that such alert orders were 'routine' for all non-nationals in critical foreign areas. It was also pointed out that similar orders were also long prepared and ready to be used if necessary, for Americans in such possible danger zones as Berlin, Vienna, Trieste, Teheran, Hong Kong or Saigon.

There have also been a few minor incidents along the Turko-Russian and Turko-Bulgarian borders. But these borders are still probably the quietest of all East-West frontiers.

Another factor which could have contributed to unrest here, but so far has failed to do so, has been the recently increased movement of Russian and satellite diplomatic personnel — back to their native capitals. Turks, in general have been more amused than alarmed by this 'returning for consultations' and have regarded it as just another move in the war of nerves.

Meanwhile, life goes on as usual for the Turks. The prices of bread and sugar — the latter a major item for the sweet-toothed Turk — have dropped a bit, while rents and property values have increased a little.

Tourists and visitors — but none from Cominform countries — throng the mosques, the bazaars, and the Bosphorus boats. In great numbers. It is almost impossible to get a room in one of the major Istanbul or Ankara hotels without days of advanced reservations.

The electorate is still waiting for the reforms promised by the new Democrat government of Celal Bayar, but the waiting is quiet and patient. There is no sign of political crisis. Instead of the scheduled economic and political reforms scheduled, one of the first bills passed by the Bayar regime revoked an Ataturk religious reform and allowed Moslem muezzins to call the faithful to prayer from their minarets "in Arabic as well as Turkish." All muezzins now call in Arabic only, overlooking the "as well as Turkish" part of the bill. It has been popularly received by the people who regard it as a welcome return to the "real faith."

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

The horse was still our prime means of transportation, and in only a few of our cities could proud citizens ride in the new electric streetcars. Queen Victoria was in the last year of her reign, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier was Prime Minister of Canada. The last spike of our first transcontinental railway had been driven only fifteen years before, and it would be another nine years before a Canadian airplane left the ground. The war in South Africa was almost a year old, but it was a distant, gallant venture to us, and no threat to our way of life.

Life was unhurried by modern standards. But we were entering the Twentieth Century and change was in the air. Our industries, particularly manufacturing, were expanding rapidly with the extension of the railways. It was a time of prosperity and optimism.

Our social conscience was awakening, but many employers felt they were justified in acquiring their workers as they would their raw materials— at the lowest price possible. There were many abuses, but the average Canadian heard little of them. Large classes of workers were inarticulate and unorganized, and while trade unions were growing in size and organization, they were meeting fierce opposition in many places.

Just before the turn of the century, the disclosure that uniforms for the Dominion Government were being made under sweat-shop conditions led to government investigation. As a result, a shocked government adopted the Fair Wages Policy of 1900, and taking the logical next step, in the same year passed the Conciliation Act which set up the Department of Labour.

The conception of a government department concerned solely with the welfare of the worker was something new in Canada and rare in any country at that time. The new department had two main functions— first, the collection and publication of factual, unbiased information and statistics on labour and industrial subjects, for which purpose the Labour Gazette was established, and second, the provision of conciliation services in labour disputes.

The present-day functions of the Department have grown from that nucleus.

The Labour Gazette has been published continuously since then and its monthly numbers make a unique record of the developments of the last half-century. The function of the collection and interpretation of material on labour economics was extended by the creation of the branch now known as the Economics and Research Branch.

The provision of conciliation services is now handled by the Industrial Relations Branch which also acts as the administrative arm of the Canada Labour Relations Board under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act, and through its Labour-Management Co-operation Service, promotes co-operation for increased production in industry.

Other functions of the Department are all broadly related to the welfare of the worker. The Department, in co-operation with the provincial governments, administers the Canadian Vocational Training program including apprenticeship training. It compiles and publishes reports on labour organization and labour legislation, operates a library with a free loan service to the public, carries on the sale of Dominion Government Annuities and is the official Canadian agency for liaison with the International Labour Organization.

In 1941 the Unemployment Insurance Act was passed, setting up the Unemployment Insurance Commission to provide protection against temporary unemployment, and the National Employment Service as a nation-wide job-placement agency.

To mark the Department's anniversary, and its own, the Labour Gazette is publishing a special anniversary issue for September. This issue will be of lasting interest. It is intended that it be a record of the social progress and the events in the labour economics field over the last fifty years.

Titles of the feature articles include— Economic Changes in Canada Since 1900; Social Changes Since 1900; Fifty Years of Labour Legislation in Canada; The Growth of Labour Organization, 1900-1950; Conciliation Law and Practice in Canada; Unemployment Insurance and the National Employment Service; Fair Wages Policy and Prevailing Rates during the First Half-Century, and Canada and the World Movement Toward Social Justice.

The anniversary issue should be of interest to everyone concerned with social history and should prove invaluable as a reference manual to students in the labour field.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION MEETINGS

The August meeting of the West Plain Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Tom Wicklam, with a good attendance. The meeting opened with a hymn. Mr. Blair led in prayer. The forty-ninth psalm was read by the president. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. W. Young. Roll call was answered by naming a favourite hymn. It was decided to make two quilts, quilting to be held dat the home of Mrs. W. Young.

The meeting closed with the W.A. theme song.

Mrs. Ben. Young had charge of the program, which included several readings and songs. A contest was conducted by Mrs. W. Young. Lunch was served by the hostess.

"Fluid Tile"

A plastic bakelite tile sheet can now be brushed or sprayed in quick drying decorator colors over plaster, concrete, wood linoleum, stone, metal etc., on walls, floors and all other surfaces indoors and out. This is made possible by a new process, known as "fluid tile," developed after many years of re-search.

This latest and revolutionary discovery is the most modern and least expensive way of creating a tile finish. Whereas the generally known tile uses ceramic as a foundation, "fluid tile" uses any existing surface as a foundation; and the result is a gleaming thin tile sheet. It retains its high lustre practically indefinitely and takes endless washings and floors on which it has been used can be treated just like linoleum. It flows on like cream and imperfections are easily covered, giving not only the appearance but also the feel of tile.

This new "fluid tile" is resistant to water, soap, salt water, grease, alkali, oil, acid, gasoline and heat.

GUARDING THE FOLK - LORE OF EARLY CANADA

Ottawa. — From its store of folk-songs and legends of early Canada the National Museum has compiled two bulletins on Canadian folk-lore and hopes to turn out more in the near future.

The books, "Folk-lore of Waterloo County, Ont.," and "Folk-lore of Lunenburg County, N.S.," are the first museum publications of their kind in years.

There is no limit to what you can do in this field, says the chief curator, Dr. F. J. Alcock.

Exhibits in the museum are fine, but it's only the people who come to Ottawa who see them, said Dr. Alcock. Only through publications could the work of the museum be made known across Canada.

It also was important to collect material on early Canadian life without too much delay.

"We should get all this material while we can," he said. "It's from the older people that we get it — the longer we leave it, the harder it is to obtain . . . people spend more of their time these days driving or listening to their radios; they don't go around telling the old stories or singing the old songs and the past is slipping away."

As it is the museum already has accumulated a mass of folklore material. It contains thousands of written records of myths, folk-tales, sayings, games, dances.

Folk-song collections alone include phonographic recordings of 3,000 Indian and more than 6,000 French-Canadian songs.

In addition there are several hundred British - Canadian folk songs mostly from the Maritime provinces.

Dr. Alcock said he hoped the museum's next step would be the publication of a book of Canadian songs.

The 163-page Lunenburg county publication was compiled by Helen Creighton of Dartmouth, N.S., who for the last three field seasons has been employed by the museum on folk-lore studies in Nova Scotia.

Blood-chilling tales of ghostships predominate in the book. They should provide a wealth of material to writers seeking story plots.

The German dialect spoken by the early settlers of the district fascinated Wintemberg. The book is filled with sayings and superstitions still known in that part of the country.

Research into the Canadian past has attracted much evidence abroad. In fact the next edition of the American Journal of Folklore published at Berkeley, Calif., will be an all-Canadian number.

There still is much to be done if Canada is to build her tradition and preserve relics of the past.

But it won't continue long that way. The curator said a member of the museum staff is spending two months this summer in the new province beginning a study into Newfoundland folk material.

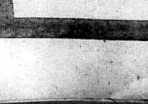
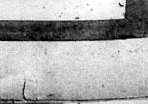
Aluminum adds a plus to pancakes!

An "Inside Story" about Maple Syrup

1. Aluminum means a lot to your breakfast! Your griddle-cakes taste better with good maple syrup. And the best syrup is made from sap that is collected in aluminum pails.



2. Maple sap must be well-protected to preserve its delicate flavour. Farmers using aluminum pails find this "food-friendly" metal preserves colour, taste and flavour perfectly.*



3. Aluminum is used for tapping-pegs, containers and evaporators, too. The increasing use of aluminum in the industry means higher-quality syrup for you.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Natural minerals in food and water occasionally discolour aluminum utensils. Natural acids in foods remove the deposits. For example, the iron in spinach leaves a deposit on aluminum; the acid from tomatoes or rhubarb dissolves the deposit.

* Quebec farmers receive Federal and Provincial aid in replacing old-fashioned sap pails with aluminum pails. Modern aluminum containers fully conform to all pure-food laws.

His career parallels in many ways that of Mao Tse-tung ,the Chinese Communist leader. But none of his followers refer to him as the "Korean Mao Tse-tung." Word has got around that Kim Il Sung prefers "the Stalin of Korea."

Civil Defence In British Columbia

Victoria, B.C. — British Columbia is getting down to brass tacks on civil defence problems.

An organizational blueprint — for use in case of attack on the province — is being prepared by a special committee of civil servants, set up by the provincial government.

The committee, headed by H. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, is assembling data gathered at civil defence meetings recently in Seattle. At those talks, officials from both United States and Canada discussed defence problems — mainly with a view toward atomic attack.

Informed sources here say the report the committee will submit to the provincial cabinet will probably contain a proposal to set up an advisory council of experts on utilities, fire fighting, law enforcement and other services that would be called into play in the event of an emergency.

Up to the present the stress in British Columbia has been laid on planning rather than the actual setting up of a civil defence organization.

Meanwhile, the committee here is making an inventory of the actual resources of the civilian population which could be used to combat a disaster.

Another plan being studied by the committee is a program of general public education on what steps civilians can take to help themselves in an emergency.

Said one official: "It's good insurance for the public to know what could be done to lessen the loss if an atomic attack or similar disaster occurred."

Also under study is the matter of zones for civilian defence and the legal problems involved in setting them up, when several municipal authorities would likely have to be co-ordinated under an over-all authority.

A war-developed device for sending automatic radio signals giving scientific information from a roaring rocket high above the earth, has operated successfully from an altitude of nearly seventy-two miles, while travelling at more than 2,800 miles an hour.

TURKEY AND THE WAR OF NERVES

Seasoned by twenty major scraps with the Russians in the past several hundred years, the Turks with Russia on their eastern frontier, Bulgarian satellites within comparatively easy striking distance to the north of this rich and strategic city, and a Russian fleet in the Black Sea, do not appear worried by the cold war, at present.

There have been war nerves, some scares, some alarmist reports, but none of this local reaction to the present world situation has had any serious effect to date, on daily Turkish life.

The most glaring recent alarmist report was that the American consul here had alerted United States officials and their dependents to be ready to evacuate in 48 hours notice with a maximum of forty pounds of luggage. This report annoyed the Americans, disturbed Turkish officials and its repercussions in Washington. It was followed by U. S. and Turkish official explanations that such alert orders were 'routine' for all non-nationals in critical foreign areas. It was also pointed out that similar orders were also long prepared and ready to be used if necessary, for Americans in such possible danger zones as Berlin, Vienna, Trieste, Teheran, Hong Kong or Saigon.

There have also been a few minor incidents along the Turko-Russian and Turko-Bulgarian borders. But these borders are still probably the quietest of all East-West frontiers.

Another factor which could have contributed to unrest here, but so far has failed to do so, has been the recently increased movement of Russian and satellite diplomatic personnel — back to their native capitals. Turks, in general, have been more amused than alarmed by this 'returning for consultations' and have regarded it as just another move in the war of nerves.

Meanwhile, life goes on as usual for the Turks. The prices of bread and sugar — the latter a major item for the sweet-toothed Turk— have dropped a bit, while rents and property values have increased a little.

Tourists and visitors — but none from Cominform countries — throng the mosques, the bazaars, and the Bosphorus boats, in great numbers. It is almost impossible to get a room in one of the major Istanbul or Ankara hotels without days of advanced reservation.

The electorate is still waiting for the reforms promised by the new Democrat government of Celal Bayar, but the waiting is quiet and patient. There is no sign of political crisis. Instead of the heralded economic and political reforms scheduled, one of the first bills passed by the Bayar regime revoked an Ataturk religious reform and allowed Moslem muezzins to call the faithful to prayer from their minarets "in Arabic as well as Turkish.' All muezzins now call in Arabic only, overlooking the "as well as Turkish' part of the bill. It has been popularly received by the people who regard it as a welcome return to the 'real faith.'

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

The horse was still our prime means of transportation, and in only a few of our cities could proud citizens ride in the new electric streetcars. Queen Victoria was in the last year of her reign, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier was Prime Minister of Canada. The last spike of our first transcontinental railway had been driven only fifteen years before, and it would be another nine years before a Canadian airplane left the ground. The war in South Africa was almost a year old, but it was a distant, gallant venture to us, and no threat to our way of life.

Life was unhurried by modern standards. But we were entering the Twentieth Century and change was in the air. Our industries, particularly manufacturing, were expanding rapidly with the extension of the railways. It was a time of prosperity and optimism.

Our social conscience was awakening, but many employers felt they were justified in acquiring their workers as they would their raw materials— at the lowest price possible.

There were many abuses, but the average Canadian heard little of them. Large classes of workers were barely organized, and while trade unions were growing in size and organization, they were meeting fierce opposition in many places.

Just before the turn of the century, the disclosure that uniforms for the Dominion Government were being made under sweat-shop conditions led to government investigation. As a result, a shocked government adopted the Fair Wages Policy of 1900, and taking the logical next step, in the same year passed the Conciliation Act which set up the Department of Labour.

The conception of a government department concerned solely with the welfare of the worker was something new in Canada and rare in any country at that time. The new department had two main functions— first, the collection and publication of factual, unbiased information and statistics on labour and industrial subjects, for which purpose the Labour Gazette was established, and second, the provision of conciliation services in labour disputes.

The present-day functions of the Department have grown from that nucleus.

The Labour Gazette has been published continuously since then and its monthly numbers make a unique record of the developments of the last half-century. The function of the collection and interpretation of material on labour economics was extended by the creation of the branch now known as the Economics and Research Branch.

The provision of conciliation services is now handled by the Industrial Relations Branch which also acts as the administrative arm of the Canada Labour Relations Board under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act, and through its Labour Management Cooperation Service, promotes co-operation for increased production in industry.

Other functions of the Department are all broadly related to the welfare of the worker. The Department, in co-operation with the provincial governments, administers the Canadian Vocational Training program including apprenticeship training. It compiles and publishes reports on labour organization and labour legislation, operates a library with a free loan service to the public, carries on the sale of Dominion Government Annuities and is the official Canadian agency for liaison with the International Labour Organization.

In 1941 the Unemployment Insurance Act was passed, setting up the Unemployment Insurance Commission to provide protection against temporary unemployment, and the National Employment Service as a nation-wide job-placement agency.

* * *

To mark the Department's anniversary, and its own, the Labour Gazette is publishing a special anniversary issue for September. This issue will be of lasting interest. It is intended that it be a record of the social progress and the events in the labour economics field over the last fifty years.

Titles of the feature articles include:— Economic Changes in Canada Since 1900; Social Changes Since 1900; Fifty Years of Labour Legislation in Canada; The Growth of Labour Organization, 1900-1950; Conciliation Law and Practice in Canada; Unemployment Insurance and the National Employment Service; Fair Wages Policy and Prevailing Rates during the First Half-Century, and Canada and the World Movement Toward Social Justice.

The anniversary issue should be of interest to everyone concerned with social history and should prove invaluable as a reference manual to students in the labour field.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION MEETINGS

The August meeting of the West Plain Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Tom Wicklam, with a good attendance. The meeting opened with a hymn. Mr. Blair led in prayer. The forty-ninth psalm was read by the president. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. W. Young. Roll call was answered by naming a favourite hymn.

It was decided to make two quilts, quilting to be held dat the home of Mrs. W. Young.

The meeting closed with the W.A. theme song.

Mrs. Ben. Young had charge of the program, which included several readings and songs. A contest was conducted by Mrs. W. Young. Lunch was served by the hostess.

"Fluid Tile"

A plastic bakelite tile sheet can now be brushed or sprayed in quick drying decorator colors over plaster, concrete, wood linoleum, stone, metal etc., on walls, floors and all other surfaces indoors and out. This is made possible by a new process, known as "fluid tile," developed after many years of research.

This latest and revolutionary discovery is the most modern and least expensive way of creating a tile finish. Whereas the generally known tile user ceramic as a foundation, "fluid tile" uses any existing surface as a foundation, and the result is a gleaming thin tile sheet. It retains its high lustre practically indefinitely and takes endless washings and floors on which it has been used can be treated just like linoleum. It flows on like cream and imperfections are easily covered, giving not only the appearance but also the feel of tile.

This new "fluid tile" is resistant to water, soap, salt water, grease, alkali, oil, acid, gasoline and heat.

GUARDING THE FOLK - LORE OF EARLY CANADA

Ottawa. — From its store of folk-songs and legends of early Canada, the National Museum has compiled two bulletins on Canadian folk-lore and hopes to turn out more in the near future.

The books, "Folk-lore of Waterloo County, Ont.," and "Folk-lore of Lunenburg County, N.S.," are the first museum publications of their kind in years.

There is no limit to what you can do in this field, says the chief curator, Dr. F. J. Alcock.

Exhibits in the museum are fine, but it is only the people who come to Ottawa who see them, said Dr. Alcock. Only through publications could the work of the museum be made known across Canada.

It also was important to collect material on early Canadian life without too much delay.

"We should get all this material while we can," he said. "It's from the older people that we get it — the longer we leave it, the harder it is to obtain . . . people spend more of their time these days driving or listening to their radios; they don't sit around telling the old stories or singing the old songs and the past is slipping away."

As it is the museum already has accumulated a mass of folklore material. It contains thousands of written records of myths, folk-tales, sayings, games, dances.

Folk-song collections alone include phonographic recordings of 3,000 Indian and more than 6,000 French-Canadian songs.

In addition there are several hundred British - Canadian folk songs mostly from the Maritime provinces.

Dr. Alcock said he hoped the museum's next step would be the publication of a book of Canadian songs.

The 184-page Lunenburg county publication was compiled by Helen Creighton of Dartmouth, N.S., who for the last three field seasons has been employed by the museum on folk-lore studies in Nova Scotia.

Blood-chilling tales of ghosts-hips predominate in the book. They should provide a wealth of material to writers seeking story plots.

The German dialect spoken by the early settlers of the district fascinated Wintemberg. The book is filled with sayings and superstitions still known in that part of the county.

Research into the Canadian past has attracted much evidence abroad. In fact the next edition of the American Journal of Folklore, published at Berkeley, Calif., will be an all-Canadian number.

There still is much to be done if Canada is to build her tradition and preserve relics of the past.

But it won't continue long that way. The curator said a member of the museum staff is spending two months this summer in the new province beginning a study into Newfoundland folk material.

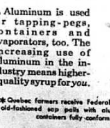
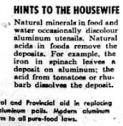
Aluminum adds a plus to pancakes!

An "Inside Story" about Maple Syrup

1. Aluminum means a lot to your breakfast! Your griddlecakes taste better with good maple syrup. And the best syrup is made from sap that is collected in aluminum pails.





2. Maple sap must be well-protected to preserve its delicate flavour. Farmers using aluminum pails find this "food-friendly" metal preserves colour, taste and flavour perfectly. *

3. Aluminum is used for tapping-pegs, containers and evaporators, too. The increasing use of aluminum in the industry means higher-quality syrup for you.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE
Natural minerals in food and water occasionally discolour aluminum utensils. Natural acids in foods remove the deposits. For example, the iron in spinach leaves a deposit on aluminum; the acid from tomatoes or rhubarb dissolves the deposit.

* Quebec farmers receive Federal and Provincial aid in replacing old-fashioned sap pails with aluminum pails. Modern aluminum containers fully conform to all pure-food laws.

PARLIAMENT ACTS ON STRIKE

Several Hundred Make Pilgrimage To Hay Bay Church

Dr. Willard Brewing U. C. Moderator Guest Speaker

In spite of hot, humid weather, several hundred people gathered at the old United Empire Loyalist Church, at Hay Bay, on Sunday afternoon, August 27th for the annual Pilgrimage and service. The church was filled to capacity and many were unable to find accomodation in the building. People were present from many parts of the counties of Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward besides other places in Ontario. One car with a Saskatchewan license plate was also noticed in the parking lot on the grounds.

Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, B.D., D.D., of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada was the Speaker. Rev. H. B. Neal, Lindsay, chairman of the Hay Bay Church Conference Committee, conducted the service. Hon. G. H. Challies, represented Premier Leslie Frost who had planned to be present but was unable to fill the engagement. The chairman read a letter from the Premier in which he commended the committee and the church for commemorating the efforts of the U.E.L. pioneers of the district in establishing the Methodist Church in Ontario 150 years ago.

COTTAGE KEYS PRESENTED

An interesting part of the service was the presentation of the keys of the cottage, built and given to the Hay Bay Church Committee by Mr. H. J. McFarland of Picton. The presentation of the keys to Dr. Brewing was made by Mr. Mallory, a member of Mr. McFarland's staff, on behalf of Mr. McFarland. The gift of a bedroom suite for use in the cottage, presented by Mrs. Jack McPherson, of Napanee, was also acknowledged by the chairman. The cottage has been occupied this summer by workers in the United Church, who have welcomed nearly by 600 visitors during the season.

During the service a solo was rendered by Miss Betty Pickering, of Picton and a quartette by Misses Shirley and Betty Pickering, Mr. Ralph Pickering and Don King, of Picton. Mr. A. N. Benvy, organist of Picton United Church presided at the organ. Rev. A. E. McCracken, Picton, offered prayer and Rev. R. A. Whattam, Toronto, made the announcements.

DR. BREWING'S ADDRESS

Dr. Brewing said at the beginning of his address that, his attendance at the Hay Bay Church service would probably be his last official engagement as Moderator of the United Church, before he relinquishes the position at the General Council early in September. Dr. Brewing said that he had been filling engagements as Moderator, more or less in reverse. He started out dedicating new churches and was ending his term in office by commemorating the establishment of the first Methodist church in Ontario. He said we should be grateful to people with an interest in historic events and places. Old buildings should be preserved and pioneers should be remembered. Our indebtedness to the pioneers is very great, especially the Methodist pioneers. They came to this country to find God and we are the inheritors of a great christian tradition.

The County of Lennox and Addington has been a stronghold of Methodism since pioneer days and even though the name "Methodist" has passed out of the picture, its power and good have been preserved. It was a great combination, Methodists and United Empire Loyalists, Dr. Brewing said.

Some people, he said, are remembered, and others are perpetuated in one way or another, whether or not their names are remembered. The latter is the case of the pioneers who established Methodism in this district. They are among those who have done some good for humanity. Even with all the changes that have taken place in the past 150 years, the religion of the pioneers has been perpetuated and still continues to grow. The gospel of Jesus Christ is still as true as it ever was. We can best memorialize the pioneers, Dr. Brewing said, by proclaiming the religion they founded. We would be terribly remiss if we relinquished the pure things our forefathers started.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

The Conference Committee in charge of the Hay Bay Church is made up of the following members: Rev. Harold B. Neal, Lindsay, chairman; Rev. R. A. Whattam, Secretary-Treasurer and Rev. A. J. Wilson D.D., Toronto; Rev. A. E. McCracken, Picton; Mr. F. L. Hooper, of Napanee, Mr. H. Ackerman, Belleville and Mr. J. W. Duffett, Adolphustown.

TRAFFIC TIE-UP FOR TWO HOURS AFTER COLLISION

A collision involving a Quebec motor car driven by Robert Landry and a Norris Transport, also from Quebec, about two miles west of Napanee at 8.15 on Monday evening resulted in a tie-up of traffic for over two hours on No. 2 Highway.

After the crash, the transport, which was being driven east, came to rest across the whole of the traffic portion of the road. The rear wheels of the tractor of the transport were torn off, which made it difficult to remove the trailer from the road. Both transport and motor car were quite badly damaged, but drivers of the transport and car and passengers in the car escaped with only slight injuries.

Traffic was diverted by way of the boundary road and the old Belleville Road, until the highway was cleared.

MILLHAVEN MEN RESCUE FOUR FROM LAKE ONT.

Four United States visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hollis and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Cathers of Gouverneur, N.Y., were rescued from the waters of Lake Ontario at Millhaven by Douglas Rikey and his brother Howard on Sunday evening, August 27th.

The 17-foot inboard motor boat in which the party had been fishing suddenly filled with water and sank about a mile from shore around 8 o'clock in the evening. All four members of the party were swimmers but floated around in the water, calling for help rather than attempting to swim ashore, because Mr. Cathers suffers from a rheumatic heart condition.

Their shouts for help were heard finally by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rikey who were sitting on their verandah. Mr. Rikey and his brother got a fast motor boat and went to the rescue. Mr. Cathers was given attention by a Bath doctor and later was taken home by a friend another doctor, who was called from Gouverneur.

Mr. Hollis, who had owned it for Mr. Hallis who had owend it for three years and had no previous trouble with it.

Work Projects Now Underway In Napanee

Streets, Sidewalks, Numerous Buildings Receive Attention

Anyone who has taken the trouble to walk around Napanee during the past week could not fail to be impressed with the construction activity in many districts in the town.

The most important piece of work under way at the present time is the resurfacing of Dundas and Centre Streets by the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. The work on Dundas Street has been completed and was done in record time. Centre Street from the Bridge to the C.N.R. tracks is the next project. The paving of Dundas Street was accomplished with a minimum of traffic disturbance. Fortunately Bridge Street, the next Street parrallel to Dundas, could be used as a detour for through traffic. At times the streets between Dundas and Bridge were quite badly congested, but no serious accidents resulted.

The Streets Department of the Town Council has undertaken the repair of cement walks in many parts of the town and some very necessary replacements of broken walks have been accomplished.

Work on the new bridge over the river at the easterly entrance to the town is progressing well and by the early fall the bridge should be ready for use. Its construction has not interfered with traffic, because it is being placed in an entirely new location and the old bridge can be used as long as it is required.

Repairing and repainting the 165-foot steeple on Grace United Church is under way. The wor kis being done by the Toropio Slate Roofing and Sheetmetal Co. The decorative finial on the top of the steeple has been shortened repaired and cemented in place. The sides of the steeple have been scraped and are to be given two coats of paint. The men will, when the wor kat Grace Church has been completed, go to Centreville Church, where two men died as a result of injuries when the scaffold broke throwing the workers 70 feet to the ground, and complete the contract.

At Trinity Church the cement approaches to the two Bridge Street entrances have been rebuilt and new copings have been placed on the sides.

At the T. Eaton Co. Store a new elevator from the basement to the third floor is being installed in the Dundas and Centre Street corner at the front of the building.

On the Market Square the Legion Building is having its face lifted by a fresh coat of paint. All over the town houses are being constructed and repairs to other buildings are under way.

The work on all the projects in the town has meant a great deal of extra employment.

MR. GEORGE MILLER WINS $1185 AWARD GIVEN BY PROVINCE

WILL ENTER QUEEN'S SCIENCE DEPT. THIS FALL

George Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller, Sr., of Napanee, has brought honour to himself, his family and the Napanee and District Collegiate Institute by winning a Province of Ontario Scholarship valued at $1185.00.

Mr. Miller, who will be 18 later this fall, has just completed the five-year course at Napanee Collegiate in four years. In his Upper School work he secured 16 first class honors and one second class. Throughout his years at the Collegiate he has had a very high standing in all subjects.

In addition to winning the Province of Ontario Scholarship, of which there is only one awarded each year, he had the honor of winning the Sir Sandford Fleming Scholarship in Mathamatics and the Bell Scholarship in Chemistry. Since he was the winner of one scholarship he could claim only the honor of the other two awards and not the cash.

Mr. Miller will enter Queen's University this fall in the Science Faculty, but as yet has not decided what course in which to specialize.

The Ontario Scholarship, which totals $1185 is comprised of $100 in cash in each of three years plus tuition for three years.

NAPANEE BOYS HELP CAPTURE 30-LB. TURTLE

A 30-lb. Chelydra Serpentina clamped on a pike minnow and found it was a plug — to the consternation of everyone concerned in the Ottawa river's least fishy fishing story of the week-end.

More commonly called the common snapping turtle, Chel. Serp was the unexpected catch of a 13-year old Ottawa boy and his two Napanee companions — with thought they were anglers until the tussling terrapin turned them into turtlers.

Out with their rods on the river close by Quyon, were young Ross McLaughlin of Ottawa, Jack Poliger, 16 and Morley Perry, 14, of Napanee.

The big snapper took their plug as they were casting, tautened their 15-lb. test line to snapping point and finally lost out to a gaff hook as they reeled him up to the gunwhale of their boat.

The turtle is now at Dunwerkin Cottage, Quyon, home of Mrs. S. Halpin, who is eager to give the amphibian to any gourmet whose taste runs to turtle steaks and turtle soup.

"It Pays to Advertise"

Looks like we have a few lucky people left at least, Lawrence Magee is one of them. Mr. Magee recently purchased a border collie and had him shipped in by express, before the railroad strike of course. The Express Company lost the collie and Lawrence advertised for him and found him down the Hamburg Road after two weeks.

58-YR. OLD POSTER OF ADOLPHUSTOWN CELEBRATION

The poster which is about eight feet long by 40 inches wide has been preserved by Mrs. T. N. Davis. J. B. Alisson was one of the Committee responsible for the celebration and was Mrs. Davis' father.

The poster is of interest at present because of the annual pilgrimage to the old Hay Bay Church last Sunday.

Mrs. Davis clearly recalls the celebration, which from the events outlined on the poster must have been quite an affair.

The poster, printed in red and blue on heavy white paper, is still in fair condition. It was brought to the Beaver Office recently and was repaired and reinforced with a backing of heavy paper. It would be a valuable addition to the County Historical Collection if and when a suitable place can be found to preserve it.

MOVE TO NAPANEE

Labour Congresses Warn Against Forced Arbitration

Following legislation which was introduced in the Dominion Parliament on Tuesday and may be passed to-day (Wednesday) the railroad strike which has paralyzed rail traffic across Canada may come to an end by Government (Thursday).

The bill requires the strikers be back on the job within 48 hours after it becomes law. Workers will be given an increase of 4 cents per hour effective September 1st. The wage increase includes hotel and steamship employees. The 40-hour week is implied in the bill, but no specific date has been set when it becomes effective. Settlement of the strike must be completed within 15 days or a Government Arbitrator will be appointed whose decision will be final.

The men on strike are all members of what is known as the non-operating trades which do not include engineers, firemen and conductors. In all cases the unions are asking a wage increase of seven cents an hour, which would bring the weekly wage up by $2.80 for a 40-hour week, which is also one of the demands of the railmen.

These are figures supplied by the Labor Department's annual report on wages and hours which the workers have been receiving.

Extra gang foremen receive $8.66 to $9.16 a day, multiplying this by six would give them a weekly wage of $51.96 to $54.96. General section foremen are down to $8.11 a day, or $48.66 for a 48-hour week.

What about telegraph operators, who are also part of the striking group?

A telegraph operator is listed in the annual report as receiving from $202 to $221.50 a month, which in weekly terms is $46 to $51.

Train dispatchers are higher paid, receiving $313 to $355 a month, or $73 to $82 a week.

Agents earn $213 to $233 monthly, and assistant agents receive $156 to $165 monthly, or $36 to $37.50 a week.

Another category of employees listed in the government report is journalmen. These men earn from $1 to 91 cents an hour, depending on the type of work they do. This would bring their earnings for 48 hours to a range from $38.88 to $44.68.

Tradesmen in the railway industry receive considerably less than skilled me hanics in the building industry. Wages range from 91 cents an hour for rough carpenters to the top rate of $1.20 an hour for plumbers, blacksmiths tinsmiths etc. This would bring the scale for 48 hours from $43.68 to $57.60.

No Sugar Shortage Speaker From Cuba Tells Rotarians

Mr Joe Brickly, a former resident of Marysville, who has been living in Cuba for some years, and who is visiting his former home, was the speaker at the weekly Rotary luncheon meeting on Tuesday.

Mr. Brickly gave a short talk on the sugar industry. He said there is at present no shortage of sugar, but when the people recently started to hoard sugar the United States stepped in and purchased large quantities to prevent speculation.

El Zeran, the treasurer, presented the yearly financial report and Will Wilson gave a talk on the current issue of the Rotary magazine It was announced that the Rotary car would be withdrawn from the Napanee street on Saturday, which is the last day before the drawing for the Legion car.

THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL

The decision as to whether or not a new Collegiate building will be erected by the Napanee and District School Board is more or less up to the Councils of the municipalities which are represented on the district school board.

The proposition was thoroughly reviewed at the meeting held in Napanee last week. The architect, who had been asked to prepare tentative plans for a new school was present and very capably went into all the details concerning the facilities for teaching provided for in the building. The Chairman of the Board, Mr. P. U. Laidley, told of the steady increase in the number of pupils attending the school and the inadequate accomodation which has resulted in extreme overcrowding. Mr. Laidley thoroughly reviewed the plans which had been considered and laid before the Ontario Department of Education, for increasing classroom accomodation. He reported that the Department favored the erection of a new school and showed that such a plan would be more economical than to remodel the old school and besides could provide the most up-to-date facilities for secondary education.

Unofficial opinions expressed by the members of the Councils present at the meeting were for the most part in favor of an entirely new building. The proposition must first be considered by Municipal Councils concerned. If they give their approval then the next steps can be taken to complete the necessary details and secure final approval for the erection of a new school building.

Education is today being given prime consideration by the Ontario Government. Grants for new buildings have been increased very greatly and in the case of municipalities, the size of Lennox and Addington, are very generous — actually 75 per cent. That leaves only 25 per cent to be ppaid by the local municipalities which, when divided, according to assessment, will mean comparatively small yearly payments for the next twenty years by each municipality in the school district.

Of course it will possibly add to the taxes, but the advantages to be gained far outweigh the cash outlay by individual taxpayers. In the case of Napanee, the cost would be about 70 cents per person a year. A much more diverified type of education can be provided than the present school building has been able to offer. More emphasis will be given to agriculture, manual traiing and domestic science training which will allow pupils, who do not wish to go into the professions, to get practical instruction, which will fit them for making a living.

The present overcrowded condition of the Napanee Collegiate, which will get worse each year, if a new school is not built, makes teaching very difficult. It is unfair to both teachers and pupils. A teacher who has from 40 to 50 pupils in a class cannot possibly get the best results. Individual attention cannot be given. The pupil suffers and the teacher feels discouraged.

One of the worst features of the present school building is the very bad sanitary facilities, which are the same as when the school was built 50 years ago and have long been outmoded. The new school building would provide proper wash rooms and toilet as well as the best equipment for instruction and recreation. It is to be hoped the Municipal Councils will soon deal with the matter and give approval. — C. L. Graham.

A SHRINE

The nearest we come in this county to having a shrine is at the Old Hay Bay Church. Built in 1792, it is still standing. The frame of the building, the woodwork is the original structure, except that in 1836 it was given extensive repairs. It was founded and built under the guidance of Rev. Wm. Lossee, a dynamic methodist preacher, who had come from Albany to do missionary work in this district under the American Methodist Church. He was a vigorous preacher, with a shrivelled arm. He used Duff's Tavern for a meeting place until the church was built. The country was wild, and primitive conditions prevailed, but Lossee and those who followed, laid the foundations of religious life strong and securely.

When the population shifted from the Bay front, the church was abandoned and the present Adolphustown Church was built. The old church was sold, but fortunately it was not destroyed. Just before Union the Methodist Church bought it back and after Union it was put in a presentable and safe condition

Since then the United Church of Canada has continued to take a deep interest in this old church.

Last Sunday afternoon, the annual pilgrimage to the Hay Bay Church was held. The Moderator Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing preached. At this service the keys of the new cottage built this summer were handed to the Trustees. The purpose of the cottage is to house a guide who will be on hand during the tourist season to meet visitors and to have them sign the Visitor's Book. Over five hundred tourists visited the old church, this summer.

Our local community should be proud of this Shrine, and of the interest which is being shown in its preservation by the church as a whole.

Loan $1,000,000 Per Day Under Nat. Housing Act

Joint lending operations under the National Housing Act averaged more than $1,000,000 a day during the past three months, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced last week.

With a new peak volume of joint loan approvals in July, amounting to more than $31,250,000, reported by corporation offices throughout the country, total operations for the first seven months of 1950 climbed close to $160,000,000. In July, joint loans numbered 4,090 for 4,474 units and brought the total loan approvals for the seven month period to 20,500 to assist in financing the construction of more than 23,100 units.

The total, representing only joint loans made by approved lending institutions and the corporation from January to the end of July, exceeded by $63,000,000 similar lending operations in the same period of 1949. Last year's seven month figures for joint loans show 10,500 loans amounting to $96,300,000 for some 12,400 new dwellings.

In July, 1949, a total of 2,092 loans were approved for 2,297 units and an amount of $12,647,000.

Pastor Urges Meyer Release To Lead Army

Release of Kurt Meyer, former German general now a Canadian prisoner for war crimes to lead a German army under an international flag, was advocated in Charlottetown, P.E.I., last week.

Rev. H. E. Ashford, pastor of Trinity United Church and a reserve army chaplain, said Meyer should be released from the Maritime penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B., where he has been confined for five years.

by "Red" Miller

League baseball is practically dormant ot the present time .. as far as local teams ar concerned. With the Napanee Athletics withdrawn from the C.O.B.L. play-offs .... in favo rof he coming O.B.A. set up .... the fans will see little if any, Intermediate or Senior ball for the first part of the week at any rate.

However things will be humming again at the end of the week .... Both the Merchants .... who have had a long layoff .... and the Kilcrimmen .... will resume operations during the coming holiday week-end.

The Merchants, who finished cut of the Belleville and District playoffs, meet a Lennox County winner .... and the Athletics ,who finished in fourth place in the C.O. B.L. will take on Gananoque. The former series is scheduled for Merchants at Lennox County on the first and back here on the 5th ..... The latter play in Gananoque on Friday and back here on Monday.

On Monday morning of this week .... we received word that Picton cr "McFarland's Athletics .... have dropped back into 'B' grouping and will take on Trenton CRD in that section .. the ultimate winner to play off with the winner of the Gananoque - Napanee Athletic series. This will add another team to the locals credit and undoubtedly add some color to the play-offs .... as the Picton squad usually play heads-up ball when the chips are down.

May we refer you to another column of this papper .... where you will find the "latest" dope from Bob 'OBA' Smith .... in respect to the play-downs in the various groups in Zone G.

The benefit game last week for the injured Athletic players was a real hitting tilt .. with the locals coming from behind to tie 4 all, in a six-innings affair that pleased the good turnout of "supporters" .... who dropped the sum of $104.65 in the box placed at the gate.

This gesture is more than appreciated by the local ball players ..... and they wish .... by way of this column .... to extend their thanks and appreciation to 'Jake' Edwards and 'Squeak' Reason, sponsor and manager of the Kingston Monarchs and the players of the visiting team who made the game possible. Thanks are also extended to the officials who worked th game .. the Lions Club for the use of the Park .... and last but not least .... the fans and supporters who contributd financially to the cause.

ERINSVILLE

CONSIDERABLE ACTIVITY AROUND ERINSVILLE

Erinsville, August 27. — The recent rains have greatly improved pastures and the vegetable crop in this vicinity.

Threshing is in full swing and farmers report a good yield of grain, especially oats, which average around 50 bushels to the acre.

Business seems to be rolling along much the same as usual, despite the railway tie-up. The railroad was taken away from this community some years ago, and we do not miss that which we did not have, though it was hard to adjust ourselves to do without the railroad. Most of the business in and out is handled by truck. The completion of No. 41 Highway, connecting with No. 2 and No. 7 Highways, makes it very accessable to outside markets.

The tourist season is drawing to a close. School days will soon be here again, and most of the visitors feel they must get back for the opening. The fishing has been exceptionally good and it is noticeable that more women are joining their husbands every year, and, seem to thoroughly enjoy the sport. During July the traffic and tourist business was very heavy, but in August has been falling off somewhat.

A. Wright and T. Pongraez, both of Akron, Ohio, have purchased cottage lots on Beaver Lake from M. E. Hopkins and will erect cottages for occupancy next year. Dr. D. A. Hunt has also erected an up-to-da e log cottage on Neville's Point, where he purchased some land from Clarence Neville.

Willie Allore has finish'd painting and redecorating St. Patrick's School. The class rooms have been finished in a soft restful tone of green and the halls in a darker shade, which harmonize and look beautiful. No. 8 Public School has also been greatly enlarged, repaired, and painted, and is being modernly equipped.

James O'Neill had nine valuable sheep injured, or killed, by dogs recently. The nuisance of stray dogs and, in some cases, wolves, has chilled farmers to go cut of sheep raising, which, of recent years, has been profitable business for them. If you have a good dog, take care of him and shut him up at night. It will save you money and the farmers will get more money out of land that is wasted and unprofitable for anything else.

BENEFIT GAME DRAWS GOOD CROWD OF FANS

Monarchs, 4 — Napanee, 4

The benefit game, which was staged at the Lions operated Gibbard Park here last Thursday evening between the Kingston Monarchs and the Napanee Athletics to financially aid two local players, Vernon Green and Vic Burtt ,who were injured in a C.O.B.L. game, drew a fair crowd of fans and a substantial amount of money was placed in the box at the gate.

The game was a free-hitting affair, which lasted for six innings. The locals had a shaky start when the visitors pushed three runs across in the first frame, two counting after two were down on hits off McTaggart, two of the three-base variety and one mi-sue.

The visitors were held scoreless until the sixth by Ed. Hooper, who took over the hurling duties at the start of the second innings. In the sixth, Connors doubled and came home after two were out, on a wild throw to first when Bud Green made a nice pick-up of Andersons ground ball to short.

For Napanee, a run was tallied in four of the six innings. The first coming in the initial frame when V. Green doubled, Munroe reached first on an error of Stinson and Green scored on Hayes' single.

The next counter was registered when Bud Green singled and came home on McTaggart's screaming double to deep centre. In the fifth, six batters faced Stinson. Munroe tripled, Hayes walked and went to second on the next pitch, Green singled scoring Munroe, Markle drew a walk, Jocko grounded to third for a double killing and Green-grounder forced Markle at third.

Again, in the final frame, six men came to bat. Hooper walked, McTaggart sacrificed Hooper to second, V. Green filed out to centre, Munroe singled, scoring Hooper, Hayes walked and Gerow filed out to left.

Extra base clouts were plentiful, with Aitken, Connors and Munroe with triples, and Connors, Stinson and V. Green and McTaggart two base clouts. Singles were hit by Mulholland 2, Aitken, McCormick, Munroe, Hayes, Gerow, B. Green and Hooper.

McTaggart gave up three hits, walked none, struck out nine; Hooper allowed five safeties, walked none and struck out two. For Kingston, Stinson struck out one, walked five and was touched for eight hits.

Errors for Napanee 2, Kingston 1

The officials for the game were Mark and Blakely.

Layoffs Following Strike Pose Insurance Problem

The rail strike and consequent layoffs of wage-earners has posed a problem in the administration of Canada's unemployment insurance fund.

With those idle through the strike or consequent layoffs running into hundreds of thousands, administrators of the $580,000,000 fund are faced with the question of who is to draw benefits and who isn't.

Officials of the unemployment insurance commission said the problem is still being worked out and it is not possible to generalize all the points.

But one certainty they said, is that no benefits will be paid to members of the involved unions employed by the railways.

Payments will be made to workers in other industries laid off because of slowed production as a result of the strike.

Biggest puzzle of the present stage officials said, is the question of treatment for those railway employees who are not on strike but who have been forced into idleness by the tie-up.

These include around 75,000 members of the running trades — those who actually operate the trains — as well as several other categories.

How they are handled will hinge on the eventual interpretation of an Insurance Act clause that says persons drawing insurance must prove that they are not participating in, financing, or directly interested in a labor dispute.

There are more people of German extraction in Wisconsin than there are Swedish and Norwegian combined.

Contentious Case Illegal Fishing Finally Completed

A contentious case involving illegal fishing in the Bay of Quinte last fall, was finally completed on August 18th when Judge Smith of the Division Court upheld the appeal of the Crown. Conservation Officers had charged that Aric Gerow, a local commercial fisherman had violated the conditions of his license on November 9, 1949, by taking whitefish and pike with a seine net, which only authorized the taking of carp. The net, boat and approximately 200 lbs. of whitefish were seized by the Department officers at the time the offence occurred. Based on the evidence available at the time, the case was dismissed in Magistrate's Court, but later reopened and a judgement given in favor of the Crown by Judge Smith who assessed a fine of $25.00 plus costs.

Overseers are continuing checks of non resident anglers' licenses, and limits of catch in district patrol areas and investigated several complaints of illegal deer hunting.

An unusually large sheepshead was captured by Commercial fisherman Albert Cooper east of Glenora ferry recently. The fish weighed 18½ lbs. Smaller specimens were caught on hook and line by local anglers using worms, which is somewhat uncommon.

Senior Boy Scouts Given Training In Fire Control

At the request of Assistant Scout Commissioner Art Jickson of Trenton, several members of the Quinte District staff assisted in the training programme for Senior Boy Scouts at Kaladar during the week. Fire Protection Supervisor Mac Wilson and pump operator Julius Gorgerat showed the boys how to set up a fire pump, string hose, and apply water where it would do the most good Hand fire fighting tools were then distributed and several hundred feet of "fire line" was constructed by the Scouts under typical bush conditions. "The boys show promise", said Mr. Wilson. "They'll know how to go about it if they encounter the real thing."

After the fire demonstration Zone Forester W. E. Edwards gave a short talk on proper land use with particular reference to marginal lands suitable only for growing and protecting forest crops. This was followed by a tree identification trip through the nearby woods where some 20 separate species were pointed out.

In the evening Mr. C. W. Dill of the Tweed Office Staff showed the 35 Scouts several very interesting films including "Scout in the Forest" considered to be one of the best pictures of its kind.

It placed end to end, the highways of the United States would encircle the earth more than 122 times.

Mrs. Harold Babcock played an instrumental solo and a humorous reading prepared by Mrs. Delbert Simmons, was given by Mrs. Arthur Burt after which a prettily decorated play pen was wheeled into the bride. Miss Freda Pingland and Mrs. Bruce Burt assisted her in opening the many beautiful gifts.

After the Mills had thanked their friends for the gifts, Erma Babcock and Margaret Martin sang "My Best to You."

Mrs. Orville Shea had planned a dainty and delicious lunch and it was served with Addie Switzer, Margaret Martin and Erma Babcock assisting.

TWEED HOPES FOR NEW POST OFFICE NEXT SPRING

A new post office will be built in Tweed, and a preliminary survey is now under way to determine the best possible site. The question of a post office has become active a few months ago, within the municipal council and subsequently. Reeve T. C. Graham, Councillor Ken Burkett interviewed the local Federal member, Frank Pollard. The latter approached both the Postal Department, as well as the Public Works Department and in a letter to Council, he stated that considerable progress had been made. The necessary estimates have not yet been passed by Parliament and this will not take place until some time this winter. Construction will probably not commence until the spring of 1951.

Half of all traffic fatalities occur at intersections of streets an dhighways.

In Loving Memory

YOUNG — In loving memory of our grandfather Robert J. Young, who passed away September 1, 1949

God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb
So he closed his weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair.
Some time, some day, we know not,
when,
We will meet our Grampa there
Ever remembered by Myrtle and Kenneth 35ap

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father Robert J. Young who passed away, September 1, 1949

We watched you suffer day by day,
And could not help in any way.
But just stood by and saw you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.
Step on dear father for it is true,
You suffered much and told but few.

The One who saw you needed rest,
Was God alone, He knew best.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by his son Willie and daughter-in-law, Lucy 35ap

PRINGLE — In loving memory of Ross R. Pringle, who passed away August 30th, 1949

Through which each must go alone
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims His own.
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.

MOM AND DAD, SISTERS AND BROTHERS 35ap

COUSINS — In loving memory of Mrs. Johnston Cousins, who entered into rest, August 31st, 1947.

Remembrance is a golden chain,

To have to love and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow for one's heart,
The years may wipe out many things,
But this, they wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by HUSBAND & FAMILY. ap

Milk is well-protected by Aluminum

"An Inside Story"

1. The nourishing glass of milk from Grandma is the happy ending to this story. It started when Nature put aluminum to the earth first. That is why this important mineral is right in the milk we drink.

2. And Nature gave aluminum qualities that make it ideal in contact with food. Many milk pails . . . many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum.

3. From farm to dairy . . . from country to city, rich, wholesome Canadian milk is being increasingly carried in aluminum containers to reach you fresh and pure.

4. And to top it all, many bottles of milk are protection-sealed with shining aluminum foil tops. Aluminum assures cleanliness for this most sensitive of all foods.

No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. Whenever you see aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected flavour, quality and purity.

ALUMINUM COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

Hints to the Housewife!

Some natural minerals in foods and water form a dark deposit on cooking utensils. These deposits are harmless and are easily removed by standard cleaners or steel wool and soap.

Aluminum is friendly to food!

CANADIAN NAVY WILL EXPAND

Canada's Navy Chief, disclosing details of the fleet's expansion plans, said last Tuesday night it is taking all of its destroyers out of moth balls and equipping them with the "very latest anti-submarine gear."

Over a period of time that will put more than a dozen of them at sea.

Rear-Admiral H. T. W. Grant said the navy's preparedness programme is being speeded through the acceleration of production of anti-submarine escort vessels, minesweepers, of radar and in other ways. But the greatest need of all was for men, including young pilots for the fleet air arm.

He went on the air with Defence Minister Claxton.

Melon Mixes Well With Other Fruit

The common edible melons are divided into several classes. The Watermelon is quite distinct in appearance and texture. Other types such as Muskmelon, Cantaloupe, Casaba and Honey Dew have a firm thick flesh with a centre seed cavity.

The names Cantaloup and Muskmelon wer once used for quite different melons but have become interchangeable. These melons have netted skins and are more or less musk-scented. The flesh may be green or salmon-colored but the flavor is similar.

Montrealers should know that the melon which is considered to be the choicest of all grows on this Island and is known as the Montreal melon. These melons reach the weight of 15 pounds and have a delicate, light green flesh.

Watermelons grow naturally in Africa and the Southern U. S. and are much enjoyed by the people and animals for their refreshing coolluciness. The cultivated varieties have the appeal of color added to the other qualities. The thick white rind is not edible in raw state but makes a delicious pickle. Cantaloupe Muskmelon and Watermelon are at the peak of perfection now.

Opinions vary on what to serve with melon. The gourmet feels that a sprinkling of salt brings out subtle flavors. Some authorities say that the slight tartness of lemon or lime is required to bring out the real flavor while still others like a little sugar. All agree, however, that melon should always be thoroughly chilled.

Melon balls combined with other fruits and pointed up to with a sprig of mint, make a perfect appetizer to start off a summer meal.

Melon balls or cubes set in a tart lemon jelly are delicious for the salad course. It a mound of cottage cheese is served on crisp lettuce beside the moulded jelly, the salad would be substantial enough for a main course at luncheon.

Melon Velva

Two tablespoons gelatine, ½ cup water, juice of 1 lemon (about two tablespoons), ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sugar, 3 cups melon puree (about 5 lbs. melon), as purchased.

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes and then dissolve by heating over boiling water for 10 minutes. Add lemon juice, salt.

Keep the puree mixture at room temperature and slowly add the dissolved gelatine, stirring constantly.

Place in trays and freeze until firm, having temperature control at coldest point. Then turn into a chilled bowl and beat with a wooden spoon or electric mixer until it lightens in color, increases in volume and has a smooth texture. Beating must be rapid to prevent complete melting. Return mixture to trays and leave in refrigerator a few hours to harden. Yield: about one quart.

Fresh Fruit Cup

One cup melon balls, 1 cup diced fresh pears, 1 cup fresh diced peaches, ½ cup diced apples, ¼ cup marshmallows (optional).

Prepare the melons either as balls or cubes. Core pears. Mix and combine with melon balls and quartered marshmallows. Chill and garnish with blue grapes or mint sprigs. Yield: Six servings.

Plowing Match Plans Developing Rapidly

Plans for the 1950 International plowing match are going ahead rapidly, according to a report from the office of the Secretary-Manager, J. A. Carroll. This year he expects not only a very large entry of Ontario Plowmen, but also representation from other provinces, the United States and even from overseas. It is already established the Alberta Plowing Champion, Jack Job, will be a competitor in the International and it is expected champions from some of the other provinces will be on hand as well. There have been enquiries from overseas and while there has been no definite commitment, it is hoped a team of British pros will compete.

This year's match, being held on the Nottawasaga Valley Farms in Tecumseh Township of Simcoe County, will be officially opened by the Hon. W.E. Harris, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, Ottawa. The official opening of the International Plowing Match will be at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 11th. This is the first day of International competitions but Tuesday, October 10th will feature the local counties' match for Dufferin, Grey, Ontario, Simcoe and York Counties.

Commenting on this year's match and on the general attitude on plowing, Mr. Carroll says there seems to be a continually growing interest in the plowing. As evidence, he cites the formation of two new branches of the Ontario Plowmen's Association at Hagersville and Casselman. Then from Northern Ontario there have been requests for plowing Demonstrations in the Districts of Temiskaming and Nipissing. Added to this they have requests for plowing coaches for high school boys. Mr. Carroll feels this additional interest along with the drawing card o the greatest Farm Equipment Show in North America and the central location of this year's match should, with any co-operation from the weatherman, establish new records for attendance.

July Ontario Record For Tourist Traffic

More U.S. cars entered Ontario in July than in any previous month in the province's history, the Ontario department of travel and publicity reported last week. The total was 296,761 ,compared with the previous high of 285,494 in July 1949.

In the first seven months of this year 640,905 U. S. tourists have entered Ontario by car ,12,635 more than the same period last year which had been the previous record.

One black mar kon the tourist record this year, according to T. C. McCall, deputy travel minister, is the number of complaints from U.S. visitors about attempts to wihold from them the premium on their money. The department has turned over numerous cases to the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

"Chiselling for 50 cents on a $5 transaction can cost us thousands of dollars of good will and future business," Mr. McCall said. "A few of these people, and they are relatively scarce, can destroy our reputation for fair dealing and honest value."

HOME BUILDING FIGURES GIVEN

Ottawa. — The construction gangs have been working on more houses this year than last, but they have not as many of them ready for occupancy.

The Bureau of Statistics reported that 29,441 dwelling units were completed in Canada during the first five months of this year a drop of 2,000 from last year's corresponding figure.

At the end of May there were 58,130 units in various stages of construction, compared with 53,533 a year ago.

On the other hand starts were made on 30,084 units, compared with 29,671. Quebec led the field here with a total of 11,588 starts in the five-month period as against 8,486 in the corresponding period last year.

With the exception of Alberta, New Brunswick and Newfoundland, there was no increase in housing construction in the rest of Canada.

The other provinces follow with last year's corresponding figure in brackets: Manitoba 954 (1,385); Saskatchewan 690 (775); Nova Scotia 612 (761); Prince Edward Island 34 (44); British Columbia 2724 (3446).

More houses were completed in Quebec this year than in the first five months of 1949. But in Ontario it was another story where only 9,925 units were completed in the five months compared with 11,605. Quebec's total was 9,934 against 8,768.

Completions in the other provinces follow with last year's corresponding figure in brackets: Alberta 2,881 (3,748); British Columbia 2,723 (4,170); Manitoba 1,146 (1,736); Nova Scotia 1,042 (1,258); New Brunswick 680 (667); Saskatchewan 648 (850); Prince Edward Island 154 (112). In Newfoundland 305 units have been finished so far this year.

Science Seeks to Immunize Humans Against Atomic Rays

Chatham, Ont. August 17. A University of California scientist said yesterday "important facts" have been discovered toward developing an inoculation against A-bomb radiation.

He said inoculation would be used against atomic war much in the same way vaccination immunizes human beings from smallpox.

D. Robert Stone vacationing here circled that a "small army of scientists" is seeking a chemical to immunize human beings against atomic rays. He is chairman of the Department of Radiology of the University's Medical School.

"The scientists have not yet developed an inoculation, but experiments have supplied the hope of finding one," he said. "I do know that certain important facts are being found out."

Stone said he considered such preventive treatment of entire populations the "most effective" civilian defence measure. "Of course, I still believe an effective way will be found for treatment of victims after an explosion," he said.

Experiments so far, mice and other laboratory animals have been under way for "a considerable time" he said, but not yet on human beings. "All sorts of things have been tried," Stone said.

He said security prevented further disclosure of the inoculation project progress.

Young Conservatives Complete Conference At Gravenhurst, Ont.

Increased prestige and greater influence in the affairs of their Party by the Young Progressive Conservatives is seen as a result of the recent successful summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association at Gravenhurst, Ontario.

At Gravenhurst's Aero Lodge, the former Little Norway of wartime fame, more than 100 delegates from the ninety ridings of Ontario and observers from other Provinces of Canada came together in the week of July 31 to August 5th to examine and discuss the policies and activities of the Party in Canada. They heard important speakers from their own ranks, including National Leader George Drew and Ontario Premier Leslie Frost as well as talented and influential outsiders.

The conference heard Mr. Drew call upon Canadians to close their ranks to meet the cruel danger of Communist imperialism, and to speak and act only with the highest interests of Canada in our minds and in the words we use."

Mr. Drew urged that the Federal Government reveal to Canadians what the state of defence projects is now was and to keep them fully abreast of developments.

Premier Frost told the delegates that youth had a very definite part to play in the affairs of party politics and of government. The Party should not be emphasized, he determined by any group or a handful of men, but by hundreds of thousands. He called upon his youthful listeners to get back and organize to build the Party on firm and broad foundations."

Other speakers from the Ontario Government included Liquor Commissioner Arthur Welsh, who reviewed the Government's liquor policy, James Murphy, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, Welfare Minister Goodfellow, Reform Institutions Minister William Hamilton and Agricultural Minister Kennedy. The last named presented a vigorous exposition on practical politics and how to win elections, including a strong suggestion to the young workers to recognize the importance of the Organized Labor vote.

Indeed, the question of gaining Labor support was given heavy emphasis in the conference with several speakers dwelling on the subject.

The meeting heard from Earl Wadsworth, head of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers, Canada's largest single union local, who stated that organized labor flourished only under free enterprise, from two prominent Toronto Labor lawyers, Arthur Dubin and E. Goodman, who declared that capital and labor were friends and partners, and from Professor Vincent Bladen of the University of Toronto. Prof. Bladen warned that unless the Progressive Conservative Party believes that free enterprise can deliver welfare to the working man, the Party cannot succeed.

The conference also was addressed by three Progressive Conservative Members of Parliament, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough of Hamilton West, George Hees, Member for Toronto Riverdale and Leon Balcer, Member for Three Rivers and National President of the Young Progressive Conservatives.

In various Practical Politics Round Tables and "Political Quiz" sessions, organized by Ontario Y.P.C. President Jim Beattie and others of the executive the conference gave close scrutiny to the policies and conduct of the Party in both the national and provincial fields. As a result its delegates carried away ideas which are expected to have considerable effect in the affairs of their own riding associations.
